

Bridget Martin
bridgetmartin@fas.harvard.edu

EDUCATION

Ph.D., Geography, with Designated Emphasis in Global Metropolitan Studies, University of California, Berkeley

M.A., Politics, The New School for Social Research at The New School University

B.A., Geology with Political Science Correlate Sequence, Vassar College

PROFESSIONAL APPOINTMENTS

2023 - Croft Assistant Professor of Anthropology and Korean Studies, Department of Sociology and Anthropology and Croft Institute for International Studies, University of Mississippi.

2021-23 SBS Korean Studies Postdoctoral Fellow in the Social Sciences, Korea Institute, Harvard University.

2020-21 US-Asia Grand Strategy Predoctoral Fellow, Korean Studies Institute, University of Southern California.

PUBLICATIONS

Publications

Martin, B. (2022) American imperial sovereignty and militarized land dispossessions during the Korean War. Geopolitics (print issue forthcoming)

Martin, B. & Geglia, B. (2019). Korean tigers in Honduras: Urban economic zones as spatial ideology in international policy transfer networks. Political Geography, 74, Article 102041.

Martin, B. (2018). From camp town to international city: US military base expansion and local development in Pyeongtaek, South Korea. International Journal of Urban and Regional Research, 42(6), 967-985.

Martin, B. (2018). Field notes from South Korea: Local development in the land of securitized peace. The California Geographer, 57, 1 – 17.

Martin, B. (2017). Sunshine land: Where war is a game. Korea Exposé. December 27.

Martin, B. (2017). Moon Jae-in's THAAD conundrum: South Korea's 'candlelight president' faces strong citizen opposition on missile defense. The Asia Pacific Journal: Japan Focus 15(18).

Martin, B. (2017). Book review: Schober, Elisabeth (2016) Base encounters: The US armed forces in South Korea. Social Anthropology, 25(2), 265-266.

Martin, B. (2015). Selectively connected: New Songdo and the production of global space. In G. Bracken (ed.), Asian Cities: Colonial to Global, Amsterdam University Press.

Articles in Preparation (submission timeline noted)

Martin, B. Shifting terrains: The parkification of released US military lands. Invited submission, Se-Mi Oh and Francisco Sanin (eds), Reclaiming the City: Perspectives on Contemporary Korea, University of Michigan Press. (October 2022)

Martin, B. Accumulation by demilitarization: Mapping South Korea's use of real estate to fund burden-sharing commitments. (December 2022) (co-authorship anticipated)
Martin, B. Operation Spreadout: The Koje-do incident and the geography of POW camps during the Korean War. (December 2022)

FELLOWSHIPS & AWARDS

Selected Fellowships and Awards

US-Korea NextGen Scholars Program, Center for Strategic and International Studies, 2022-23
Outstanding Graduate Student Instructor Award, Department of Geography, UC-Berkeley, 2021
Association for Asian Studies Northeast Asia Council Grant for Research in North America, 2021
US-Asia Grand Strategy Predoctoral Fellowship, Korean Studies Institute, University of Southern California, 2020-21
Korean American Educational Commission Fellowship (Fulbright Korea), 2018
Korea Foundation Fellowship for Field Research, 2017
Kathryn Davis Fellowship for Peace (advanced Korean), 2016
University of California Regents Fellowship for Graduate Study, 2013-18

Additional Fellowships and Awards

UC-Berkeley Center for Korean Studies Fellowship, 2020
UC-Berkeley Graduate Remote Instruction Innovation Fellowship, 2020
UC-Berkeley Program in Global Metropolitan Studies Fellowship, 2018
UC-Berkeley Center for Korean Studies Fellowship, 2018
UC-Berkeley Center for Korean Studies Fellowship, 2015
Foreign Languages and Area Studies Fellowship (advanced Korean), 2014

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Instructor of Record (Assistant Professor)

Introduction to East Asian Studies, Croft Institute for International Studies, University of Mississippi.
Undergraduate course. (Spring 2023)

Korea: People, Places and Futures, Department of Anthropology and Sociology, University of Mississippi.
Undergraduate course. (Spring 2023)

Instructor of Record (Lecturer)

Landscapes of Power in Modern Korea, Department of Anthropology and Department of East Asian Languages and Civilizations, Harvard University. Combined graduate and undergraduate course. (Fall 2021)

Graduate Student Instructor & Graduate Teaching Assistant

Globalization, Department of Geography, UC-Berkeley. (Spring 2017, 2020, and 2021)

(Outstanding Graduate Student Instructor Award, 2021)

Development in Theory and History, Development Studies Program, UC-Berkeley. (Spring 2015 and 2016)

US Government and Politics, Department of Political Science, City College of NY. (Spring 2012)

Graduate Student Readerships

Globalization, Department of Geography, UC-Berkeley. (Summer Session A, 2020)

Cultures and Capitalisms, Program in Global Studies, UC-Berkeley. (Fall 2019)