

I sort my marbles in groups by their base color or by the surface of the marble. It helps me find the name of the marble. The marbles with their names in red are my keepers. They are hard to find, because they are no longer made.

Most of my marbles were made by Glasfirma in Mexico. Many of the new ones are from House of Marbles. Marbles photos were adapted from www.billes-en-tete.com by Rich Maxwell marblekeeper@gmail.com

Sometimes I draw pictures of marbles and add the colors with crayons or colored makers.

It is also fun to create new marbles. First, I draw and color the marble and then I make up a name.
