COUNTY AUDITOR RESIGNS BUT IS STILL RUNNING FOR RE-ELECTION - HOW DOES THAT WORK?

By Gregory Bruce - GCND NEWS Editor - October 11, 2014

Grant County Auditor Kelly Bachmeier resigned in August of this year citing she was taking a new job in Underwood, North Dakota with Falkirk Mining, Inc.

During the filmed county commission meeting of October 7th I asked Mrs. Bachmeier why her name was still on the general election ballot when she has resigned. Mrs. Bachmeier's response was that it was on the primary ballot and since she won that election it would naturally be on the general election ballot.

I asked if she was running for re-election or was it an oversight that her name was still on the general election ballot. She stated she was running for re-election. I asked her how does that work when she has already resigned from her office.

Assistant States Attorney Todd Schwarz, who was also present at the meeting said that she still owns a house in Grant County and thus was eligible to run. I then asked if the house in Grant County was her primary residence and how much time did she have to live in that house to declare it as her primary residence in order to be eligible to run for office in Grant County. His answer was there was no time limit as long as she declared it was her primary residence.

My thoughts about this are, since she is living in Burleigh County, working in McLean County and running for re-election in Grant County, how does that benefit the citizens of Grant County?

If elected I believe she will find it exceedingly difficult to perform the duties of Grant County auditor while working in McLean County at another job and being a wife and a mother to her family while living in Burleigh County.

It is my opinion this entire matter smacks of cronyism and is nothing more than a ploy by the county commissioners, the Assistant States Attorney and Mrs. Bachmeier to use the election process to win and then resign again thus allowing the commissioners to appoint whomever they want that will bow to their wishes.
