Dear Therese,

God Bless! So good to receive your letter of 23 July this mid-day! I've learned from studies in Exodus re our ancestors it is not good to "murmer" re "baloney and cheese", so not too many explitives in that last letter, just a little dismany.

I am surely privileged and blessed having your letters as they are good conversation. Your feelings re the word I am privileged to share with you and your references and comment on current events that are not so common under these conditions.

Surely it is good if those good folks at the Sr. facility are not crushed too often with "American cheese slices". I had to smile when I read that. My father was committed to such when my sisters allowed their greed to confine him in such his last couple of years. Much better choices were available. Even by phone I had been able to keep him from being deceived into signing a Durable Power of Attorney for over two years, but somehow they slid it past him and took everything from him including his "liberty". He told my children that they had committed him to a life sentence; and he was in as bad shape as I.

When my father passed, September 2004, Jack Reed then the mortition, told my family that there was no physiological reason for his death, that he had simply given up.

As I'm typing here, the copy machine is not working. I hope to share a bit of the insightes that have been shared with me, but am not sure if that will be possible until my next writ. We will see what the LORD has for us.

Your comment re "delusions" is well stated. The WORD is being fulfilled as the "falling away" does seem ever so real in these times. The education system seem, hopelessly mired in mediocre curriculum, i.e. "common core" that refuses to recognize GOD in any way. Our granddaughter Ava (8) is in a class of youngsters that are NOT being taught to print nor write. If it were not for her grandmother (ret. teacher) and her mother, she would not be learning to write; only to use a computer keyboard. TERRIBLE!!!

Our son, Mike (35), is a middle school principal. He has been principal at George Washington Academy in Waterloo, Iowa for the last four years. There are hardly any books. All on computer. A high percentage of the young people come from very down-trodden homes and make poor advances in their studies. Mike has found it very disheartening and that it has stressed him to the point of health signs. Next year he has been promoted to Assistant Principal and Athletic Director at Central Middle School in Waterloo. A promotion that he is pleased to have.

At George Washington Academy, Mike had several students that had been burdened with shootings and assaults of themselves or family members. This in a city that had hardly any such history just ten years ago. Today they have a growing GANG problem, as GANG members emerge from other gangs, and a number of GANG members are moving to Waterloo from Chicago. There are shootings and assaults every week in a once relatively peaceful mid-western community.

My daughter is a Director of a women's shelter in Waterloo. She sees the women struggling with multiple domestic problems, ecomonic problems; and many guests coming out of prisons. Amy is a very faithful young woman (40) and has much experience with rearing her children, working with others, and the overcoming of challenges of today. A few weeks ago she was called to Des Moines to speak to the Iowa Legislature about the problems facing people in Iowa. She was well received and it seems that Legislators are seeking solutions for the mess that the "No God in schools & the Community" has morphed into in just two generations. NO. 1 solution: "Turn to the LORD and ask in His name for His help in this time of need."

The godless and corrupt have certainly assured that the righteous have a cause for turning for serving the LORD and choosing to walk in the WORD. (Jn 1:1,14).

We are surely blessed that some of our loved ones have found ~~the~~ and are walking in the shadow of the Almighty (Psalm 91) while challenged with all of the prophesied falling away that is upon us.

As you share tracts and sound messages, I am blessed with sharing them with others here and by mail. Surely such seeds well planted are a means for encouraging the service that our LORD seeks from his people for the Kingdom. I have good reason for thanking him in my prayers every day.

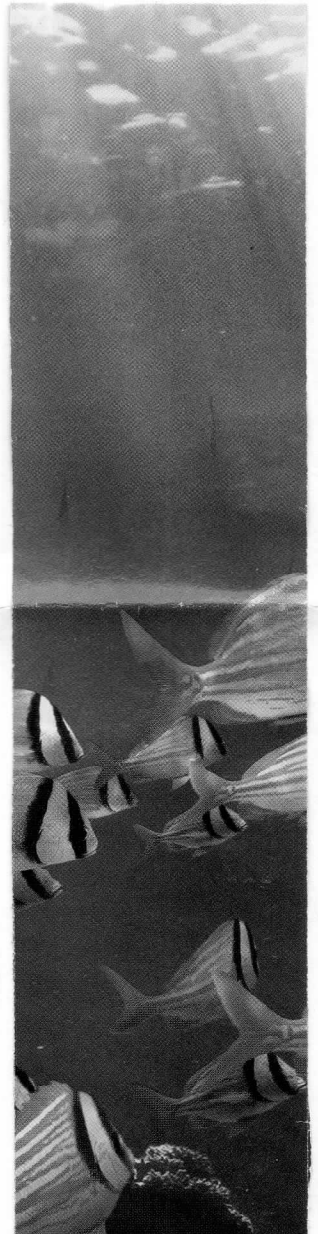

The book for seeing clearly the Creation for what our Father in Heaven intended is a beautiful illustrated gem. I have a reading in "The Evolution Handbook", as well and find myself able to share with others here and with those to whom I am privileged to write. The whole evolution scam is nothing more or less than an excuse that our Living God is real. It is one of satan's most horrid schemes for deceiving people and declaring THERE IS NO GOD! Well, we are never going to buy it. It simply leads to us being more informed, stronger and better witnesses for Jesus, the Christ. He is Creator of all we see and don't see. For Him is all GLORY!!!

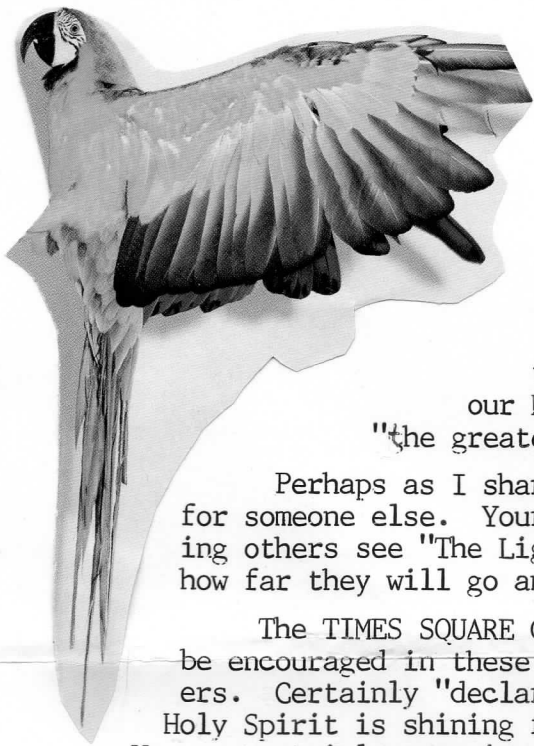

Consider those beautiful fish in the clear, clean sea as we are blessed with means to capture their beauty and share it. Aren't they something? No way they just happened by accident from pond scum bubbling in a soup of chemicals over (joke) billions of years. Only a fool could ever embrace such LIES!!!

Surely we are all blessed in one way or another. It is surely my pleasure to thank you for your comments about my father. My heart goes out to you, as you prayerfully mend your heart for the shortcomings that your father struggled with and left their print on your heart. The darkness left by seeking salvation through church instead of through Yad He Voh He Messiah/Jesus, the Christ is a cruel burden of darkness that even now is bearing down on so many people. Surely our prayers for them will avail much.

I am truly thankful this morning, as it is cool. When we are not where we can always benefit from air-conditioning that is surely a blessing! It is my hope that you are enjoying fair weather in Minnesota, as well. Bless you sister!

The Greatest Story Ever Told? by Jake Hebert, Ph.D. synopsis tells a sad story as the will to deny YHVH (GOD) is such a DEAD END! The account of Lawrence Krauss shows a wilfull denial that is for certain a FATAL ATTRACTION. Our LORD Jesus, the Christ is the ONLY "Light" onto the world. Mr. Krauss has somehow got stuck in the dark. I like Dr. Hebert's conclusion that the our LORD and the good news about his victory really is "the greatest story ever told"!!!

Perhaps as I share Dr. Hebert's comments, it will touch the spirit for someone else. Your tracts are giving us another opportunity for helping others see "The Light". One thing about "seed" we can never be sure how far they will go and how big the tree might grow. (Smile!)

The TIMES SQUARE CHURCH gives us a thoughtful means whereby we may be encouraged in these latter-days; and, the means for sharing with others. Certainly "declaration of truth" is pouring out all around us. The Holy Spirit is shining forth even as the wicked seek to silence the truth. We are certainly experiencing it in our own good fortunes. Consider how many of us are enjoying sharing with each other just in most recent times. This is just as The WORD has promised it would be. Glory HalleluYah!!!

I thought it was interesting reading about "Carter" speaking about the meaning of putting one's hand on the Bible (most so-called courts do not require that any longer) and swearing one will testify to the TRUTH of the matter. In real life it brought me back to mind the many times that I have cross-examined police officers in court. Ironically, I examined their use of the law at the time of the incident in question and found that nearly none of those so-called "professional" police officers had a CLUE what law it was that they were conscienciously employing at the time in question. It was synonymous with questioning a professional painter who had no idea what "paint" is. What they were really doing was pressing people for collections NOT using the standards of the Law for protecting the Rights of the people.

Perhaps those in law enforcement could use more lessons in the Bible and the standards that our Heavenly Father has set forth for all of us. The "visions"; "dreams" set forth as source of clear prophecies in these latter days depend on us being well grafted in the WORD and alert for the Holy Spirit guiding our path. Perhaps then we can speak and act in such a way as to have others blessed by listening to our "speech" that we might then be qualified for serving our LORD and others that His mercy and grace may be ours now and forever. May our "Divine Revelations" work for His glory!!!

Dear sister, may all be well with you as you serve and care for those charged to your care. It is certainly a Divine work that you are sharing in in these latter days. Surely The LORD is gracious allowing me some small part in your special walk with the King!

Because He lives!
