Meine Lieb Betül,

Begrüßung!! Bless you!!! It has been a bit since continuing our conversation. I pray all is well for you and yours! And am privileged to share that I am well for here as we look forward with joy for the cool of fall.

Here we have been blessed with days that have been cooler than normal. This is a real blessing for southern Indiana can be too HOT!! And that is one of the greater challenges that is faced in these circumstances. Thank GOD we have been blessed. I pray that all are in good spirits and days are full, especially with joy!

I have your card showing some of the places of interest in or around Nurnberg on my bulletin board where I can see it every time I look up. Those days photographed seem to be bright, clear days.

Here we are not allowed to hear from our friends in Texas. It seems it is hard for the ones responsible to bear up under the TRUTH. Thus, they go to strenuous lengths to avert the TRUTH seeping out.

Recently my son Michael Dean [a school principal and athletic director] informed me of his successes with Ancestry.com. He learned that we have been able to verify the homelands where our ancestors came from in Germany. John Landers, my great grandfather's birth records are in Hanovar and as I had already been informed came from Lower-Saxony. My great grandmother came from der Haus of Gallmeyer of Westphalia/rhine. On my mother's side, our grandfather's ancestors came from Netherlands. Perhaps this is where they learned to be in the dairy business. Her mother had roots in Britain. Seems that we are decended from Charlamaine and that we are cousins of the not too popular Heinrich Himlar(sp). Of course he left the farm and went about his not too popular business decades after John left Lower-Saxony.

My cowboy roots stem from the fact that my grandfather and father as well as my uncles [dad's brothers] were very much in the cattle business. I began wearing my cowboy hats and boots by age 4. [SMILE !]

Forgive me! My typewriter is not the best of wordprocessors.

Out in NE Iowa, where I grew up there are several people who are related to each other. It is a close community atmosphere, rural in nature and peaceful. Many of the men of my father's generation died in the WWII scene. A number from our county perished in North Africa. I had two cousins who were in the Pacific war against the Japanese. It has been my privilege to study much about the TRUE nature of all of those years and it leaves a bitter taste in ones mouth seeing what the allies did to so many people. It is not the red, white and blue "story" that propaganda would have the world to believe.

My father had a hernia when they sought to draft him so he was deferred for about 1 year so that he could have surgery and recover. As a result he was not sent to North Africa where most of those who went when he was supposed to go died. Their photos line the walls at the local Veteran's of Foreign Wars (VFW) in Greene, Iowa. He was blessed by enlisting in the Army-Aircorpe and ended up playing in the band in and around San Anton, Texas during the war. He would have done as ordered had he been sent to do so, but told me years later that given the opportunity he would not have wanted to shoot other good men for the bankers. He was over 25, so he had a bit more maturity than many who flooded the front lines to shoot cousins and be shot by cousins. I had two aunts who never married and knew of others, as there were no men their age left in the community. Where I grew up most were of German and Dutch and Scandinavian decent.

Our Bible is clear. The price of "usury" is DEATH. Unfortunatly, this is the root of the judgment that is upon the nations today. The fiat money scheme is the root of the rulers of darkness of this world setting forth destruction[John 10:10] upon the nations. Pray that righteousness prevails and that the Lord Jesus, the Christ soon return comes. Truly, due to these truths, many suffer persecution in the United States today, and around the world. Many who have told the truth have been subjected to torture and false imprisonment here and elsewhere. It is time for GOD's people to declare the cause of righteousness in Jesus, the Christ that the anger of our just GOD does not have to be poured out on these generations.

"As much money as you want, any figure, just name it, and all of this false imprisonment will go away" "All you have to do Mr. Landers, is shut-up! One call to the Rabbi and you will be on your way home in your new Mercedes this afternoon."

sculpture by Paul Bronisch. Exhibited in 1941 at an art exhibition in Munich. As with so many "Nazi" art objects it is likely that this sculpture was purposely destroyed by Allied soldiers after the so-called "liberation".

"All of the "false charges" will go away." I refused in a kind way. I suggested that he call the Rabbi and tell him thank you for the generous offer, but it is all in God's hands and I will wait on Him. He bugged me for another 48 hours as he did not want "NO" for an answer. Later when I called Dana, she said, "Rex, what is this Jewish guy calling me offering me houses, jewelry, and new cars, as well as you will be home quickly?" I told her I knew all about, but asked, "I'm curious, what did you tell him?" She was stern. She said that she told him to go to "H". Their BRIBE had not worked, so when they gained the opportunity in Montana, they were determined to seek revenge. An silence us by other means.

Frankly, we were both a bit naive. Grossly underestimated how evil and despotic these people really are and what they were capable of doing and would do.

This likeness above is an exact representation of my son, Ryan Dean, whom they murdered 7 January 2000. He was 25. And scheduled to attend law school the following fall at University of Iowa Law School. God blessed us, in that our younger son, Michael was not in the Jeep when the vans ran it over the cliff at near Portage, Wisconsin. He had to stay home and attend basketball practice, as his coach scheduled that weekend. We have been truly thankful for His mercy. [Ryan would be 44 today].

As I close, Betul, I pray that all is well for you and yours. It is truly a blessing that you have been so kind to reach out and care in times such as these. You are a special friend and surely The LORD is pleased with your kindness and I am truly thankful!

Mit Freundlichkeit und Liebe.

P.S. Perhaps Oktober Fest will be a special blessing coming up.
