2017-19 National Student Officers

Samuel Hamilton (President)

Hey guys! My name is Samuel Hamilton and I was elected to serve as your National President for the next two years! I am currently an undergraduate student studying Criminal Justice at Fairmont State University. I work as a Captain/EMT-b at Star City EMS and I am the Director of Operations at Wilderness Volunteer Fire Department's EMS division. I currently volunteer my time to both Star City Volunteer Fire Department and Wilderness Volunteer Fire Department as a firefighter, as well as, a rescue scuba diver. The members of Alpha Phi Sigma have elected us to represent the student body and I can assure you, we will not let you down. We focused largely on unity when campaigning, but in order to have unity, we all need to work together and stay in contact! I speak for all of us when I say we would love to hear from you! My email is sam.hamilton13@gmail.com, so contact me, and I can't wait to see everybody in February!

Eyerusalem Fitta (Vice President)

My name is Eyerusalem Fitta. I am your Vice President for the years of 2017-2019. I am currently a graduate student, studying Criminal Justice and Criminology at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. I am also the President for my chapter (Gamma Omicron) at UMES. When I ran for national office, I made promises about what I planned to accomplish, if I had won. Now that I have, I am here to let you all know, the other national officers and I have worked, and will continue to work to fulfill those promises. Personally, I believe communication is key to solving most, if not all issues especially in teams. So, I encourage all chapters of Alpha Phi Sigma to communicate and collaborate with other chapters, because we are all a part of one big team. Also, I encourage all chapters to showcase accomplishments/efforts, by sharing their hard work on social media, or on the main pages of their respective websites. I can't wait to see what everyone has accomplished at our annual Alpha Phi Sigma Conference. Contact me at jerry.fitta@yahoo.com.

Phillip Sands (Treasurer)

Hello all, my name is Phillip Sands and I am your elected National Treasurer. I'm currently a Graduate Assistant for the College of Liberal Arts for Fairmont State University while I work on my Masters in Criminal Justice. I also work at a couple different places. I'm a Resident Monitor at a federally contracted half-way house called Dismas Charities where I monitor convicted felons as they are integrated back into society. I also work as a Behavioral Health Technician at a mental health hospital called Highland Hospital where I care for patients who are mentally ill or detoxing off of drugs. I do all this so that I am best prepared to enter the world of the Federal Bureau of Prisons after I graduate in May. As your Treasurer, I want to ensure that our budget is handled properly and efficiently. I'm a penny pincher and hate spending money (just ask my girlfriend). I want to make sure that every dollar in our budget has a place and used in the best way possible. After all, I did promise to not waste your money. I can't wait to see everyone in New Orleans and catch up. Feel free to contact me any time at philsands87@gmail.com. Hope everyone has a fantastic year and I'll see you in February.

Morganne Phillips (Secretary)

Hey everyone! My name is Morganne Phillips aka the girl with blue hair and I am serving as your National Secretary. Previously I was the National Vice President so I am very excited to be able to stay on the National Board to continue serving you. I was raised in West Virginia and proudly call it my home. Growing up I always knew that I wanted to do something in the Criminal Justice field. I graduated this past year with my degrees in Criminal Justice and Political Science from Fairmont State University, and I am continuing to the graduate program. I am currently working at a federal halfway house and interning with the U.S. Marshals for the second time. While I do enjoy working at the halfway house, my ultimate goal is to become a U.S Marshal. Thank you for electing me your student representative for the National Board and I cannot wait to see what the next two years will hold. If you have any questions or suggestions for me please do not hesitate to email me at morganne.phillips@live.com.

National Board Meeting

Ft. Lauderdale—September 22-23, 2017

Alpha Phi Sigma continues celebrating 75 years of excellence and that was evident at our national Board Meeting.

The national Board met at Headquarters in Ft. Lauderdale on September 22 and 23, 2017 to cover a lengthy agenda which included National Bylaws, the chartering and Bylaws of Alumni Circles, IRS filings for chapters, innovative ideas to thank our chapter advisors, reactivation of chapters, new merchandise available, and our National Advisor election timeline. The Board also planned the 2018 annual conference which will take place in New Orleans, Louisiana on February 15-17, 2018.

The two full days of work rendered great results and once again Alpha Phi Sigma in on track to a great year and conference.

Looking forward to seeing you in New Orleans,
The Board

NSU's Online Criminal Justice Program Named one of the Nation's Best for Veterans

Once again, Nova Southeastern University (NSU) has been recognized for providing students with one of the nation's top online academic programs. U.S. News & World Report has released its rankings of top online graduate programs for veterans, and NSU's Criminal Justice program was ranked in a tie for 21st.

"For more than 50 years, NSU has worked hard to create programs that provide academic opportunities for students that meet their varied needs," said George Hanbury, Ph.D., President and CEO of NSU. "One segment of our student population that's growing is our veterans, and we want to ensure we provide them with educational opportunities that best suit their needs as they transition back to civilian life."

Dr. Hanbury said that this latest honor is in keeping with NSU's Vision 2020, where the university will be recognized by accrediting agencies, the academic community and the general public as a "premier, private, not-for-profit university of quality and distinction." This is the second time NSU's criminal justice program has been recognized by U.S. News & World Report – earlier this year the online program for all students was ranked 22nd in the country.

This is the third year that U.S. News & World Report has issued these rankings, which identify programs that provide veterans with high-quality, flexible online educational options. According to the report, to be eligible, programs had to be part of an institution of higher learning that is certified for the GI Bill, be participating in the Yellow Ribbon Program or be a public institution that charges in-state tuition for out-of-state veterans. In addition, to be ranked, a school had to be part of the top 75% of schools in the overall 2015 Best Online Programs rankings by the publication (NSU was in the top 22 programs overall.)

"We've worked hard to position our criminal justice program as one of the premiere programs online and I'm very proud of this recognition," said Kimberly Durham, Psy.D., dean of NSU's Institute for the Study of Human Service, Health and Justice. "It's a reflection of the program's faculty – they are truly at the heart of what distinguishes our program from others."

NSU's criminal justice graduate program is unique as it's offered entirely online. This format allows students to participate in courses from anywhere in the world and provides flexibility in completing a master's degree while providing time for students to continue their current career if need be. NSU's master's program in criminal justice is designed for those interested in careers in several areas, including, but not limited to: police officer; detective; FBI special agent; DEA agent; Secret Service special agent; Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) special agent; and Federal Air Marshall.

Missouri State University's Sigma Mu Sigma Hosts 9/11 Memorial Stair Climb

On Monday, September 11, 2017, Sigma Mu Sigma hosted a 9/11 Memorial Stair Climb at Plaster Stadium (the Missouri State University football stadium). Members, students, faculty, and staff on campus were invited to participate in this event. T-shirts were sold to help raise funds and donations were made by way of pledges for the “steppers” in the event. The students section of the bleachers were used, which included 60 steps up and 60 steps down. In order to achieve the 110 flights, or 2071 steps that were in the twin towers, participants went up the equivalent of 55 flights (17.25 trips) up and 55 flights down (17.25 trips). The event was held from 9 a.m. to noon to allow students to come and go between their classes. Some of the “extras” for the day included having Missouri State University Pride Band members play the National Anthem at the start, the Director of Emergency Services at Missouri State University (retired fire department chief) provided a welcome speech, and the carillon bell towers played a special 9/11 tune heard across campus at 8:46 a.m. (the time the first tower was hit) to kick off the event and at 10:28 a.m. (the time the second tower fell). Funds that were raised are being used to purchase items on the “needs” or “wish” lists of the Missouri State University Public Safety Office and the Springfield Police Department Campus Substation.

Former gang member shares experiences with criminology students at Fresno State

Gabriel Hernandez has worn many hats in his 39 years. Tuesday night, he was a pastor recounting the crimes he committed earlier in his life. "The very thing I said that I would not let any one do to my family, I did to them."

Hernandez grew up in a troubled home with an absent father and a single mother-- an environment that lead him to a devastating lifestyle on the streets. "I remember, a vivid memory of looking out the window and seeing a guy standing on the corner and thinking, 'well that's what a man must be because at least he doesn't leave.'" By the time Hernandez was a young adult he was hooked on meth and became addicted to carjacking's-- and one day, beat and dragged a woman out of her car, because he didn't feel like walking. "I'm ashamed of that-- I remember thinking that day man she fought me so hard but I found out that she had two kids in the backseat of her car. " It was that stint in prison where Hernandez opened up a bible and found enlightenment that has led him to his current calling.

"Pretty much, for the last 11 years I've been just talking about how God changed me and how I used to destroy one community and how now I want to benefit the communities." But some choices still haunt Hernandez-- like his influence that led his younger siblings to use drugs, which is a mistake he is still trying to redeem now. "I still get judged, I still get labeled, there's still a lot of obstacles in my way." Hernandez is hoping people show him a little grace as he makes amends, working with at risk youths, hoping to stop the country's future from making his past mistakes.

Criminology professors said every year more than 600,000 people return from incarceration and they hope this story helps society play a more positive role in that process.

Meet the Alpha Phi Sigma Officers

TONYA SCHOENBECK, President

Hello everyone! I am Tonya Schoenbeck. I currently reside in the Fort Bragg, NC community with my husband and two dogs. I have a BA in Public Affairs from Columbia College and a MA in Legal Studies from American Military University. I have been certified by Dale Carnegie in three management programs. I have been certified by the US Army and University of Pennsylvania as a Master Resiliency Trainer. I enjoy volunteering in all of my communities, military, education and physical. I believe that learning never stops and I am always looking for ways to develop myself and others. I am extremely honored to have been voted as your President for a second term! I hope to keep the momentum of the last year going and to have a positive impact on all of our members. You are the reason that I am committed to this organization. I look forward to your feedback and ideas as this year gets started.

JOSHUA ADAMS , Vice President

Fellow Kappa Kappa members, I would like to take the time to also thank the outgoing board members and congratulate them on a job well done. We were all definitely in good hands and you are still as the board is the same. I am currently serving in the United States Army as a special agent with the United States Army Criminal Investigation Command in Northern Virginia. One of my goals during my tenure as the Chief of Staff was to attempt to garner more member collaboration, networking, and participation. We have not realized our own potential as we have hiring managers, Police Executives, and possibly Chiefs of Police in our midst so let's network! There are members who are pursuing their doctoral degrees and those who are teaching at the collegiate level. I also challenge every member to submit an article at the University's InPublicSafety blog. I have personally published a few articles and this is a great way to get you noticed, get your point-of-view out there, and a way to get active member participation. I also encourage you all to shadow a current board member for a position you would like to run for next year. If you have any ideas on service projects or just your thoughts on improvement of the organization that feel free to email the chapter at apuskappakappa@gmail.com. Feel free to send photographs of you in action as well.

STEPHEN DEARBORN , Chief of Staff

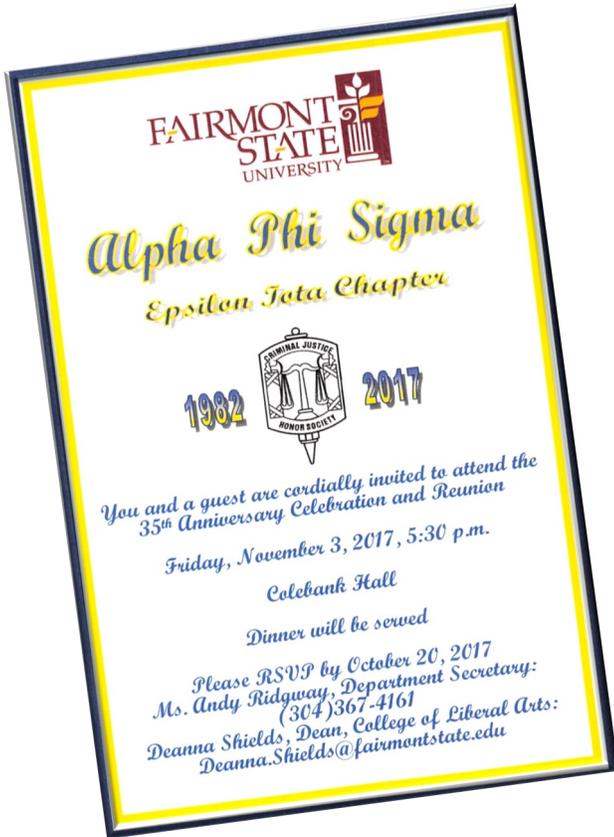

Hello Kappa Kappa members! My name is Stephen Dearborn and I am currently serving in the United States Navy as a Master at Arms Second Class Petty Officer. Most recently I have been doing law enforcement operations onboard the aircraft carrier USS John C. Stennis stationed in Bremerton, Washington. Prior to Washington, I had worked in Colorado, Maryland and Bahrain and traveled to nearly ten different countries in the Middle East and Europe. In 2015 I graduated from American Military University with my B.S. in Criminal Justice and in 2011 obtained my Associates in Criminal Justice from Arapahoe Community College in Littleton, Colorado. Criminal Justice has always been a passion of mine and I will always seek to be involved in the field. However, next year I do plan to shift gears a little as I transition out of the Navy and pursue my graduate degree in Social Work. Hopefully I will be able to find a unique way to tie the two together.

If I can pass anything along to our members, it is that one should always be seeking new ways to improve their selves, and I believe that involvement with communities that exist around you is one of the best ways to achieve that improvement. Communities provide diverse and unique insights that can open doors to a world of possibilities. So this year, I encourage you to get out there and really get involved in the community; hopefully it will ignite a new passion as you move forward in your ventures. In closing, I want to thank you all for allowing me the opportunity to hold this position as we kick off what is sure to be a fantastic year for Kappa Kappa. If you ever need anything from me, please feel free to reach out. stephen_dearborn@yahoo.com
