Covid-19 Update

ADVISORS,
WE ARE HERE TO HELP!

Headquarters is processing MEMBERSHIP APPLICATIONS, HONOR REGALIA, and MERCHANDISE orders on a continuous basis. There is no deadline on processing.

For schools that are closed or advisors who are working remotely, Alpha Phi Sigma will:

- Receive all applications and regalia orders via email.
- Invoice students directly for payment with debit/credit card.
- Ship materials directly to the student's home.

No Scanner, No Problem!!!

No Electronic Signature, No Problem!!!

Forward us the completed application and/or regalia order by email and let us know of your approval.

Alpha Phi Sigma's Headquarters is sponsored by the Abraham S. Fischler College of Education and School of Criminal Justice

COVID-19 UPDATE

ATTENTION ADVISORS & STUDENT MEMBERS Membership Processing & Honor Regalia Orders

Due to the uncertainty of colleges and universities reopening their campuses, Alpha Phi Sigma will continue to work with each chapter advisor to determine the best course of action for membership applications and honor regalia orders this coming fall.

Alpha Phi Sigma remains committed to customer service. We will make sure students continue to receive their membership packets and honor regalia orders in a timely fashion.

For those advisors who will be working remotely, we will continue to receive applications and orders via email. We will invoice the student directly and ship to their home. For advisors at schools that reopen, we will continue the standard method of shipping to the advisor at the school. Knowing that things may change at any time, we ask that you keep HQ informed of closings and shipping alternatives.

The current application for “online students” stipulates that we will ship directly to the member for a $10 shipping and handling fee. We will use the same method for students who will not attend campus due to closures. Although we wish we could ship for free, APS is one of many non-profit organizations being financially impacted by the pandemic with furloughs and loss of revenue. We count on membership and regalia orders for sustainability through the steadfast support of each and every advisor and member.

Honor Regalia orders will also be received via email from the advisor. We will invoice the member and ship directly to their home. Each student must complete an order form and include S&H listed on the form.

For students completing an application and ordering Honor Regalia at the same time, we will waive the S&H for the regalia. The shipping charge for the membership materials and regalia (regardless of pieces ordered) will remain at $10.

Induction ceremonies, chapter meetings, and even community service projects are being conducted via zoom by many of our chapters. If your chapter has had success with one or more zoom meetings, please share the details with us so that we can share them with all our chapters.

Scholarships, Awards, and Grants will be accepted until the January 2021 deadline.

We are here to help you in any way we can and hope that we will continue to sustain our organization post this pandemic and for the next 80 years.

Thank you for all your support. Stay safe and healthy.

A Word from the Alpha Phi Sigma Executive Council

Navigating a World Pandemic: A Message from Your Executive Council

What unprecedented times we are living in. The Coronavirus pandemic undoubtedly has presented us all with challenges unimaginable just four months ago. As honor students during these difficult times, you've persevered through a disrupted spring semester/quarter and are now heading into an unpredictable fall. While we continue to learn in the classroom, we are also learning more about the virus itself, as well as its transmission. For example, what has become abundantly clear is that COVID-19 doesn't care that we are enjoying the warmth of summer, something that public health experts are now discovering, having previously thought that the virus would be difficult to transmit in the summer and early fall. We are also learning that there are effective ways to prevent infection, including (1) physical distancing, (2) personal and public hygiene, (3) facial coverings, and (4) the absence of large gatherings. And while some of these practices have become politicized, public health experts agree that these basic precautions can reduce the spread of COVID-19 and eventually get us back to some sense of normalcy—both on our campuses and in our personal lives.

Despite high COVID-19 infection rates across the country at the time of this writing, and especially in Florida where our Alpha Phi Sigma Headquarters is located, we continue to be here for you—open for business as we have been throughout the Coronavirus outbreak. Our staff, led by Executive Director Dr. Regina Shearn and Assistant Director Ms. Adriana Jansen, haven't missed a beat and have been particularly innovative in ensuring the high level of service to our members and advisors that we've all become accustomed to. Our hats off to our entire staff! As we continue to navigate these uncharted waters, rest assured that your emails will be answered, your membership materials will be processed and sent, and your honor regalia and other merchandise—signifying your accomplishments in your academic pursuits—will be in your hands in a timely manner.

Because the spread of COVID-19 is facilitated through large gatherings, universities across the country are scrambling to determine the best course of action for their students this fall, based on local infection rates, recommendations from local public health officials, and CDC guidance. Some of you already have been notified that your university will be entirely remote this fall. Others of you will be taking some hybrid or face-to-face classes on campus. Key to your success this upcoming year will be both your flexibility and resiliency. We recognize the challenges here, especially since you are making progress in your academic degree program while also caring for yourselves, friends and family members who may be sick, and at a time where you may have extraordinary financial challenges. This isn't easy—and in some cases downright scary, and we certainly recognize that. Your professors are also feeling the strain, some of whom are having to prepare quality classes in formats less comfortable for them, while also caring for their loved ones. As students and scholars in criminal justice, we are in this together.

As we roll into a new academic year, your chapter meetings, social activities, events and fundraisers may look much different than they have in the past. And that's okay. Let's embrace this upcoming academic year as an opportunity to explore new ways to think about the ideals of Alpha Phi Sigma as we continue to strive for academic excellence, to provide quality service to those in need, to demonstrate innovative and responsive leadership, and to instill a sense of unity among those of us who seek to be the next leaders in the criminal justice field. Once we get through this world pandemic, we will not only have a story to tell our kids or grandkids, but we also will have stories of perseverance and the challenges we worked through.

Stay safe and healthy. We look forward to seeing you at the next Alpha Phi Sigma Annual Conference!

The Covid-19 Pandemic has caused turmoil in most states, at homes, nursing homes, work places, schools, and much more. As the country strives to reopen we cannot deny this “new” normal may be with us for a while.

When most colleges and universities closed back in March of this year, professors and students were sent scrambling to complete their semester classes online. A new learning curve began—one we are just beginning to settle into.

For Alpha Phi Sigma chapters, the pandemic created a disconnect in Unity, Leadership, and Community Service. For chapter advisors and members trying to close out the Spring semester, this became an unprecedented and arduous chore. Headquarters stepped in and made sure that support for advisors and members alike was sustained, even through returns of packages, lost mail, and frustration over membership and regalia orders. Advisors became aware of the steps Alpha Phi Sigma HQ was taking to make sure that membership applications were received by email, students were invoice directly, and all was shipped to members when necessary.

We all adapted to a new way of doing things and it worked. Chapters and HQ alike were successful in fulfilling all membership and regalia orders. But what about chapter communication and activities? We don’t have to go further than the next few pages of this newsletter to see that students and advisor have an uncanny ability to adapt. Chapters found new innovative ways to have meetings and communicate, even have induction ceremonies on Zoom for new members. Chapters also found ways to adapt service projects to the “new” normal.

Community Service, one of Alpha Phi Sigma’s ideals may seem to be restricted in these unprecedented times, but when you think about how much the community is suffering, now more than ever, we need to show solidarity for the less fortunate, the sick, the front-line workers, the doctors, nurses, hospital employees, rescue workers, and those who put themselves in danger every day to keep the rest of the community safe. Many chapters have found ways to navigate the “new” normal and that is why we need your help!

We’d like to hear from you about the innovative ways you keep the chapter moving forward through this pandemic.

- * Please share with us so that we may share it with all chapters, the good, the bad, and the silly. Share what your chapter has done or is preparing to do this coming Fall.
- * How are you keeping all members engaged while maintaining physical distance?
- * How is the chapter engaged in a service, especially with so much needed during this time?
- * How is your chapter conducting, or will conduct, a wonderful induction ceremony online?
- * How will your chapter prepare for Fall graduation?
- * How have the leaders of the chapter stepped up and involved all members with communication?
- * As we prepare for the Fall term, with many campuses closed, how will your Alpha Phi Sigma chapter step up to the new challenges?

Send us a description, pictures, even a video of the mechanisms your chapter will employ to move forward and uphold the ideals of Alpha Phi Sigma . . . Leadership, Service, Unity.

Please post your events on our social media platforms so all chapters can see what your chapter is doing. And don’t forget to share with Headquarters so that the stories may be featured on our Docket!! And please stay safe and keep your loved ones safe.

In Memoriam

Jennifer Mendoza

It is with a heavy heart that we report the death of Alpha Phi Sigma alumna Jennifer Mendoza ('18). Jennifer was one of the first Criminal Justice majors at Azusa Pacific University and was among the very first graduates from our program. She minored in psychology and was committed to using her education to help the underrepresented.

Jennifer was a proud member of Alpha Phi Sigma's Pi Gamma Eta chapter and will be remembered for her dedicated work ethic, radiant personality, and love for the Los Angeles Dodgers. Jennifer was 23 years old.

Jennifer's family requested that a scholarship be set up in her honor to help other criminal justice students at APU earn their degrees.

The Mendoza family was presented with the Alpha Phi Sigma Honor Stole at her memorial service on March 14, 2020.

Please keep Jennifer's friends and family in your thoughts and prayers in this difficult time.

We will remember Jennifer as she was, full of love and dedication to her friends, family, and community.

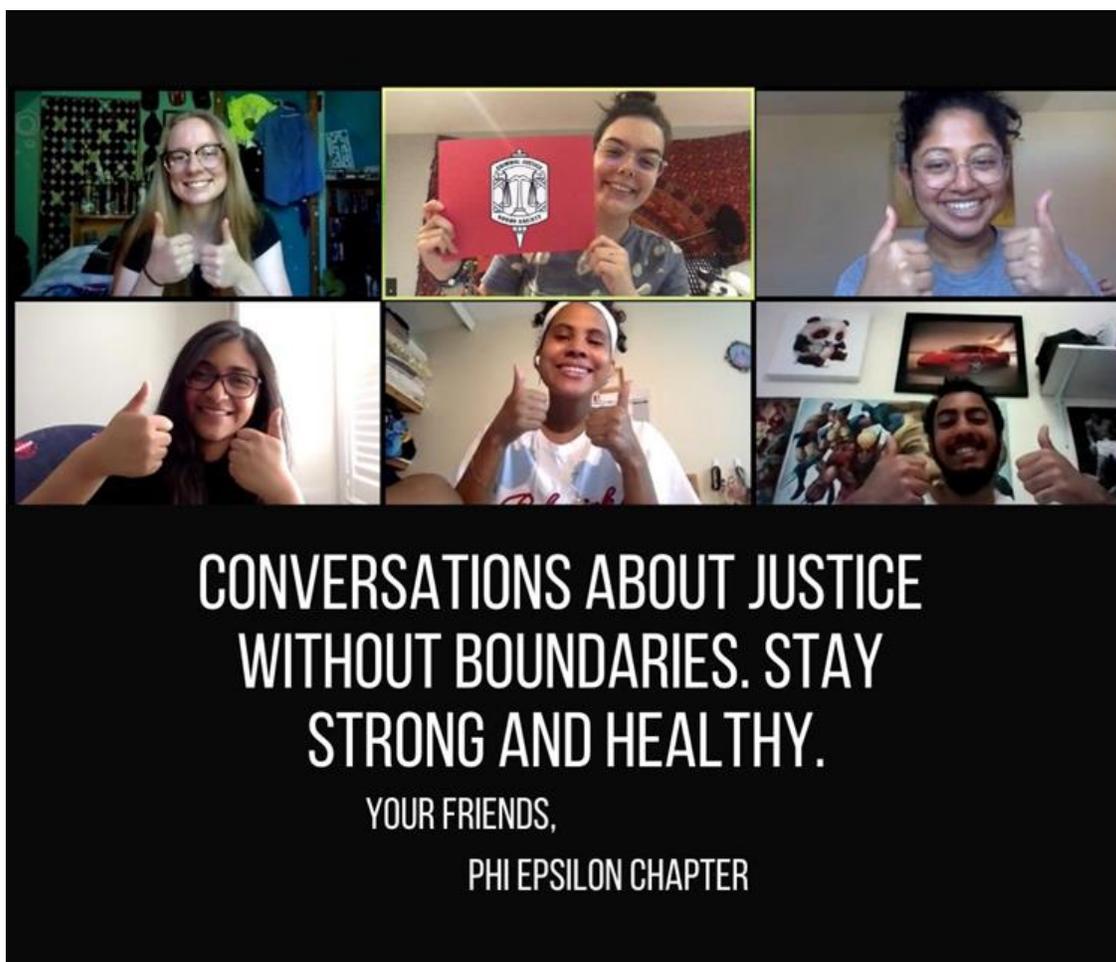

May she soar with the angels in amazing Grace.

The executive team for the Phi Epsilon Chapter, located at the University of Guelph-Humber in Toronto Ontario, has been hard at work planning events for the 2020-2021 school year. This fall, the team plans to host online events that will provide society members and rookies an opportunity to network with industry professionals, learn about employment options, and expand their knowledge regarding all aspects of the criminal justice system. The fall semester events include: First Meeting, Coffee with a Cop, and Wrongful Conviction Day. Phi Epsilon’s executive team is very excited to have the opportunity to meet and work with current and incoming members of Alpha Phi Sigma, whether in person or in an online capacity. Stay safe and healthy Guelph-Humber and we will see you in the fall!

Spring Semester for our chapter was strange and short but we still accomplished some community service projects, such as painting a child's room and helping the community with an opening of a community elementary school. Even through most events were canceled, our chapter encouraged each other to finish strong through our group chat! We honored our graduates with a Facebook video that can be found at APSNMSU. Our members finished strong and some even created face masks for the homeless! We are an excited chapter ready for the Fall Semester!

The funds were proudly used to host and sponsor the Criminal Justice Program's first annual Police Boot Camp and Motivational Event. This event featured police officer Joseph Parrello (Joe Nyce) of the Harrison New York Police Department. Officer Parrello is a devoted Student Resource Officer for the Harrison School District, a successful entrepreneur, and an exceptional motivational speaker. Officer Parrello administered the Cooper physical fitness test to aspiring police officers and then spoke to criminal justice students and honor society members about achieving professional and personal goals, the changing nature of policing, and how to promote better police community relations within our schools and in the streets.

Alumni Around the World

National Capital Region Alumni Circle

The National Capitol Alumni Circle held a Zoom meeting on June 3, 2020 to discuss the funding for the Nay-Latocki Military Veteran Scholarship.

ALPHA PHI SIGMA NAY-LATOCKI MILITARY VETERAN SCHOLARSHIP

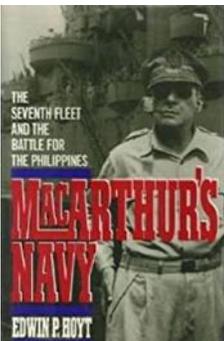

Golden Alumni, Bill Nay, a Marine Corps Veteran, is very much involved with veteran affairs and other well-known groups and societies that benefit military veterans and their families. A historian in his own right, Bill traced his genealogy all the way back to the Revolutionary War. His latest project, much to the gratitude of the Alpha Phi Sigma National Capital Region Alumni Circle, is the creation and funding of a new Alpha Phi Sigma Scholarship. The Nay-Latocki Military Veteran Scholarship is an annual scholarship bearing the name of the Nay and Latocki families, both deep rooted in American Military history.

Bill wishes for the scholarship to continue the support of military veterans and he is working diligently to secure the funding necessary to award the scholarship perpetually. Alpha Phi Sigma has many members who are veterans and may become recipients of the scholarship.

If you are interested or know of someone or an organization willing to make a donation toward the scholarship, please contact Bill Nay at headquarters@alphaphisigma.org or send payment to: Tasha Butler, NCR Alumni Circle, 6606 Ridge Rd, Hurlock, MD 21643.

What Else is Golden Alumni Bill Nay Up To??

Alpha Phi Sigma Golden Lifetime Alumni, Bill Nay, continues his great work with the California Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Bill Nay was presented with the SAR Patriot Medal by President Robert Taylor. President Taylor bestowed this honor on Bill for all the work he has done in partnering with Scouts BSA and with the Sea Cadet (NSCC/NLCC) Programs. The Patriot Medal is the highest award presented to a Compatriot by a State Society and recognizes long, faithful, outstanding, and distinguished service at the state and/or chapter level. The Patriot Medal is awarded only by a State Society and may be presented only to an individual.

Description: The medal has a silver finish and bears the portrait of Compatriot General of the Army Douglas MacArthur on the obverse within the inscription, "The National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution." Compatriot MacArthur selected the design for the medal just prior to his death. He received the first medal, presented posthumously at his tomb in Norfolk, Virginia, on October 19, 1964, where it is on permanent display."

For Bill, this award has special meaning due to the connection to his father, William O Nay, who served in the US Navy in World War II as part of the 7th Fleet. There is a great book about the Theater in which his father served, "The Seventh Fleet and the Battle for the Philippines: MacArthur's Navy". Bill's Father assisted General MacArthur in the Liberation of the Philippines. It was indeed a privilege for Bill to receive this Medal named in his Honor. Bill Nay is thankful for all the Veteran Service Organizations that have been a part of the partnership with the American Legion, Sons of the American Legion, the American Legion Riders, VFW, AMVETS, and the Marine Corps League.

Fairmont State Professor and Alpha Phi Sigma Alumnus, Dr. John McLaughlin, funds scholarship for police officers to attend college

Fairmont State University professor Dr. John McLaughlin is working to help police officers looking to attend college by creating the Dr. John E. McLaughlin Police Scholarship.

McLaughlin, a criminal justice professor, grew up in Miami-Dade County, Florida, where he started his career in law enforcement after receiving his bachelor's degree. After 26 years, earning his master's and doctorate degrees, he retired as a lieutenant in the economic crime bureau heading up the Mortgage Fraud Task Force.

Inspired by the program in Miami-Dade County that allowed him to earn his degree, McLaughlin decided it was time to create a similar program at Fairmont State University. The scholarship will provide funding starting in fall 2020 for students who have worked at least two years as a city, county or state police officer to attend Fairmont State either part-time or full-time.

"I decided to donate to the Fairmont State Foundation after seeing a need in the policing community. This allows officers to get their education and become better officers," McLaughlin said. "Many of the local departments do not offer tuition reimbursement.

Fairmont State Foundation President Julie R. Cryser said law enforcement is such a noble profession. Having a scholarship that will allow those in the profession to further their education is a great resource. "We are so appreciative for the support that Dr. McLaughlin is providing for local police officers to ensure they are able to continue their education," she said. "We hope that others will join in this worthy effort to help our city, county and state police become even better educated."

Fairmont State University President Dr. Mirta Martin said a chance to help others continue their education is an incredible gift. "Our nation's police officers are professionals who selflessly protect our communities each and every day," Martin said. "They deserve the best our communities can offer in return, and via the Dr. John E. McLaughlin Police Scholarship, worthy law enforcement professionals will have the chance to further their education at Fairmont State – a school that truly appreciates their service."

McLaughlin completed his master's at Florida International University, where he began teaching part-time after he finished, and doctorate at Lynn University.

"Miami-Dade had a program where they provided tuition reimbursement for all employees. After you completed each course, they would reimburse you 50 percent of your tuition," he said. "For that reason, I started taking graduate classes and got into a routine and did not stop until I got my master's and doctorate. I was working two jobs while earning my doctorate. I used the money that I received from teaching and the reimbursements to pay for my education, so I did not have to take out loans."

In 2013, he came to Fairmont State University as a professor in the Criminal Justice Program, teaching police operations, criminal investigations, crime scene investigations, Spanish for law enforcement, terrorism, advanced criminal law and homeland security.

He also serves, for the past two years, at the Rivesville Police Department and is currently the police chief. "Being a police officer is an enormously rewarding career when you get to help people stay on track and not let them go down the wrong path in life," he said. "I also really like chasing and recovering stolen cars."

McLaughlin said that he would encourage others who can to give to support scholarships for law enforcement.

Dr. John McLaughlin is also the Editor of El Puente, the National Latino Police Officers Association Newsletter.
