Synopsis

LINES OF CONFLICTS is a show organized by the collective ...On The Same Page, where a team of 19 artists from across the country of varied backgrounds have come together to display their artists' books, all on the singular theme of "conflicts".

As an integral part of nature, conflicts can arise either inherently or artificially across blurred lines, some that are visible, some felt or hidden in plain sight. Though inevitable, many a conflict has been created through the lines of demarcations across societies that are divided by needs, wants, beliefs, ideologies and identities.

At its core, the exhibition challenges the notion of separation by highlighting the contradictions deep-rooted in every line. Each piece in the collection serves as a narrative thread, mapping historical tensions, emotional ruptures, and the ever-shifting territories of power. The artworks provoke a reflective dialogue about how these divisions have not only fractured communities but also, inadvertently, defined our collective identities.

By probing into the multitude of forces that create conflicts, this show engages the audience to acknowledge and confront the discomforts of reality, ponder, reflect and ultimately redefine and redraw the lines of perception within and around us.

While often viewed negatively, conflict can also be a catalyst for change, prompting dialogue, innovation, and social transformation when managed constructively.

ANJU SARANYA

Artist

anjusaranya@gmail.com

Anju Saranya was born in Feroke, Calicut, in 1978 and was brought up in Kottayam. She holds a Master's degree in Commerce and Journalism. Studied painting at KSS school of Arts, Kottayam. Since 2011, Anju has been actively practising as a freelance artist. Her work spans various mediums including charcoal, oil, watercolour, and acrylic—currently favouring acrylic for its expressive possibilities.

In her works, Anju often brings the self into the foreground and employs the same symbols to portray different or even contradictory ideas. Such symbols may signify a conflict between different ideas deep rooted in mind. Her practice reflects a deep engagement with both technique and emotion, often exploring themes rooted in human experience and nature.

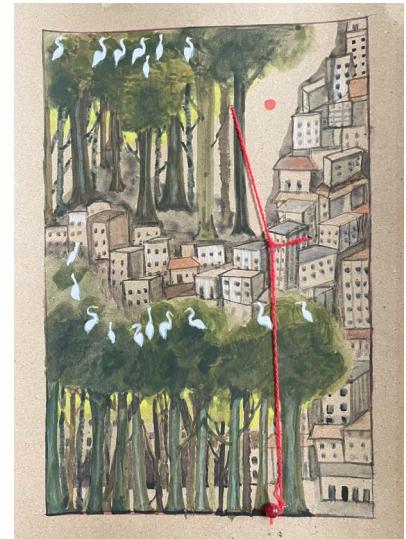

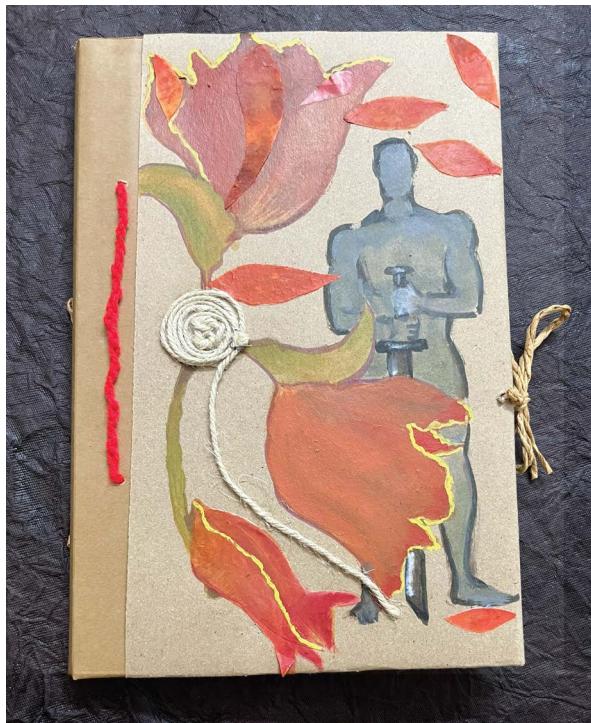

She has participated in 40 group shows across India, including those organized by KLKA in the years 2019, 2023, 2024, and 2025, as well as at the prestigious Jehangir Art Gallery in Mumbai.

MEENAKSHI JHA BANERJEE

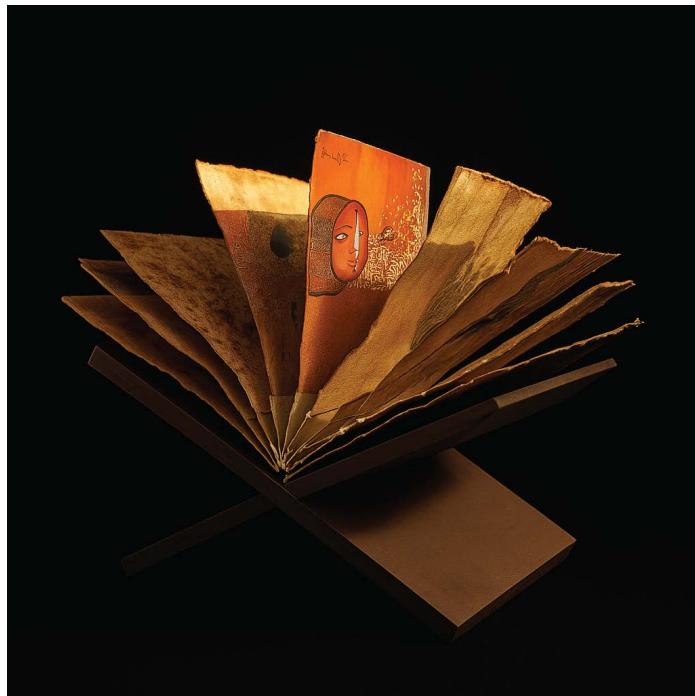

Artist

minipatna.2009@gmail.com

Meenakshi Jha Banerjee is a Delhi-based painter who has spent over two decades working across Bihar, immersing into the profound simplicity of Mithila art. Her practice draws deeply from the region's folk painting traditions, reimagined through a contemporary lens. A graduate in Literature with a postgraduate diploma in Design, Meenakshi is a self-taught artist with no formal training in fine arts. Her journey reflects both discipline and defiance, choosing intuition over instruction. Her contributions to Indian art have been formally recognized with a Senior Fellowship from the Ministry of Culture, Government of India in 2024.

Over 25 years, Meenakshi has developed a distinctive visual language that fuses traditional Mithila motifs with modern themes, techniques, and media. Her work explores layered emotions, feminine consciousness, and social tension, rendered through intricate lines, bold symbolism, and innovative formats. She has held 10 solo exhibitions and participated in over 50 group shows across India & Overseas, in addition to numerous art camps and workshops. Her collaborations span leading brands and cultural institutions, and her work has received multiple awards for artistic excellence.

Widely featured in newspapers, electronic & social media and art journals, Meenakshi's art speaks across boundaries of geography, genre, and gender. Her canvas is not merely decorative; it is narrative, questioning, and deeply personal. Through it, she continues to expand the vocabulary of Mithila painting, reclaiming it as a living, evolving tradition in the 21st century.

SANSKAR VERMA

Artist | Academician

sanskarp1996@gmail.com

Sanskar Verma is a multidisciplinary artist from Mirzapur, India. His art brings together memories, materials, nature, and everyday life. He holds two MFA degrees – one from Visva-Bharati University, Santiniketan, and one from Nantong University, China, where he studied under the Chinese Government Scholarship (CSC).

Sanskar's work is inspired by travel, language barriers, and the beauty of small moments. In China, he observed how nature and silence helped him understand a new culture. These experiences often appear in his drawings, textile surfaces, and visual stories. His style blends Indian traditions with modern ideas and global influences.

He has exhibited at national and international levels, participated in a photography exchange between Banaras Hindu University and Plymouth University (UK), and received recognition from Lalit Kala Akademi at state and regional levels.

Now based in Bangalore, he continues his practice while also being part of the Design faculty at Presidency University. His current artistic explorations focus on the quiet space between tradition and transformation—where texture, memory, and material speak silently. Through his art, Sanskar searches for presence, rhythm, and poetic stillness in a fast-changing world.

VISHAKHA HARDIKAR MALL

Vishakha Hardikar Mall is a narrative artist and storyteller from the historic city of Ujjain, now based in Bhayandar, Maharashtra. Her visual language is rooted in a childhood shaped by stories, rituals, and close-knit family life. Drawing from comics, animation, and pop art, she creates vibrant figurative illustrations that blend symmetry, color, and expressive characters to explore themes of mythology, gender, memory, and mass culture. Vishakha's work often reinterprets familiar female icons from Indian cinema, folk tales, and mythology through a feminist lens. Her ongoing series Think Outside the Idiot Box revisits the cultural legacy of Indian television, transforming nostalgic media moments into emotionally charged commentary.

She holds a BFA from Indore Fine Art College (2004) and a Diploma in Animation and Film Designing from ZICA Mumbai (2006). Her solo exhibitions include Think Outside the Idiot Box at Jehangir Art Gallery, Lalit Kala Akademi, and Lexicon Art Gallery, as well as Once Upon a Time at Gallery Veda, Chennai.

She has participated in key group exhibitions such as The Art of India, OPOP India Design Fair, Hue by Ek Chitra, and Khajuraho Art Festival. In 2020, she received the prestigious Madhya Pradesh State Rupankar Award and has attended national art camps at Kalidas Academy and ITM Gwalior. Her practice stands out for blending personal memory with public culture, creating emotionally resonant, politically aware, and visually rich works that form a living archive of goddesses, rebels, icons, and ghosts in a language uniquely her own.
