Market Overview

- The global effervescent market has been structured based on packaging type, product, application and regional sector. The tubes segment has been predominant over the packaging type segmentation on the market.
  - Effervescent tablet tubes are non-toxic and considered to be safe from microbiological attacks.
  - These tubes are consumer friendly and optimal for daily use.
- Marine Collagen has a competitive advantage over the porcine or bovine because of its high absorption rate and bio-availability.
