

March 25, 1989

My children, all of heaven, and all creatures of earth rejoice with you. Let all exalt his Name and the power of his love to bring about the resurrection of each soul: if this were not so, I would have told you.

What more can I say than to plead with you to listen with your hearts to my son and his heart full of love and mercy. Rejoice. Rejoice. For the Kingdom of God is at hand.

I am bestowing upon you many blessings of perseverance and graces of love for endurance for Christ our Lord.

Peace of Jesus be with you! I love you, my little ones.

What more could I have done than to have offered my son to you? Take him home with you tonight and never, never let him go.

Thank you for being here tonight.

---

May 4, 1989

My dear children, I am so elated with joy tonight. For it blesses me so to see all of you here with me and to know you have especially come to be with my son. Do not forget the "Stations of the Cross", which I have asked to be erected in my son's honor and glory, and for your blessing of coming to know my son through his whole life.

My dear ones, you have been called to be here by me. My invitation was special, and my son's invitation to be with him is also one of deep concern and love for you. He wishes today to invite you once more to visit him daily in prayer, in Scriptures, and in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

---

June 3, 1989<sup>1</sup>

My children, I have blessed your parish with my presence once more. I missed all of you who did not even remember my day. But my children, when you do come, I await you with a burning love for you.

My children, I wish that you search your heart for any bitterness or unforgiveness. This is the root for many of your sicknesses, not only of the flesh but of the soul.

---

<sup>1</sup> Feast of the Immaculate Heart of Mary

My children continue to struggle to serve the Lord with all your heart, for he finds joy in your suffering for Him. My children praised be Jesus. Praised be his holy Name. Always my children search for God and his mercy for all of you.

Thank you, my children, for being here.