

Fear

Fear robs you of grace and steals your peace. Fear prefers darkness to light. Fear possesses and destroys while peace interferes in this destruction. Fear rejects God and can change truth into a lie.

Fear captures and ensnares its prey and only peace and joy in God can set you free. Fear remains alive in you as long as you let it. You have the keys of victory at your grasp. Fear can conquer your world many times over. Fear can destroy what is good, but the bad remains worse. Fear cannot see God, only the problem. Fear can outdo a swaying faith. Fear is an instrument used by the devil to ensnare you and keep you from God.

Fear is a tool used to destroy what God has done. When fear overtakes the lamb, it is only a matter of time for the slaughter. Fear is patient. It waits for the right opportunity for the open door in which to enter and take over. Fear is the thief in the night so it can steal, kill and destroy.

Fear rejoices only in defeat and wallows in the mire of destruction.