

Under Construction: Distribution Center

By Jessica Mendez

Now that the foundation has been set, and the frame and walls are up, the final step is the details on the inside. This will require a lifetime of attention. My Spiritual dad, Henry, once said that the outside of the house is for everyone else to see, but the inside of the house is for those who live in it to enjoy. Wow. What an insight? Think of it. Our actions are on the outside, everyone that is outside of us sees them and these are based on the foundation and how we built up our frame (habits). However, God is with us always and obviously, we can't escape our own self, therefore what goes on in the inside affects how we see ourselves and what type of relationship we have with God. This is where it is necessary to call on the Holy Spirit to come in and reveal all the excuses that we use in order to keep us from showing mercy (love and forgiveness in action). Go on call on the Holy Spirit, we have time. Come Holy Spirit, come Holy Spirit, come Holy Spirit. The question is, "How much do you want to love? How much do you want to love? Empty yourselves first of all of unforgiveness. Empty yourselves of any materialism that keeps you from coming closer to my son. Empty yourself of despair and ask for trust in God. Give God praise for all that you do have...How I wish that you would follow my ways of mercy, for it is not only for you that I wish this but for all of those that you touch with your words, with your hands and feet and your heart. My children do not justify being unkind for being kind shows that you are children of God." (private revelation given to Mary Constancio from the Queen of Mercy). I believe what Mama is telling us is to get rid of our excuses! All my life I felt abandoned and as a result I withheld compassion towards others and kept myself at a distance from people, especially those closest to me. If I truly believe that God is in control of everything, then I must also trust that even the things that seemed like a curse to me, are God's way of drawing me to Him. Therefore, how can I be upset? How can I be angry at those whom I believe did an injustice, if God is just? Is He not capable of deciding my destiny? Did He not create me? Then how can I argue with His plan? It is time to let go of all of our pain, guilt, regret, unforgiveness, etc. and choose love, choose forgiveness, choose mercy. Why do we do this? According to 1 Peter 4:10, we are distributors of grace, "As generous distributors of God's manifold grace, put your gifts at the service of one another, each in the measure he has received." Did you pick it up? What God is building in a us is a distribution center, a grace distribution center! If I have unforgiveness in my heart, then even my kind acts will have bitterness in them, and though I may think that I am helping others, I am poisoning them as well. As 1 Peter 3:13-14, 17 says, "Who indeed can harm you if you are committed deeply to doing what is right? Even if you should have to suffer for justice' sake happy will you be...If it should be God's will that you suffer, it is better to do so for good deeds than for evil ones." My dear brothers and sisters in Christ, God has planted you where you are in order to distribute grace and mercy to His children through you. Are you willing to clean house in order to bring healing to others? Are you willing to suffer for the sake of doing God's will? I pray that this article is a blessing to you and those around you. I also pray that you would hear Our Blessed Mother Queen of Mercy as she calls each of her children home to her Sanctuary of Grace to be cleaned out of all burdens, and unforgiveness in order to be filled with graces. May God bless you and may Mama wrap you in her mantle of mercy.
