

August 15, 2026 – Feast of the Assumption¹

My Beloved — as when the Holy Spirit enshrined in my womb a new life for the sake of the world happened, today also ask the Holy Spirit that you too would receive a new life enshrined in your life, that you too will take the good news of our Lord Jesus Christ — my Son, who is Mercy Incarnated.

My beloved children, there are graces for all of you here, for all who made choices to be here. My beloveds, take to heart these words: blessed are you who choose daily to follow the commandments, all of the statutes and bylaws to follow my Son.

Oh, my children, if you only knew and accepted the great love we have for you. This, my children, is not just a gift from God, but a gift from my Son, from the Cross, as he spoke, I forgive; do not hold this from my beloved.

My precious young ones, young at heart. I speak to your hearts; remain faithful to your parents. Forgive them this very day. As you do, you leave room in your hearts to love, to love with all of your heart. There will be special angels that come from me to watch over you, to comfort you, to lead you to my Son.

My precious ones, love one another. Learn to love no matter what hurt or pain happens to you. Your goal should be heaven, not anything of this world. Looking to heaven as your goal, everything that our Father has planned for you and His will will be accomplished.

Please read Psalm 119 every day for the next 6 months. You will see how & what God wants of you. The perfect plans he has for you.

You, my beloveds, are the next generation to bring the good news to the world.

Thank you, children, for being here with me today.

Peace Peace Peace of Jesus be with you.
