Nick Anthony

Hip Hop, Contemporary and Improv

Nick Anthony is an entrepreneurial artist, dancer, choreographer, teacher, mentor, coach, & consultant based in Los Angeles, CA. Having grown up in a family of versatile artists & small business owners in western Massachusetts, Nick was introduced to the world of entrepreneurship & business management, as well as to the greater communities of dance, music, theatre, entertainment, & the performing arts, at an early age. The family business that had the greatest impact on Nick was none other than his mother & aunt's dance studio, the Hackworth School of Performing Arts, which was opened by Nick's great grandfather in 1934 & is still going strong. While dance was always something Nick was passionate about & enjoyed, it wasn't until his college years at Quinnipiac University that he realized & acted on his desire to move to Los Angeles to pursue a career in the arts & entertainment industry. Shortly following his college graduation in 2010, Nick took what he learned from his Entrepreneurship & Small Business Management degree, as well as his years of dance training & experiences, & dove into the LA dance scene in the fall of 2011. Since then, Nick has been represented by Bloc Talent Agency & Clear Talent Group as a dancer & choreographer & The Movement Talent Agency as a dance educator. His performance & choreography work spans from movies, television, & music videos to commercials, web series, live shows, & more. Some of his more notable credits on this front so far include Dr. Ken, Arrested Development, Dance Moms, All the Right Moves, Real Life: The Musical, Lindsey Stirling, Neon Trees, Kidz Bop, Disney, Coca Cola, Ryan Seacrest Productions, GAP, & the NBA D-League. As a dance educator, due to having grown up studying all styles of dance, Nick's personal movement choices tend to lead to a fusion of several styles, but his primary focuses for choreography & instruction are hip hop, contemporary, improvisation, & acrobatics/tumbling. Nick has been consistently traveling nationally & internationally for close to 15 years to share his work & to pass along what he's learned to the next generation, through master classes, workshops, seminars, coaching & mentoring sessions, & personalized feedback & critiques. He has been able to collaborate with over 200 dance studios, schools, teams, companies, & colleges, dozens of conventions, competitions, & events, & thousands of students across all ages & levels throughout the US, as well as parts of Canada, Central America, & Thailand. He's a regular faculty member for Dance Educators of America (DEA), Dance Masters of America (DMA), American Dance Awards (ADA), Move: The Initiative, & Generation IV (GIV). He has also taught &/or judged for the likes of Velocity Dance Convention, LA Dance Magic, Hollywood Dance Jamz, Regional Dance America, DanceXplosion, Headliners, Dance Fierce, Breaking Bounds, & Kids For Kids, to name a few. In addition to his pursuits as a dancer, choreographer, & educator, through his company NAKOA Network, founded in 2016, Nick has served as a manager, producer, organizer, & director for many individual artists & their projects, as well as for such companies as Shaping Sound, Generation IV, The Dance Counsel, IV REAL MVMNT, UN.Conventional, & Curtain Call Costumes for their fashion line NX3. Most recently, amidst his on-going touring schedule of teaching, choreographing, & judging throughout the year, Nick has been building his newest venture, NAKOA (YOU)university, a very personal & mission driven coaching, consulting, mentoring, & training business established to help educate, guide, & empower aspiring & established professional artists & creatives of all types to more confidently & effectively navigate & manage their lives, careers, & finances. A 2024 graduate of the Jay Shetty Certification School, as a certified Life & Success Coach, Nick offers valuable one on one private sessions for individual clients of all backgrounds. He also leads group classes & seminars for artists, entertainers, & creative professionals at various studios, schools, companies, & events, including such places as the CLI Conservatory in western MA, on topics ranging from mindset development & management, entrepreneurship, business strategy & implementation, financial literacy & money management, branding & marketing, & career management & decision making to lifestyle design & organization, goal achievement & habit formation, personal & professional growth, networking & relationship building, confidence & self-esteem improvement, to name a few. While Nick frequently finds himself on the road in his professional life, enjoying the opportunities he's afforded to travel & work with new & old friends & peers from all over, he spends every moment he can at home in Los Angeles with his wife, Taylor, their son, Asher, & their pup, Arrow.

Daniel Therrien Tap Dance

Daniel Therrien returns to the Gulf Coast after 30 years on the World Stage. For three decades of performing, choreographing and directing across the globe, including the bright lights of Las Vegas, Broadway, Japan, Europe and beyond, Daniel is a proud Gulf Coast native and is back home in Biloxi, Mississippi.

He's journey began on the coast dancing at the Casino Magic and Isle of Capri before his talents took him to the biggest stages in the world including Las Vegas shows Folies Bergere, STOMP, Legends in Concert, Daniel performed in Cats, Wicked, Starlight Express, and Cirque du Soleil. Minori Therrien Musical Theatre

Minori Therrien is a distinguished musical theater performer, choreographer, director, and educator born in Nagoya, Japan. Her passion for the performing arts led her to enroll in the Vocal Musical Course at Nagoya University of the Arts in 2001. In 2002, she joined the renowned Shiki Theatre Company, Japan's premier musical theater company, launching a remarkable career that spans continents and disciplines. Minori's professional debut came with the Japanese premiere of Mamma Mia! at the renowned Umi Theater in Tokyo, where she performed as an original ensemble cast member. Her talent quickly propelled her to prominent roles, including Nala in The Lion King (touring Tokyo and Nagoya) and Nehebka in Elton John's Aida (touring Osaka, Kyoto, and Nagoya). She achieved a career milestone when she returned to her hometown of Nagoya to star as Aida in the same production. Minori's versatility shone in Tokyo's premiere of Wicked, where she portrayed the iconic role of Elphaba. Her final performance with Shiki Theatre Company was as the lead female vocalist in the original musical revue 55 Steps, capping an eight-year tenure filled with standout performances across Japan. Seeking new horizons, Minori relocated to Germany, where she continued to captivate audiences. She performed in the German premiere of Wicked in Oberhausen as part of the ensemble and toured Germany and Austria in Cats, embodying Grizabella, Demeter, and Tantomile. Her powerful portrayal of Anita in West Side Story at the Komische Oper in Berlin solidified her reputation as a dynamic performer. Minori also appeared as Lady Thiang in The King and I at Seefestspiele, Mörbisch in Austria, and took on roles in Hair (Deutsches Theater, Munich, and Salzburger Landestheater), Il Viaggio a Reims, The Rocky Horror Show, and the world premiere of Skiverliebt at the Salzburger Landestheater. Additionally, she played Calliope in Xanadu at the Red Bull Arena, showcasing her range across diverse productions. Beyond musical theater, Minori has appeared as a guest singer at numerous events, including the Expo in the Netherlands, and continues to perform at various stages and events worldwide. With a career spanning Japan, Germany, Austria, and beyond, Minori remains a celebrated figure in musical theater, known for her commanding stage presence and vocal prowess.
