THE MASTERSON METHOD ®

The horse communicates almost entirely through body language; from the most subtle level to the most obvious. Most of the horse's body language is missed by us. The Masterson Method is an interactive method of bodywork in which the owner uses subtle changes in body language to get not-so-subtle results.

MARK RASHID

Mark's life work is focused on developing internal and external softness. He is an internationally known author & horseman known for his ability to understand the horses point of view and solve difficult problems with communication rather than force
