Metadata Assistant offers comprehensive protection against confidential information being unintentionally disclosed from Microsoft® Word, Excel, PowerPoint, PDF, Audio, Video, ZIP files, Open Document Format and other file types. For additional security, the cleaned files can be converted to PDF format and include password protection and encryption.

The software integrates with popular email programs and document management systems.

You can analyze and clean files in a standalone version, through email, or within the software application itself. Batch processing of multiple files simultaneously is available.

There are many options available for you to customize your experience and levels of protection.

Metadata Assistant delivers the extra protection required to protect from accidental disclosure when any files are shared outside an organization.
