FROM THE PRESIDENT, MARK KUBANCIK

Rinse and repeat. My article last month talked about the record wet weather we had experienced to that point. Not much has changed lately, making for a tough season for us old car folks. I'm certain some local shows have had to reschedule or have taken an attendance hit thanks to the day-after-day, rinse and repeat weather pattern. Hopefully we see some dry days soon, regardless of temperature.

My profile photo this month was taken at the AACA Central Spring meet in Auburn, IN. Pat and I were joined by KYANA members Ned & Kim Steinke and John Flechler, accompanied by his son-in-law and grandson. If you look closely at the photo, there's a rag around my neck. That's not from polishing the car, it's a sweat rag. Although it was hot, we had a great time. Kim and Pat discovered they share an expensive pastime..."value" shopping. Who knew there were so many bargains to be found in a town the size of Auburn, Indiana? All KYANA attendees displayed a vehicle, and we were all rewarded for our efforts. Thanks to the local camaraderie, a great time was had by all!

DeSotos on the show field in Akron, OH at their national convention.

The week before the Auburn meet, Pat and I attended the National DeSoto Club (NDC) annual convention, which was held this year in Akron, Ohio. It is tradition at each NDC convention to announce next year's convention location at the conclusion of the annual awards banquet. I took the plunge and planted a flag in Louisville, Kentucky, declaring that the 2026 NDC convention will be held in Louisville next June. One of the activities being planned is an evening welcome social at the KYANA clubhouse, where our KYANA family can mingle with NDC members from all over the country. I'm also planning to host the NDC's Saturday car show at the clubhouse. This will be the club's 40th annual convention, so it's a big deal. More information will be available about this national meet as we approach next June.

This is the August issue of The Sidelight, and by the end of this month, the year 2025 will be two-thirds complete. Don't miss the chance to take part in some fun KYANA fellowship activities this month, such as the National Night Out, Cars & Coffee, and the Country Music Show. National Night Out supports our men and women in blue who keep us safe, so we should provide a great turnout to show our gratitude.

Labor Day this year occurs as early as possible...Monday, September 1. Don't let the date sneak up on you and overlook attending the third annual KYANA car show. More details can be found in this issue of The Sidelight. See you in August!

Remember...it's supposed to be fun!

KYANA EVENTS BY CHESTER ROBERTSON

Chester Robertson

The summer is starting to wind down, with a good choice of buggy touring events scheduled for August.

Starting out on August 5th, we have The National Night Out. This event has activities for everyone from members to grandchildren. We have a full day on the 16th, starting with Cars & Coffee at the Ole Kyana Home in the morning from 9:00 a.m. to noon, sponsored by the Steinke family. This event has become very popular on the third Saturday of each month. The second half of the day, the club will tour out to the Shepherdsville Country Music Show. Here we relax, eat, and enjoy the music of yesterday. We would like to thank the Hill family for sponsoring this annual event.

Next month, on September 1st, Kyana has our 3rd annual KYANA OPEN CAR SHOW on our show field. We have the best food of any show in the area and the largest selection of trophies to be given away each year. The Bass family has done a great job of launching this event and continues to enhance and improve it every year. Don't miss it!

COMMUNITY

A belated celebratory Happy 90th birthday to Barbara Taylor! She is sorry she doesn't attend meetings very often but she enjoys keeping up with the club through the Sidelight every month.

Larry Wherthey had a stroke and is now at home recovering. Ruth asked us to include him in prayers. He received a fruit basket from KYANA, and they sent a lovely thank-you note. Larry is anxious to return to club activities.

Marilyn Clayton, Anthony's wife, is in intensive care at Clark Memorial Hospital. Please keep her and her family in your prayers, too.

It is with great sadness that we are reporting that while in rehab, Janice Koonter passed away peacefully in her sleep. Please keep Steve, family, and friends in your prayers. Anonymously, other members are dealing with challenges. Please keep them in your thoughts and prayers as well.

Nancy Ray

Did you know that KYANA Car Club sends flowers when a member passes away? Did you know KYANA Car Club will send a nice fruit basket when you are released if you or your spouse is hospitalized (minimum 2 days inpatient)? Please let me know when these events occur so I can ensure they are sent. If you are aware of a member dealing with illness, surgery, or the loss of a family member, please don't hesitate to contact Nancy Ray at (502) 931-9433 via text or phone call.

TRIBUTE TO OUR FRIEND Janice Koonter

Many KYANA club members are mourning the loss of Janice and thinking of her husband, Steve, during this difficult time. They have been members since 1996 and have been an integral part of the Swap Meet's success for many years. Janice suffered a stroke not long after the 2024 Swap Meet and had to give up her long-time position in charge of worker payment. They vacationed with members Chester & Sandy Robertson, and Chester remembers them as the best travel companions ever, creating a vacation that has never been topped. She will be missed by so many, and we are grateful to have called her a friend.

KYANA will be at Highview Park, located at 7201 Outer Loop, next to the LMPD Seventh Division HQ. Please come out and support this worthy cause.

There will be food, drinks, prizes, and giveaways.

KYANA will be providing pizza, soft drinks, and water. Shade will be provided. Please plan to arrive around 4 p.m. to get in position before the start of the festivities.

For more information or to register (Please register so we can plan for food, etc), please call or text Jerry or Carol Bass at (502) 296-3814.

LMPD ALERT!!!

We are seeing an uptick trend in stolen vehicles, especially Dodge vehicles. What we are seeing is that suspects are coming late at night, taking pictures of the vehicle's VIN, and then leaving. They then create a key to that vehicle and return a night, or a few nights, later to steal the car with the newly created key.

If any residents see this event taking place on their cameras, report it ASAP to the non-emergency line [502-574-5673] so the police can then watch those houses for suspects during the following nights attempting to come back and stealing the victim's vehicle

Thank you.

The First Chevy V8 was in 1955... NO! It was 1917–1919

-Steve Lippmann

1955: Chevy's SECOND V8

Many people, including teenage boys, went wild in 1955 with the introduction of the small-block, overhead valve Chevy V8. It was a remarkable engine, powerful and very advanced for this time, a departure from Chevrolet's recent past years. Advertising and popular lore suggested (erroneously) that this was the first ever Chevrolet V8 engine. It was an exciting event; however, it was NOT the first Chevrolet V8.

Yes, several other car brands already had V8s (e.g., Plymouth), but the other most prominent competitor of the time, Ford, still utilized straight-6s or flathead V8s (also a long, popular good engine). With all the advertising and popular mythology around, many younger guys back in 1955 (including me) thought that this was the first Chevy V8.

The first Chevy V8

1917 Chevy Model D

However, the 1917-1919 Chevrolet - Model D - already had a large, powerful, and almost forgotten V8. Both engines are famous in their own way; previously, they had been using an excellent four-cylinder engine. This dramatically new 1917 Chevy Model D was to replace the Chevrolet 490. Beyond boasting about this fine, lesser-known, new, and big engine, the D was a much larger, heavier, more costly vehicle. Chevrolet and Ford were, and remain, vigorous market share competitors; the Chevrolet Model D, with a V8 engine, was to give this car a bonus to boost sales in their fierce rivalry. Yet, despite being an excellent and advanced design, this expensive automobile was too costly to compete effectively with the Ford Model T.

Innovatively, this V8 was built by bolting together two iron crankcases and block castings, a design that many other manufacturers would adopt in the future. Three babbitt main bearings were provided for crankshafts and camshafts. Induction was between the cylinder banks, exhaust ports were outboard, and heads were bolted above. It displaced at about 286 cubic inches. Pushrods were exposed, and rocker covers were used as splash shields, although they were not oil-tight; instead, they had felt pads to absorb some oil. For easy valve lubrication access, an under-the-hood oil can dispenser was affixed to the firewall. An updraft two-barrel carburetor and breaker-point ignition was provided. Attached behind it was a three-speed manual transmission along with a leather-faced, cone-type clutch at the flywheel. While running well below 3,000 rpm, output was rated at 36 or 60 horsepower (depending on which historical record source one reads).

Two green-painted body styles were offered. They included a five-passenger Model D-4 touring car and a four-passenger roadster, the Model D-5. There were just over 500 Model D automobiles produced in 1917, nearly 2,200 in 1918, but only 71 in 1919; some were also made in Canada. The V8 was then discontinued, as Chevrolet had transitioned from being an independent automaker to the General Motors Company lineup. Buick, Cadillac, and Oldsmobile already filled the more upscale auto offerings, thus obviating the need for a premium, fancy car brand for Chevy.

After 1919, Chevrolet returned to producing lower-priced, more affordable cars, with some models reverting to past four-cylinder engine types. Powering after 1919 also included a straight-6 for several subsequent years (299 inch displacement). It, too, was a reliable engine, produced in some Chevys from 1911 and up until about 1929. The now more familiar, modern straight-6 followed (i.e., the Stovebolt, Blue Flame, and several similar versions at between 194 – 235 cubic inch sizes) and was produced for about four decades. It took 36 years for the next, more modern and popular Chevy V8 to emerge in a 265 cubic inch version.
