Copyright and use of material

We retain the copyright of all aerial photography and filmed content. We can negotiate and agree a buyout of footage for specific filming contracts.

However, our clients have full use of all photography and filmed material for their own business promotion, media, print, marketing, advertising and website use.

In our terms of service clients are permitted to use all material in conjunction with their media, print and advertising suppliers. Clients are not permitted to sell the material or allow third parties to use it with prior written agreement with us.

We promote our business and services via a diverse combination of media channels. We would like to use any video footage or photographic still images for our own PR purposes, on our website, in a show reel, in printed material and on social media. However, this will be agreed in advance with the client.

We would also like to supply video footage and photographs to stock libraries at a later date – again, this will be agreed with the client so that we are not sharing sensitive information.
