TO HIS

GRACE,

THE

Duke of Somerset.

My Lord,

If the Application of too great a Part of my Time to the unprofitable Love and Study of Poetry, has been an Imputation, perhaps, justly enough charg'd upon me; I am bound, by the first Principles
DEDICATION.

Ciples of Duty and Gratitude, to own, that it is by Your Grace's immediate Goodness that I have at length an Opportunity of turning my Thoughts a better and more useful Way. The Honour of Your Grace's Protection and Favour, has something in it which distinguishes it self from that of other Great Men; the Benefit of it is extensive, and to have a share in Your Grace's good Opinion, is to be entitled, at least, to some Esteem and Regard from Your Grace's illustrious Friends, that is, from those who fill up the first and best Rank of Mankind. Whatever I am or can be, (if I am ever to be any thing) is all Your Grace's. It is an Acknowledgment that I make, with as much Satisfaction as Pride; and I don't know whether the Obligation I lye under, or the Benefit I receive from it, be capable of giving me the greater Pleasure. Some Dependances are indeed a Pain, tho' they bring considerable Advantages along with them; but where there is a gracious Temper, an easie Condescension, and a Readiness to do Good equal to the Magnificence of the Giver, the Value of that Gift must certainly be very much enhanc'd. 'Tis my particular Happiness, that Your Grace is the best Benefactor I could have; for as I am capable of making no Return, Your Grace never thinks of receiving one. I have indeed one thing still to beg. That as Your Grace receiv'd me into Your favourable Opinion, without any Pretension that could be made on my side, I may have the Honour to continue there, by my first Title, Your Grace's meer Goodness.

Tho'
DEDICATION.

Tho' it be high time to disclaim those Studies, with which I have amus'd my self and other People; yet I could not take leave of an Art I have long lov'd, without commending the best of our Poets to the Protection of the best Patron. I have sometimes had the Honour to hear Your Grace express the particular Pleasure you have taken in that Greatness of Thought, those natural Images, those Passions finely touch'd, and that beautiful Expression which is every where to be met with in Shakespeare. And that he may still have the Honour to entertain Your Grace, I have taken some Care to redeem him from the Injuries of former Impressions. I must not pretend to have restor'd this Work to the Exactness of the Author's Original Manuscripts: Those are lost, or, at least, are gone beyond any Inquiry
DEDICATION.

Inquiry I could make; so that there was nothing left, but to compare the several Editions, and give the true Reading as well as I could from thence. This I have endeavour'd to do pretty carefully, and render'd very many Places intelligible, that were not so before. In some of the Editions, especially the last, there were many Lines, (and in Hamlet one whole Scene) left out together; these are now all supply'd. I fear Your Grace will still find some Faults, but I hope they are mostly litteral, and the Errors of the Press. Such as it is, it is the best Present of English Poetry I am capable of making Your Grace. And I believe I shall be thought no unjust Disposer of this, the Author's Estate in Wit, by humbly Offering it where he would have been proud to have Bequeath'd it.

The
DEDICATION.

The Present Age is indeed an unfortunate one for Dramatick Poetry; she has been persecuted by Fanaticism, forsaken by her Friends, and oppress'd even by Musick, her Sister and confederate Art, that was formerly employ'd in her Defence and Support. In such perilous Times, I know no Protection for Shake-spear, more safe nor more Honourable than Your Grace's: 'Tis the best Security a Poet can ask for, to be shelter'd under that Great Name which presides over One of the most Famous Universities of Europe. To do publick Benefits, is indeed an Honour Natural and Hereditary to Your Grace's illustrious Family; 'tis to that Noble Stock we owe our Edward the Sixth; a Prince of the greatest Hopes which that or any other Age ever produc'd: A Prince, whose uncommon Proficiency in Learn-
DEDICATION.

Learning made him the Wonder of his own Time; whose Care for his People will distinguish him among the best of our Kings, and whose Piety and Zeal for the true Religion, will preserve his Name Dear and Sacred to our Church for ever. But if we look back so high as the Reformation, 'twill be impossible not to remember the Share Your Grace's Noble Ancestor had in that good Work: He was the Defence and Ornament of it in his Life, and the Martyr of it in his Death. Since it is most certain, that those wicked and ambitious Men, who design'd the Subversion of Church and State, and of whom the Chief dy'd a pro-fess Papist, could not propose to have brought about those fatal De-signs, 'till they had first remov'd the Duke of Somerset.
DEDICATION.

I need not tell the World how well Your Grace has follow'd the Examples of Honour and Virtue in your own Family. The Establish'd Church, the Crown and Your Country, have receiv'd many Eminent Testimonies of Your unalterable Zeal for their Service, and unshaken Resolution in their Defence. There was a Time, somewhat above twenty Years ago, when the pernicious Councils of some Men put the Crown upon taking such Measures as might have been fatal in the last Degree to both Our Religious and Civil Liberties; when they had the Hardiness not only to avow a Religion equally destructive to the Church and State, but did even presume to bring in a publick Minister from the Bishop of Rome, as it were in Defiance of Our Constitution, and in Triumph over Our Laws: It
DEDICATION.

It was then, I say, that they thought it highly necessary to their Purpose, that a Man of the first Quality and Figure in England, should countenance so bold and unexampled an Undertaking. They pitch'd upon one, 'tis true, whose known Love of his Country might in a good measure have taken off the Odiousness of that Action, and even allay'd the Apprehensions of Danger, which on such an Occasion People naturally had. It must be own'd, that they had thought prudently for themselves; but they were highly mistaken in the Man they had chosen, and found him to be above all Temptation; such a one, whom neither the Respect he bore to the Person of the Prince, (which was very great) nor the Menaces of an insolent Faction, could prevail upon, for any Regards, to do Violence to his Country, or engage science.

It is with Pleasure, my Lord, that we compare the troublesome Condition of those past Times, with the Security of these present. And I cannot but Congratulate Your Grace upon the Prosperity and Success of Her Majesty's Counsels, in the great Juncture of Affairs which now draws the Eyes and Expectations of all Europe. Never, certainly, was there a fairer Prospect of Happiness than that which now rises to our View. There appears to be a general Disposition for Unanimity and good Agreement at Home, as for Peace Abroad. These are the great Rewards given to the Piety of the Best of Queens: And it seems a Blessing peculiarly reserv'd for Her, to save, not only Europe in General, but even France, her Ene-

Most Oblig'd,

Most Devoted, and

Obedient Humble Servant,

Some Account of the Life, &c. of Mr. William Shakespear.

It seems to be a kind of Respect due to the Memory of Excellent Men, especially of those whom their Wit and Learning have made Famous, to deliver some Account of themselves, as well as their Works, to Posterity. For this Reason, how fond do we see some People of discovering any little Personal Story of the great Men of Antiquity, their Families, the common Accidents of of their Lives, and even their Shape, Make and Features have been the Subject of critical Enquiries. How trifling soever this Curiosity may seem to be, it is certainly very Natural; and we are hardly satisfy'd with an Account of any remarkable Person, 'till we have heard him describ'd even to the very Cloaths he wears. As for what relates to Men of Letters, the Knowledge of an Author may sometimes conduce to the better understanding his Book: And tho' the Works of Mr. Shakespeare may seem to many not to want a Comment, yet I fancy some little Account of the Man himself may not be thought improper to go along with them.

He was the Son of Mr. John Shakespeare, and was born at Stratford upon Avon, in Warwickshire, in April 1564. His Family, as appears by the Register and Publick Writings relating to that Town, were of good Figure and Fashion there, and are mention'd as Gentlemen. His Father, who was a considerable Dealer in Wool, had so large a Family, ten Children in all, that tho' he was his eldest Son, he could give him no better Education than his own Employment. He had bred him, 'tis true, for some time at a Free-School, where 'tis probable he acquir'd that little Latin he he was Master of: But the narrowness of his Circumstances, and the want of his assistance at Home, forc'd his Father to withdraw him from thence, and unhappily prevented his further Proficiency in that Language. It is without Controversie, that he had no knowledge of the Writings of the Antient Poets, not only from this Reason, but from his Works themselves, where we find no traces of any thing that looks like an Imitation of 'em;
the Delicacy of his Taste, and the natural Bent of his own Great Genius, equal, if not superior to some of the best of theirs, would certainly have led him to Read and Study 'em with so much Pleasure, that some of their fine Images would naturally have insinuated themselves into, and been mix'd with his own Writings; so that his not copying at least something from them, may be an Argument of his never having read 'em. Whether his Ignorance of the Antients were a Disadvantage to him or no, may admit of a Dispute: For tho' the knowledge of 'em might have made him more Correct, yet it is not improbable but that the Regularity and Deference for them, which would have attended that Correctness, might have restrain'd some of that Fire, Impetuosity, and even beautiful Extravagance which we admire in Shake-
Shakespeare: And I believe we are better pleas'd with those Thoughts, altogether New and Uncommon, which his own Imagination supply'd him so abundantly with, than if he had given us the most beautiful Passages out of the Greek and Latin Poets, and that in the most agreeable manner that it was possible for a Master of the English Language to deliver 'em. Some Latin without question he did know, and one may see up and down in his Plays how far his Reading that way went: In Love's Labour lost, the Pedant comes out with a Verse of Mantuan; and in Titus Andronicus, one of the Gothick Princes, upon reading

Integer vitae scelerisque purus
Non eget Mauri jaculis nec arch says, 'Tis a Verse in Horace, but he remembers it out of his Grammar: Which, I suppose, was the Author's Case. Whatever Latin he had, 'tis certain he understood French, as may be observ'd from many Words and Sentences scatter'd up and down his Plays in that Language; and especially from one Scene in Henry the Fifth written wholly in it. Upon his leaving School, he seems to have given entirely into that way of Living which his Father propos'd to him; and and in order to settle in the World after a Family manner, he thought fit to marry while he was yet very young. His Wife was the Daughter of one Hathaway, said to have been a substantial Yeoman in the Neighbourhood of Stratford. In this kind of Settlement he continu’d for some time, ’till an Extravagance that he was guilty of, forc’d him both out of his Country and that way of Living which he had taken up; and tho’ it seem’d at first to be a Blemish upon his good Manners, and a Misfortune to him, yet it afterwards happily prov’d the occasion of exerting one of the greatest Genius’s that ever was known in Dramatick Poetry. He had, by a Misfortune common enough to young Fellows, fallen into ill Company; and amongst them, some that made a frequent Practice of Deer-stealing, engag’d him with them more than once in robbing a Park that belong’d to Sir Thomas Lucy of Cherlecot, near Stratford. For this he was prosecuted by that Gentleman, as he thought, somewhat too severely; and in order to revenge that ill Usage, he made a Ballad upon him. And tho’ this, probably the first Essay of his Poetry, be lost, yet it is said to have been so very bitter, that it redoubled the Prosecution against him to that degree, that he was oblig’d... to leave his Business and Family in Warwickshire, for some time, and shelter himself in London.

It is at this Time, and upon this Accident, that he is said to have made his first Acquaintance in the Play-house. He was receiv'd into the Company then in being, at first in a very mean Rank; But his admirable Wit, and the natural Turn of it to the Stage, soon distinguish'd him, if not as an extraordinary Actor, yet as an excellent Writer. His Name is Printed, as the Custom was in those Times, amongst those of the other Players, before some old Plays, but without any particular Account of what sort of Parts he us'd to play; and tho' I have inquir'd, I could never meet with any further Account of him this way, than that the top of his Performance was the Ghost in his own Hamlet. I should have been much more pleas'd, to have learn'd from some certain Authority, which was the first Play he wrote; it would be without doubt a Pleasure to any Man, curious in Things of this Kind, to see and know what was the first Essay of a Fancy like Shakespeare's. Perhaps we are not to look for his Beginnings, like those of other Authors, among their least perfect Writings; Art had so little, and Nature so large a Share in what he did, that, that, for ought I know, the Performances of his Youth, as they were the most vigorou, and had the most fire and streng-gh of Imagination in 'em, were the best. I would not be thought by this to mean, that his Fancy was so loose and extravagant, as to be Independent on the Rule and Government of Judgment; but that what he thought, was commonly so Great, so justly and rightly Conceiv'd in it self, that it wanted little or no Correction, and was immediately approv'd by an impartial Judgment at the first sight. Mr. Dryden seems to think that Pericles is one of his first Plays; but there is no Judgment to be form'd on that, since there is good Reason to believe that the greatest Part of that Play was not written by him; tho' it is own'd, some part of it certainly was, particularly the last Act. But tho' the order of Time in which the several Pieces were written be generally uncertain, yet there are Passages in some few of them which seem to fix their Dates. So the Chorus in the beginning of the fifth Act of Henry V. by a Compliment very hand-somly turn'd to the Earl of Essex, shews the Play to have been written when that Lord was General for the Queen in Ireland: And his Elogy upon Queen Elizabeth, and her Successor King James, in a 2

the latter end of his Henry VIII. is a Proof of that Play's being written after the Accession of the latter of those two Princes to the Crown of England. Whatever the particular Times of his Writing were, the People of his Age, who began to grow wonderfully fond of Diversions of this kind, could not but be highly pleas'd to see a Genius arise amongst 'em of so pleasurable, so rich a Vein, and so plentifully capable of furnishing their favourite Entertainments. Besides the Advantages of his Wit, he was in himself a good-natur'd Man, of great Sweetness in his Manners, and a moist agreeable Companion; so that it is no wonder if with so many good Qualities he made himself acquainted with the best Conversations of those Times. Queen Elizabeth had several of his Plays Acted before her, and without doubt gave him many gracious Marks of her Favour: It is that Maiden Princess plainly, whom he intends by

Midsummer Night's Dream,

Vol. 2. p. 96.

And that whole Passage is a Compliment very properly brought in, and very handsomely apply'd to her. She was so well pleas'd with that admirable Character of Falstaff, in the two Parts of Henry the Fourth, that he commanded him to continue it for one Play more, and to shew him in Love. This is said to be the Occasion of his Writing The Merry Wives of Windsor. How well she was obey'd, the Play itself is an admirable Proof. Upon this Occasion it may not be improper to observe, that this Part of Falstaff is said to have been written originally under the Name of Oldcastle; some of that Family being then remaining, the Queen was pleas'd to command him to alter it; upon which he made use of Falstaff. The present Offence was indeed avoided; but I don't know whether the Author may not have been somewhat to blame in his second Choice, since it is certain that Sir John Falstaff, who was a Knight of the Garter, and a Lieutenant-General, was a Name of distinguished Merit in the Wars in France in Henry the Fifth's and Henry the Sixth's Times. What Grace ever the Queen confer'd upon him, it was not to her only he ow'd the Fortune which the Reputation of his Wit made. He had the Honour to meet with many great and uncommon Marks of Favour and Friendship from the Earl of Southampton, famous in the Histories of that Time for his Friendship to the unfortunate Earl of Essex.
It was to that Noble Lord that he Dedicated his Venus and Adonis, the only Piece of his Poetry which he ever publish’d himself, tho’ many of his Plays were surrepticiously and lamely Printed in his Life-time. There is one Instance so singular in the Magnificence of this Patron of Shakespeare’s, that if I had not been assur’d that the Story was handed down by Sir William D'Avenant, who was probably very well acquainted with his Affairs, I should not have ventur’d to have inserted, that my Lord Southampton, at one time, gave him a thousand Pounds, to enable him to go through with a Purchase which he heard he had a Mind to. A Bounty very great, and very rare at any time, and almost equal to that profuse Generosity the present Age has shewn to French Dancers and Italian Eunuchs.

What particular Habitude or Friendships he contracted with private Men, I have not been able to learn, more than that every one who had a true Taste of Merit, and could distinguish Men, had generally a just Value and Esteem for him. His exceeding Candor and good Nature must certainly have inclin’d all the gentler Part of the World to love him, as the Power of his Wit oblig’d the Men of the most delicate Knowledge and polite Learning to admire him.
him. Amongst these was the incomparable Mr. Edmond Spencer, who speaks of him in his Tears of the Muses, not only with the Praises due to a good Poet, but even lamenting his Absence with the Tenderness of a Friend. The Passage is in Thalia’s Complaint for the Decay of Dramatick Poetry, and the Contempt the Stage then lay under, amongst his Miscellaneous Works, p. 147.

And be the Man, whom Nature’s self had made
To mock her self, and Truth to imitate
With kindly Counter under mimick Shade,
Our pleasant Willy, ah! is dead of late:
With whom all Joy and jolly Merriment
Is also deaded, and in Doulour drent.

Instead thereof, scoffing Scurrility
And scorning Folly with Contempt is crept,
Rolling in Rhimes of shameless Ribaudry,
Without Regard or due Decorum kept;
Each idle Wit at will presumes to make,
And doth the Learned’s Task upon him take.

But that same gentle Spirit, from whose Pen
Large Streams of Honey and sweet Nectar flow,

a 4

Scorning the Boldness of such base-born Men,
Which dare their Follies forth so rashly throw;
Doth rather choose to sit in idle Cell,
Than so himself to Mockery to sell.

I know some People have been of Opinion, that Shakespeare is not meant by Willy in the first Stanza of these Verses, because Spencer’s Death happen’d twenty Years before Shakespeare’s. But, besides that the Character is not applicable to any Man of that time but himself, it is plain by the last Stanza that Mr. Spencer does not mean that he was then really Dead, but only that he had withdrawn himself from the Publick, or at least with-held his Hand from Writing, out of a disgust he had taken at the then ill taste of the Town, and the mean Condition of the Stage. Mr. Dryden was always of Opinion these Verses were meant of Shakespeare; and ’tis highly probable they were so, since he was three and thirty Years old at Spencer’s Death; and his Reputation in Poetry must have been great enough before that Time to have deserv’d what is here said of him. His Acquaintance with Ben Johnson began with a remarkable piece of Humanity and good Nature; Mr. Johnson, who was at that Time altogether unknown to the World, had had offer'd one of his Plays to the Players, in order to have it Acted; and the Persons into whose Hands it was put, after having turn'd it carelessly and superciliously over, were just upon returning it to him with an ill-natur'd Answer, that it would be of no service to their Company, when Shakespear luckily cast his Eye upon it, and found something so well in it as to engage him first to read it through, and afterwards to recommend Mr. Johnson and his Writings to the Publick. After this they were profess'd Friends; tho' I don't know whether the other ever made him an equal return of Gentleness and Sincerity. Ben was naturally Proud and Insolent, and in the Days of his Reputation did so far take upon him the Supremacy in Wit, that he could not but look with an evil Eye upon any one that seem'd to stand in Competition with him. And if at times he has affected to commend him, it has always been with some Reserve, insinuating his Uncorrectness, a careless manner of Writing, and want of Judgment; the Praise of seldom altering or blotting out what he writ, which was given him by the Players who were the first Publishers of his Works after his Death, was what Johnson could not bear; he thought it impossible, perhaps, for another Man to strike out the greatest Thoughts in the finest Expression, and to reach those Excellencies of Poetry with the Ease of a first Imagination, which himself with infinite Labour and Study could but hardly attain to. Johnson was certainly a very good Scholar, and in that had the advantage of Shakespear; tho' at the same time I believe it must be allow'd, that what Nature gave the latter, was more than a Ballance for what Books had given the former; and the Judgment of a great Man upon this occasion was, I think, very just and proper. In a Conversation between Sir John Suckling, Sir William D'Avenant, Endymion Porter, Mr. Hales of Eaton, and Ben Johnson; Sir John Suckling, who was a profess'd Admirer of Shakespear, had undertaken his Defence against Ben Johnson with some warmth; Mr. Hales, who had sat still for some time, hearing Ben frequently reproaching him with the want of Learning, and Ignorance of the Antients, told him at last, That if Mr. Shakespear had not read the Antients, he had likewise not stolen any thing from 'em; (a Fault the other made no Conscience of) and that if he would produce any one Topick finely treated by any of them, he would undertake to shew something upon the same Subject at least as well written by Shakespear. Johnson did indeed. indeed take a large liberty, even to the transcribing and translating of whole Scenes together; and sometimes, with all Deference to so great a Name as his, not altogether for the advantage of the Authors of whom he borrow'd. And if Augustus and Virgil were really what he has made 'em in a Scene of his Poetaster, they are as odd an Emperor and a Poet as ever met. Shakespeare, on the other Hand, was beholding to no body farther than the Foundation of the Tale; the Incidents were often his own, and the Writing intirely so. There is one Play of his, indeed, The Comedy of Errors, in a great measure taken from the Menaechmi of Plautus. How that happen'd, I cannot easily Divine, since, as I hinted before, I do not take him to have been Master of Latin enough to read it in the Original, and I know of no Translation of Plautus so Old as his Time.

As I have not propos'd to my self to enter into a Large and Compleat Criticism upon Mr. Shakespeare's Works, so I suppose it will neither be expected that I should take notice of the severe Remarks that have been formerly made upon him by Mr. Rhymer. I must confess, I can't very well see what could be the Reason of his animadverting with so much Sharpness, upon the Faults of a Man Excellent on most most Occasions, and whom all the World ever was and will be inclin'd to have an Esteem and Veneration for. If it was to shew his own Knowledge in the Art of Poetry, besides that there is a Vanity in making that only his Design, I question if there be not many Imperfections as well in those Schemes and Precepts he has given for the Direction of others, as well as in that Sample of Tragedy which he has written to shew the Excellency of his own Genius. If he had a Pique against the Man, and wrote on purpose to ruin a Reputation so well establish'd, he has had the Mortification to fail altogether in his Attempt, and to see the World at least as fond of Shakespeare as of his Critique. But I won't believe a Gentleman, and a good-natur'd Man, capable of the last Intention. Whatever may have been his Meaning, finding fault is certainly the easiest Task of Knowledge, and commonly those Men of good Judgment, who are likewise of good and gentle Dispositions, abandon this ungrateful Province to the Tyranny of Pendants. If one would enter into the Beauties of Shakespeare, there is a much larger, as well as a more delightful Field; but as I won't prescribe to the Tastes of other People, so I will only take the liberty, with all due Submission to the Judgment of

do others, to observe some of those Things I have been pleas'd with in looking him over.

His Plays are properly to be distinguish'd only into Comedies and Tragedies. Those which are called Histories, and even some of his Comedies, are really Tragedies, with a run or mixture of Comedy amongst 'em. That way of Trage-Comedy was the common Mistake of that Age, and is indeed become so agreeable to the English Taste, that tho’ the severer Critiques among us cannot bear it, yet the generality of our Audience seem to be better pleas’d with it than with an exact Tragedy. The Merry Wives of Windsor, The Comedy of Errors, and The Taming of the Shrew, are all pure Comedy; the rest, however they are call’d, have something of both Kinds. ’Tis not very easy to determine which way of Writing he was most Excellent in. There is certainly a great deal of Entertainment in his Comical Humours; and tho’ they did not then strike at all Ranks of People, as the Satyr of the present Age has taken the Liberty to do, yet there is a pleasing and a well-distinguish’d Variety in those Characters which he thought fit to meddle with. Falstaff is allow’d by every body to be a Master-piece; the Character is always well-sustain’d, tho’ drawn out out into the length of three Plays; and even the Account of his Death, given by his Old Landlady Mrs. Quickly, in the first Act of Henry V. tho' it be extremely Natural, is yet as diverting as any Part of his Life. If there be any Fault in the Draught he has made of this lewd old Fellow, it is, that tho' he has made him a Thief, Lying, Cowardly, Vain-glorious, and in short every way Vicious, yet he has given him so much Wit as to make him almost too agreeable; and I don't know whether some People have not, in remembrance of the Diversion he had formerly afforded 'em, been sorry to see his Friend. Hal use him so scurvily, when he comes to the Crown in the End of the Second Part of Henry the Fourth. Amongst other Extravagances, in The Merry Wives of Wind- for, he has made him a Deer-stealer, that he might at the same time remember his Warwickshire Prosecutor, under the Name of Justice Shallow; he has given him very near the same Coat of Arms which Dug- dale, in his Antiquities of that County, describes for a Family there, and makes the Welsh Parson descant very pleasantly upon 'em. That whole Play is admirable; the Humours are various and well oppos'd; the main Design, which is to cure Ford of his unreasonable Jealousie, is extremely well conducted. Falstaff's Bilet-doux, and Master Slender's are very good Expressions of Love in their Way. In Twelfth-Night there is something singularly Ridiculous and Pleasant in the fantastical Steward Malvolio. The Parasite and the Vain-glorious in Parolles, in All's Well that Ends Well, is as good as any thing of that Kind in Plautus or Terence. Petruchio, in The Taming of the Shrew, is an uncommon Piece of Humour. The Conversation of Benedick and Beatrice, in Much Ado about Nothing, and of Rosalind in As you like it, have much Wit and Sprightliness all along. His Clowns, without which Character there was hardly any Play writ in that Time, are all very entertaining: And, I believe, Thersites in Troilus and Cressida, and Apemantus in Timon, will be allow'd to be Master-Pieces of ill Nature, and satyrical Snarling. To these I might add, that incomparable Character of Shylock the Jew, in The Merchant of Venice; but tho' we have seen that Play Receiv'd and Acted as a Comedy, and the Part of the Jew perform'd by an Excellent Comedian, yet I cannot but think it was design'd Tragically by the Author,

Ab! Sweet Ann Page!

Some Account of the Life, &c.

Author. There appears in it such a deadly Spirit of Revenge, such a savage Fierceness and Fellness, and such a bloody designation of Cruelty and Mischief, as cannot agree either with the Stile or Characters of Comedy. The Play itself, taken all together, seems to me to be one of the most finish'd of any of Shakespear's. The Tale indeed, in that Part relating to the Caskets, and the extravagant and unusual kind of Bond given by Antonio, is a little too much remov'd from the Rules of Probability: But taking the Fact for granted, we must allow it to be very beautifully written. There is something in the Friendship of Antonio to Bassanio very Great, Generous and Tender. The whole fourth Act, supposing, as I said, the Fact to be probable, is extremely Fine. But there are two Passages that deserve a particular Notice. The first is, what Portia says in praise of Mercy, Vol. 2. p. 197; and the other on the Power of Musick, pag. 207. The Melancholy of Jaques, in As you like it, is as singular and odd as it is diverting. And if what Horace says

_Difficile est proprie communia Dicere,

'Twill be a hard Task for any one to go beyond him in the Description of the several veral Degrees and Ages of Man’s Life, tho’ the Thought be old, and common enough.

—All the World’s a Stage,

And all the Men and Women meerly Players;
They have their Exits and their Entrances,
And one Man in his time plays many Parts,
His Acts being seven Ages. At first the Infant
Mewling and puking in the Nurse’s Arms:
And then, the whining School-boy with his Satchel,

And shining Morning-face, creeping like Snail
Unwillingly to School. And then the Lover
Sighing like Furnace, with a woeful Ballad
Made to his Mistress’ Eye-brow. Then a Soldier
Full of strange Oaths, and bearded like the Pard,
Jealous in Honour, sudden and quick in Quarrel,

Seeking the bubble Reputation
Ev’n in the Cannon’s Mouth. And then the Justice

His Images are indeed ev’ry where so lively, that the Thing he would represent stands full before you, and you possess ev’ry Part of it. I will venture to point out one more, which is, I think, as strong and as uncommon as any thing I ever saw; ’tis an Image of Patience. Speaking of a Maid in Love, he says,

--- She never told her Love,
But let Concealment, like a Worm ’th’ Bud
Feed on her Damask Cheek: She pin’d in Thought,
And fate like Patience on a Monument,
Smiling at Grief.

What an Image is here given! and what a Task would it have been for the greatest Masters of Greece and Rome to have express’d the Passions design’d by this Sketch of Statuatory? The Stile of his Comedy is;
in general, Natural to the Characters, and easie in it self; and the Wit most commonly sprightly and pleasing, except in those places where he runs into Dogrel Rhymes, as in The Comedy of Errors, and a Pass'ge or two in some other Plays. As for his Jingling sometimes, and playing upon Words, it was the common Vice of the Age he liv'd in: And if we find it in the Pulpit, made use of as an Ornament to the Sermons of some of the Gravest Di-vines of those Times; perhaps it may not be thought too light for the Stage.

But certainly the Greatness of this Author's Genius do's no where so much appear, as where he gives his Imagination an entire Loose, and raises his Fancy to a flight above Mankind and the Limits of the visible World. Such are his Attempts in The Tempest, Midsummer-Night's Dream, Macbeth and Hamlet. Of these, The Tempest, however it comes to be plac'd the firt by the former Publishers of his Works, can never have been the firt written by him: It seems to me as perfect in its Kind, as almost any thing we have of his. One may obverse, that the Unities are kept here with an Exactness uncommon to the Liberties of his Writing: Tho' that was what, I suppose, he valu'd himself least upon, since his Excellencies were all of another
another Kind. I am very sensible that he do's, in this Play, depart too much from that likeness to Truth which ought to be observ'd in these sort of Writings; yet he do's it so very finely, that one is easily drawn in to have more Faith for his sake, than Reason does well allow of. His Magick has something in it very Solemn and very Poetical: And that extravagant Character of Caliban is mighty well sustain'd, shews a wonderful Invention in the Author, who could strike out such a particular wild Image, and is certainly one of the finest and most uncommon Grotesques that was ever seen. The Observation, which I have been inform'd * three very great Men concurr'd in making upon this Part, was extremely just. That Shakespear had not only found out a new Character in his Caliban, but had also devis'd and adopted a new manner of Language for that Character. Among the particular Beauties of this Piece, I think one may be allow'd to point out the Tale of Prospero in the First Act; his Speech to Ferdinand in the Fourth, upon the breaking up the Masque of Juno and Ceres; and that in the Fifth, where he dissolves his Charms, and resolves to break his Magick Rod. This Play has been alter'd by Sir William D'Avenant and Mr.

Mr. Dryden; and tho' I won't Arraign the Judgment of those two great Men, yet I think I may be allow'd to say, that there are some things left out by them, that might, and even ought to have been kept in. Mr. Dryden was an Admirer of our Author, and, indeed, he owed him a great deal, as those who have read them both may very easily observe. And, I think, in Justice to 'em both, I should not on this Occasion omit what Mr. Dryden has said of him.

It is the same Magick that raises the Fairies in Midsummer Night's Dream, the Witches in Macbeth, and the Ghost in Hamlet, with Thoughts and Language so proper to the Parts they sustain, and so pecular to the Talent of this Writer. But of the two last of these Plays I shall have occasion to take notice, among the Tragedies of Mr. Shakespear. If one undertook to examine the greatest part of these by those Rules which are establish'd by Aristotle, and taken from the Model of the Grecian Stage, it would be no very hard Task to find a great many Faults: But as Shakespear liv'd under a kind of mere Light of Nature, and had never been made acquainted with the Regularity of those written Precepts, so it would be hard to judge him by a Law he knew nothing of.
We are to consider him as a Man that liv'd in a State of almost universal Licen

de and Ignorance: there was no establish'd Judge, but every one took the liberty to Write according to the Dictates of his own Fancy. When one considers, that there is not one Play before him of a Reputation good enough to entitle it to an Appearance on the present Stage, it cannot but be a Matter of great Wonder that he should advance Dramatick Poetry so far as he did. The Fable is what is generally plac'd the first, among those that are reckon'd the constituent Parts of a Tragick or Heroick Poem; not, perhaps, as it is the most difficult or beautiful, but as it is the first properly to be thought of in the Contrivance and Course of the whole; and with the Fable ought to be consider'd, the fit Disposition, Order and Conduct of its several Parts. As it is not in this Province of the Drama that the Strength and Mastery of Shakespeare lay, so I shall not undertake the tedious and ill-natur'd Trouble to point out the several Faults he was guilty of in it. His Tales were seldom invented, but rather taken either from true History, or Novels and Romances: And he commonly made use of 'em in that Order, with those Incidents, and that extent of Time in which he found 'em in the Authors from whence he borrow'd them.
Some Account of the Life, &c.

So The Winter's Tale, which is taken from an old Book, call'd, The Delectable History of Doraet(us and Faunia, contains the space of sixteen or seventeen Years, and the Scene is sometimes laid in Bohemia, and sometimes in Sicily, according to the original Order of the Story. Almost all his Historical Plays comprehend a great length of Time, and very different and distinct Places: And in his Antony and Cleopatra, the Scene travels over the greatest Part of the Roman Empire. But in Recompence for his Carelessness in this Point, when he comes to another Part of the Drama, The Manners of his Characters, in Acting or Speaking what is proper for them, and fit to be shown by the Poet, he may be generally justify'd, and in very many places greatly commended. For those Plays which he has taken from the English or Roman History, let any Man compare 'em, and he will find the Character as exact in the Poet as the Historian. He seems indeed so far from proposing to himself any one Action for a Subject, that the Title very often tells you, 'tis The Life of King John, King Richard, &c. What can be more agreeable to the Idea our Historians give of Henry the Sixth, than the Picture Shakespeare has drawn of him! His Manners are every where exactly the same with with the Story; one finds him still describ'd with Simplicity, passive Sanctity, want of Courage, weakness of Mind, and easie Submission to the Governance of an imperious Wife, or prevailing Faction: Tho' at the same time the Poet do's Justice to his good Qualities, and moves the Pity of his Audience for him, by showing him Pious, Disinterested, a Contemner of the Things of this World, and wholly resign'd to the severest Dispensations of God's Providence. There is a short Scene in the Second Part of Henry VI. Vol. IV. pag. 311, 312. which I cannot but think admirable in its Kind. Cardinal Beaufort, who had murder'd the Duke of Gloucester, is shewn in the last Agonies on his Death-Bed, with the good King praying over him. There is so much Terror in one, so much Tenderness and moving Piety in the other, as must touch any one who is capable either of Fear or Pity. In his Henry VIII. that Prince is drawn with that Greatness of Mind, and all those good Qualities which are attributed to him in any Account of his Reign. If his Faults are not shewn in an equal degree, and the Shades in this Picture do not bear a just Proportion to the Lights, it is not that the Artist wanted either Colours or Skill in the Disposition of 'em; but the truth, I believe, might be, that he forbore doing it out of regard to Queen Elizabeth, since it could have been no very great Respect to the Memory of his Mistriss, to have expos'd some certain Parts of her Father's Life upon the Stage. He has dealt much more freely with the Minister of that Great King, and certainly nothing was ever more justly written, than the Character of Cardinal Wolsey. He has shewn him Tyrannical, Cruel, and Insolent in his Prosperity; and yet, by a wonderful Address, he makes his Fall and Ruin the Subject of general Compassion. The whole Man, with his Vices and Virtues, is finely and exactly describ'd in the second Scene of the fourth Act. The Distresses likewise of Queen Katherine, in this Play, are very movingly touch'd; and 'tho' the Art of the Poet has skreen'd King Henry from any gross Imputation of Injustice, yet one is inclin'd to wish, the Queen had met with a Fortune more worthy of her Birth and Virtue. Nor are the Manners, proper to the Persons represented, less justly observ'd, in those Characters taken from the Roman History; and of this, the Fierceness and Impatience of Coriolanus, his Courage and Disdain of the common People, the Virtue and Philosophical Temper of Brutus, and the irregular Greatness of Mind Mind in M. Antony, are beautiful Proofs. For the two last especially, you find 'em exactly as they are describ'd by Plutarch, from whom certainly Shakespeare copy'd 'em. He has indeed follow'd his Original pretty close, and taken in several little Incidents that might have been spar'd in a Play. But, as I hinted before, his Design seems most commonly rather to describe those great Men in the several Fortunes and Accidents of their Lives, than to take any single great Action, and form his Work simply upon that. However, there are some of his Pieces, where the Fable is founded upon one Action only. Such are more especially, Romeo and Juliet, Hamlet, and Othello. The Design in Romeo and Juliet, is plainly the Punishment of their two Families, for the unreasonable Feuds and Animosities that had been so long kept up between 'em, and occasion'd the Effusion of so much Blood. In the Management of this Story, he has shewn something wonderfully Tender and Passionate in the Love-part, and very Pithful in the Distress. Hamlet is founded on much the same Tale with the Electra of Sophocles. In each of 'em a young Prince is engag'd to Revenge the Death of his Father, their Mothers are equally Guilty, are both concern'd in the Murder of their Husbands, and are afterwards married to the Murderers. There is in the first Part of the Greek Tragedy, something very moving in the Grief of Electra; but as Mr. D'Acier has observ'd, there is something very unnatural and shocking in the Manners he has given that Princess and Orestes in the latter Part. Orestes embraces his Hands in the Blood of his own Mother; and that barbarous Action is perform'd, tho' not immediately upon the Stage, yet so near, that the Audience hear Clytemnestra crying out to Ægyustus for Help, and to her Son for Mercy: While Electra, her Daughter, and a Princess, both of them Characters that ought to have appear'd with more Decency, stands upon the Stage and encourages her Brother in the Parricide. What Horror does this not raise! Clytemnestra was a wicked Woman, and had deserv'd to Die; nay, in the truth of the Story, she was kill'd by her own Son; but to represent an Action of this Kind on the Stage, is certainly an Offence against those Rules of Manners proper to the Persons that ought to be observ'd there. On the contrary, let us only look a little on the Conduct of Shakespear. Hamlet is represented with the same Piety towards his Father, and Resolution to Revenge his Death, as Orestes; he has the fame Abhorrence for his Mother's Guilt, which, to provoke him the more, is heighten'd by Incest: But 'tis with wonderful Art and Justness of Judgment, that the Poet restrains him from doing Violence to his Mother. To prevent any thing of that Kind, he makes his Father's Ghost forbid that part of his Vengeance.

But howsoever thou pursu'ft this Act,
Taint not thy Mind; nor let thy Soul contrive
Against thy Mother ought; leave her to Heav'n,
And to those Thorns that in her Bosom lodge,
To prick and sting her. Vol. VI. p. 323.

This is to distinguish rightly between Horror and Terror. The latter is a proper Passion of Tragedy, but the former ought always to be carefully avoided. And certainly no Dramatick Writer ever succeeded better in raising Terror in the Minds of an Audience than Shakespear has done. The whole Tragedy of Macbeth, but more especially the Scene where the King is murder'd, in the second Act, as well as this Play, is a noble Proof of that manly Spirit with which he writ; and both shew how powerful he was, in giving the strong-est Motions to our Souls that they are capable of. I cannot leave Hamlet, without taking notice of the Advantage with which we have seen this Master-piece of Shakespeare distinguish itself upon the Stage, by Mr. Betterton's fine Performance of that Part. A Man, who tho' he had no other good Qualities, as he has a great many, must have made his way into the Esteem of all Men of Letters, by this only Excellency. No Man is better acquainted with Shakespeare's manner of Expression, and indeed he has study'd him so well, and is so much a Master of him, that whatever Part of his he performs, he does it as if it had been written on purpose for him, and that the Author had exactly conceiv'd it as he plays it. I must own a particular Obligation to him, for the most considerable Part of the Passages relating to his Life, which I have here transmitted to the Publick; his Veneration for the Memory of Shakespeare having engag'd him to make a Journey into Warwickshire, on purpose to gather up what Remains he could of a Name for which he had so great a Value. Since I had at first resolv'd not to enter into any Critical Controversie, I won't pretend to enquire into the Justness of Mr. Rhymers Remarks on Othello; he has certainly pointed out some Faults very judiciously; and indeed they are such as most People People will agree, with him, to be Faults: But I wish he would likewise have observ’d some of the Beauties too; as I think it became an Exact and Equal Critique to do. It seems strange that he should allow nothing Good in the whole: If the Fabble and Incidents are not to his Taste, yet the Thoughts are almost every where very Noble, and the Diction manly and proper. These last, indeed, are Parts of Shakespeare’s Praise, which it would be very hard to Dispute with him. His Sentiments and Images of Things are Great and Natural; and his Expression (tho’ perhaps in some Instances a little Irregular) just, and rais’d in Proportion to his Subject and Occasion. It would be even endless to mention the particular Instances that might be given of this Kind: But his Book is in the Possession of the Publick, and ’twill be hard to dip into any Part of it, without finding what I have said of him made good.

The latter Part of his Life was spent, as all Men of good Sense will wish theirs may be, in Ease, Retirement, and the Conversetation of his Friends. He had the good Fortune to gather an Estate equal to his Occasion, and, in that, to his Wish; and is said to have spent some Years before his Death at his native Stratford. His pleasurable
Some Account of the Life, &c.

Verable Wit, and good Nature, engag’d him in the Acquaintance, and entitled him to the Friendship of the Gentlemen of the Neighbourhood. Amongst them, it is a Story almost still remember’d in that Country, that he had a particular Intimacy with Mr. Combe, an old Gentleman noted thereabouts for his Wealth and Usury: It happen’d, that in a pleasant Conversation amongst their common Friends, Mr. Combe told Shakespeare in a laughing manner, that he fancy’d, he intended to write his Epitaph, if he happen’d to out-live him; and since he could not know what might be said of him when he was dead, he desir’d it might be done immediately: Upon which Shakespeare gave him these four Verses.

_Ten in the Hundred lies here ingrav’d,_

*Tis a Hundred to Ten, his Soul is not sav’d:
If any Man ask, Who lies in this Tomb?
Oh! ho! quoth the Devil, *tis my John-a-Combe.

But the Sharpness of the Satyr is said to have stung the Man so severely, that he never forgave it.

He Dy’d in the 53d Year of his Age, and was bury’d on the North side of the Chan-

Chancel, in the Great Church at Stratford, where a Monument, as engrav'd in the Plate, is plac'd in the Wall. On his Grave-Stone underneath is,

Good Friend, for Jesus sake, forbear
To dig the Dust inclosed here.
Blest be the Man that spares these Stones,
And Curst be he that moves my Bones.

He had three Daughters, of which two liv'd to be marry'd; Judith, the Elder, to one Mr. Thomas Quiney, by whom she had three Sons, who all dy'd without Children; and Susannah, who was his Favourite, to Dr. John Hall, a Physician of good Reputation in that Country. She left one Child only, a Daughter, who was marry'd first to Thomas Nash, Esq; and afterwards to Sir John Bernard of Abbington; but dy'd likewise without Issue.

This is what I could learn of any Note, either relating to himself or Family: The Character of the Man is best seen in his Writings. But since Ben Johnson has made a sort of an Essay towards it in his Discoveries, tho', as I have before hinted, he was not very Cordial in his Friendship, I will venture to give it in his Words.

"I
"I remember the Players have often mention'd it as an Honour to Shakespeare, that in Writing (whatsoever he penn'd) he never blotted out a Line. My Answer hath been, Would he had blotted a thousand, which they thought a malevolent Speech. I had not told Posteriority this, but for their Ignorance, who chose that Circumstance to commend their Friend by, wherein he most faulted. And to justify mine own Candor, (for I lov'd the Man, and do honour his Memory, on this side Idolatry, as much as any.) He was, indeed, Honest, and of an open and free Nature, had an Excellent Fancy, brave Notions, and gentle Expressions; wherein he flow'd with that Facility, that sometimes it was necessary he should be stopp'd: Sufflami-nandus erat, as Augustus said of Taterius. His Wit was in his own Power, would the Rule of it had been so too. Many times he fell into those things which could not escape Laughter; as when he said in the Person of Cæsar, one speaking to him,

"Cæsar thou dost me Wrong.

"He reply'd:

"Cæsar did never Wrong, but with just Cause.

"and
and such like, which were ridiculous. "But he redeem’d his Vices with his Vices: There was ever more in him to be Prais’d than to be Pardon’d.

As for the Passage which he mentions out of Shakespeare, there is somewhat like it in Julius Caesar, Vol. VI. p. 194. but without the Absurdity; nor did I ever meet with it in any Edition that I have seen, as quoted by Mr. Johnson. Besides his Plays in this Edition, there are two or three ascrib’d to him by Mr. Langbain, which I have never seen, and know nothing of. He writ likewise, Venus and Adonis, and Tarquin and Lucrece, in Stanza’s, which have been printed in a late Collection of Poems. As to the Character given of him by Ben Johnson, there is a good deal true in it: But I believe it may be as well express’d by what Horace says of the first Romans, who wrote Tragedy upon the Greek Models, (or indeed translated ’em) in his Epistle to Augustus.

ACT I. SCENE I.

A tempestuous Noise of Thunder and Lightning heard: Enter a Ship-master, and a Boatswain.

MASTER.

Boatswain.

Boats. Here Master: What cheer?

Masr. Good, speak to th' Mariners:

Boats. Fall too't, yarely, or we run our selves

Masr. a-ground, bestir, bestir.

Enter Mariners.

Boats. Hey my Hearts, cherly my

Enter Alonso, Sebastian, Anthonio, Ferdinand, Gonzalo, and others.

Alon. Good Boatswain have care: Where's the Master?

Boats. I pray now keep below.

Ant. Where is the Master, Boatswain?

VOL. I. B 2 Boats.
Boats. Do you not hear him? You mar our Labour; Keep your Cabins; you do afflict the Storm.
Gonz. Nay, good be patient.
Boats. When the Sea is; hence. What care these Roarers for the Name of King? To Cabin; silence; trouble us not.
Gonz. Good yet remember whom thou haft aboard.
Boats. None that I more love than myself. You are a Counsellor; if you can command these Elements to Silence, and work the Peace of the present, we will not hand a Rope more; use your Authority: If you cannot, give thanks you have liv'd so long and make your self ready in your Cabin for the Mischance of the Hour, if it so hap. Cheerly good Hearts: Out of our way, I say. [Exit.

Gonz. I have great Comfort from this Fellow; methinks he hath no drowning Mark upon him; his Complexion is perfect Gallows. Stand fast, good Fate, to his hanging; make the Rope of his Destiny our Cable, for our own doth little Advantage: If he be not born to be hang'd, our Case is miserable.
[Exit.

Enter Boatswain.

Boats. Down with the Top-Mast: Yare, lower, lower; bring her to try with Main-Course. A Plague——

A cry within. Enter Sebastian, Anthoni and Gonzalo.
upon this Howling: They are louder than the Weather, or our Office. Yet again? What do you here? Shall we give o'er and drown? Have you a Mind to sink?
Sebas. A pox o' your Throat, you bawling, blasphemous, uncharitable Dog.
Boats. Work you then.
Ant. Hang Cur, hang, you Whoreson insolent Noise-maker; we are less afraid to be drown'd than thou art.
Gonz. I'll warrant him for drowning, though the Ship were no stronger than a Nut-shell, and as leaky as an un-stanch'd Wench.
Boats. Lay her a hold, a hold; set her two Courses off to Sea again, lay her off.

Enter Mariners wet.

Mar. All aloft! to Prayers, to Prayers! all aloft!

Boats.
Boats. What must our Mouths be cold?
Gonz. The King and Prince are at Prayers, let's afflixt them, for our Case is as theirs.
Sebas. I'm out of Patience.
Ant. We are meerly cheated of our Lives by Drunkards.
This wide-chopt Rascal—would thou might'st lye drowning the washing of ten Tides.
Gonz. He'll be hang'd yet,
Though every Drop of Water swear against it,
And gape at wid'ft to glut him. [A confused Noise within.
Mercy on us.
We split we split: Farewel my Wife and Children,
Farewel Brother: We split, we split, we split.
Ant. Let's all sink with the King.
Seb. Let's take leave of him.
Gonz. Now would I give a thousand Furlongs of Sea foran Acre of barren Ground: Long Heath, brown Furze, any thing; the Wills above be done, but I would fain die a dry Death.

SCENE II.

Enter Prospero and Miranda

Mir. If by your Art (my dearest Father) you have Put the wild Waters in this Roar, allay them:
The Sky it seems would pour down slinking Pitch,
But that the Sea, mounting to th' Welkins Cheek,
Dashes the Fire out. O! I have suffered
With those that I saw suffer: A brave Vessle
(Who had, no doubt, some noble Creature in her)
Dash'd all to Pieces. Oh! the Cry did knock Against my very Heart: Poor Souls, they perish'd.
Had I been any God of Power, I would Have sunk the Sea within the Earth, or e'er
It should the good Ship so have swallowed, and
The fraughting Souls within her.
Pros. Be collected;
No more Amazement; tell your piteous Heart,
There's no harm done,
Mir. O wo, the Day!

B 3

Pros.
The Tempest.

Pro. No harm.
I have done nothing but in care of thee
(Of thee my dear one, thee my Daughter) who Art ignorant of what thou art, nought knowing
Of whence I am; nor that I am more or better
Than Prospero, Master of a full poor Cell,
And thy no greater Father.

Mira. More to know
Did never meddle with thy Thoughts.

Pro. 'Tis time
I should inform thee farther. Lend thy Hand,
And pluck my magick Garment from me: So!
Lye there my Art. Wipe thou thine Eyes, have Comfort,
The direful Spectacle of the Wrack, which touch'd
The very Virtue of Compassion in thee,
I have with such Compassion in mine Art
So safely order'd, that there is no Soul lost,
No not so much Perdition as an Hair
Betide to any Creature in the Vessel
Which thou heardest cry, which thou saw'st sink: Sit down,
For thou must now know farther,

Mira. You have often
Began to tell me what I am, but stoop,
And left me to the bootless Inquisition;
Concluding. Stay, not yet.

Pro. The Hour's now come,
The very Minute bids thee ope thine Ear,
Obey, and be attentive. Canst thou remember
A time before we came unto this Cell?
I do not think thou canst, for then thou waft not Out three Years old.

Mira. Certainly, Sir, I can.

Pro. By what? by any other House, or Person?
Of any thing the Image, tell me, that Hath kept with thy Remembrance.

Mira. 'Tis far off;
And rather like a Dream, than an Assurance
That my Remembrance warrants. Had I not Four or five Women once that tended me?
Pro. Thou hast, and more, Miranda: But how is it
That this lives in thy Mind? What feel'st thou else
In the dark backward and Abysme of Time?
If thou remembrest ought e'er thou cam'st here,
How thou cam'st here thou may'st;
Mira. But that I do not.
Pro. Twelve Year since, Miranda, twelve Year since Thy Father was the Duke of Millan, and
A Prince of Power.
Mira. Sir, are not you my Father?
Pro. Thy Mother was a piece of Virtue, and
She said thou waft my Daughter; and thy Father
Was Duke of Millan, and his only Heir
And Princes; no worse issu'd.
Mira. O the Heav'n's,
What foul Play had we that we came from thence?
Or blessed was't we did?
Pro. Both, both, my Girl:
By foul Play (as thou sayest) were we heav'd thence,
But blessedly holp hither.
Mira. O my Heart bleeds
To think o' th' scene that I have turn'd you to,
Which is from my Remembrance. Please you, farther.
Pro. My Brother and thy Uncle, call'd Anthony—
I pray thee mark me, that a Brother should Be so perfidious! He, whom next thy self
Of all the World I lov'd, and to him put
The Manage of my State; as at that time
Through all the Signories it was the first,
And Prospero the prime Duke, being so reputed
In Dignity; and for the Liberal Arts,
Without a Parallel; those being all my Study;
The Government I cast upon my Brother,
And to my State grew Stranger, being transported
And rapt in secret Studies. Thy false Uncle—(Doft thou attend me)?
Mira. Sir, most heedfully.
Pro. Being once perfected how to grant Suits,
How to deny them; whom t'advance, and whom
To trash for over-topping; new created

With that which but by being retired
O’er-priz’d all popular rate; in my false Brother
Awak’d an evil Nature, and my Truft,
Like a good Parent, did beget of him
A Falseness in its contrary, as great
As my Truft was; which had indeed no Limit,
A Confidence fans bound. He being thus Lorded,
Not only with what my Revenue yielded,
But what my Power might else exact; like one
Who having into Truth, by telling of it,
Made such a Sinner of his Memory
To credit his own Lie, he did believe
He was indeed the Duke, out o’th’ Substitution
And executing th’ outward Face of Royalty
With all Prerogative. Hence his Ambition growing——Doft thou hear?

Mira. Your Tale, Sir, would cure Deafness.

Pro. To have no Screen between this Part he plaid,
And him he plaid it for, he needs will be Absolute Millan; me, poor Man, my Library
Was Dukedom large enough; of temporal Royalties
He thinks me now incapable Confederates
(So dry he was for Sway) wi’ th’ King of Naples
To give him annual Tribute, do him Homage,
Subject his Coronet to his Crown, and bend
The Dukedom yet unbow’d (alas poor Millan!)
To much ignoble slooping.

Mira. Oh the Heav’n’s!

Pro. Mark his Condition, and th’ Event, then tell me
If this might be a Brother.
Mira. I should sin,
To think but nobly of my Grand-mother;
Good Wombs have born bad Sons.

Pro. Now the Condition:
This King of Naples being an Enemy
To me inveterate, hearkens my Brother's Suit;
Which was, That he in lieu o' th' Premises,
Of Homage, and I know not how much Tribute,
Should presently extirpate me and mine
Out of the Dukedom, and confer fair Millan,
With all theHonours, on my Brother. Whereon
A treacherous Army levy'd, one Mid-night,
Fated to th' Purpose, did Anthony open
The Gates of Millan, and i'th' dead of Darkness
The Minister for th' Purpose hurry'd thence Me, and thy crying self.

Mira. Alack for pity!
I not remembering how I cry'd out then
Will cry it o'er again; it is a hint
That wrings mine Eyes to't.

Pro. Hear a little further,
And then I'll bring thee to the present Business
Which now's upon's, without the which this Story
Were most impertinent.

Mira. Wherefore did they not
That Hour destroy us?

Pro. Well demanded, Wench;
My Tale provokes that Question. Dear, they durst not;
So dear the Love my People bore me: Nor set
A Mark so bloody on the Business; but
With Colours fairer painted their foul Ends,
In few; they hurry'd us aboard a Bark,
Bore us some Leagues to Sea, where they prepar'd
A rotten Carcasses of a Boat, not rigg'd,
Nor Tackle, nor Sail, nor Masts; the very Rats
Institively had quit it: There they hoist us
To cry to th' Sea that roar'd to us; to sigh
To th' Winds, whose Pity fighting back again
Did us but loving Wrong.
Mira. Alack! what Trouble
Was I then to you?

Pro. O! a Cherubim
Thou waft that did preferve me: Thou didft smile,
Infused with a Fortitude from Heav'n,
When I have deck'd the Sea with Drops full falt,
Under my Burthen groan'd, which rais'd in me
An undergoing Stomach, to bear up
Against what should ensue.

Mira. How came we a-shore?

Pro. By Providence divine;
Some Food we had, and some fresh Water, that
A noble Neapolitan Gonzalo,
Out of his Charity (who being then appointed Master of this Design) did give us, with Rich Garments, Linnens, Stuffes, and Neceffaries
Which since have fleed much. So of his Gentlenes,
Knowing I lov'd my Books, he furnish'd me
From my own Library, with Volumes, that I prize above my Dukedom.

Mira. Would I might
But ever see that Man.

Pro. Now I arise,
Sit still, and hear the laft of our Sea-forrow,
Here in this Island we arriv'd, and here
Have I, thy School-master, made thee more profit
Than other Princes can, that have more Time
For vainer Hours, and Tutors not fo careful.

Mira. Heav'n's thank you for't. And now I pray you, Sir,
(For still 'tis beating in my Mind) your Reason
For raising this Sea-storm?

Pro. Know thus far forth,
By Accident most strange, bountiful Fortune
(Now my dear Lady) hath mine Enemies
Brought to this Shore: And by my Prescience
I find, my Zenith doth depend upon
A moft auspicious Star, whose Influence
If now I court not, but omit, my Fortunes
Will ever after droop: Here ceafe more Questions,
Thou art inclin'd to sleep. 'Tis a good Dulness,
And give it way; I know thou canst not chuse.
Come away, Servant, come; I am ready now, Approach, my Ariel. Come.

Enter Ariel.

Ari. All hail, great Master, grave Sir, hail! I come
To answer thy best Pleasure. Be it to fly;
To swim, to dive into the Fire; to ride
On the curl'd Clouds: To thy strong bidding, task
Ariel, and all his Quality.

Pro. Haft thou, Spirit,
Perform'd to point the Tempest that I bad thee?

Ari. To every Article.
I boarded the King's Ship: Now on the Beak,
Now in the Waste, the Deck, in every Cabin,
I flam'd Amazement. Sometimes I'd divide,
And burn in many Places; on the Top-mast,
The Yards and Bolt-sprit, would I flame distinctly,
Then meet, and join. Jove's Lightning, the Precursors
O'th' dreadful Thunder-claps, more momentary
And Sight out-running were not; the Fire and Cracks
Of sulphurous roaring, the most mighty Neptune
Seem'd to besiege, and make his bold Waves tremble, Yea, his dread Trident shake.

Pro. My brave Spirit,
Who was so firm, so constant, that this Coyl
Would not infect his Reason?

Ari. Not a Soul
But felt a Fever of the Mind, and plaid
Some Tricks of Desperation: All but Mariners
Plung'd in the foaming Brine, and quit the Vessel,
Then all a-fire with me: The King's Son Ferdinand
With Hair up-flaring (then like Reeds, not Hair)
Was the first Man that leapt; cry'd Hell is empty,
And all the Devils are here.

Pro. Why that's my Spirit.
But was not this nigh Shore?

Ari. Cloze, by, my Master.

Pro. But are they, Ariel, safe?

Ari. Not a Hair perish'd:
On their sustaining Garments not a Blemish,
But fresher than before. And as thou badst me,
In Troops I have dispers'd them 'bout the Isle:
The King's Son have I landed by himself,
Whom I left cooling of the Air with Sighs,
In an odd Angle of the Isle, and sitting,
His Arms in this sad Knot.

Pro. Of the King's Ship,
The Mariners, say how thou hast dispos'd,
And all the rest o' th' fleet?

Ari. Safely in Harbour,
Is the King's Ship; in the deep Nook, where once
Thou call'dst me up at Midnight, to fetch Dew
From the still-vest Bermothes, there she's hid:
The Mariners all under Hatches rowed,
Who, with a Charm join'd to their suffered Labour,
I have left asleep; and for the rest o' th' Fleet
(Which I dispers'd) they all have met again,
And are upon the Mediterranean Flote,
Bound sadly home for Naples,
Supposing that they saw the King's Ship wrackt,
And his great Person perish.

Pro. Ariel, thy Charge
Exactly is perform'd; but there's more Work:
What is the Time o' th' Day?

Ari. Past the mid Season.

Pro. At least two Glasses: The time'twixt six and now
Must by us both be spent most preciously.

Ari. Is there more Toil? Since thou dost give me Pains,
Let me remember thee what thou hast promis'd,
Which is not yet perform'd me.

Pro. How now? moodie?
What is't thou canst demand?

Ari. My Liberty.

Pro. Before the time be out? No more.

Ari. I prethee
Rememb'r I have done thee worthy Service,
Told thee no Lies, made no Mistakings, serv'd
Without or Grudge, or Grumblings; thou didst promise
To bate me a full Year.

Pro.
Pro. Doft thou forget
From what a Torment I did free thee?

Ari. No.

Pro. Thou doft; and thinkest it much to tread the Ooze
Of the falt Deep;
To run upon the sharp Wind of the North,
To do me Business in the Veins o' th' Earth
When it is bak'd with Froft.

Ari. I do not, Sir.

Pro. Thou liest malignant Thing: Haft thou forgot.
The foul Witch Sycorax, who with Age and Envy
Was grown into a Hoop? Haft thou forgot her?

Ari. No, Sir.

Pro. Thou haft: where was she born? speake; tell me.
Ari. Sir, in Argier.

Pro. Oh, was she so? I must Once in a Month recount what thou haft been,
Which thou forgetst. This damn'd Witch Sycorax
For Mischiefs manifold, and Sorceries terrible
To enter human Hearing, from Argier
Thou know'st was banish'd: For one thing she did
They would not take her Life. Is this not true?

Ari. Ay, Sir.

Pro. This blue-ey'd Hag was hither brought with Child,
And here was left by th' Sailors; thou my Slave,
As thou report'st thy felf, was then her Servant,
And, for thou waft a Spirit too delicate
To act her earthly and abhor'd Commands,
Refusing her grand Hefts, she did confine thee,
By help of her more potent Ministers,
And in her moft unmitigable Rage,
Into a cloven Pine; within which Rift
Imprison'd, thou didft painfully remain
A dozen Years, within which Space she dy'd,
And left thee there: Where thou didft vent thy Groans
As fast as Mill Wheels strike. Then was this Island
(Save for the Son that she did litter here
A freckl'd Whelp, hag-born) not honour'd with A human Shape.

Ari. Yes; Caliban her Son.
Pro. Dull Thing, I say so: He, that Caliban
Whom now I keep in Service. 'Thou best know'st.
What Torment I did find thee in; thy Groans
Did make Wolves howl, and penetrate the Breasts.
Of ever-angry Bears; it was a Torment
To lay upon the damn'd, which Sycorax
Could not again undo: It was mine Art,
When I arriv'd, and heard thee, that made gape
The Pines, and let thee out.

Ari. I thank thee, Master.

Pro. If thou more murmur'st, I will rend an Oak.
And peg thee in his knotty Entrails, 'till
Thou hast howl'd away twelve Winters.

Ari. Pardon, Master.

I will be correspondent to Command,
And do my Spriting gently.

Pro. Do so: And after two Days
I will discharge thee.

Ari. That's my noble Master:
What shall I do? Say what? What shall I do?

Pro. Go make thy self like to a Nymph o'th' Sea.
Be subiect to no Sight but mine: Invisible
To every Eye-ball else. Go take this Shape,
And hither come in't: Go hence
With Diligence. [Exit Ari.

Awake, dear Heart awake, thou hast slept well,

Awake.

Mira. The Strangeness of your Story put Heaviness in me.

Pro. Shake it off: Come on,
We'll visit Caliban, my Slave, who never Yields us kind Answer.

Mira. 'Tis a Villain, Sir, I do not love to look on.

Pro. But as 'tis
We cannot mifs him: He does make our Fire,
Fetch in our Wood, and serves Offices
That profit us. What hoa! Slave! Caliban!
Thou Earth thou! speak.

Cal. (within) There's Wood enoagh within.
Pro. Come forth, I say, there's other Business for thee:
Come thou Tortoys, when—

Enter Ariel like a Water-Nymph.

Fine Apparition; My quaint Ariel,
Hear in thine Ear.

Ari. My Lord, it shall be done.  [Exit.

Pro. Thou poisonous Slave, got by the Devil himself
Upon thy wicked Dam; come forth.

Enter Caliban.

Cal. As wicked Dew, as e'er my Mother brush'd
With Ravens Feather from unwholsome Fen,
Drop on you both: A South-west blow on ye,
And blister you all o'er.

Pro. For this, be sure, to Night thou shalt have Cramps,
Side-flitches, that shall pen thy Breath up, Urchins
Shall, for that Waft of Night that they may work,
All exercise on thee: Thou shalt be pinch'd
As thick as Hony-comb, each Pinch more flinging
Than Bees that made 'em.

Cal. I must eat my Dinner;
This Island's mine by Sycorax my Mother,
Which thou tak'dst from me. When thou camest first Thou stroak'dst me, and mad'st much of me; Would'st give Water with Berries in't; and teach me how [me
To name the bigger Light, and how the less,
That burn by Day and Night: And then I lov'd thee,
And shewed thee all the Qualities o' the Isle,
The fresh Springs, Brine-pits; barren Place and fertile.
Curs'd be I that I did so! All the Charms
Of Sycorax; Toads, Beetles, Bats light on you!
For I am all the Subjects that you have,
Which first was mine own King: And here you fly me
In this hard Rock, whiles you do keep from me
The rest of the Island.

Pro. Thou most lying Slave,
Whom Stripes may move, not Kindness; I have us'd thee
(Filth as thou art) with human Care, and lodg'd
In mine own Cell. 'till thou didst seek to violate
The Honour of my Child.
Cal. Oh ho, oh ho, wouldn’t had been done! Thou didn’t prevent me, I had peopled else. This Isle with Calibans.

Mira. Abhorred Slave; Which any Print of Goodness will not take. Being capable of all Ill: I pitied thee, Took Pains to make thee speak, taught thee each Hour One thing or other: When thou didn’t, Savage, Know thine own Meaning; but wouldst gabble, like A thing most brutish, I endow’d thy Purposes With Words that made them known. But thy vile Race (Tho’ thou didn’t learn) had that in’t, which good Natures Could not abide to be with; therefore wait thou Deservedly confin’d into this Rock, who hadst Deserv’d more than a Prison.

Cal. You taught me Language, and my Profit on’t Is, I know how to curse: The Red-plague rid you For learning me your Language.

Por. Hag-seed, hence! Fetch us in Fewel, and be quick, thou weren’t best To answer other Business: Shrug’st thou, Malice? If thou neglect’st, or dost unwillingly What I command, I’ll rack thee with old Cramps, Fill all thy Bones with Aches, make thee roar, That Beasts shall tremble at thy din.

Cal. No, pray thee. I must obey, his Art is of such Pow’r, It would controul my Dam’s God Setebos, And make a Vassal of him.

Pro. So Slave, hence. [Exit Caliban; Enter Ferdinand, and Ariel invisible, playing and singing.

ARIEL’S SONG.

Come unto these yellow Sands, And then take Hands: Courted when you have, and kiss, The wind Waves whip; Foot it lightly here and there, and sweet Sprights hear The Burthen.

[Burthen dispersedly, Hark,
The Tempest

Hark, hark, bough-waugh: The Watch-Dogs bark, Bough-waugh.

Ari. Hark, hark. I hear
The Strain of strutting Chanteclere,
Cry Cock-a-doodle-do.

Fer. Where should this Musick be? I' th' Air, or th' Earth?
It founds no more: And sure it waits upon
Some God o' th' Island; sitting on a Bank,
Weeping again the King my Father's Wreck,
This Musick crept by me upon the Waters,
Allaying both their Fury, and my Passion
With its sweet Air: Thence I have follow'd it,
Or it hath drawn me rather; but 'tis gone.
No, it begins again.

ARIEL's SONG.

Full Fathom five thy Father lies,
Of his Bones are Coral made:
Those are Pearls that were his Eyes,
Nothing of him that doth fade,
But doth suffer a Sea-change,
Into something rich, and strange,
Sea-Nymphs hourly ring his Knell.

[Burthen: Ding-dong.

Hark now I hear them, ding-dong Bell.

Fer. The Ditty does remember my drown'd Father;
This is no mortal Builin's, nor no Sound
That the Earth owes: I hear it now above me.

Pro. The fringed Currains of thine Eye advance,
And say what thou seest yond.

Mira. What is't, a Spirit?
Lord, how it looks about! Believe me, Sir,
It carries a brave Form. But it's a Spirit.

Pro. No Wench, it eats, and sleeps, and hath such Senses
As we have; such. This Gallant which thou seest
Was in the Wreck: And but he's something stayed
With Grief (that's Beauty's Canker) thou might'st call him
A goodly Person. He hath lost his Fellows,
And strays about to find 'em.
Mira. I might call him
A thing divine, for nothing natural
I ever saw so noble.

Pro. It goes on, I see,
As my Soul prompts it: Spirit, fine Spirit, I'll free thee
Within two Days for this.

Fer. Most sure the Goddess
On whom these Ayres attend! Vouchsafe my Pray'rs
May know if you remain upon this Island,
And that you will some good Instruction give
How I may bear me here: My prime Request
(Which I do last pronounce) is, O you Wonder,
If you be made, or no?

Mira. No Wonder, Sir,
But certainly a Maid.

Fer. My Language! Heav'n's!
I am the best of them that speak this Speech,
Were I but where 'tis spoken.

Pro. How? the best?
What wert thou, if the King of Naples heard thee?

Fer. A single thing, as I am now, that wonders
To hear thee speak of Naples. He does hear me;
And that he does, I weep: My self am Naples,
Who, with mine Eyes (never since at Ebb) beheld
The King my Father wrackt.

Mira. Alack, for Mercy!

Fer. Yes faith, and all his Lords; the Duke of Millan
And his brave Son, being twain.

Pro. The Duke of Millan
And his more braver Daughter could controul thee,
If now 'twere fit to do't: At the first Sight
They have chang'd Eyes: Delicate Ariel,
I'll set thee free for this. A Word, good Sir,
I fear you have done your self some Wrong: A Word.

Mira. Why speaks my Father so urgently? This Is the third Man that e'er I saw; the first
That e'er I figh'd for: Pity move my Father
To be inclin'd my way.

Fer. O, if a Virgin,
And your Affection not gone forth; I'll make you

The
The Queen of Naples.

Pro. Soft Sir, one Word more.
They are both in either's Pow'r: But this swift Busines
I must unease make, left too light winning
Make the Prize light. One Word more; I charge thee
That thou attend me; thou dost here usurp
The Name thou ow'rt not, and haft put thy self Upon this Island, as a Spy, to win it
From me, the Lord on't.

Fer. No, as I a Man,

Mira. There's nothing ill can dwell in such a Temple.
If the ill Spirit have so fair an House,
Good things will strive to dwell with't.

Pro. Follow me.
Speak you not for him: He's a Traitor. Come,
I'll manacle thy Neck and Feet together;
Sea-water shalt thou drink, thy Food shall be
The fresh-brook Muscles, wither'd Roots, and Husks
Wherein the Acorn cradled. Follow.

Fer. No,
I will resist such Entertainment, 'till
Mine Enemy has more Pow'r.

[He draws, and is charmed from moving.

Mira. O dear Father,
Make not too rash a Trial of him; for
He's gentle, and not fearful.

Pro. What I say,
My Foot my Tutor? Put thy Sword up, Traitor,
Who mak'st a Shew, but dar'st not strike; thy Conscience
Is posset with Guilt: Come from thy Ward,
For I can here disarm thee with this Stick,
And make thy Weapon drop.

Mira. Beseech you, Father.

Pro. Hence: Hang not on my Garment.

Mira. Sir, have Pity;
I'll be his Surety.

Pro. Silence: One Word more
Shall make me chide thee, if not hate thee. What,
An Advocate for an Impostor? Hush!
Thou think'st there are no more such Shapes as he,

(Having
(Having seen but him and Caliban) foolish Wench,
To th' most of Men this is a Caliban,
And they to him are Angels.

Mira. My Affections
Are the most humble: I have no Ambition
To see a goodlier Man.

Pro. Come on, obey:
Thy Nerves are in their Infancy again,
And have no Vigour in them.

Fer. So they are:
My Spirits, as in a Dream. are all bound up.
My Father's loss, the Weakness which I feel,
The Wrack of all my Friends, and this Man's Threats,
To whom I am subdued, are but light to me,
Might I but through my Prison once a Day
Behold this Maid: All Corners else o'th' Earth
Let Liberty make use of; Space enough
Have I, in such a Prison.

Pro. It works: Come on.
Thou hast done well, fine Ariel: Follow me.
Hark what thou else shalt do me.

Mira. Be of comfort,
My Father's of a better Nature, Sir,
Than he appears by Speech: This is unwonted
Which now came from him.

Pro. Thou shalt be as free
As Mountain Winds; but then exactly do
All Points of my Command.

Ari. To th'Syllable.

ACT II. SCENE I.

Enter Alonso, Sebastian, Antonio, Gonzalo, Adrian,
Francisco, and others.

Gonz. Beseech you, Sir, be merry: You have Cause
(So have we all) of Joy; for our Escape
Is much beyond our Loss; our Hint of Woe
Is common, every Day, some Sailor's Wife,
The Masters of some Merchant, and the Merchant
Have just our Thearm of Woe: But for the Miracle;
(I mean our Preservation), few in Millions
Can speak like us: Then wisely, good Sir, we'gh
Our Sorrow with our Comfort.

_Alon._ Prethee Peace.

_Seb._ He receives Comfort like cold Porridge.

_Ant._ The Visitor will not give o'er so.

_Seb._ Look, he's winding up the Watch of his Wit;
By and by it will strike.

_Gon._ Sir.

_Seb._ On: Tell.

_Gon._ When every Grief is entertain'd
That's offer'd; comes to the Entertainer—

_Seb._ A Dollar.

_Gon._ Dolour comes to him indeed, you have spoken truer than you propos'd.

_Seb._ You have taken it wifelier than I meant you should;

_Gon._ Therefore, my Lord.

_Ant._ Fie, what a Spend-thrift is he of his Tongue?

_Alon._ I prethee spare.

_Gon._ Well, I have done: But yet—

_Seb._ He will be talking.

_Ant._ Which of them, he, or Adrian, for a good Wager,
First begins to crow?

_Seb._ The old Cock.

_Ant._ The Cockrell.

_Seb._ Done: The Wager?

_Ant._ A Laughter.

_Seb._ A Match.

_Adv._ Though this Island seem to be defart—

_Seb._ Ha, ha, ha.

_Ant._ So: You're paid.

_Adv._ Uninhabitable, and almost inaccessible—

_Seb._ Yet.

_Adv._ Yet—

_Ant._ He could not mis'st.

_Adv._ It must needs be of subtle, tender, and delicate Temperance.
Ant. Temperance was a delicate Wench.
Seb. Ay, and a subtle, as he most learnedly delivered.
Adr. The Air breathes upon us here most sweetly.
Seb. As if it had, Lungs, and rotten ones.
Ant. Or, as 'twere perfumed by a Fen.
Gon. Here is every thing advantageous to Life.
Ant. True, save Means to live.
Seb. Of that there's none, or little.
Gon. How lush and plentiful the Grass looks?
How green?
Ant. The Ground indeed is tawny.
Seb. With an Eye of green in't.
Ant. He misses not much.
Seb. No: He does but mistake the Truth totally.
Gon. But the Rarity of it is, which is indeed almost beyond Credit——
Seb. As many voucht Rarities are.
Gon. That our Garments, being (as they were) drencht in the Sea, hold notwithstanding their Frehness and Glosses, being rather new dy'd than stain'd with salt Water.
Ant. If but one of his Pockets could speak, would it not say he lies?
Seb. Ay, or very falsely pocket up his Report.
Gon. Methinks our Garments are now as fresh as when we put them on first in Affrick, at the Marriage of the King's fair Daughter Claribel, to the King of Tunis.
Seb. 'Twas a sweet Marriage, and we prosper well in our Return.
Adr. Tunis was never graced before with such a Paragon to their Queen.
Gon. Not since Widow Dido's time.
Ant. Widow? a Pox o'that: How came that Widow in? Widow Dido!
Seb. What if he had said Widower Aeneas too?
Good Lord, how you take it!
Adr. Widow Dido, said you? You make me study of that: She was of Carthage, not of Tunis.
Gon. This Tunis, Sir, was Carthage.
Adr. Carthage?
Gon. I assure you Carthage.
Ant.
Ant. His Word is more than the miraculous Harp.
Seb. He hath rais’d the Wall, and Houfes too.
Ant. What impossible matter will he make easie next?
Seb. I think he will carry this Island home in his Pocket, and give it his Son for an Apple.
Ant. And sowing the Kernels of it in the Sea, bring forth more Islands.
Gon. Ay.
Ant. Why in good time.
Gon. Sir, we were talking, that our Garments seem now as fresh as when we were at Tunis at the Marriage of your Daughter, who is now Queen.
Ant. And the rarest that e’er came there.
Seb. Bate, I beseech you, Widow Dido.
Gon. Is not my Doublet, Sir, as fresh as the first Day I wore it? I mean in a sort.
Ant. That sort was well fish’d for.
Gon. When I wore it at your Daughter’s Marriage.
Alon. You cram these Words into mine Ears against The Stomach of my Sense. Would I had never Married my Daughter there! For coming thence My Son is lost, and, in my rate, she too, Who is so far from Italy removed, I ne’er again shall see her: O thou mine Heir Of Naples and of Millan, what strange Fish Hath made his Meal on thee?
Fran. Sir, he may live.
I saw him beat the Surges under him, And ride upon their Backs; he trod the Water, Whose Enmity he flung aside; and breasted The Surge most swollen that met him: His bold Head ’Bove the contentious Waves he kept, and oared Himself with his good Arms in lufy Strokes To th’ Shore; that o’er his wave born Basis bow’d As stooping to relieve him: I not doubt He came alive: to Land.
Alon. No, no, he’s gone.
Seb. Sir, you may thank your self for this great Loss, That would not blesse our Europe with your Daughter,
But rather lose her to an African;
Where she, at least, is banish'd from your Eye,
Who hath Cause to wet the Grief on't.

Alon. Prethee Peace.

Seb. You were kneel'd to, and importun'd otherwse
By all of us: And the fair Soul her self Weigh'd between Loathness and Obedience, at Which End the Beam should bow. We have lost your Son.
I fear for ever: Milan and Naples have
More Widows in them of this business making;
Than we bring Men to comfort them:
The Fault's your own.

Alon. So is the deart o'th' Los.

Gon. My Lord Sebastian,
The Truth you speak doth lack some Gentlenes;
And Time to speak it in: You rub the Sore
When you should bring the Plaister.

Seb. Very well.

Ant. And most Chirurgeonly.

Gon. It is foul Weather in us all, good Sir;
When you are cloudy.

Seb. Foul Weather?

Ant. Very foul.

Gon. Had I the Plantation of this Isle, my Lord.

Ant. He'd fow't with Nettle-feed.

Seb. Or Docks, or Mallows.

Gon. And were the King on't, what would I do?

Seb. Scape being drunk, for want of Wine.

Gon. I'th' Commonwealth I would, by contraries,
Execute all things: For no kind of Traffick
Would I admit; no Name of Magistrate;
Letters should not be known; Riches, Poverty,
And use of Service, none; Contract, Succession,
Bourn, Bound of Land. Tillth, Vineyard none;
No use of Metal, Corn, or Wine, or Oyl;
No Occupation, all Men idle, all,
And Women too, but innocent and pure;
No Soveraignty.

Seb. Yet he would be King on't,
Ant. The latter end of his Commonwealth forgets the beginning.

Gon. All things in common Nature should produce Without Sweat or Endeavour. Treason, Felony, Sword, Pike, Knife, Gun, or need of any Engine Would I not have; but Nature should bring forth, Of its own Kind, all Foyzon, all Abundance To feed my innocent People.

Seb. No marrying 'mong his Subjects?

Ant. None, Man; all idle; Whores and Knaves.

Gon. I would with such Perfection govern, Sir, 'T' excell the Golden Age.

Seb. Save his Majesty.

Ant. Long live Gonzalo.

Gon. And do you mark me, Sir?

Alon. Prithee no more; thou dost talk nothing to me.

Gon. I do well believe your Highnes, and did it to minister Occasion to these Gentlemen, who are of such sensible and nimble Lungs, that they always use to laugh at nothing.

Ant. 'Twas you we laugh'd at.

Gon. Who, in this kind of merry fooling, am nothing to you: So you may continue, and laugh at nothing still.

Ant. What a Blow was there given?

Seb. And it had not fallen flat-long.

Gon. You are Gentlemen of brave Metal; you would lift the Moon out of her Sphere, if she would continue in it five Weeks without changing.

Enter Ariel playing solemn Musick.

Seb. We would so, and then go a Bat-fowling.

Ant. Nay, good my Lord be not angry.

Gon. No I warrant you, I will not adventure my Discretion so weakly: Will you laugh me asleep, for I am very heavy.

Ant. Go sleep, and hear us.

Alon. What, all so soon asleep? I wish mine Eyes Would with themselves, shut up my Thoughts:
I find they are inclin'd to do so.-

Seb. Pleafe you, Sir,

Do not omit the heavy Offer of it:

Vol. I. C

It
The Tempest:

It seldom visits Sorrow; when it doth,
It is a Comforter.

Ant. We two, my Lord,
Will guard your Person, while you take your Rest;
And watch your Safety.

Alon. Thank you: Wondrous heavy.

[All sleep but Seb, and Ant.

Seb. What a strange Drowsiness possesseth them?
Ant. It is the Quality o' th' Climate.

Seb. Why.

Doth it not then our Eye-lids sink? I find not
My self dispos'd to sleep.

Ant. Nor I, my Spirits are nimble:
They fell together all, as by Consent
They dropt, as by a Thunder-stroke. What might;
Worthy Sebastian——O, what might——no more.
And yet, methinks I see it in thy Face,
What thou shouldst be: The Occasion speaks thee, and My strong Imagination sees a Crown
Dropping upon thy Head.

Seb. What, art thou waking?
Ant. Do you not hear me speak?
Seb. I do; and surely
It is a sleepy Language, and thou speak'st
Out of thy Sleep: What is it thou didst say?
This is a strange Repose, to be asleep
With Eyes wide open: Standing, speaking, moving;
And yet so fast asleep.

Ant. Noble Sebastian,
Thou let'st thy Fortune sleep; die rather: Wink'st
Whilst thou art waking.

Seb. Thou dost snore distinctly;
There's Meaning in thy Snores.

Ant. I am more serious than my Custom. You Must be so too, if you heed me; which to do,
Troubles thee o'er.

Seb. Well: I am standing Water.
Ant. I'll teach you how to flow;
Seb. Do so: To ebb
Hereditary Sloth instructs me.
Ant. O!
If you but knew how you the Purpose cherish,
Whilst thus you mock it; how in stripping it
You more invest it: Ebbing Men, indeed,
Most often do so near the Bottom run,
By their own Fear or Sloth.

Seb. Prethee say on,
The setting of thine Eye and Check proclaim
A Matter from thee; and a Birth, indeed,
Which throws thee much to yield.

Ant. Thus Sir:
Although this Lord of weak Remembrance; this
Who shall be of as little Memory
When he is earth'd, hath here almost persuaded
(For he's a Spirit of Persuasion, only Professes to persuade) the King his Son's alive;
'Tis as impossible that he's undrown'd,
As he that sleeps here, swims.

Seb. I have no Hope
That he's undrown'd.

Ant. O, out of that no Hope,
What great Hope have you? No Hope that way, is Another way so high an Hope, that even Ambition cannot pierce a Wink beyond,
But doubt Discovery there. Will you grant, with me;
That Ferdinand is drown'd?

Seb. He's gone.

Ant. Then tell me who's the next Heir of Naples?

Seb. Claribel.

Ant. She that is Queen of Tunis; she that dwells
Ten Leagues beyond Man's Life; she that from Naples
Can have no Note, unless the Sun were Post,
The Man 'tis' Moon's too slow, 'till new-born Chins
Be rough, and razorable; she from whom
We all were Sea-swallow'd, tho' some cast again,
And by that Destiny to perform an Act;
Whereof, what's past in Prologue, what to come
In yours, and my Discharge——

Seb. What Stuff is this? How say you?
'Tis true, my Brother's Daughter's Queen of Tunis,
So is the Heir of Naples, 'twixt which Regions
There is some Space.

Ant. A Space whose ev'ry Cubit
Seems to cry out, How shall that Claribel
Measure us back by Naples? keep in Tunis,
And let Sebastian awake. Say, this were Death
That now hath seiz'd them, why they were no worse
Than now they are: There be that can rule Naples
As well as he that sleeps; Lords, that can prate
As amply, and unnecessarily
As this Gonzalo; I my self could make
A Chough of as deep Chat; O, that you bore
The Mind that I do; what a Sleep were this
For your Advancement? Do you understand me?

Seb. Methinks I do.

Ant. And how does your Content
Tender your own good Fortune?

Seb. I remember
You did supplant your Brother Prospero:

Ant. True:
And look how well my Garments fit upon me;
Much feater than before. My Brother's Servants
Were then my Fellows, now they are my Men.

Seb. But for your Conscience.

Ant. Ay, Sir; where lies that? If 'twere a Kybe
'Twould put me to my Slipper: But I feel not
This Deity in my Bosom. Twenty Consciences
That stand 'twixt me and Millan, candied be they,
And melt e'er they molest. Here lies your Brother;
No better than the Earth he lies upon,
If he were that which now he's like, that's dead;
Whom I with this obedient Steel, three Inches of it,
Can lay to Bed for ever: Whilst you doing thus,
To the perpetual Wink for ay might put
This ancient Morfil, this Sir Prudence, who Should not upbraid our Course. For all the rest
They'll take Suggestion, as a Cat laps Milk;
They'll tell the Clock, to any Business that
We say befits the Hour.
The Tempest

Seb. Thy Care, dear Friend,
Shall be my President: As thou got'st Millan,
I'll come by Naples. Draw thy Sword, one Stroke
Shall free thee from the Tribute which thou payest,
And I the King shall love thee.

Ant. Draw together:
And when I rear my Hand, do you the like
To fall it on Gonzalo.

Seb. O, but one Word.

Enter Ariel with Musick and Song.

Ari. My Master through his Art foresees the Danger
That you, his Friend, are in; and sends me forth
(For else his Project dies) to keep them living.

[Sings in Gonzalo's Ear.

While you here do Snoaring lye,
Open-ey'd Conspiracy
His time doth take:
If of Life you keep a Care,
Shake off Slumber, and beware.
Awake, awake.

Ant. Then let us both be sudden,
Gon. Now, good Angels preserve the King.

[They wake.

Alon. Why now how ho? awake? why are you drawn?
Wherefore this ghastly Looking?

Gon. What's the Matter?

Seb. While we stood here securing your Repose,
Even now we heard a hollow Burft of bellowing
Like Bulls, or rather Lions; didn't not wake you?
It strook mine Ear most terribly.

Alon. I heard nothing.

Ant. O, 'twas a Din to fright a Monster's Ear;
To make an Earthquake: Sure it was the Roar
Of a whole Herd of Lions.

Alon Heard you this, Gonzalo?

Gon. Upon mine Honour, Sir, I heard a Humming,
And that a strange one too, which did awake me!
I shook'd you, Sir, and cry'd, as mine Eyes open'd,
I saw their Weapons drawn: There was a Noise,
That's verily, 'Tis best we stand upon our Guard;
Or that we quit this Place; let's draw our Weapons.

_Alon._ Lead off this Ground, and let's make further Search
For my poor Son.

_Gos._ Heav'n's keep him from these Beasts:
For he is sure i'th' Island.

_Alon._ Lead away.

_Ari._ Prospero, my Lord, shall know what I have done:
So, King, go safely on to seek thy Son. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

_Enter Caliban with a Burden of Wood; a Noise of Thunder heard._

_Cal._ All the Infections that the Sun sucks up
From Bogs, Fens, Flats, on _Prosper_ fall, and make him
By Inch-meal a Disease: His Spirits hear me,
And yet I needs must curse. But they'll not pinch,
Fright me with Urchin Shews, pitch me i'th' Mire,
Nor lead me, like a Fire-brand, in the Dark
Out of my way, unless he bid 'em; but
For every trifle are they set upon me;
Sometime like Apes, that moe and chatter at me,
And after bite me; then like Hedge-hogs, which Lye tumbling in my Bare-foot-way, and mount
Their pricks at my Foot-fall; sometime am I
All wound with Adders, who with cloven Tongues
Do hiss me into Madnefs. Lo! now! lo!

_Enter Trinculo._

Here comes a Spirit of his, and to torment me,
For bringing Wood in slowly: I'll fall flat,
Perchance he will not mind me.

_Tri._ Here's neither Bush nor Shrub to bear off any Weather at all, and another Storm brewing; I hear it sing i'th' Wind: Yond fame black Cloud, yond huge one, looks like a foul Bumbard that would shed his Liquor.
If it should Thunder as it did before, I know not where to hide my Head: Yond fame Cloud cannot chufe but fall by Pailfuls. What have we here, a Man or a Fish? dead or alive? A Fish; he smells like a Fish: A very ancient and fish-like Smell. A kind of, not of the newest,

_Poor_
Poor John: A strange Fish; were I in England now, as once I was, and had but this Fish painted, not an Holy-day-fool there but would give a piece of Silver; there would this Monster make a Man; any strange Beast there makes a Man: When they will not give a Doit to relieve a lame Beggar, they will lay out ten to see a dead Indian. Leg'd like a Man! and his Fins like Arms! warm o' my troth; I do now let loose my Opinion, hold it no longer; this is no Fish, but an Islander, that hath lately suffer'd by a Thunder-bolt, Alas! the Storm is come again. My beff way is to creep under his Gaberdine: There is no other Shelter hereabout; Misery acquaints a Man with strange Bedfellows: I will here throw'd till the Dregs of the Storm be past.

Enter Stephano singing.

Ste. I shall no more to Sea, to Sea, here shall I die a-shore. This is a very scurvy Tune to sing at a Man's Funeral: Well, here's my Comfort. [Drinks.] Sings, The Master, the Swabber, the Boatswain and I, The Gunner, and his Mate,

Lov'd Mall, Meg, and Marrian and Margery,

But none of us car'd for Kate;

For she had a Tongue with a Tang,

Would cry to a Sailor go hang:

She lov'd not the Savour of Tar nor of Pitch,

Yet a Taylor might scratch her where e'er she did itch.

Then to Sea, Boys, and let her go hang.

This is a scurvy Tune too:

But here's my Comfort. [Drinks.]

Cal. Do not Torment me: Oh!

Ste. What's the Matter?

Have we Devils here?

Do you put Tricks upon's with Salvages, and Men of Inde? Ha? I have not scap'd drowning to be afraid now of your four Legs; for it hath been said, as proper a Man as ever went on four Legs cannot make him give Ground; and it shall be said so again, while Stephano breathes at his Nostrils.

Cal. The Spirit torments me: Oh!
The Tempest.

Ste. This is some Monster of the Isle, with four Legs; who has got, as I take it, an Ague: Where the Devil should he learn our Language? I will give him some Relief, if it be but for that: If I can recover him, and keep him tame, and get to Naples with him, he's a Present for any Emperor that ever trod on Neats-Leather.

Cal. Do not Torment me, prethee; I'll bring my Wood home fast.

Ste. He's in a Fit now; and does not talk after the Wickeft: He shall taste of my Bottle. If he have never drunk Wine afore, it will go near to remove his Fit: If I can recover him, and keep him tame, I will not take too much for him; he shall pay for him that hath him, and that soundly.

Cal. Thou dost me yet but little Hurt; thou wilt anon, I know it by thy Trembling: Now Prosper works upon thee.

Ste. Come on your ways; open your Mouth; here is that which will give Language to you, Cal; open your Mouth; this will shake your shaking, I can tell you, and that soundly: You cannot tell who's your Friend; open your Chaps again.

Tri. I should know that Voice:

It should be—

But he is drown'd; and these are Devils; O! defend me.

Ste. Four Legs, and two Voices; a most delicate Monster: His forward Voice now is to speak of his Friend; his backward Voice is to utter foul Speeches, and to detract. If all the Wine in my Bottle will recover him, I will help his Ague: Come! Amen! I will pour some in thy other Mouth.

Tri. Stephano.

Ste. Doth thy other Mouth call me? Mercy! Mercy! This is a Devil, and no Monster: I will leave him; I have no long Spoon.

Tri. Stephano: If thou beest Stephano, touch me, and speak to me; for I am Trinculo; be not afraid, thy good Friend Trinculo.

Ste. If thou beest Trinculo, come forth, I'll pull thee by the lefser Legs: If any be Trinculo's Legs, thee are they.
they. Thou art very Trinculo indeed: How canst thou to be the Siege of this Moon-calf? Can he vent Trinculo's!

Tri. I took him to be kill'd with a Thunder-Stroke; But art thou not drown'd, Stephano? I hope now thou art not drown'd: Is the Storm over-blown? I hid me under the dead Moon-calf's Gaberdine, for fear of the Storm: And art thou living Stephano? O Stephano, two Neapolitans escap'd?

Ste. Prethee do not turn me about, my Stomach is not constant.

Cal. These be fine things, and if they be not Sprights: That's a brave God, and bears Celestial Liquor: I will kneel to him.

Ste. How didst thou scape? How canst thou hither?
Swear by this Bottle how thou canst hither: I escap'd upon a Butt of Sack, which the Sailors heav'd o' er-board, by this Bottle! which I made of the Bark of a Tree, with mine own Hands, since I was cast a-shore.

Cal. I'll swear, upon that Bottle, to be thy true Subject; for the Liquor is not earthly.

Ste. Here: Swear then how thou escap'dst.

Tri. Swom a-shore, Man, like a Duck; I can swim like a Duck, I'll be sworn.

Ste. Here, kiss the Book.
Though thou canst swim like a Duck, thou art made like a Goose.

Tri. O Stephano, hast any more of this?
Ste. The whole Butt, Man; my Cellar is in a Rock by th' Sea-side, where my Wine is hid:

How now, Moon-calf, how does thine Ague?

Cal. Hast thou not dropt from Heav'n?
Ste. Out o' th' Moon, I do assure thee. I was the Man in th' Moon when time was.

Cal. I have seen thee in her; and I do adore thee: My Mistres[s shew'd me thee, and thy Dog, and thy Bush.

Ste. Come swear to that; kiss the Book: I will furnish it anon with new Contents: Swear.

C5  Tri.
Tri. By this good Light, this is a very shallow Monster; I am afraid of him? a very shallow Monster:
The Man in' th' Moon?
A most poor credulous Monster:
Well drawn, Monster, in good faith.
Cal. I'll shew thee every fertile Inch o' th' Isle; and I will kiss thy Foot: I prithee be my God.
Tri. By this Light, a most perfidious and drunken Monster; when his God's asleep he'll rob his Bottle.
Cal. I'll kiss thy Foot. I'll swear my self thy Subject.
Ste. Come on then; Down, and swear.
Tri. I shall laugh my self to Death at this Puppy-headed Monster: a most scurvy Monster: I could find in my Heart to beat him.
Ste. Come, kiss.
Tri. But that the poor Monster's in drink:
An abominable Monster.
Cal. I'll shew thee the best Springs; I'll pluck thee Berries; I'll fish for thee, and get thee Wood enough.
A plague upon the Tyrant that I serve;
I'll bear him no more Sticks, but follow thee, thou wondrous Man.
Tri. A most ridiculous Monster, to make a Wonder of a poor Drunkard.
Cal. I prethee let me bring thee where Crabs grow, and I with my long Nails will dig thee Pig-nuts; shew thee a Jay's Nest, and instruct thee how to spare the nimble Marmazet, 11 b r g thee to clutstring Filberds, and sometimes I'll get thee young Scamels from the Rock. Wilt thou go with me?
Ste. I prethee no more lead the way without any more talking. Trinculo, the King and all our Company else being drown'd, we will inherit here; here, bear my Bottle; Fellow Trinculo, we'll fill him by and by again.
Cal: ban sings drunkenly.
Farewel Master; farewell, farewell.
Tri. A howling Monster; a drunken Monster.
Cal. No more Dams I'll make for fish,
Nor fetch in fishing, at requiring Nor scrape Trenchering, nor wash Dish.
ACT III. SCENE I.

Enter Ferdinand, bearing a Log.

Ferd. THERE be some Sports are painful, and their Labour Delight in them sets 'off: Some kinds of Bafeness Are nobly undergone, and most poor Matters Point to rich Ends; this my mean Task Would be as heavy to me, as odious, but The Mistress which I serve, quickens what's dead, And makes my Labours Pleasures: O she is Ten times more gentle, than her Father's crabbed; And he's compos'd of Harshness. I must remove Some thousands of these Logs, and pile them up, Upon a fore Injunction; my sweet Mistress Weeps when she sees me work, and says such Bafeness Had never like Executor; I forget; But these sweet Thoughts do even refresh my Labours, Most buxie leaff, when I do it.

Enter Miranda, and Prospero at a Distance unseen.

Mira. Alas, now pray you, Work not so hard; I would the Lightning had Burnt up those Logs that thou'rt enjoin'd to pile: Pray set it down, and rest you; when this burns 'Twill weep for having weary'd you; my Father Is hard at Study, pray now rest your self, He's safe for these three Hours.

Ferd. O most dear Mistress,
The Sun will set before I shall discharge What I must strive to do.

Mira. If you'll stir down,
I'll bear your Logs the while. Pray give me that,
I'll carry it to the Pile.
Fer. No, precious Creature,
I had rather crack my Sinews, break my Back,
Than you should such Dishonour undergo,
While I sit lazy by.

Mira. It would become me,
As well as it does you; and I should do it
With much more Ease; for my Good-will is to it,
And yours it is against.

Pro. Poor Worm, thou art infected,
This Visitation shews it.

Mira. You look wearily.

Fer. No, noble Mistress, 'tis fresh Morning with me,
When you are by at Night. I do beseech you,
Chiefly that I might set it in my Prayers,
What is your Name?

Mira. Miranda. O my Father,
I have broke your Heft to say so.

Fer. Admir'd Miranda!

Indeed the Top of Admiration, worth
What's dearest to the World; full many a Lady
I have ey'd with best Regard, and many a time
Th'Harmoony of their Tongues hath into Bondage
Brought my too diligent Ear; for several Virtues
Have I lik'd several Women, never any
With so full Soul; but some Defect in her
Did quarrel with the noblest Grace she ow'd,
And put it to the Foil. But you, O you,
So perfect, and so peerless, are created
Of every Creature's best.

Mira. I do not know.

One of my Sex; no Woman's Face remember,
Save, from my Glass, mine own; nor have I seen
More that I may call Men, than you good Friend,
And my dear Father; how Features are abroad
I am skilful of; but by my Modesty,
The Jewel in my Dower, I would not with Any Companion in the World but you;
Nor can Imagination form a Shape,
Besides your self, to like of; but I prattle
Something too wildly, and my Father's Precepts
The Tempest

I therein do forget.

Fer. I am, in my Condition,
A Prince, Miranda, I do think a King;
I would not so, and would no more endure
This wooden Slavery, than to suffer
The Fleas-fly blow my Mouth. Hear my Soul speak;
The very instant that I saw you, did
My Heart fly to your Service, there resides
To make me Slave to it, and for your sake
Am I this patient Log-man.

Mir. Do you love me?

Fer. O Heav'n, O Earth, bear Witness to this Sound,
And crown what I profess with kind Event,
If I speak true; if hollowly, invert
What best is loaded me, to Mischief; I,
Beyond all limit of what else i' th' World,
Do love, prize, honour you.

Mir. I am a Fool

To weep at what I am glad of.

Pro. Fair Encounter

Of two most rare Affections! Heav'n's rain Grace
On that which breeds between 'em.

Fer. Wherefore weep you?

Mir. At mine Unworthiness, that dare not offer
What I desire to give, and much less take
What I shall die to want: But this is trifling,
And all the more it seeks to hide it self,
The bigger Bulk it shews. Hence bashful Cunning,
And prompt me plain and holy Innocence.
I am your Wife, if you will marry me;
If not, I'll dye your Maid: To be your Fellow
You may deny me; but I'll be your Servant,
Whether you will or no.

Fer. My Mistress, dearest,
And I thus humble ever.

Mir. My Husband then?

Fer. Ay, with a Heart so willing
As Bondage e'er of Freedom; here's my Hand.

Mir. And mine, with my Heart in't; and now farewell
'Till half an Hour hence,
The Tempest.

Fer. A thousand, thousand.

Pro. So glad of this as they I cannot be, Who are surpriz'd with all; but my rejoicing
At nothing can be more. I'll to my Book,
For yet e'er Supper-time must I perform
Much Business appertaining. [Exit.

SCENE II.

Enter Caliban, Stephano and Trinculo.

Ste. Tell not me; when the Butt is out we will drink
Water, not a drop before; therefore bear up, and board 'em, Servant Monster; drink to me.

Trim. Servant Monster! the Folly of this Island! they say there's but five upon this Isle; we are three of them, if the other two be brain'd like us, the State totters.

Ste. Drink, Servant Monster, when I bid thee; thy Eyes are almost set in thy Head.

Trim. Where should they be set else; he were a brave Monster indeed if they were set in his Tail.

Ste. My Man-Monster hath drown'd his Tongue in Sack; for my Part the Sea cannot drown me. I t'wam, e'er I could recover the Shore, five and thirty Leagues, off and on; by this Light thou shalt be my Lieutenant, Monster, or my Standard.

Trim. Your Lieutenant, if you lift, he's no Standard.

Ste. We'll not run, Monsieur Monster.

Trim. Nor go neither; but you'll lye like Dogs, and yet say nothing neither.

Ste. Moon-calf, speak once in thy Life, if thou beest a good Moon-calf.

Cal. How does thy Honour? Let me lick thy Shoe; I'll not serve him, he is not valian'.

Trim. Thou left, most ignorant Monster, I am in case to juile a Constable; why, thou deboish'd Fish, thou, was there ever Man a Coward, that hath drunk so much Sack as I to Day? wilt thou tell me a monstrous Lie, being but half a Fish and half a Monster?

Cal. Lo, how he mocks me: Wilt thou let him, my Lord?

Trim.
Trin. Lord, quoth he! that a Monster should be such a Natural!

Cal. Lo, lo, again; bite him to Death, I prethee.

Ste. Trinculo, keep a good Tongue in your Head; if you prove a Mutineer, the next Tree — the poor Monster's my Subject, and he shall not suffer Indignity.

Cal. I thank my noble Lord. Will thou be pleas'd to hearken once again to the Suit I made to thee?

Ste. Marry will I; kneel and repeat it;
I will stand, and so shall Trinculo.

Enter Ariel invisible.

Cal. As I told thee before, I am Subject to a Tyrant, A Sorcerer, that by his Cunning hath cheated me Of the Island.

Ari. Thou liest:

Cal. Thou liest, thou jesting Monkey thou;
I would my valiant Master would destroy thee;
I do not lie.

Ste. Trinculo. if you trouble him any more in's Tale,
By this Hand, I will supplant some of your Teeth.

Trin. Why, I said nothing.

Ste. Mum then, and no more; proceed.

Cal. I say by Sorcery he got this Isle,
From me he got it. If thy Greatness will Revenge it on him, for I know thou dar'st,
But this Thing dare not.

Ste. That's most certain.

Cal. Thou shalt be Lord of it, and I'll serve thee.

Ste. How now shall this be compact?
Canst thou bring me to the Party?

Cal. Yea, yea, my Lord, I'll yield him thee asleep,
Where thou mayst knock a Nail into his Head.

Ari. Thou liest, thou canst not.

Cal. What a pyde Ninny's this? Thou scurvy Patch!
I do beseech thy Greatness give him Blows,
And take his Bottle from him; when that's gone,
He shall drink nought but Brine, for I'll not shew him Where the quick Frethes are.

Ste. Trinculo, run into no further Danger:
Interrupt the Monster one Word further, and by this Hand
I'll
I'll turn my Mercy out o' Doors, and make a Stock-fish of thee.

_Trim._ Why, what did I? I did nothing;
I'll go no further off.

_Ste._ Didst thou not say he ly'd?
_Ari._ Thou liest.

_Ste._ Do I so? Take thou that. [Beats him.

As you like this, give me the Lie another time.

_Trim._ I did not give thee the Lie; out o'your Wits and Hearing too?

A pox o'your Bottle, this can Sack and Drinking do:
A murrain on your Monster, and the Devil take your Fingers.

_Cal._ Ha, ha, ha.

_Ste._ Now forward with your Tale; prethee stand further off.

_Cal._ Beat him enough; after a little time
I'll beat him too.

_Ste._ Stand further; come, proceed.

_Cal._ Why, as I told thee, 'tis a Custom with him
I' th' Afternoon to sleep; there thou may'rt brain him,
Having first seiz'd his Books! or with a Log
Batter his Skull, or paunch him with a Stake,
Or cut his Wezand with thy Knife. Remember
First to possess his Books; for without them
He's but a Sot, as I am; nor hath not
One Spirit to command. They all do hate him:
As rookedly as I. Burn but his Books;
He has brave Utensils, for so he calls them,
Which when he has an House, he'll deck withal:
And what most deeply to consider, is
The Beauty of his Daughter; he himself
Calls her a Non-pareil: I never saw a Woman
But only Sycorax my Dam, and she;
But she as far surpasses Sycorax
As greatest does the least.

_Ste._ Is it so brave a Lads?

_Cal._ Ay, Lord; she will become thy Bed, I warrant,
And bring thee forth brave Brood.
The Tempest

Ste. Monster, I will kill this Man: His Daughter and I will be King and Queen, save our Graces: and Trinculo and thy self shall be Vice-Roys.

Doft thou like the Plot, Trinculo?

Trim. Excellent.

Ste. Give me thy Hand; I am sorry I beat thee:
But while thou liv'st keep a good Tongue in thy Head.

Cal. Within this half Hour will he be asleep;

Wilt thou destroy him then?

Ste. Ay, on my Honour.

Ari. This will I tell my Master.

Cal. Thou mak'st me merry; I am full of Pleasure;
Let us be jocund. Will you troubl the Catch
You taught me but whileare?

Ste. At thy Request, Monster I will do Reason,

And Reason: Come on, Trinculo let us sing. [Sing:

Flout 'em, and shout 'em; and shout 'em, and flout 'em;

Thought is free.

Cal. That's not the Tune.

[ariel plays the Tune on a Tabor and Pipe.

Ste. What is this same?

Trim. This is the Tune of our Catch, plaid by the Picture of No-body.

Ste. If thou be'st a Man, shew thy self in thy Likeness;
If thou be'st a Devil, take'rt as thou list.

Trim. O forgive me my Sins.

Ste. He that dies pays all Debts: I desire thee;

Mercy upon us!

Cal. Art thou afraid?

Ste. No, Monster, not I.

Cal. Be not afraid; the Isle is full of Noises,
Sounds, and sweet Airs, that give delight, and hurt not.

Sometimes a thousand twangling Instruments
Will hum about mine Ears; and sometimes Voices,

That if I then had wak'd after long Sleep,
Will make me sleep again; and then in dreaming,
The Clouds methought would open, and shew Riches
Ready to drop upon me, that when I wak'd

I cry'd to dream again.
The Tempest.

Ste. This will prove a brave Kingdom to me; Where I shall have my Mulick for nothing.
Cal. When Prospero is destroy'd.
Ste. That shall be by and by: I remember the Story.
Trim. The Sound is going away; Let's follow it, and after do our Work:
Ste. Lead, Monter; We'll follow. I would I could see this Taborer! He lays it on.
Trim. Wilt come? I'll follow Stephano. [Exeunt.

Scene III.

Enter Alonfo, Sebastian, Anthonio, Gonzalo, Adrian; Francisco, &c.

Gon. Ry'r lakin, I can go no further, Sir, My old Bones ake: Here's a Maze trod indeed Through Forth rights and Meanders: By your Patience, I needs must rest me.

Alon. Old Lord, I cannot blame thee, Who am my self attach'd with Weariness To th'dulling of my Spirits; sit down and rest: Even here I will put off my Hope, and keep it No longer for my Flatterer: He is drown'd, Whom thus we stray to find, and the Sea mocks Our frustrate Search on Land. Well, let him go.

Ant. I am right glad that he's so out of Hope. Do not, for one Repulse, forego the Purpose That you resolv'd t'effect.

Sib. The next Advantage will we take thoroughly.

Ant. Let it be to Night; For, now they are oppress'd with Travel, they Will not, nor cannot use such Vigilance As when they are fresh.

Solemn
Solemn and strange Musick, and Prospero on the Top invisible. Eater several strange Shapes, bringing in a Banquet; and dance about it with gentle Actions of Salutation, and inviting the King, &c. to eat, they depart.

Seb. I say to Night: No more.
Alon. What Harmony is this? My good Friends, hark!
Gon. Marvellous sweet Musick!
Alon. Give us kind Keepers, Heav'n; what are these?
Seb. A living Drollery. Now I will believe
That there are Unicorns; that in Arabia
There is one Tree, the Phoenix Throne, one Phoenix
At this Hour reigning there.
Alon. I will believe both:
And what does else want Credit, come to me,
And I'll be sworn 'tis true. Travellers ne'er did lie,
Though Fools at home condemn 'em.

Gon. If in Naples
I should report this now, would they believe me?
If I should say I saw such Islanders:
(For certes these are People of the Island)
Who tho' they are of monstrous Shape, yet note
Their Manners are more gentile, kind, than of Our human Generation you shall find Many, nay, almost any.

Pro. Honeste Lord,
Thou hast said well; for some of you there present
Are worse than Devils.

Alon. I cannot too much muse,
Such Shapes, such Gesture, and such Sound, expressing;
Although they want the use of Tongue, a kind
Of excellent dumb Discourse.

Pro. Praise in departing.

Fan. They vanish'd strangely.
Seb. No matter, since
They have left their Viands behind; for we have Stomachs:
Wilt please you taste of what is here?

Alon. Not I.

Gon. Faith Sir, you need not fear. When we were Boys,
Who would believe that there were Mountaineers,
Dew-lapt like Bulls, whose Throats had hanging at 'em
Wallets of Flesh? or that there were such Men Whose Heads stood in their Breasts! which now we find
Each Putter out of five for one will bring us
Good warrant of.

_Alon._ I will stand to, and feed,
Although my last; no matter, since I feel
The best is past. Brother, my Lord, the Duke,
Stand to, and do as we.

_Thunder and Lightning._ Enter Ariel like a Harpy, claps his Wings upon the Table, and with a quaint Device the Banquet vanishes.

_Ari._ You are three Men of Sin, whom Destiny,
That hath to Instrument this lower World,
And what is 'nt, the never-surfetted Sea
Hath caus'd to belch you up; and on this Island,
Where Man doth not inhabit, you 'mongst Men
Being most unfit to live: I have made you mad;
And even with such like Valour Men hang and drown
Their proper selves: You Fools, I and my Fellows
Are Ministers of Fate: the Elements
Of whom your Swords are temper'd, may as well
Wound the loud Winds, or with bemockt-at Stabs
Kill the still closing Waters, as diminish
One Dowle that's in my Plume: My Fellow-ministers
Are like invulnerable. If you could hurt,
Your Swords are now too maffie for your Strengths,
And will not be uplifted. But remember,
For that's my Business to you, that you three
From Milan did supplant good Prospero:
Expos'd unto the Sea, which hath requit it,
Him and his innocent Child: For which foul Deed
The Powers delaying, not forgetting, have Incens'd the Seas and Shores, yea, all the Creatures,
Against your Peace: Thee of thy Son, _Alonso_,
They have bereft; and do pronounce by me,
Lingring Perdition, worse than any Death
Can be at once, shall Step by Step attend
You and your Ways, whose Wraths to guard you from,

Which
Which here, in this most desolate Isle, else falls
Up on your Heads, is nothing but Heart’s-sorrow,
And a clear Life ensuing.

He vanishes in Thunder: Then, to soft Musick, Enter the Shapes again, and dance with Macks and Mowses, and carrying out the Table.

Pro. Bravely the Figure of this Harpy hast thou
Perform’d, my Ariel; a Grace it had devouring:
Of my Instruktion hast thou nothing bated
In what thou hast’d to say: So with good Life,
And Observation strange, my meaner Ministers
Their several Kinds have done; my high Charms work,
And these, mine Enemies, are all knit up
In their Distractions: They now are in my Power;
And in these Fits I leave them, whilst I visit
Young Ferdinand, whom they suppose is drown’d,
And his, and my lov’d Darling.

Gow. I th’ Name of something holy, Sir, why stand you
In this strange Stare?

Alon. O, it is monstrous! monstrous!
Methought the Billows spoke, and told me of it;
The Winds did sing it to me, and the Thunder,
That deep and dreadful Organ-pipe, pronounc’d
The Name of Prosper: It did bawse my Trespass, Therefore my Son I’ th’ Ooze is bedded; and I’ll seek him deeper than e’er Plummets founded,
And with him there Iye muddled.

Seb. But one Fiend at a time,
I’ll fight their Legions o’er.

Ant. I’ll be thy Second.

Gow. All three of them are desperate; their great Guilt,
Like Poison giv’n to work a great time after,
Now ‘gins to bite the Spirits. I do beseech you,
That are of suppler Joints, follow them swiftly,
And hinder them from what this Extasie
May now provoke them to.

Adri. Follow, I pray you.

ACT
Enter Prospero, Ferdinand, and Miranda.

Pro. If I have too austerely punish'd you,
Your Compensation makes Amends; for I
Have given you here a Third of mine own Life,
Or that for which I live; who once again
I tender to thy Hand: All thy Vexations
Were but my Trials of thy Love, and thou
Haft strangely flood the Test. Here afore Heav'n
I ratifie this my rich Gift: O Ferdinand,
Do not smil at me that I boast her off;
For thou shalt find she will out-strip all Praise,
And make it half behind her.

Fer. I do believe it
Against an Oracle.

Pro. Then, as my Gift, and thine own Acquisition
Worthily purchas'd, take my Daughter.
If thou dost break her Virgin-knot before
All sanctimonious Ceremonies may,
With full and holy Rite, be ministred,
No sweet Apsersion shall the Heav'n's let fall
To make this Contract grow: but barren Hate;
Sour-ey'd Disdain, and Discord shall bestrew
The Union of your Bed with Weeds so loathly
That you shall hate it both:. Therefore take heed,
As Hymen's Lamps shall light you.

Fer. As I hope
For quiet Days, fair Issue, and long Life,
With such Love as 'tis now; the murkiest Den,
The most opportune Place, the strong'st Suggestion,
Our worser Genius can, shall never melt
Mine Honour into Luft, to take away
The Edge of that Day's Celebration,
When I shall think or Phoebus Steeds are founder'd,
Or Night kept chain'd below.

Pro. Fairly spoke;
Sit then, and talk with her, she is thine own.
What, Ariel; my industrious Servant, Ariel.

Enter
Enter Ariel.

Ari. What would my potent Master? here I am.

Pro. Thou, and thy meaneer Fellows, your last Service Did worthily perform; and I must use you
In such another Trick; go bring the Rabble,
O'er whom I give thee Power, here, to this Place;
Incite them to quick Motion, for I must Bestow upon the Eyes of this young Couple
Some Vanity of mine Art; it is my Promise,
And they expect it from me.

Ari. Presently?

Pro. Ay, with a Twink.

Ari. Before you can say Come, and go,
And breathe twice; and cry, So, So;
Each one tripping on his Toe,
Will be here with Mop and Mow.

Do you love me, Master? No?

Pro. Dearly, my Delicate Ariel; do not approach
Till thou dost hear me call.

Ari. Well, I conceive. [Exit.

Pro. Look thou be true; do not give Dalliance
Too much the Rein; the strongest Oaths are Straw
To th' Fire 't' Blood: Be more Abstemious,
Or else good-night your Vow.

Fer. I warrant you, Sir,
The white cold Virgin-Snow upon my Heart,
Abates the Ardour of my Liver.

Pro. Well.

Now come my Ariel, bring a Corollary,
Rather than want a Spirit, appear, and pertly.

[Soft Music.

No Tongue; all Eyes; be silent.

Enter Iris.

Iris. Ceres, most beauteous Lady, the rich Leas
Of Wheat, Rye, Barley, Fitches, Oats, and Pease;
Thy turfie Mountains, where live nibling Sheep,
And flat Meads thatch'd with Stover, them to keep;
Thy Banks with pioned, and tulip'd Brims,
Which spongy April, at thy Heft berrims,

To
To make cold Nymphs chaste Crowns; and thy Broom-
Whose Shadow the dismissed Batchelor loves, [groves,
Being Lafs-lorn; thy pole-clipt Vineyard,
And thy Sea-marge steril, and rocky hard,
Where thou thy self do'ft air; the Queen o'th'Sky,
Whose watry Arch, and Messenger, am I,
Bids thee leave there, and with her Sov'raign Grace,
Here on this Grass-plot, in this very place

[Junō descends.

To come, and sport; her Peacocks fly amain:
Approach, rich Ceres, her to entertain.

Enter Ceres.

Cer. Hall many-colour'd Messenger, that ne'er
Do'ft disobey the Wife of Jupiter:
Who, with thy Saffron Wings, upon my Flowers
Diffus'd Honey Drops, refreshing Showers,
And with each end of thy blue Bow do'ft crown
My bosky Acres, and my unshrub'd Down,
Rich Scarf to my proud Earth; why hath thy Queen
Summon'd me hither, to this short-gráfs Green?

Iris. A Contract of true Love to celebrate,
And some Donation freely to estate
On the blest'd Lovers.

Cer. Tell me heav'nly Bow,
If Venus or her Son, as thou do'ft know,
Do now attend the Queen? since they did plot
The Means, that dusky Dis, my Daughter, got;
Her and her blind Boy's Scandal'd Company
I have forsworn.

Iris. Of her Society
Be not afraid; I met her Deity
Cutting the Clouds towards Paphos, and her Son
Dove-drawn with her; here thought they to have done
Some wanton Charm upon this Man and Maid,
Whose Vows are, that no Bed-right shall be paid
'Till Hymen's Torch be lighted; but in vain
Mars's hot Minion is return'd again;
Her waspish-headed Son has broke his Arrows,
Swears he will shoot no more, but play with Sparrows,
And be a Boy right-cut.

Cer.
Cer. Highest Queen of State,
Great Juno comes, I know her by her Gate.

Juno. How does my bounteous Sister? Go with me
To bless this Twain, that they may prosperous be,
And honour'd in their Issue. [They sing.

Jun. Honour, Riches, Marriage Blessing,
Long Continuance and increasing,
Hourly Joys be still upon you,
Juno sings her Blessings on you:
Earth's Increase, and Foyson plenty,
Barns and Graners never empty,
Vines, with clustering Bunches growing,
Plants, with goodly Burthen bowing:
Spring come to you at the farthest,
In the very End of Harvest:
Scarcity and Want shall shun you,
Ceres Blessing so is on you.

Fer. This is a most majestic Vision, and Harmonious charmingly; may I be bold
To think these Spirits?

Pro. Spirits which by mine Art
I have from all their Confines call'd, t'enact
My present Fancies.

Fer. Let me live here ever;
So rare a wonder'd Father, and a Wife,
Makes this place Paradise.

Pro. Sweet now, Silence:
Juno and Ceres whisper seriously;
There's something else to do; hush, and be mute,
Or else our Spell is marr'd.

Juno and Ceres whisper, and send Iris on Employment.

Iris. You Nymphs call'd Nymphes of the winding Brooks,
With your splendid Crowns, and ever-harmless Looks,
Leave your crimp Channels, and on this Green-land
Answer your Summons, Juno does Command:
Come, temperate Nymphs, and help to celebrate
A Contract of true Love; be not too late.
Enter certain Nymphs.

You Sun-burn’d Sicklemen, of August weary,
Come hither from the Furrow, and be merry;
Make Holy-day; your Rye-straw Hats put on,
And these fresh Nymphs encounter every one
In Country footing.

Enter certain Reapers, properly habited; they join with the Nymphs in a graceful Dance; towards the end whereof Prospero starts suddenly, and speaks; after which to a strange, hollow and confused Noise, they heavily vanish.

Pro. I had forgot that foul Conspiracy
Of the Beast Caliban, and his Confederates,
Against my Life; the Minute of their Plot
Is almost come. Well done, avoid; no more.

Fer. This is strange; your Father’s in some Passion
That works him strongly.

Mir. Never ’till this Day

Saw I him touch’d with Anger, so distemper’d.

Pro. You do look, my Son, in a mov’d fort,
As if you were dismay’d; be cheerful, Sir,
Our Revels now are ended: These our Actors,
As I foretold you, were all Spirits, and
Are melted into Air, into thin Air;
And like the baseless Fabrick of their Vision,
The Cloud-capt Towers, the gorgeous Palaces,
The solemn Temples, the great Globe it self,
Yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve,
And like this insubstantial Pageant faded,
Leave not a Rack behind; we are such Stuff
As Dreams are made on, and our little Life
Is rounded with a Sleep. Sir, I am vext;
Bear with my Weakness, my old Brain is troubled:
Be not disturb’d with my Infirmity;
If thou be pleas’d, retire into my Cell,
And there repose; a Turn or two I’ll walk
To still my beating Mind.

Fer. Mir. We wish you Peace.

Pro. Come with a Thought; I thank thee, Ariel: Come.

Enter
Enter Ariel.

Ari. Thy Thoughts I cleave to; what's thy Pleasure?

Pro. Spirit, we must prepare to meet with Caliban.

Ari. Ay, my Commander, when I present'd Ceres
I thought to have told thee of it, but I fear'd
Left I might anger thee.

Pro. Say again, where didst thou leave these Varlets?

Ari. I told you, Sir, they were red hot with drinking;
So full of Valour, that they smote the Air
For breathing in their Faces; beat the Ground
For kissing of their Feet; yet always bending
Towards their Project: Then I beat my Tabor,
At which, like unback'd Colts, they pricket their Ears,
Advanc'd their Eye-lids, lifted up their Noses,
As they smelt Musick; so I charm'd their Ears,
That, Calf-like, they my Lowing follow'd through Tooth'd Briars, sharp Furzes, pricking Gos and Thorns,
Which enter'd their frail Shins: At last I left them
I'ch filthy mantled Pool beyond your Cell,
There dancing up to th' Chins, that the foul Lake
O'er-funk their Feet.

Pro. This was well done, my Bird;
Thy Shape invisible retain thou still;
The Trumpery in my House, go bring it hither,
For stale to catch these Thieves.

Ari. I go, I go. [Exit.

Pro. A Devil, a born Devil, on whose Nature
Nurture can never stick; on whom my Pains,
Humanly taken, all, all lost, quite lost;
And as, with Age, his Body uglier grows,
So his Mind cankers; I will plague them all,
Even to roaring: Come, hang on them this Line.

Enter Ariel loaden with glistening Apparel, &c. Enter Caliban, Stephano, and Trinculo, all wet.

Cal. Pray you tread softly, that the blind Mole may not Hear a Foot fall; we now are near his Cell.

Ste. Monst're, your Fairy, which you say is a harmless Fairy,
Has done little better than plaid the Jack with us.

Trim. Monst're, I do smell all Horse-pis, at which My Nose is in great Indignation.

D 2

Ste.
Ste. So is mine: Do you hear, Monster? If I should Take a Displeasure against you; look you——

Trin. Thou wert but a lost Monster.

Cal. Good my Lord, give me thy Favour still:
Be patient, for the Peirs, I'll bring thee to
Shall hood-wink this Mischance; therefore speak softly;
All's hush’d as Midnight yet.

Trin. Ay, but to lose our Bottles in the Pool.

Ste. There is not only Disgrace, and Dishonour in that,
Monster, but an infinite Loss.

Trin. That's more to me than my wetting:
Yet this is your harmless Fairy, Monster.

Ste. I will fetch off my Bottle,
Tho' I be o'er Ears for my Labour.

Cal. Prethee, my King, be quiet: Seeest thou here,
This is the Mouth o' th' Cell; no Noise, and enter;
Do that good Mischief which may make this Island
Thine own for ever; and I, thy Caliban,
For ay thy Fcot-licker.

Ste. Give me thy Hand;
I do begin to have bloody Thoughts.

Trin. O King Stephano! O Peer! O worthy Stephano!

Look what a Wardrobe here is for thee.

Cal. Let it alone, thou Fool, it is but Trash.

Trin. Oh, ho, Monster; we know what belongs to a Frippery, O King Stephano.

Ste. Put off that Gown, Trinculo, by this Hand I'll have that Gown.

Trin. Thy Grace shall have it.

Cal. The Dropie drown this Fool; what do you mean
To doat thus on such Luggage? Let's alone,
And do the Murder first: If he awake,
From Toe to Crown he'll fill our Skins with Pinches;
Make us strange Stuff.

Ste. Be you quiet, Monster. Mistress Line, is not this my Jerkin? Now is the Jerkin under the Line: Now Jerkin you are like to lose your Hair, and prove a bald Jerkin.

Trin. Do, do; we steal by Line and Level, and 't like your Grace.
The Tempest. 53

Ste. I thank thee for that Jefl, here's a Garment for't; Wit shall not go unrewarded while I am King of this Country: Steal by Line and Level, is an excellent Pafs of Pate; there's another Garment for't.

Trin. Monfter, come put fome Lime upon your Fi- ngers, and away with the refi.

Cal. I will have none o'n; we fhall lose our Time, And all be turn'd to Barnacles, or to Apes, With Foreheads villainous low.

Ste. Monfter, lay to your Fingers; help to bear this a-way, where my Hoghead of Wine is, or I'll turn you out of my Kingdom; go to, carry this.

Trin. And this.

Ste. Ay, and this.

A Noise of Hunters heard. Enter divers Spirits in shape of Houmes, hunting them about; Prospero and Ariel fetting them on.

Pro. Hey Mountain, hey.

Ari. Silver; there it goes, Silver.

Pro. Fury, Fury; there Tyrant, there; hark, hark;
Go, charge my Goblins that they grind their Joints With dry Convulsions, shorten up their Sinews With aged Cramps, and more pinch-spotted make them, Than Pard, or Cat o' Mountain.

Ari. Hark, they roar.

Pro. Let them be hunted soundly. At this Hour Lye at my Mercy all mine Enemies:
Shortly fhall all my Labours end, and thou Shalt have the Air at Freedom; for a little Follow, and do me Service. [Exeunt.

ACT V. SCENE I.

Enter Prospero in his Magick Robes, and Ariel.

Pro. Now does my Project gather to a head;
My Charms crack not; my Spirits obey, and Time Goes upright with his Carriage: How's the Day?

D 3

Ari.
Ari. On the sixth Hour, at which time, my Lord,
You said our Work should cease.

Pro. I did say so

When first I rais'd the Tempest; say, my Spirit,
How fares the King and's Followers?

Ari. Confin'd together

In the same Fashion as you gave in charge,
Just as you left them, all Prisoners. Sir,
In the Lime-Grove which weather-fends your Cell.
They cannot budge 'till your release. The King,
His Brother, and yours, abide all three distracted;
And the remainder mourning over them.

Erim-full of Sorrow and Dismay; but chiefly
Him that you term'd, Sir, the good old Lord Gonzalo.

His Tears run down his Beard, like Winter Drops
From Eaves of Reeds; your Charm so strongly works 'em,
That if you now behold them, your Affections
Would become tender.

Pro. Do'ft thou think so, Spirit?

Ari. Mine would, Sir, were I human.

Pro. And mine shall.

Haft thou, which art but Air, a Touch, a Feeling
Of their Afflictions, and shall not my self,

One of their Kind, that relish all as sharply
Passion as they, be kindlier mov'd than thou art?
Tho' with their high Wrongs I am struck to th' quick;

Yet, with my nobler Reason, 'gainst my Fury,
Do I take part; the rarer Action is
In Virtue than in Vengeance; they being penitent,
The sole Drift of my Purposè doth extend
Not a Frown further: Go release them, Ariel;
My Charms I'll break, their Senfes I'll restore,
And they shall be themselves.

Ari. I'll fetch them, Sir.

[Exit.

Pro. Ye Elves of Hills, Brooks, standing Lakes and Groves,
And ye that on the Sands with printles Foot
Do chase the ebbing Neptune, and do fly him
When he comes back; you Demy Puppets that
By Moon shine do the green four Ringlets make,
Whereof the Ewe not bites; and you whose Pastime
To hear the solemn Curfew, by whose Aid,
Weak Masters tho' ye be, I have be-dimm'd
The Noon-tide Sun, call'd forth the mutinous Winds,
And 'twixt the green Sea and the azur'd Vault
Set roaring War; To the dread ratling Thunder
Have I given Fire, and rifled Jove's stout Oak
With his own Bolt: The strong bas'd Promontory
Have I made shake, and by the Spurs pluckt up
The Pine and Cedar: Graves at my Command
Have wak'd their Sleepers, op'd, and let 'em forth
By my so potent Art. But this rough Magick
I here abjure; and when I have requir'd
Some heav'nly Musick, which even now I do,
To work mine end upon their Senses, that
This airy Charm is for, I'll break my Staff,
Bury it certain Fadoms in the Earth,
And deeper than did ever Plummet found
I'll drown my Book.                     [Solemn Musick.

Here enters Ariel before; then Alonso with a franckick Geiture, attended by Gonzalo. Sebastian and Anthonio in like manner, attended by Adrian and Francisco. They all enter the Circle which Prospero had made, and there stand charm'd; which Prospero observing, speaks:

A solemn Air, and the best Comforter
To an unsettle Fancy, cure thy Brains,
Now useless, boil'd within thy Skull; there stand,
For you are spell-stopt.
Holy Gonzalo, honourable Man,
Mine Eyes, even sociable to the shew of thine,
Fall fellowowy Drops: The Charm dissolves apace,
And as the Morning steals upon the Night,
Melting the Darkness, so their rising Senses
Begin to chase the ignorant Fumes that mantle
Their clearer Reason. O good Gonzalo,
My true Preserver, and a loyal Sir
To him thou follow'st; I will pay thy Graces
Home both in Word and Deed. Moft cruelly
Didst thou, Alonso, use me, and my Daughter:

D4

Thy
Thy Brother was a Furtherer in the Act;
Thou'rt pinch'd for't now, Sebastian. Flesh and Blood,
You, Brother mine, that entertain'd Ambition,
Expell'd Remorse and Nature, who with Sebastian,
Whose inward Pinches therefore are most strong,
Would here have kill'd your King; I do forgive thee,
Unnatural though thou art. Their Understanding
Begin's to fail, and the approaching Tide
Will shortly fill the reasonable Shore,
That now is full and muddy. Not one of them
That yet looks on me, or would know me; Ariel,
Fetch me the Hat, and Rapier in my Cell;
I will discourse me, and myself present,
As I was sometime Milan: Quickly, Spirit;
Thou shalt e'er long be free,

Ariel sings, and helps to attire him.

Where the Bee sucks, there suck I;
In a Cowslip's Bell I lye:
There I couch when Owls do cry.
On the Bat's Back I do fly
After Summer merrily.
Merrily, merrily, shall I live now,
Under the Blossom that hangs on the Bough.

Pro. Why that's my dainty Ariel; I shall miss thee;
But yet thou shalt have Freedom. So, so, so.
To the King's Ship, invisible as thou art;
There shalt thou find the Mariners asleep
Under the Hatches; the Master and the Boatswain;
Being awake, enforce them to this Place,
And presently, I prethee.

Ari. I drink the Air before me, and return
Or e'er your Pulse twice beat.

Exit.

Gon. All Torment, Trouble, Wonder and Amazement
Inhabits here; some heav'nly Power guide us
Out of this fearful Country.

Pro. Behold, Sir King,
The wronged Duke of Milan, Prospero;
For more Assurance that a living Prince

Does
Does now speak to thee, I embrace thy Body.
And to thee, and thy Company, I bid
A hearty Welcome.

Alon. Where thou beest he or no,
Or some enchant'd Trifle to abuse me,
As late I have been, I not know; thy Pulse
Beats as of Flesh and Blood, and since I saw thee
Th' Affliction of my Mind amends, with which
I fear a Madness held me; this must crave,
And if this be at all, a most strange Story:
Thy Dukedom I resign, and do intreat
Thou pardon me my Wrongs; But how should Prospero
Be living, and be here?

Pro. First, noble Friend,
Let me embrace thine Age, whose Honour cannot
Be measur'd, or confin'd.

Gon. Whether this be,
Or be not, I'll not swear.

Pro. You do yet taste
Some Subtilities o' th' Idle, that will not let you Believe things certain: Welcome, my Friends all;
But you, my brace of Lords, were I so minded,
I here could pluck his Highness Frown upon you,
And justifie you Traitors; at this time
I will tell no Tales.

Seb. The Devil speaks in him.

Pro. No!

For you, most wicked Sir, whom to call Brother
Would even infect my Mouth, I do forgive
Thy rankest Faults; all of them; and require
My Dukedom of thee, which perforce I know
Thou must restore.

Alou. If thou beest Prospero,
Give us Particulars of thy Preservation,
How thou hast met us here, who three Hours since
Were wrack't upon this Shore? where I have lost, (How sharp the Point of this Remembrance is!)
My dear Son Ferdinand.

Pro. I am wo from Sir.

D s

Alon.
Alon. Irreparable is the Loss, and Patience
Says, it is past her Cure.

Pro. I rather think
You have not sought her Help, of whose soft Grace,
For the like Loss, I have her Sovereign Aid,
And rest my self content,

Alon. You the like Loss?

Pro. As great to me, as late, and insupportable
To make the dear Loss, have I Means much weaker
Than you may call to comfort you; for I
Have lost my Daughter.

Alon. A Daughter?

O Heav'ns! that they were living both in Naples,
The King and Queen there; that they were, I wish
My self were muddied in that Oozy Bed
Where my Son lies. When did you lose your Daughter?

Pro. In this last Tempest. I perceive these Lords
At this Encounter do so much admire,
That they devour their Reason, and scarce think
Their Eyes do Offices of Truth, their Words
Are natural Breath; but howsoever you have Been juxted from your Senses, know for certain
That I am Prospero, and that very Duke
Which was thrust forth of Milan, who most strangely
Upon this Shore, where you were wrackt, was landed
To be the Lord on't. No more yet of this;
For 'tis a Chronicle of Day by Day,
Not a Relation for a Breakfast, nor Befitting this first Meeting. Welcome, Sir;
This Cell's my Court; here have I few Attendants,
And Subjects none abroad; pray you look in;
My Dukedom since you have given me again,
I will requite you with as good a thing,
At least, bring forth a Wonder, to content ye,
As much as me my Dukedom.

Here Prospero discovers Ferdinand and Miranda playing at Chess.

Mira. Sweet Lord, you play me false.

Fer. No, my dearest Love,
I would not for the World.
Mira. Yes, for a score of Kingdoms you should wrangle,
And I would call it fair Play.

Alon. If this prove
A Vison of the Island, one dear Son
Shall I twice lose.

Seb. A most high Miracle.

Fer. Though the Seas threaten, they are merciful:
I have curs'd them without Cause.

Alon. Now all the Blessings
Of a glad Father compass thee about;
Arise, and say how thou canst here.

Mira. O! Wonder!
How many goodly Creatures are there here?
How beauteous Mankind is! O brave new World,
That has such People in't.

Pro. 'Tis new to thee.

Alon. What is this Maid, with whom thou wast at play?
Your eld'ft Acquaintance cannot be three Hours:
Is she the Goddess that hath sever'd us,
And brought us thus together?

Fer. Sir, she is Mortal;
But by Immortal Providence she's mine;
I chose her when I could not ask my Father
For his Advice; nor thought I had one: She
Is Daughter to this famous Duke of Millan,
Of whom so often I have heard Renown,
But never saw before; of whom I have Receiv'd a second Life; and second Father
This Lady makes him to me.

Alon. I am hers;
But O, how odly will it sound, that I
Must ask my Child Forgiveness?

Pro. There, Sir, stop;
Let us not burthen our Remembrance with
An Heaviness that's gone.

Gon. I have inly wept,
Or should have spoke e'er this. Look down, you Gods,
And on this Couple drop a blessed Crown:
For it is you that have chalk'd forth the Way
Which brought us hither.

Alon.

Gon. Was Millan thrift from Millan, that his Illue
Should become Kings of Naples! O rejoice
Beyond a common Joy. and let it down
With Gold on lasting Pillars: In one Voyage
Did Claribel her Husband find at Tunis;
And Ferdinand, her Brother, found a Wife,
Where he himself was lost; Prospero his Dukedom,
In a poor Isle; and all of us, our selves,
When no Man was his own.

Amen. Give me your Hands:
Let Grief and Sorrow still embrace his Heart,
That doth not wish you Joy.

Gon. Be it so, Amen.

Enter Ariel, with the Master and Boatswain amazedly following.

O look Sir, look Sir. here is more of us!
I prophesy'd, if a Gallows were on Land
This Fellow could not drown: Now, Blasphemy,
That I swear't Grace o'er-board, not an Oath on Shore.
Haft thou no Mouth by Land?
What is the News?

Boat. The best News is, that we have safely found
Our King and Company; the next, our Ship,
Which but three Glasses since we gave out split,
Is tight and yare, and bravely rigg'd, as when
We first put out to Sea.

Ari. Sir, all this Service
Ha'e I done since I went.

Pro. My trickley Spirit.

Amen. These are not natural Events; they strengthen
From strange to stranger: Say, how came you hither?

Boat. If I did think, Sir. I were well awake,
I'd strive to tell you: We were dead of sleep,
And, how we know not, all clapt under Hatches,
Where, but even now, with strange and several Noises
Of roaring, shrieking, howling, gingling Chains,
And more diversity of Sounds, all horrible,
We were awak'd; straightway at Liberty;
Where we, in all our Trim, freshly beheld.
Our royal, good, and gallant Ship: our Master
Caping to eye her; on a trice, so please you,
Even in a Dream, were we divided from them,
And were brought moping hither.

_Ari._ Was't well done?

_Pro._ Bravely, my Diligence; thou shalt be free.

_Alon._ This is as strange a Maze as e'er Men trod,
And there is in this business more than Nature
Was ever Conduct of; some Oracle
Must rectifie our Knowledge.

_Pro._ Sir, my Liege,
Do not infest your Mind with beating on
The strangenes of this Business; at pickt Leisure,
Which shall be shortly, single I'll resolve you,
Which to you shall seem probable, of every
These happen'd Accidents; 'till when, be cheerfull,
And think of each thing well. Come hither, Spirit;
Set Caliban and his Companions free:

_Untie the Spell._ How fares my gracious Sir?
There are yet missing of your Company
Some few odd Lads, that you remember not.

Enter Ariel, driving in Caliban, Stephano, and Trinculo, in their stollen Apparel.

_Ste._ Every Man shift for all the rest, and let
No Man take care for himself; for all is
But Fortune; Coragio, Bully-Monter, Coragio.

_Trim._ If these be true Spirits which I wear in my Head,

_Here's a goodly Sight._

_Cal._ O Setebos, these be brave Spirits indeed!

_How fine my Master is! I am afraid
He will chaitise me._

_Seb._ Ha, ha;

What things are these, my Lord Antonio!

_Will Mony buy 'em?_

_Ant._ Very like; one of them

Is a plain Filth, and no doubt marketable.

_Pro._ Mark but the Badget of these Men, my Lords,
Then say if they be true: This mithapen Knave,
His Mother was a Witch, and one so strong
That could controul the Moon, make Flows and Ebbs,
And deal in her Command without her Power:
These three have robb'd me, and this Demy-Devil,
For he's a Bastard one, had plotted with them
To take my Life; two of these Fellows you Must know and own, this thing of Darkness I Acknowledge mine.

Cal. I shall be pincht to Death.

Alon. Is not this Stephano, my drunken Butler?
Seb. He is drunk now:
Where had he Wine?

Alon. And Trinculo is reeling-ripe; where should they Find this grand Liquor that hath gilded 'em?
How cam'ft thou in this pickle?

Trin. I have been in such a pickle since I saw you last,
That I fear me will never out of my Bones:
I shall not fear fly-blowing.

Seb. Why, how now Stephano?

Ste. O touch me not: I am not Stephano, but a Cramp.

Pro. You'd be King o' th' Isle, Sirrah?

Ste. I should have been a fore one then.

Alon. 'Tis a strange thing as e'er I look'd on.

Pro. He is as disproportion'd in his Manners
As in his Shape: Go, Sirrah, to my Cell,
Take with you your Companions; as you look
To have my Pardon, trim it handsomely.

Cal. Ay, that I will; and I'll be wife hereafter,
And seek for Grace. What a thric'e double Ais
Where I have hope to see the Nuptials
Of these our dear-beloved solemniz'd;
And thence retire me to my Millan, where Every third Thought shall be my Grave.

Alon. I long
To hear the Story of your Life, which must Take the Ear strangely.

Pro. I'll deliver all,
And promise you calm Seas, auspicious Gales,
And Sail so expeditious, that shall catch
Your Royal Fleet far off: My Ariel, Chick,
That is thy Charge; then to the Elements
Be free, and fare thou well. Please you draw near.

[Exeunt omnes.]

Gon. Was Millan thrust from Millan, that his Issue
Should become Kings of Naples! O rejoice
Beyond a common Joy, and set it down
With Gold on lading Pillars: In one Voyage

EPI-EPILLOGUE,

Spoken by Prospero.

NOW my Charms are all o'er-thrown,
And what Strength I have's mine own,
Which is most faint: Now'tis true
I must be here confin'd by you,
Or sent to Naples. Let me not,
Since I have my Dukedom got,
And pardon'd the Deceiver, dwell
In this bare Island by your Spell;
But release me from my Bands,
With the help of your good Hands.
Gentle Breath of yours, my Sails
Must fill, or else my Project fails,
Which was to please. Now I want
Spirits to enforce, Art to enchant;
And my ending is Despair,
Unless I be reliev'd by Prayer;
Which pierces so, that it assaults
Mercy it self, and frees all Faults.
As you from Crimes would pardon'd be,
Let your Indulgence set me free.
THE TWO GENTLEMEN
COMEDY.

Printed in the YEAR MDCCXIV.
Dramatis Personae.

Duke, Father to Silvia.
Valentine, Protheus, the two Gentlemen.
Anthonio, Father to Protheus.
Thurio, a foolish Rival to Valentine.
Eglamore, Agent for Silvia in her Escape.
Host, where Julia lodges.
Out-laws with Valentine.
Speed, a clownish Servant to Valentine.
Launce, the like to Protheus.
Panthion, Servant to Anthonio.

Julia, beloved of Protheus.
Silvia, beloved of Valentine.
Lucetta, Waiting-woman to Julia.
Enter Valentine and Proteus.

VALENTINE.

EASE to persuade, my loving Proteus;
Home-keeping Youth have ever homely Wits;
Wert not Affection chains thy tender Days,
To the sweet Glances of thy honour'd Love,
I rather would intreat thy Company,
To see the Wonders of the World abroad,
Than, living dully sluggardiz'd at home,
Wear out thy Youth with shapeless Idleness,
But since thou lov'st, love still, and thrive therein,
Even as I would when I to love begin.
Pro. Wilt thou be gone? Sweet Valentine, adieu;
Think on thy Protheus, when thou haply seest
Some rare Note-worthy Object in thy Travel;
With me Partaker in thy Happiness
When thou dost meet good Hap; and in thy Danger,
If ever Danger do environ thee,
Commend thy Grievance to my holy Prayers;
For I will be thy Bead's-man, Valentine.
Val. And on a Love-book pray for my Success?
Pro. Upon some Book I love I'll pray for thee.
Val. That's on some shallow Story of deep Love,
How young Leander cross'd the Hellepeont.
Pro. That's a deep Story of a deeper Love;
For he was more than over Shoes in Love.
Val. 'Tis true; for you are over Boots in Love,
And yet you never swom the Hellepeont.
Pro. Over the Boots? Nay, give me not the Boots.
Val. No, I will not; for it boots thee not.
Pro. What?
Val. To be in Love where Scorn is bought with Groans, Coy Looks, with heart-sore Sighs; one fading Moment's
With twenty watchful, weary, tedious Nights, [Mirth,
If haply won, perhaps an hapless Gain:
If lost, why then a grievous Labour won;
However, but a Folly bought with Wit,
Or else a Wit by Folly vanquished.
Pro. So, by your Circumstance, you call me Fool.
Val. So, by your Circumstance, I fear you'll prove.
Pro. 'Tis Love you cavil at; I am not Love.
Val. Love is your Master; for he masters you.
And he that is so yoked by a Fool,
Methinks should not be chronicled for Wise.
Pro. Yet Writers say, as in the sweetest Bud
The eating Canker dwells; so eating Love
Inhabits in the finest Wits of all.
Val. And Writers say, as the most forward Bud
Is eaten by the Canker, e'er it blow;
Even so by Love the young and tender Wit.
Is turn'd to Folly, blasting in the Bud,
Leaves his Verdure even in the Prime.
And all the fair Effects of future Hopes.
But wherefore waste I Time to counsel thee,
That art a Votary to fond Desire?
Once more adieu: My Father at the Road
Expects my coming, there to see me shipp'd.
   Pro. And thither will I bring thee, Valentine.
   Val. Sweet Proteus, no: Now let us take our Leave.
At Millan let me hear from thee by Letters
Of thy Success in Love; and what News else
Berideth here in Absence of thy Friend:
And I likewise will visit thee with mine.
   Pro. All Happiness bechance to thee in Millan.
   Val. As much to you at home; and so farewell. [Exit.
   Pro. He after Honour hunt, I after Love;
He leaves his Friends, to dignifie them more;
I love my self, my Friends, and all for Love.
Thou Julia, thou hast metamorphos'd me;
Made me neglect my Studies, lose my Time,
War with good Counsel, set the World at nought;
Madé Wit; with Muling, weak; Heart sick, with Thought.
   Enter Speed.
   Speed. Sir Proteus, save you; saw you my Master?
   Pro. But now he parted hence to embark for Millan.
   Speed. Twenty to one then he is shipp'd already,
And I have plaid the Sheep in losing him.
   Pro. Indeed a Sheep doth very often stray,
And if the Shepherd be a while away.
   Speed. You conclude that my Master is a Shepherd then, and 'tis a Sheep?
   Pro. I do.
   Speed. Why then my Horns are his Horns, whether I wake or sleep.
   Pro. A silly Answer, and fitting well a Sheep.
   Speed. This proves me still a Sheep.
   Pro. True; and thy Master a Shepherd.
   Speed. Nay, that I can deny by a Circumstance.
   Pro. It shall go hard but I'll prove it by another.
   Speed. The Shepherd secks the Sheep, and not the Sheep the Shepherd; but I seek my Master, and my Master secks not me; therefore I am no Sheep.

   Pro.
The Two Gentlemen

Pro. The Sheep for Fodder follow the Shepherd, the Shepherd for Food follows not the Sheep; thou for Wages followest thy Matter, thy Matter for Wages follows not thee; therefore thou art a Sheep.

Speed. Such another Proof will make me cry Bna.

Pro. But dost thou hear? gavest thou my Letter to Julian?

Speed. Ay, Sir; I, a loft-Mutton, gave your Letter to her, a lac'd-Mutton; and she, a lac'd-Mutton, gave me, a loft-Mutton, nothing for my Labour.

Pro. Here's too small a Pasture for such store of Muttons.

Speed. If the Ground be over-charg'd, you were best stick her.

Pro. Nay, in that you are astray; 'twere best pound you.

Speed. Nay, Sir, less than a Pound shall serve me for carrying your Letter.

Pro. You mistake; I mean the Pound, a Pin-fold.

Speed. From a Pound to a Pin? fold it over and over, 'Tis threefold too little for carrying a Letter to your Lover.

Pro. But what said she?

Speed. I.

Speed. You mistook, Sir, I said she did nod:
And you ask me if she did nod, and I said, Ay.

Pro. And that set together, is Noddy.

Speed. Now you have taken the Pains to set it togeth-er, take it for your Pains.

Pro. No, no, you shall have it for bearing the Letter.

Speed. Well, I perceive I must be fain to bear with you.

Pro. Why, Sir, how do you bear with me?

Speed. Marry, Sir, the Letter very orderly,
Having nothing but the Word Noddy for my Pains,

Pro. Beshrew me, but you have a quick Wit.

Speed. And yet it cannot overtake your slow Purse.

Pro. Come, come, open the Matter in brief; what said she?

Speed. Open your Purse, that the Mony and the Matter may be both deliver'd.

Pro.
Pro. Well, Sir, here is for your Pains, what said she?
Speed. Truly, Sir, I think you'll hardly win her.
Pro. Why? couldst thou perceive so much from her?
Speed. Sir, I could perceive nothing at all from her;
No, not so much as a Ducket for delivering your Letter.
And being so hard to me that brought your Mind,
I fear she'll prove as hard to you in telling her Mind.
Give her no Token but Stones; for she's as hard as Steel.
Pro. What said she, nothing?
Speed. No, not so much as Take this for thy Pains:
To testify your Bounty, I thank you, you have testern'd me:
In requital whereof, henceforth carry your Letter your Self: And so, Sir, I'll commend you to my Master.
Pro. Go, go, be gone, to save your Ship from wrack,
Which cannot perish, having thee aboard,
Being destin'd to a drier Death on Shore.
I must go send some better Messenger:
I fear my Julia would not deign my Lines,
Receiving them from such a worthless Post. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Julia and Lucetta.

Jul. But say, Lucetta, now we are alone,
Wouldst thou then counsel me to fall in Love?
Luc. Ay, Madam, so you stumble not unheedfully.
Jul. Of all the fair Resort of Gentlemen,
That every Day with Parle encounter me,
In thy Opinion which is worthiest Love?
Luc. Please you repeat their Names, I'll shew my Mind,
According to my Shallow simple Skill.
Jul. What think'st thou of the fair Sir Eglamour?
Luc. As of a Knight well spoken, neat and fine;
But were I you, he never should be mine.
Jul. What think'st thou of the rich Mercatio!
Luc. Well of his Wealth, but of himself so, so.
Jul. What think'st thou of the gentle Frothens?
Luc. Lord, Lord! to see what Folly reigns in us.
Jul. How now? what means this Passion at his Name?
Luc. Pardon, dear Madam; 'tis a passing Shame,
That I, unworthy Body as I am,
Should cenfure thus on lovely Gentlemen.

Jul. Why not on Protheus, as of all the rest?
Luc. Then thus; of many good, I think him best.

Jul. Your Reason?
Luc. I have no other but a Woman’s Reason;
I think him so, because I think him so.

Jul. And wouldst thou have me cast my Love on him?
Luc. Ay, if you thought your Love not cast away.

Jul. Why he, of all the rest, hath never mov’d me.
Luc. Yet he, of all the rest, I think best loves ye.

Jul. His little speaking shews his Love but small.
Luc. Fire that’s cloest kept burns most of all.

Jul. They do not love that do not shew their Love.
Luc. Oh, they love least that let Men know their Love.

Jul. I would I knew his Mind.
Luc. Peruse this Paper, Madam.

Jul. To Julia; say, from whom?
Luc. That the Contents will shew.

Jul. Say, say; who gave it thee?
Luc. Sir Valentine’s Page; and sent, I think, from Protheus.
He would have given it you, but I being in the Way,
Did in your Name receive it; pardon the Fault, I pray.

Jul. Now, by my Modesty, a godly Broker;
Dare you presume to harbour wanton Lines?
To whisper and conspire against my Youth?
Now trust me, ’tis an Office of great Worth;
And you an Officer fit for the Place.
There; take the Paper; see it be return’d,
Or else return no more into my Sight.

Luc. To plead for Love deserves more Fee than Hate.

Jul. Will ye be gone?

Luc. That you may ruminate.

Jul. And yet I would I had o’er-look’d the Letter.
It were a shame to call her back again,
And pray her to a Fault, for which I chid her.
What Fool is she that knows I am a Maid,
And would not force the Letter to my View?
Since Maids, in Modesty, say No to that

Which
Which they would have the Profferer construe, Ay.
Fie, fie; how way-ward is this foolish Love,
That, like a testy Babe, will scratch the Nurse,
And presently, all humbled, kiss the Rod?
How churlishly I chid Lucetta hence,
When willingly I would have had her here?
How angrily I taught my Brow to frown,
When inward Joy enforc’d my Heart to smile?
My Penance is, to call Lucetta back,
And ask Remission for my Folly past.
What ho! Lucetta!

Re-enter Lucetta.

Luc. What would your Ladyship?

Ful. Is’t near Dinner-time?

Luc. I would it were,

That you might kill your Stomach on your Meat,

And not upon your Maid.

Ful. What is’t that you

Took up so gingerly?

Luc. Nothing.

Ful. Why didst thou stoop then?

Luc. To take a Paper up that I let fall.

Ful. And is that Paper nothing?

Luc. Nothing concerning me.

Ful. Then let it lye for those that it concerns:

Luc. Madam, it will not lye where it concerns,

Unless it have a false Interpreter.

Ful. Some Love of yours hath writ to you in Rhime.

Luc. That I might sing it, Madam, to a Tune;

Give me a Note; your Ladyship can set.

Ful. As little by such Toys as may be possible;

Let sing it to the Tune of Light O Love.

Luc. It is too heavy for so light a Tune.

Ful. Heavy? belike it hath some Burthen then.

Luc. Ay; and melodious were it, would you sing it.

Ful. And why not you?

Luc. I cannot reach so high.

Ful. Let’s see your Song:

How now Minion?
The Two Gentlemen

Luc. Keep Tune there still, so you will sing it out:
And yet methinks I do not like the Tune.

Jul. You do not?

Luc. No, Madam, 'tis too sharp.

Jul. You, Minion, are too fawcy.

Luc. Nay, now you are too flat,
And mar the Concord with too harsh a Descant:
There wanteth but a Mean to fill your Song.

Jul. The Mean is drown'd with your unruly Base.

Luc. Indeed I bid the Base for Protheus,

Jul. This Babble shall not henceforth trouble me.

Here is a Coil with Protestation!

Go, get you gone; and let the Papers lye:
You would be fingering them to anger me,

Luc. She makes it strange, but she would be best pleas'd
To be so anger'd with another Letter.

[Exit.

Jul. Nay, would I were so anger'd with the same!

Oh hateful Hands to tear such loving Words;
Injurious Wasps, to feed on such sweet Honey,
And kill the Bees that yield it with your Stings!
I'll kiss each several Paper for amends:
Look, here is writ, kind Julia; unkind Julia!
As in revenge of thy Ingratitude,
I throw thy Name against the bruising Stones,
Trampling contumiously on thy Diddain.

Look here is writ, Love-wounded Protheus.

Poor wounded Name! my Bofom, as a Bed,
Shall lodge thee 'till thy Wound be thoroughly heal'd;
And thus I search it with a sovereign Kiss,
But twice or thrice was Protheus written down:
Be calm, good Wind, blow not a Word away,
'Till I have found each Letter in the Letter,
Except mine own Name: That some Whirl-wind bear
Unto a ragged, fearful, hanging Rock,
And throw it thence into the raging Sea.

Lo, here in one Line is his Name, twice writ:

Poor forlorn Protheus, passionate Protheus,
To the sweet Julia: That I'll tear away;
And yet I will not, 'tis so prettily
He couples it to his complaining Names:

Thus
Thus will I fold them one upon another;
Now kiss, embrace, contend, do what you will.

Enter Lucetta.

Luc. Madam, Dinner is ready, and your Father stays.
Jul. Well, let us go.
Luc. What, shall these Papers Iye, like Tell-tales here?
Jul. If thou respect them, best to take them up.
Luc. Nay, I was taken up for laying them down:
Yet here they shall not lie for catching cold.
Jul. I see you have a Month's mind to them.
Luc. Ay, Madam, you may say what Sights you see:
I see things too, although you judge I wink.
Jul. Come, come, will'st please you go? [Exeunt.

SCENE III.

Enter Anthonio and Panchion.

Ant. Tell me, Panchion, what sad Talk was that Wherewith my Brother held you in the Cloyster?
Panch. 'Twas of his Nephew Protheus, your Son.
Ant. Why, what of him?
Panch. He wonder'd that your Lordship
Would suffer him to spend his Youth at home;
While other Men of slender Reputation
Put forth their Sons to seek Preferment out:
Some to the Wars, to try their Fortune there;
Some to discover Islands far away;
Some to the studious Universities.
For any, or for all these Exercises,
He said, that Protheus, your Son, was meet;
And did request me to importune you
To let him spend his time no more at home;
Which would be great Impeachment to his Age,
In having known no Travel in his Youth.
Ant. Nor need'dst thou much importune me to that Whereon this Month I have been hammering,
I have consider'd well his loss of Time;
And how he cannot be a perfect Man;
Not being try'd, nor tutor'd in the World:
Experience is by Industry achiev'd,

E 2

And
And perfected by the swift Course of Time;
Then tell me, whither were I best to send him?

Pant. I think your Lordship is not ignorant,
How his Companion, youthful Valentine,
Attends the Emperor in his Royal Court.

Ant. I know it well.

Pant. 'Twere good, I think, your Lordship sent him
There shall he practise Tilts and Turnaments, [thither;
Hear sweet Discourse, converse with Noblemen,
And be in Eye of every Exercise
Worthy his Youth, and Nobleness of Birth.

Ant. I like thy Counsel; well hast thou advis'd;
And that thou may'st perceive how well I like it,
The Execution of it shall make known;
Even with the speediest Expedition
I will dispatch him to the Emperor's Court.

Pant. To Morrow, may it please you, Dom Alphonso,
With other Gentlemen of good Esteem,
Are journeying to salute the Emperor,
And to commend their Service to his Will.

Ant. Good Company: With them shall Protheus go.
And in good time, now will we break with him:

Enter Protheus.

Pro. Sweet Love, sweet Lines, sweet Life!
Here is her Hand, the Agent of her Heart;
Here is her Oath for Love, her Honour's Pawn.
O that our Fathers would applaud our Loves,
To seal our Happiness with their Consents.
Oh heav'nly Julia!

Ant. How now? What Letter are you reading there?

Pro. May't please your Lordship, 'tis a Word or two Of Commendation sent from Valentine;
Deliver'd by a Friend that came from him.

Ant. Lend me the Letter; let me see what News.

Pro. There is no News, my Lord, but that he writes
How happily he lives, how well belov'd,
And daily graced by the Emperor;
Wishing me with him, Partner of his Fortune.

Ant. And how stand you affected to his Wish?
Pro. As one relying on your Lordship's Will,
And not depending on his friendly Will.

Ant. My Will is something sort of with his Will:
Muse not that I thus suddenly proceed;
For what I will, I will; and there's an End.
I am resolv'd that thou shalt spend some Time
With Valentino in the Emp'ror's Court:
What Maintenance he from his Friends receives,
Like Exhibition thou shalt have from me;
To Morrow be in readiness to go.
Excuse it not, for I am peremptory.

Pro. My Lord; I cannot be so soon provided;
Please you deliberate a Day or two.

Ant. Look what thou want'st shall be sent after thee:
No more of Stay; to Morrow thou must go.
Come on, Panthion; you shall be imployn'd
To hasten on his Expedition.       [Exe. Ant. and Pant.

Pro. Thus have I shun'd the Fire; for fear of burning,
And drench'd me in the Sea, where I am drown'd:
I fear'd to shew my Father Julia's Letter,
Left he should take Exceptions to my Love;
And with the vantage of mine own Excuse,
Hath he excepted most against my Love.
Oh, how this Spring of Love resembleth
Th' uncertain Glory of an April Day,
Which now shews all the Beauty of the Sun,
And by and by a Cloud takes all away.

Enter Panthion.

Pant. Sir Protheus, your Father calls for you;
He is in haste, therefore I pray you go.

Pro. Why this, it is! My Heart accords thereto,
And yet a thousand times it answers no.       [Exeunt.
ACT II. SCENE I.

Enter Valentine and Speed.

Speed. SIR, your Glove.
Val. Not mine; my Gloves are on.

Speed. Why then this may be yours, for this is but one.
Val. Ha? let me see: Ay, give it me, it's mine:

Sweet Ornament that decks a Thing divine.

Ah Silvia, Silvia!

Speed. Madam Silvia! Madam Silvia!
Val. How now Sirrah?

Speed. She is not within hearing, Sir.
Val. Why Sir, who bad you call her?

Speed. Your Worship, Sir, or else I mistook.
Val. Well, you'll still be too-forward.

Speed. And yet I was last chidden for being too-flow.
Val. Go to Sir, tell me, do you know Madam Silvia?

Speed. She that your Worship loves?
Val. Why, how know you that I am in Love?

Speed. Marry, by these special Marks: First, you have learn'd, like Sir Proteus, to wreath your Arms like a Male-content, to relish a Love-Song like a Robin red-breast, to walk alone like one that had the Pestilence, to fight like a School-boy that had lost his A, B, C, to weep like a young Wench that had lost her Grandam, to fast like one that takes Diet, to watch like one that fears robing, to speak puling like a Beggar at Hallowmas: You were wont, when you laugh'd, to crow like a Cock;
when you walk'd, to walk like one of the Lions; when you fasted, it was presently after Dinner; when you look'd fadly, it was for want of Mony: And now you are metamorpos'd with a Mistress, that when I look on you, I can hardly think you my Master.

Val. Are all these things perceiv'd in me?

Speed. They are all perceiv'd without ye.
Val. Without me? they cannot.

Speed. Without you? nay, that's certain; for without you were so simple, none else would: But you are so without without these Follies, that these Follies are within you, and shine through you like the Water in an Urinal; that not an Eye that sees you, but is a Physician to comment on your Malady.

Val. But tell me, dost thou know my Lady Silvia?

Speed. She that you gaze on so as she sits at Supper?

Val. Hast thou observ’d that? Even she I mean.

Speed. Why, Sir, I know her not.

Val. Dost thou know her by gazing on her, and yet know’st her not?

Speed. Is she not hard-favour’d, Sir?

Val. Not so fair, Boy, as well favour’d.

Speed. Sir, I know that well enough.

Val. What dost thou know?

Speed. That she is not so fair, as of you well favour’d.

Val. I mean that her Beauty is exquisite, But her Favour infinite.

Speed. That’s because the one is painted, and the other out of all Count.

Val. How painted? and how out of Count?

Speed. Marry Sir, so painted to make her fair, that no Man counts of her Beauty.

Val. How esteem’d thou me? I account of her Beauty.

Speed. You never saw her since she was deform’d.

Val. How long hath she been deform’d?

Speed. Ever since you lov’d her.

Val. I have lov’d her ever since I saw her, And still I see her beautiful.

Speed. If you love her, you cannot see her.

Val. Why?

Speed. Because Love is blind. O that you had mine Eyes, or your own Eyes had the Lights they were wont to have, when you chid at Sir Proteus for going ungarter’d.

Val. What should I see then?

Speed. Your own present Folly, and her passing Deformity: For he being in Love, could not see to garter his Hose; and you, being in Love, cannot see to put on your Hose.

Val. Belike, Boy, then you are in Love; for last Morning you could not see to wipe my Shoes.

Speed.
Speed. True, Sir, I was in Love with my Bed; I thank you, you swing'd me for my Love, which makes me the bolder to chide you for yours.

Val. In Conclusion, I stand affected to her.

Speed. I would you were yet, so your Affection would cease.

Val. Last Night she enjoin'd me
To write some Lines to one she loves.

Speed. And have you?

Val. I have.

Speed. Are they not lamely writ?

Val. No, Boy, but as well as I can do them:
Peace, here she comes.

Enter Silvia.

Speed. Oh excellent Motion! Oh exceeding Puppet!
Now will he interpret to her.

Val. Madam and Mistress, a thousand Good-morrows.

Speed. Oh! 'give ye Good-ev'n; here's a million of Manner.

Sils. Sir Valentine, and Servant, to you two thousand.

Speed. He should give her Interest; and she gives it him.

Val. As you enjoin'd me, I have writ your Letter
Unto the secret, nameless Friend of yours;
Which I was much unwilling to proceed in,
But for my Duty to your Ladyship.

Sils. I thank you, gentle Servant, 'tis very Clerkly done.

Val. Now trust me, Madam, it came hardly off:
For being ignorant to whom it goes,
I writ at random, very doubtfully.

Sils. Perchance you think too much of so much Pains?

Val. No, Madam, so it please you, I will write,
Please you command, a thousand times as much.
And yet—

Sils. A pretty Period; well, I guess the Sequel;
And yet I will not name it, and yet I care not,
And yet take this again, and yet I thank you;
Meaning henceforth to trouble you no more.

Speed. And yet you will; and yet, another yet. [Aside.

Val. What means your Ladyship?

Do you not like it?

Sils.
Sil. Yes, yes; the Lines are very quaintly writ;
But, since unwillingly, take them again;
Nay, take them.
Val. Madam, they are for you.
Sil. Ay, ay; you writ them, Sir, at my Request;
But I will none of them; they are for you;
I would have had them writ more movingly.
Val. Please you, I'll write your Ladyship another.
Sil. And when it's writ, for my sake read it over;
And if it please you, so; if not, why so.
Val. If it please me, Madam, what then?
Sil. Why, if it please you, take it for your Labour;
And so good-morrow, Servant. [Exit Servant.

Speed. Oh Jelt unfeen, infcrutable, invisible,
As a Nose on a Man's Face, or a Weathercock on a Steeple;
My Master fues to her, and she hath taught her Sutor,
He being her Pupil, to become her Tutor:
Oh excellent Device! was there ever heard a better? That my Master being the Scribe, to himself should write the Letter?
Val. How now, Sir?
What are you reasoning with yourself?
Speed. Nay, I was raving; 'tis you that have the Reason.
Val. To do what?
Speed. To be a Spokes-man from Madam Silvia.
Val. To whom?
Speed. To your self; why, she wooes you by a Figure.
Val. What Figure?
Speed. By a Letter, I should say.
Val. Why, she hath not writ to me?
Speed. What need she,
When she hath made you write to your self?
Why, do you not perceive the Jest?
Val. No, believe me.
Speed. No believing you indeed, Sir:
But did you perceive her Earnest?
Val. She gave me none, except an angry Word.
Speed. Why, she hath given you a Letter.
Val. That's the Letter I write to her Friend. [end.
Speed. And that Letter hath she deliver'd, and there's an Speed. I'll warrant you 'tis as well:

For often have you writ to her, and she in Modesty,
Or else for want of idle Time, could not again reply;
Or fearing else some Messenger that might her Mind discover,
Her self hath taught her Love himself to write unto her.
All this I speak in Print; for in Print I found it.
Why muse you, Sir? 'tis Dinner-time.

Val. I have din'd,

Speed. Ay, but hearken, Sir; tho' the Cameleon Love can feed on the Air, I am one that am nourish'd by my Viocrials; and would fain have Meat: Oh be not like your Mistrests; be moved, be moved. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Protheus and Julia.

Pro. Have Patience, gentle Julia.

Jul. I must, where is no Remedy.

Pro. When possibly I can, I will return.

Jul. If you turn not, you will return the sooner:

Keep this Remembrance for thy Julia's sake. [Giving a Ring.

Pro. Why then we'll make Exchange;

Here, take you this.

Jul. And seal the Bargain with a holy Kiss.

Pro. Here is my Hand for my true Constancy:
And when that Hour o'er-slips me in the Day,
Wherein I sigh not, Julia for thy sake,
The next ensuing Hour some foul Mischance
Torment me, for my Love's Forgetfulness!
My Father flays my coming; answer not:
The Tide is now; nay, not thy Tide of Tears;
That Tide will stay me longer than I should: [Exit Julia.

Julia, farewell. What! gone without a Word?
Ay, so true Love should do; it cannot speak;
For Truth hath better Deeds than Words to grace it.

Enter Panthion.

Pan. Sir Protheus, you are paid for.

Pro. Go; I come, I come;

Alas! this Parting strikes poor Lovers dumb. [Exeunt.
of Verona. 83

Scene III.

Enter Launce.

Launc. Nay, 'twill be this Hour c'er I have done weeping; all the Kind of the Launces have this very Fault: I have receiv'd my Proportion, like the prodigious Son, and am going with Sir Brothius to the Imperial's Court. I think Crab, my Dog, be the sour'est natur'd Dog that lives: My Mother weeping, my Father wailing, my Sis-ter crying, our Maid howling, our Cat wringing her Hands, and all our House in a great Perplexity; yet did not this cruel-hearted Cur shed one Tear: He is a Stone, a very Pibble-stone, and has no more Pity in him than a Dog: A few would have wept to have seen our Parting; why, my Grandam, having no Eyes, look you, wept her self blind at my Parting. Nay, I'll shew you the manner of it: This Shoe is my Father; no, this left Shoe, is my Father; no, no, this left Shoe is my Mother; nay, that cannot be so neither; yes, it is so, it is so; it hath the worser Sole; this Shoe with the Hole in it is my Mother, and this my Father; a Vengeance on't, there's: Now, Sir, this Staff is my Sis-ter; for look you, she is as white as a Lily, and as small as a Wand; this Hat is Nan, our Maid; I am the Dog; no, the Dog is himself, and I am the Dog: Oh, the Dog is me, and I am my self; ay, so so; Now come I to my Father; Father, your Blessing; now should not the Shoe speak a Word for weeping; now should I kiss my Father; well, he weeps on; Now come I to my Mother; oh that she could speak, now like a Would-woman; well, I kiss her; why there 'tis; here's my Mother's Breath up and down: Now come I to my Sis-ter; mark the Moan she makes: Now the Dog all this while sheds not a Tear, nor speaks a Word; but see how I lay the Dust with my Tears.

Enter Panthion.

Panth. Launce, away, away, aboard; thy Master is shipp'd and thou art to post after with Oars: What's the Matter? why weep'st thou, Man? away Afs, you will lose the Tide if you tarry any longer.

Launc.
The Two Gentlemen

Laun. It is no matter if the Tide were lost, for it is the unkindest Tide that ever any Man ty’d.

Pant. What’s the unkindest Tide?

Laun. Why, he that’s ty’d here; Crab, my Dog.

Pant. Tut, Man, I mean, thou’lt lose the Flood; and in losing the Flood, lose thy Voyage; and in losing thy Voyage, lose thy Master; and in losing thy Master, lose thy Service; and in losing thy Service. — Why dost thou stop my Mouth?

Laun. For fear thou shouldst lose thy Tongue.

Pant. Where should I lose my Tongue?

Laun. In thy Tale.

Pant. In thy Tail.

Laun. Lose the Tide, and the Voyage, and the Master, and the Service, and the Tide; why, Man, if the River were dry, I am able to fill it with my Tears; if the Wind were down, I could drive the Boat with my Sighs.

Pant. Come, come away, Man; I was sent to call thee.

Laun. Sir, call me what thou dar’st.

Pant. Wilt thou go?

Laun. Well, I will go.

[Exeunt.]

Scene IV.

Enter Valentine, Silvia, Thurio and Speed.

Sil. Servant.

Val. Mistress.

Speed. Master, Sir Thurio frowns on you.

Val. Ay Boy, it’s for Love.

Speed. Not of you.

Val. Of my Mistress then.

Speed. Twere good you knockt him.

Sil. Servant, you are sad.

Val. Indeed, Madam, I seem so.

Thur. Seem you that you are not?

Val. Haply I do.

Thur. So do Counterfeits.

Val. So do you.

Thur. What seem I that I am not?

Val. Wife.
Thu. What Instance of the contrary?
Val. Your Folly.
Thu. And how quote you my Folly?
Val. I quote it in your Jerkin.
Thu. My Jerkin is a Doublet.
Val. Well then, I'll double your Folly.
Thu. How?
Sil. What, angry, Sir Thurio? do you change Colour?
Val. Give him leave, Madam; he is a kind of Camelion.
Thu. That hath more mind to feed on your Blood, than live in your Air.
Val. You have said, Sir.
Thu. Ay Sir, and done too, for this time.
Val. I know it well, Sir; you always end e'er you begin.
Sil. A fine Volly of Words, Gentlemen, and quickly shot off.
Val. 'Tis indeed, Madam; we thank the Giver.
Sil. Who is that, Servant?
Val. Your self, sweet Lady, for you gave the Fire:
Sir Thurio borrows his Wit from your Ladyship's Looks, And spends what he borrows kindly in your Company.
Thu. Sir, if you spend Word for Word with me, I shall make your Wit bankrupt.
Val. I know it well, Sir, you have an Exchequer of Words, And, I think, no other Treasure to give your Followers: For it appears, by their bare Liveries, That they live by your bare Words.
Sil. No more, Gentlemen, no more:
Here comes my Father.

Enter the Duke.

Duke. Now, Daughter Silvia, you are hard beset.
Sir Valentine, your Father is in good Health:
What say you to a Letter from your Friends
Of much good News?
Val. My Lord, I will be thankful
To any M'essenger from thence.
Duke. Know you Don Antonio, your Countryman?
Val. Ay, my good Lord, I know the Gentleman
To be of Worth, and worthy Estimation,
And not without Desert so well reputed.

Duke.
Duke. Hath he not a Son?

Val. Ay, my good Lord, a Son that well deserves
The Honour and Regard of such a Father.

Duke. You know him well?

Val. I knew him as my self; for from our Infancy
We have convers'd, and spent our Hours together:
And tho' my self have been an idle Truant,
Omitting the sweet Benefit of Time,
To clothe mine Age with Angel-like Perfection;
Yet hath Sir Protheus, for that's his Name,
Made Use and fair Advantage of his Days;
His Years but young, but his Experience old;
His Head unmellow'd, but his Judgment ripe;
And in a Word, for far behind his Worth
Come all the Prais'ues that I now bestow,
He is compleat in Feature and in Mind,
With all good Grace to grace a Gentleman.

Duke. Beshrew me, Sir, but if he make this good,
He is as worthy for an Empress' Love,
As meet to be an Emperor's Counsellor:
Well, Sir, this Gentleman is come to me,
With Commendation from great Potentates;
And here he means to spend his Time a while.
I think 'tis no unwelcome News to you.

Val. Should I have wish'd a thing, it had been he.

Duke. Welcome him then according to his Worth:

Silvia. I speak to you; and you, Sir Thurio;
For Valentine I need not cite him to it:
I will send him hither to you presently. [Exiis Duke.

Val. This is the Gentleman I told your Ladyship
Had come along with me, but that his Mistress
Did hold his Eyes lockt in her Cristal Looks.

Sil. Belike that now she hath enfranchis'd them
Upon some other other Pawn for Fidelity.

Val. Nay sure, I think she holds them Prisoners still.

Sil. Nay, then he should be blind; and being blind,
How could he see his Way to seek out you?

Val. Why Lady, Love hath twenty Pair of Eyes.

Thu. They say that Love hath not an Eye at all.

Val. To see such Lovers, Thurio, as your self:
Upon a homely Object Love can wink.
Enter Protheus.

Sil. Have done, have done; here comes the Gentleman.

Val. Welcome, dear Protheus: Mistress, I beseech you Confirm this Welcome with some special Favour.

Sil. His Worth is Warrant for his Welcome hither,
If this be he you oft have wish’d to hear from.

Val. Mistress, it is: Sweet Lady, entertain him
To be my Fellow-servant to your Ladyship.

Sil. Too low a Mistress for so high a Servant.

Pro. Not so, sweet Lady; but too mean a Servant
To have a Look of such a worthy Mistress.

Val. Leave off Discourse of Difability:
Sweet Lady entertain him for your Servant.

Pro. My Duty will I boast of, nothing else.

Sil. And Duty never yet did want his Meed:
Servant, you are welcome to a worthles Mistress.

Pro. I’ll die on him that says so but your self.

Sil. That you are welcome?

Pro. That you are worthles.

Thu. Madam, my Lord, your Father would speak with you.

Sil. I wait upon his Pleasure; Come, Sir Thursto,
Go with me. Once more, new Servant, welcome:
I’ll leave you to confer of home Affairs;
When you have done, we look to hear from you.

Pro. We’ll both attend upon your Ladyship.

[Ex. Sil. and Thu.

Val. Now tell me how do all from whence you came?

Pro. Your Friends are well, and have them much
Val. And how do yours? (commended.

Pro. I left them all in Health.

Val. How does your Lady? and how thrives your Love?

Pro. My Tales of Love were wont to weary you;
I know you joy not in a Love-discourse.

Val. Ay, Protheus, but that Life is alter’d now;
I have done Penance for contemning Love,
Whose high imperious Thoughts have punish’d me
With bitter Raths, with penitential Groans,
With nightly Tears and daily heart-fore Sighs:
For in revenge of my Contempt of Love,
Love hath chac’d Sleep from my enthralled Eyes,

And
And made them Watchers of mine own Heart's Sorrow:
O gentle Protheus. Love's a mighty Lord,
And hath so humbled me, as I confess
There is no Wo to his Correction;
Nor to his Service, no such Joy on Earth.
Now no Discourse, except it be of Love;
Now can I break my Fast, dine, sup and sleep.
Upon the very naked Name of Love.

Pro. Enough: I read your Fortune in your Eye.
Was this the Idol that you worship so?
Val. Even she; and is she not a heav'nly Saint?
Pro. No; but she is an earthly Paragon.
Val. Call her divine.
Pro. I will not flatter her.
Val. O flatter me; for Love delights in Praise.
Pro. When I was sick you gave me bitter Pills,
And I must minister the like to you.

Val. Then speak the Truth by her: If not divine,
Yet let her be a Principality,
Sovereign to all the Creatures on the Earth.

Pro. Except my Mistress.
Val. Sweet, except not any,
Except thou wilt except against my Love.

Pro. Have I not Reason to prefer mine own?
Val. And I will help thee to prefer her too:
She shall be dignify'd with this high Honour,
To bear my Lady's Train, left the bafe Earth
Should from her Vesture chance to steal a Kid;
And of so great a Favour growing proud,
Disdain to root the Summer-swelling Flower,
And make rough Winter everlastingly.

Pro. Why, Valentine, what Bragadism is this?
Val. Pardon me, Protheus; all I can is nothing,
To her, whose Worth makes other Worthies nothing;
She is alone.

Pro. Then let her alone,
Val. Not for the World: Why, Man, she is mine own,
And I as rich in having such a Jewel,
As twenty Seas, if all their Sand were Pearl,

Forgive
Forgive me that I do not dream on thee,
Because thou feest me doat upon my Love:
My foolish Rival, that her Father likes,
Only for his Possessions are so huge,
Is gone with her along, and I must after;
For Love, thou know'st, is full of Jealousie.

Pro. But she loves you? (Hour,
Val. Ay, and we are betrothed; nay more, our Marriage
With all the cunning manner of our Flight,
Determin'd of; how I must climb her Window,
The Ladder made of Cords, and all the Means
Plotted and 'greed on for my Happiness.
Good Proteslaus go with me to my Chamber,
In these Affairs to aid me with thy Counsel.

Pro. Go on before; I shall enquire you forth,
I must unto the Road, to disembark
Some Necessaries that I needs must use;
And then I'll presently attend you.

Val. Will you make haste?

Pro. I will. [Exit Val.

Even as one Heat another Heat expels,
Or as one Nail by Strength drives out another;
So the Remembrance of my former Love
Is by a newer Object quite forgotten:
Is it mine then, or Valenio's Praise?
Her true Perfection, or my false Transgression,
That makes me reasonless, to reason thus?
She is fair; and so is Julia, that I love;
That I did love, for now my Love is thaw'd;
Which, like a waxen Image 'gainst a Fire,
Bears no Impression of the thing it was:
Methinks my Zeal to Valentine is cold,
And that I love him not as I was wont.
O! but I love his Lady too much;
And that's the Reason I love him so little.
How shall I doat on her with more Advice,
That thus without Advice begin to love her?
'Tis but her Picture I have yet beheld,
And that hath dazled so my Reason's Light:
But when I look on her Perfections,
There is no Reason but I shall be blind.
If I can check my erring Love, I will;
If not, to compass her I'll use my Skill. [Exit.

SCENE V.

Enter Speed and Launce.

Speed. Launce, by mine Honesty welcome to Padua.

Laun. Forswear not thy self, sweet Youth; for I am not welcome: I reckon this always, that a Man is never undone 'till he be hang'd, nor never welcome to a Place 'till some certain Shot be paid, and the Hostes say Welcome.

Speed. Come on, you Mad-cap; I'll to the Ale-house with you presently, where, for one Shot of five-pence, thou shalt have five thousand Welcomes. But, Sirrah, how did thy Master part with Madam Julia?

Laun. Marry, after they clos'd in earnest, they parted very fairly in jest.

Speed. But shall she marry him?

Laun. No.

Speed. How then? Shall he marry her?

Laun. No, neither.

Speed. What, are they broken?

Laun. No, they are both as whole as a Fish.

Speed. Why then, how stands the Matter with them?

Laun. Marry thus; when it stands well with him, it stands well with her.

Speed. What an Ass art thou? I understand thee not.

Laun. What a Block art thou, that thou canst not?

My Staff understands me.

Speed. What thou say'st?

Laun. Ay, and what I do too: Look thee, I'll but lean, and my Staff understands me.

Speed. It stands under thee indeed.

Laun. Why, stand-under, and understand is all one.

Speed. But tell me true, will't be a Match?

Laun. Ask my Dog: If he say ay, it will; if he say no, it will; if he shake his Tail, and say nothing, it will.

Speed. The Conclusion is then, that it will.

Laun.
Laun. Thou shalt never get such a Secret from me, but by a Parable.

Speed. 'Tis well that I get it so: But, Launce, how say'lt thou, that my Master is become a notable Lover?

Laun. I never knew him otherwise.

Speed. Than how?

Laun. A notable Lubber, as thou reportest him to be.

Speed. Why, thou whoreson As, thou mistak'st me.

Laun. Why Fool, I meant not thee; I meant thy Master.

Speed. I tell thee, my Master is become a hot Lover.

Laun. Why, I tell thee, I care not tho' he burn himself in Love: If thou wilt go with me to the Alehouse, so; if not, thou art an Hebrew, a Jew, and not worth the Name of a Christian.

Speed. Why?

Laun. Because thou hast not so much Charity in thee as to go to the Alehouse with a Christian: Wilt thou go?

Speed. At thy Service. [Exeunt.

SCENE VI.

Enter Proteus solus.

Pro. To leave my Julia; shall I be forsworn?
To love fair Silvia; shall I be forsworn?
To wrong my Friend, I shall be much forsworn:
And ev'n that Pow'r which gave me first my Oath,
Provokes me to this threefold Perjury.
Love bad me swear, and Love bids me forswear:
O sweet suggesting Love, if thou hast finn'd,
Teach me, thy tempted Subject, to excuse it.
At first I did adore a twinkling Star,
But now I worship a celestial Sun:
Unheedful Vows may heedfully be broken;
And he wants Wit that wants resolved Will,
To learn his Wit 't'exchange the bad for better:
Fie, fie, unreverend Tongue, to call her bad,
Whose Sov'reignty so oft thou hast preferr'd,
With twenty thousand Soul-confirmed Oaths.
I cannot leave to love, and yet I do:

But
But there I leave to love where I should love:
Julia I lose, and Valentine I lose:
If I keep them, I needs must lose my self:
If I lose them, thus find I but their Lofs,
For Valentine, my self, for Julia, Silvia:
I to my self am dearer than a Friend;
For Love is still most precious in it self:
And Silvia, witness Heav'n that made her Fair,
Shews Julia but a swarthy Ethiop.
I will forget that Julia is alive,
Remembring that my Love to her is dead:
And Valentine I'll hold an Enemy,
Aiming at Silvia as a sweeter Friend:
I cannot now prove constant to my self,
Without some Treachery us'd to Valentine:
This Night he meaneth, with a corded Ladder,
To climb celestial Silvia's Chamber Window,
My self in Council his Competitor:
Now presently I'll give her Father notice
Of their disguising, and pretended Flight;
Who, all enraged, will banish Valentine;
For Thurio he intends shall wed his Daughter.
But Valentine being gone, I'll quickly crofs,
By some fly Trick, blunt Thurio's dull Proceeding.
Love lend me Wings, to make my Purpose swift,
As thou hast lent me Wit to plot his Drift.

[Exit.

SCENE VII.

Enter Julia and Lucetta.

Jul. Counsel, Lucetta; gentle Girl, affist me,
And even in kind Love I do conjure thee,
Who art the Table wherein all my Thoughts
Are visibly Character'd and Engrav'd,
To lesfon me, and tell me some good Mean,
How with my Honour I may undertake
A Journey to my loving Protheus.

Luc. Alas, the Way is wearisome and long.

Jul. A true devoted Pilgrim is not weary
To measure Kingdoms with his feeble Steps.

Much
Much less shall she, that hath Love's Wings to fly;
And when the Flight is made to one so dear,
Of such divine Perfection as Sir Protheus.

Luc. Better forbear 'till Protheus make Return.

Jul. Oh, know'st thou not, his Looks are my Soul's Food?
Pity the Dearth that I have pined in,
By longing for that Food so long a time:
Durst thou but know the inly Touch of Love,
Thou would'st as soon go kindle Fire with Snow,
As seek to quench the Fire of Love with Words.

Luc. I do not seek to quench your Love's hot Fire,
But qualifie the Fire's extrem Rage,
Left it should burn above the Bounds of Reason.

Jul. The more thou damm'st it up, the more it burns:
The Current that with gentle Murmurs glides,
Thou know'st being stopp'd, impatiently doth rage;
But when his fair Course is not hindered,
He makes sweet Musick with th' enamelled Stones,
Giving a gentle Kifs to every Sedge
He over taketh in his Pilgrimage:
And so by many winding Nooks he strays,
With willing Sport, to the wild Ocean.
Then let me go, and hinder not my Course;
I'll be as patient as a gentle Stream,
And make a Pastime of each weary Step,
'Till the last Step have brought me to my Love;
And there I'll rest, as, after much Turmoil,
A blessed Soul doth in Elzium.

Luc. But in what Habit will you go along?

Jul. Not like a Woman; for I would prevent
The loose Encounters of lascivious Men:
Gentle Lucetta, fit me with such Weeds.
As may becom some well-reputed Page.

Luc. Why then your Ladyship must cut your Hair.

Jul. No. Girl; I'll knit it up in skiften Strings,
With twenty odd-conceited true-love Knots:
To be tautaftick, may become a Youth
Of greater time than I shall show to be.

Luc. What Fashion, Madam, shall I make your Breeches?

Jul. That fits as well, as Tell me, good my Lord

What
What compas will you wear your Farthingale?

Why, even what Fashion thou best like'st, Lucetta.

Luc. You must needs have them with a Cod-piece, Madam.

Jul. Out, out, Lucetta, that will be ill favour'd.

Luc. A round Hose, Madam, now's not worth a Pin,

Unlesse you have a Cod-piece to fliick Pins on.

Jul. Lucetta, as thou lovet me, let me have

What thou think'st meet. and is most mannerly:
But tell me, Wench, how will the World repute me

For undertaking so unflain a Journay?

I fear me it will make me scandaliz'd.

Luc. If thou think so, then stay at home, and go not.

Jul. Nay, that I will not.

Luc. Then never dream on Infamy, but go.

If Protheus like you: Journey when you come,

No matter who's displease'd when you are gone:

I fear me he will scarce be pleas'd with all.

Jul. That is the least. Lucetta, of my Fear:

A thousand Oaths, an Ocean of his Tears,

And Infinances as infinite of Love,

Warrant me welcome to my Protheus.

Luc. All these are Servants to deceitful Men.

Jul. Base Men that use them to so base Effect:

But truer Stars did govern Protheus Birth;

His Words are Bonds, his Oaths are Oracles,

His Love sincere, his Thoughts immaculate,

His Tears pure Messengers sent from his Heart,

His Heart as far from Fraud as Heavn from Earth.

Luc. Pray Heavn he prove so when you come to him.

Jul. Now as thou lovet me, do him not that Wrong,

To bear a hard Opinion of his Truth;

Only desire my Love by loving him,

And presently so with me to my Chamber,

To take a Note of what I stand in need of,

To furnish me upon my longing Journay:

All that is mine I leave at thy Dispose,

My Goods, my Lands, my Reputation,

Only in lieu thereof dispatch me hence.

Come, answer not; but to it presently:

I am impatient of my Tarriance.
ACT III. SCENE I.

Enter Duke, Thurio and Protheus.

Duke. SIR Thurio, give us leave, I pray, a while; we have some secrets to confer about. [Exit Thurio.

Now tell me, Protheus, what’s your will with me?

Pro. My gracious Lord, that which I would discover
The law of friendship bids me to conceal;
But when I call to mind your gracious favours
Done to me, undeserving as I am,
My duty pricks me on to utter that,
Which else no worldly good should draw from me.
Know, worthy Prince, Sir Valentine, my friend,
This night intends to steal away your daughter:
My self am one made privy to the plot.
I know you have determin’d to bestow her
On Thurio, whom your gentle daughter hates:
And should she thus be stoll’n away from you,
It would be much vexation to your age.
Thus, for my duty’s sake, I rather chose
To cross my friend in his intended drift,
Than, by concealing it, heap on your head
A pack of sorrows, which would press you down,
Being unprevented, to your time’s grave.

Duke. Protheus, I thank thee for thine honest care;
Which to requite, command me while I live.
This love of theirs my self have often seen,
Haply when they have judged me fast asleep;
And oftentimes have purpos’d to forbid
Sir Valentine her company, and my court:
But fearing lest my jealous aim might err,
And so unworthily disgrace the man,
A rashness I ever yet have shunn’d;
I gave him gentle looks, thereby to find
That which thy self hast now disclos’d to me.
And that thou may’st perceive my fear of this,
Knowing that tender youth is soon suggested,
I nightly lodge her in an upper Tower,
The Key whereof my self have ever kept;
And thence she cannot be convey'd away.

Pro. Know, noble Lord, they have devis'd a mean
How he her Chamber-Window will ascend,
And with a corded Ladder fetch her down;
For which the yout-ful Lover now is gone,
And this way comes he with it presently:
Where, if it please you, you may intercept him.
But, good my Lord, do it so cunningly,
That my Discovery be not aimed at;
For Love of you, not Hate unto my Friend,
Hath made me Publisher of this Pretence.

Duke. Upon mine Honour, he shall never know
That I had any Light from thee of this.

Pro. Adieu, my Lord; Sir Valentine is coming. [Ex. Pro.

Enter Valentine.

Duke. Sir Valentine, whither away so fast?
Val. Please it your Grace, there is a Messenger
That flays to bear my Letters to my Friends,
And I am going to deliver them.

Duke. Be they of much import?
Val. The Tenure of them doth but signify
My Health, and happy being at your Court.

Duke. Nay, then no matter; stay with me a while;
I am to break with thee of some Affairs
That touch me near; wherein thou must be secret.
'Tis not unknown to thee, that I have sought
To match my Friend, Sir Thurio, to my Daughter.

Val. I know it well, my Lord, and sure the Match
Were rich and honourable; besides, the Gentleman
Is full of Virtue. Bounty, Worth and Qualities,
Beseeming such a Wife as your fair Daughter.
Cannot your Grace win her to fancy him?

Duke. No, trust me, she is peevish. fullen, froward,
Proud, disobedient, stubborn, lacking Duty;
Neither regarding that she is my Child,
Nor fearing me, as if I were her Father:
And may I say to thee, this Pride of hers,
Upon Advice, hath drawn my Love from her;
And where I thought the Remnant of mine Age
Should have been cherish'd by her Child-like Duty,
I now am full resolv'd to take a Wife,
And turn her out to who will take her in:
Then let her Beauty be her Wedding-Dowre;
For me and my Possessions she esteems not.

Val. What would your Grace have me to do in this?

Duke. There is a Lady in Verona here
Whom I affect; but she is nice and coy,
And nought esteems my aged Eloquence:
Now therefore would I have thee to my Tutor;
For long agone I have forgot to court;
Besides, the Fashion of the Time is chang'd,
How, and which way I may bestow my self,
To be regarded in her Sun-bright Eye.

Val. Win her with Gifts, if she respects not Words;
Dumb Jewels often in their silent kind,
More than quick Words, do move a Woman's Mind.

Duke. But she did scorn a Present that I sent her.

Val. A Woman sometimes scorn what best contents her;
Send her another; never give her o'er;
For Scorn at first makes After-love the more.
If she do frown, 'tis not in Hate of you,
But rather to beget more Love in you:
If she do chide, 'tis not to have you gone;
For why, the Fools are mad if left alone.
Take no Repulse, whatever she doth say;
For, Get you gone, she doth not mean away;
Flatter, and praise, commend, extol their Graces;
Tho' ne'er so black, say they have Angels Faces.
That Man that hath a Tongue, I say, is no Man,
If with his Tongue he cannot win a Woman.

Duke. But she, I mean, is promis'd by her Friends
Unto a youthful Gentleman of worth,
And kept severely from Resort of Men,
That no Man hath Access by Day to her.

Val. Why then I would resort to her by Nigh.

Duke. Ay, but the Doors be lockt, and Keys kept safe,
That no Man hath Recourse to her by Night.

Val. What lets but one may enter at her Window?
The Two Gentlemen

Duke. Her Chamber is aloft far from the Ground,
And built so shelving, that one cannot climb it
Without apparent hazard of his Life.

Val. Why then a Ladder quaintly made of Cords,
To cast up: with a pair of anchoring Hooks,
Would serve to scale another Hero's Tower,
So bold Léander would adventure it.

Duke. Now as thou art a Gentleman of Blood,
Advise me where I may have such a Ladder.

Val. When would you use it? pray Sir, tell me that.

Duke. This very Night; for Love is like a Child,
That longs for every thing that he can come by.

Val. By seven a Clock I'll get you such a Ladder.

Duke. But hark thee: I will go to her alone;
How shall I best convey the Ladder thither?

Val. It will be light, my Lord, that you may bear it
Under a Cloak that is of any length.

Duke. A Cloak as long thine will serve the turn?

Val. Ay, my good Lord.

Duke. Then let me see thy Cloak;
I'll get me one of such another length.

Val. Why any Cloak will serve the turn, my Lord.

Duke. How shall I fashion me to wear a Cloak?
I pray thee let me feel thy Cloak upon me.

Val. What Letter is this fame? what's here? to Silvia?

Duke. And here an Engine fit for my Proceeding?
I'll be so bold to break the Seal for once. [Duke Read.]

My Thoughts do harbour with my Silvia nightly,
And Slaves they are to me that send them flying:
Oh, could their Master come, and go as lightly,
 Himself would lodge where, senseless, they are lying:
My Herald Thoughts in thy pure Bosom rest them,
Whiles I, their King, that thither them importune,
Do curse the Grace that with such Grace hath bless them,
Because my self do want my Servants Fortune:
I curse my self, for they are sent by me,
That they should harbour where their Lord would be.

What's here? Silvia, this Night will I infranchise thee;
'Tis so; and here's the Ladder for the Purpose.

Why
of Verona.

Why Phaëton, for thou art Merop's Son,
Wilt thou aspire to guide the heav'nly Car?
And with thy daring Folly burn the World?
Wilt thou reach Stars, because they shine on thee?
Go, base Intruder! over-weening Slave!
Befall thy fawning Smiles on equal Mates,
And think my Patience, more than thy Desert,
Is Privilege for thy Departure hence:
Thank me for this, more than for all the Favours
Which, all too much, I have bestow'd on thee.
But if thou linger in my Territories,
Longer than swiftest Expedition
Will give thee time to leave our Royal Court,
By Heav'n, my Wrath shall far exceed the Love
I ever bore my Daughter, or thy self:
Be gone, I will not hear thy vain Excuse,
But as thou lov'st thy Life, make speed from hence.

[Exit.]

Val. And why not Death, rather than living Torment?
To die. is to be banish'd from my self,
And Silvia is my self; banish'd from her
Is self from self: A deadly Banishment!
What Light is Light, if Silvia be not seen?
What Joy is Joy, if Silvia be not by?
Unles' it be to think that she is by,
And feed upon the Shadow of Perfection.
Except I be by Silvia in the Night,
There is no Musick in the Nightingale:
Unles' I look on Silvia in the Day,
There is no Day for me to look upon:
She is my Essence, and I leave to be,
If I be not by her fair Influence
Forced, illumin'd, cherish'd, kept alive.
I fly not Death to fly his deadly Doom;
Tarry I here, I but attend on Death;
But fly I hence, I fly away from Life.

Enter Protheus and Launce.

Pro. Run, Boy, run, run, and seek him out.

Laun. Soa-hough, Soa-hough—

Pro. What seemst thou?
There's not an Hair on's Head but 'tis a Valentine.

Pro. Valentine?

Val. No.

Pro. Who then; his Spirit?

Val. Neither.

Pro. What then?

Val. Nothing.

Laun. Can nothing speak? Master, shall I strike?

Pro. Whom wouldst thou strike?

Laun. Nothing.

Pro. Villain, forbear.

Laun. Why, Sir, I'll strike nothing; I pray you.

Val. My Ears are flopt, and cannot hear good News,

So much of bad already hath posseted them.

Pro. Then in dumb Silence will I bury mine;

For they are harsh, untuneable, and bad.

Val. Is Silvia dead?

Pro. No, Valentine.

Val. No Valentine, indeed, for sacred Silvia:

Hath she forsworn me?

Pro. No, Valentine.

Val. No Valentine, if Silvia have forsworn me:

What is your News?

Laun. Sir, there is a Proclamation that you are vanish'd.

Pro. That thou art banish'd; oh that's the News,

From hence, from Silvia, and from me thy Friend.

Val. Oh, I have fed upon this Woe already;

And now Excess of it will make me surfeit.

Doth Silvia know that I am banished?

Pro. Ay, ay; and she hath offered to the Doom,

Which u-revers'd stands in effectual Force,

A Sea of melting Pearl, which some call Tears:

Those at her Father's Churlish Feet she tender'd,

With them, upon her Knees, her humble self,

Wringing her Hands, whose Whiteneis so became them;

As if but now they waxed pale for Woe.

But neither bended Knees, pure Hands held up,

Sad Sighs, deep Groans, nor silver-shedding Tears,
Could penetrate her uncompassionate Sire;
But Valentine, if he be ta'en, must die.
Besides, her Intercession chaf'd him so,
When she for thy Release was suppliant,
That to close Prison he commanded her,
With many bitter Threats of bidding there.

Val. No more, unless the next Word that thou speakest
Have some malignant Power upon my Life:
If so, I pray thee breathe it in mine Ear,
As ending Anthem of my endless Doulour.

Pro. Cease to lament for that thou canst not help,
And study Help for that which thou lament'st.
Time is the Nurse and Breeder of all Good:
Here if thou stay, thou canst not see thy Love;
Besides, thy staying will abridge thy Life.
Hope is a Lover's Staff, walk hence with that,
And manage it against despairing Thoughts.
Thy Letters may be here thou art hence,
Which, being writ to me, shall be deliver'd
Even in the milk-white Bosom of thy Love.
The time now serves not to expostulate;
Come, I'll convey thee through the City-gate,
And, ere I part with thee, confer at large
Of all that may concern thy Love-affairs:
As thou lov'st Silvia, tho' not for thy self,
Regard thy Danger, and along with me.

Val. I pray thee Laurence, and if thou seest my Boy,
Bid him make haste, and meet me at the North-Gate.

Pro. Go Sirrah, find him out: Come Valentine.

Val. O my dear Silvia! hapless Valentine! [Exeunt.

Laur. I am but a Fool, look you, and yet I have the Wit to think my Master is a kind of a Knave: But that's all one, if he be but one Knave. He lives not now that knows me to be in love, yet I am in love; but a Team of Horses shall not pluck that from me, nor who 'tis I love, and yet 'tis a Woman; but what Woman I will not tell my self; and yet 'tis a Milk-maid; yet 'tis not a Maid, for she hath had Gossip; yet 'tis a Maid, for she is her Master's Maid. and serves for Wages: She hath more Qualities than a Water-Spaniel, which is much in a bare Christian.

Enter Speed.

Speed. How now Signior Launce? What News with your Mastership?

Laun. With my Mastership? Why, it is at Sea.

Speed. Well, your old Vice still; mistake the Word:

What News then in your Paper?

Laun. The blackest News that ever thou heard’st.

Speed. Why Man, how black?

Laun. Why, as black as Ink.

Speed. Let me read them.

Laun. Fie on thee, Jolthead, thou canst not read.

Speed. Thou liest, I can.

Laun. I will try thee; tell me this, who begot thee?

Speed. Marry, the Son of my Grand-father.

Laun. O illiterate Loiterer, it was the Son of thy Grand-mother; this proves that thou canst not read.

Speed. Come Fool, come, try me in thy Paper.

Laun. There, and S. Nicholas be thy Speed.

Speed. Imprimis, she can milk.

Laun. Ay, that she can.

Speed. Item, she brews good Ale.

Laun. And thereof comes the Proverb, Blessing of your Heart, you brew good Ale.

Speed. Item, she can lowe.

Laun. That’s as much as to say, Can she so?

Speed. Item, she can knit.

Laun. What need a Man care for a Stock with a Wench, When she can knit him a Stock!

Speed. Item, she can wash and scour.

Laun. A special Virtue, for then she need not to be wash’d and scour’d.

Speed. Item, she can spin.

Laun. Then may I set the World on Wheels, when she can spin for her living.

Speed.
Speed. Item, she hath many nameless Virtues.
Lawn. That's as much as to say Baflard Virtues, that indeed know not their Fathers, and therefore have no Names.

Speed. Here follows her Vices.
Lawn. Close at the Heels of her Virtues.
Speed. Item, she is not to be kist fasting, in respect of her Breath.
Lawn. Well, that Fault may be mended with a Breakfast.

Read on.
Speed. Item, she hath a sweet Mouth.
Lawn. That makes amends for her four Breath.
Speed. Item, she doth talk in her Sleep.
Lawn. It's no matter for that; so she sleep not in her Talk.
Speed. Item, she is slow in Words.
Lawn. Oh Villain! That set down among her Vices!
To be slow in Words is a Woman's only Virtue:
I pray thee out with't, and place it for her chief Virtue.

Speed. Item, she is proud.
Lawn. Out with that too:

It was Eve's Legacy, and cannot be ta'en from her.

Speed. Item, she hath no Teeth.
Lawn. I care not for that neither, because I love Cruits.
Speed. Item, she is curt.
Lawn. Well, the best is she hath no Teeth to bite.

Speed. Item, she will often praise her Liquor.
Lawn. If her Liquor be good, she shall; if she will not,
I will, for good things should be praised.

Speed. Item, she is too liberal.

Lawn. Of her Tongue she cannot, for that's writ down she is flow of; of her Purse she shall not, for that I'll keep shunt; now of another thing she may, and that cannot I help. Well, proceed.

Speed. Item, she hath more Hairs than Wit, and more Faults than Hairs, and more Wealth than Faults.

Lawn. Stop there; I'll have her; she was mine, and not mine, twice or thrice in that Article. Rehearse that once more.

Speed. Item, she hath more Hair than Wit.
The Two Gentlemen

Laun. More Hair than Wit; it may be I'll prove it: The Cover of the Salt hides the Salt, and therefore it is more than the Salt; the Hair that covers the Wit is more than the Wit; for the greater hides the less. What's next?

Speed. And more Faults than Hairs.

Laun. That's monstrous: Oh that that were out.

Speed. And more Wealth than Faults.

Laun. Why that Word makes the Faults gracious: We'll, I'll have her; and if it be a Match, as nothing is impossible —

Speed. What then?

Laun. Why then will I tell thee, that thy Master stays for thee at the North-Gate.

Speed. For me?

Laun. For thee? ay; who art thou? He hath said for a better Man than thee.

Speed. And must I go to him?

Laun. Thou must run to him; for thou hast said so 'long that going will scarce serve the turn.

Speed. Why didn't not tell me sooner? Pox on your Love-Letters.

Laun. Now will he be swing'd for reading my Letter: An unmannerly Slave, that will thrust himself into Secrets, I'll after, to rejoice in the Boy's Correction. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Duke and Thurio.

Duke. Sir Thurio, fear not, but that she will love you, Now Valentine is banish'd from her Sight.

Thu. Since his Exile she hath despis'd me most, Forsworn my Company, and rail'd at me, That I am desperate of obtaining her.

Duke. This weak Impress of Love, is as a Figure, Trenched in Ice, which with an Hour's Heat Dissolves to Water, and doth lose his Form, A little time will melt her frozen Thoughts, And worthless Valentine shall be forgot.

Enter
How now, Sir Protheus; is your Countryman,
According to our Proclamation, gone?

Pro. Gone, my good Lord.

Duke. My Daughter takes his going heavily.

Pro. A little time, my Lord, will kill that Grief.

Duke. So I believe; but Thurio thinks not so.

Protheus, the good Conceit I hold of thee,
For thou hast shown some sign of good Desert,
Makes me the better to confer with thee.

Pro. Longer than I prove loyal to your Grace,
Let me not live to look upon your Grace.

Duke. Thou know'st how willingly I would effect
The Match between Sir Thurio and my Daughter.

Pro. I do, my Lord.

Duke. And also I do think thou art not ignorant
How she opposes her against my Will.

Pro. She did, my Lord, when Valentine was here.

Duke. Ay, and perversely she perseveres so.
What might we do to make the Girl forget
The Love of Valentine, and love Sir Thurio?

Pro. The best way is to slander Valentine
With Falshood, Cowardise and poor Descent:
Three things that Women highly hold in Hate.

Duke. Ay, but she'll think that it is spoke in Hate.

Pro. Ay, if his Enemy deliver it.
Therefore it must with Circumstance be spoken
By one whom she esteemeth as his Friend.

Duke. Then you must undertake to slander him,

Pro. And that, my Lord. I shall be loth to do;
'Tis an ill Office for a Gentleman,
Especially against his very Friend.

Duke. Where your good Word cannot advantage him,
Your Slander never can endamage him;
Therefore the Office is indifferent,
Being intreated to it by your Friend.

Pro. You have prevail'd, my Lord: If I can do it,
By ought that I can speak in his Dispraise,
She shall not long continue Love to him.
But say this wean her Love from Valentine,
It follows not that she will love Sir Thurio,
Thou. Therefore as you unwind her Love from him,
Left it should ravel, and be good to none,
You must provide to bottom it on me:
Which must be done, by praising me as much
As you in Worth dispraise Sir Valentine.

Duke. And, Probus, we dare trust you in this kind,
Because we know, on Valentine's Report,
You are already Love's firm Votary,
And cannot soon revolt and change your Mind.
Upon this Warrant shall you have Access,
Where you with Silvia may confer at large:
For she is lumpish, heavy, melancholy,
And, for your friend's sake, will be glad of you;
Where you may temper her, by your Persuasion,
To hate young Valentine, and love my Friend.

Pro. As much as I can do, I will effect.
But you, Sir Thurio, are not sharp enough;
You must lay Lime, to tangle her Desires
By wailful Sonnets, whose composed Rhymes
Should be full fraught with serviceable Vows.

Pro. Say, that upon the Altar of her Beauty
You sacrifice your Tears, your Sighs, your Heart:
Write 'till your Ink be dry, and with your Tears
Moist it again, and frame some feeling Line
That may discover such Integrity:
For Orpheus Lute was strung with Poets Sinews,
Whose golden Touch could soften Steel and Stones,
Make Tygers tame, and huge Leviathans
Forfeye unfounded Deeps, and dance on Sands.
After your dire-lamenting Elegies,
Visit by Night your Lady's Chamber-Window
With some sweet Confort: To their Instruments
Tune a deploring Dew; the Night's dead Silence
Will well become some sweet complaining Grievance.

This, or else nothing, will inherit her.

Duke. This Discipline shews thou hast been in Love.

Thou. And thy Advice this Night I'll put in practice;
Therefore sweet Probus, my Direction-giver,
Let us into the City presently
To fort some Gentlemen well skill’d in Musick;
I have a Sonnet that will serve the turn
To give the Onset to thy good Advice.

Duke. About it Gentlemen.

Pro. We’ll wait upon your Grace ’till after Supper,
And afterwards determine our Proceedings.

Duke. Even now about it. I will pardon you. [Exeunt.

ACT IV. SCENE I.

SCENE a Forest.

Enter certain Out-laws.

1 Out. Ellows, stand fast: I see a Passenger.

2 Out. If there be ten, shrink not, but down with ’em.

Enter Valentine and Speed.

3 Out. Stand, Sir, and throw us that you have about ye?
If not, we’ll make you, Sir, and riﬂe you.

Speed. Sir, we are undone; these are the Villains

That all the Travellers do fear so much.

Val. My Friends.

1 Out. That’s not so, Sir; we are your Enemies.

2 Out. Peace; we’ll hear him.

3 Out. Ay by my Beard will we; for he is a proper Man.

Val. Then know that I have little to lose:

A Man I am, crofs’d with Adversity;

My Riches are these poor Habilments

Of which, if you should here disfurnish me,

You take the Sum and Substance that I have.

2 Out. Whither travel you?

Val. To Verona.

1 Out. Whence came you?

Val. From Millan.

3 Out. Have you long sojourn’d there!

Val;
Val. Some sixteen Months, and longer might have staid,
If crooked Fortune had not thwarted me.
1 Out. What, were you banish'd thence?
Val. I was.
2 Out. For what Offence?
Val. For that which now torments me to rehearse:
I kill'd a Man, whose Death I much repent;
But yet I slew him manfully in Fight,
Without false Vantage, or base Treachery.
1 Out. Why ne'er repent it, if it were done so.
But were you banish'd for so small a Fault?
Val. I was, and had me glad of such a Doom.
1 Out. Have you the Tongues?
Val. My youthfull Travel therein made me happy,
Or else I often had been miserable.
3 Out. By the bare Scalp of Robin Hood's fat Friar,
This Fellow were a King for our wild Faction.
1 Out. We'll have him. Sirs a Word.
Speed. Master, be one of them:
It's an honourable Kind of Thievery.
2 Out. Tell us this; have you any thing to take to?
Val. Nothing but my Fortune.
3 Out. Know then, that some of us are Gentlemen,
Such as the Fury of ungodn'd Youth
Thrust from the Company of awful Men:
My self was from Verona banish'd,
For practising to steal away a Lady,
An Heir, and Neice; ally'd unto the Duke.
2 Out. And I from Mantua, for a Gentleman,
Who in my Mood, I stab'd unto the Heart.
1 Out. And I for such like pretty Crimes as these.
But to the Purpose; for we cite our Faults,
That they may hold excus'd our lawless Lives;
And partly seeing you are beautify'd
With goodly Shape, and by your own Report,
A Linguist, and a Man of such Perfection
As we do in our Quality much want.
2 Out. Indeed because you are a banish'd Man,
Therefore, above the rest, we parley to you,
Are you content to be our General?
To make a Virtue of Necessity,
And live as we do in the Wilderness?

3 Out. What say'st thou? wilt thou be of our Comfort?
Say, Ay. and be the Captain of us all;
We'll do thee Homage, and be rul'd by thee,
Love thee as our Commander and our King.

1 Out. But if thou scor but Courtesie, thou dy'st.
2 Out. Thou shalt not live to brag what we have offer'd.
Val. I take your Offer, and will live with you,
Provided that you do no Outrages
On silly Women, or poor Passengers.

3 Out. No, we detest such vile base Practices.
Come, go with us, we'll bring thee to our Crews,
And shew thee all the Treasure we have got;
Which, with our selves, shall rest at thy Dispose. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Protheus.

Pro. Already have I been false to Valentine,
And now I must be as unjust to Thurio.
Under the Colour of commending him,
I have Access my own Love to prefer;
But Silvia is too fair, too true, too holy,
To be corrupted with my worthless Gifts.
When I protest true Loyalty to her,
She twits me with my Falsity to my Friend:
When to her Beauty I commend my Vows,
She bids me think how I have been forsworn
In breaking Faith with Julia, whom I lov'd.
And notwithstanding all her sudden Quips,
The least whereof would quell a Lover's Hope,
Yet, Spainielike, the more she furs my Love,
The more it grows, and fawneth on her still.
But here comes Thurio: Now must we to her Window,
And give some Evening Musick to her Ear.

Enter Thurio and Musicians.

Thur. How now, Sir Protheus, are you crept before us?

Pro.
The Two Gentlemen

Pro. Ay, gentle Thurio; for you know that Love
Will creep in Service, where it cannot go.

Thu. Ay, but I hope, Sir, that you love not here.

Pro. Sir, but I do; or else I would be hence.

Thu. Whom, Silvia?

Pro. Ay, Silvia, for your sake.

Thu. I thank you for your own: Now Gentlemen
Let's turn, and to it lustily a while.

Enter Hoft, and Julia in Boys Cloaths.

Hošt. Now my young Guest; methinks you'reallycholly:
I pray what is it?

Jul. Marry, mine Hošt, because I cannot be merry.

Hošt. Come, we'll have you merry: I'll bring you where you shall hear Mufick, and see the Gentleman that you ask'd for.

Jul. But shall I hear him speak?

Hošt. Ay, that you shall.

Jul. That will be Mufick.

Hošt. Hark, hark.

Jul. Is he among these?

Hošt. Ay; but Peace, let's hear 'em.

SONG.

Who is Silvia? what is she?
That all our Swains commend her?
Holy, fair and wise is she,
The Heav'n such Grace did lend her,
That she might admired be.
Is she kind as she is fair?
For Beauty lives with Kindness.
Love doth to her Eyes repair,
To help him of his Blindness:
And being help'd inhabits there.
Then to Silvia let us sing,
That Silvia is excelling;
She excels each mortal thing
Upon the dull Earth dwelling:
To her let us Garlands bring.

Hošt.
How now? are you ladder than you were before?

How do you, Man? the Mufick likes you not.

You mistake; the Musician likes me not.

Why, my pretty Youth?

He plays false, Father.

How, out of tune on the Strings?

Not so; but yet

So false, that he grieves my very Heart-strings.

You have a quick Ear.

Ay, I would I were deaf; it makes me have a slow.

I perceive you delight not in Mufick.

Not a whit, when it jars so.

Hark what fine Change is in the Mufick.

Ay; that Change is the Spight.

You would have them always play but one thing.

I would always have one play but one thing.

But, Hoft, doth this Sir Proteus, that we talk on,

Often refort unto this Gentlewoman?

I tell you what Launce, his Man, told me,

He lov'd her out of all Nick.

Where is Launce?

Gone to seek his Dog, which to Morrow, by his Master's Command, he must carry for a Present to his Lady.

Peace, stand aside, the Company parts.

Sir Thurio, fear not; I will so plead,

That you shall say, my cunning Drift excels.

Where meet we?

At Saint Gregory's Well.

Farewel.

Enter Silvia above.

Madam, good Even to your Ladyship.

I thank you for your Mufick, Gentlemen:

Who is that that spake?

One, Lady, if you knew his pure Heart's Truth,

You would quickly learn to know him by his Voice.

Sir Proteus, as I take it.

Sir Proteus, gentle Lady, and your Servant.

What's your Will?

That I may compass yours.

SIL.
Sil. You have your wish; my will is ever this,
That presently you hie you home to bed,
Thou subtle, perjur'd, false, dissol'vial man,
Think'st thou I am so shallow, so conceitl's
To be seduced by thy flattery,
That hast deceiv'd so many with thy vows?
Return, return, and make thy love amends.
For me, by this pale queen of night I swear,
I am so far from granting thy request,
That I despise thee for thy wrongful suit;
And, by and by, intend to chide my self,
Even for this time I spend in talking to thee.

Pro. I grant, sweet love, that I did love a lady,
But she is dead.

Jul. 'Twere false, if I should speak it;
For I am sure she is not bury'd.

Sil. Say that she be; yet Valentine, thy friend,
Survives; to whom, thy self art witness,
I am betroth'd: And art thou not asham'd
To wrong him with thy importunity?

Pro. I likewise hear that Valentine is dead.

Sil. And so suppose am I; for in his grave,
Affure thy self, my love is buried.

Pro. Sweet lady, let me take it from the earth.

Sil. Go to thy lady's grave, and call her thence,
Or, at the least, in hers sepulchre thine.

Jul. He heard not that.

Pro. Madam, if your heart be so obdurate,
Vouchsafe me yet your picture for my love,
The picture that is hanging in your chamber;
To that I'll speak, to that I'll sigh and weep:
For since the substance of your perfect self
Is else devoted. I am but a shadow;
And to your shadow will I make true love.

Jul. If 'twere a substance you would sure deceive it,
And make it but a shadow, as I am.

Sil. I am very loath to be your idol, sir;
But since your falsehood shall become you well,
To worship shadows, and adore false shapes,
Send to me in the morning, and I'll send it:
And so good Rest.

Pro. As Wretches have o'er Night,
That wait for Execution in the Morn. [Exe. Pro. and Sil.

Jul. Host, will you go?

Host. By my Hallidom, I was fast asleep.

Jul. Pray you where lies Sir Protheus?

Host. Marry, at my House;

Trust me, I think 'tis almost Day.

Jul. Not so; but it hath been the longest Night
That e'er I watch'd, and the most heaviest. [Exeunt;

SCENE III.

Enter Eglamour.

Egl. This is the Hour that Madam Silvia
Entreated me to call, and know her Mind:
There's some great Matter she'd employ me in;
Madam, Madam.

Enter Silvia above.

Sil. Who calls?

Egl. Your Servant and your Friend;
One that attends your Ladyship's Command.

Sil. Sir Eglamour, a thousand times Good-morrow;

Egl. As many, worthy Lady, to your self:
According to your Ladyship's Impofe,
I am thus early come, to know what Service
It is your Pleasure to command me in.

Sil. Oh Eglamour, thou art a Gentleman;
Think not I flatter, for I swear I do not;
Valiant, wise, remorseful, well accomplish'd;
Thou art not ignorant what dear good Will
I bear unto the banish'd Valentine;
Nor how my Father would enforce me marry
Vain Ithoria, whom my very Soul abhor'd,
Thy self hast lov'd, and I have heard thee say,
No Grief did come so near thy Heart,
As when thy Lady, and thy true Love dy'd;
Upon whole Grave thou vow'dst pure Chastity.
Sir Eglamour, I would to Valentine
To Mantua, where I hear he makes Abode:

And,
And, for the Ways are dangerous to pass,
I do desire thy worthy Company;
Upon whose Faith and Honour I repose.
Urge not my Father’s Anger, Eglandour;
But think upon my Grief, a Lady’s Grief,
And on the Justice of my flying hence,
To keep me from a most unholy Match,
Which Heav’n and Fortune still rewards with Plagues.
I do desire thee, even from a Heart
As full of Sorrows as the Sea of Sands,
To bear me Company and go with me:
If not, to hide what I have said to thee,
That I may venture to depart alone.

Egl. Madam, I pity much your Grievances;
Which, since I know they virtuously are plac’d,
I give Consent to go along with you,
Wreaking as little what betideth me,
As much I wish all Good befortune you.
When will you go?
Sil. This Evening coming.
Egl. Where shall I meet you?
Sil. At Friar Patrick’s Cell;
Where I intend holy Confession.
Egl. I will not fail your Ladyship:
Good-Morrow, Gentle Lady.
Sil. Good-morrow, kind Sir Eglandour. [Exeunt.

SCENE IV.

Enter Launce.

Laun. When a Man’s Servant shall play the Cur with him, look you, it goes hard: One that I brought up of a Puppy, one that I sav’d from drowning, when three or four of his blind Brothers and Sisters went to it! I have taught him even as one would say precisely, thus I would teach a Dog. I was sent to deliver him as a Present to Mistrefs Silvio, from my Master; and I came no sooner into the Dining-Chamber, but he steps me to her Trencher, and steals her Capon’s-Leg. O, ’tis a foul thing; when a Cur cannot keep himself in all Companies. I would would have, as one should say, one that takes up on him to be a Dog indeed, to be, as it were, a Dog at all things. If I had not had more Wit than he, to take a Fault upon me that he did, I think verily he had been hang'd for't, sure as I live he had suffer'd for't; you shall judge: He thrst me himself into the Company of three or four Gentleman-like Dogs, under the Duke's Table; he had not been there, blest the Mark, a pissing while, but all the Chamber smelt him: Out with the Dog: says one; what Cur is that? says another; whip him out, says the third; hang him up, says the Duke: I having been acquainted with the Smell before, knew it was Crab, and goes me to the Fellow that whips the Dogs: Friend, quoth I, you mean to whip the Dog? Ay marry do I, quoth he. You do him the more Wrong, quoth I; 'twas I did the thing you wot of; he makes no more ado, but whips me out of the Chamber.
How many Masters would do this for his Servant? Nay, I'll be sworn I have sat in the Stocks for Puddings he hath stoll'n, otherwise he had been executed; I have stood on the Pillory for Geege he hath kill'd, otherwise he had suffer'd for't: Thou think'st not of this now, Nay,
I remember the Trick you serv'd me when I took my Leave of Madam Silvia; did not I bid thee still mark me, and do as I do? When didst thou see me heave up my Leg, and make Water against a Gentlewoman's Farthingale? Didst thou ever see me do such a Trick?

_Elter Protheus and Julia._

_Pro. Sebastian_ is thy Name? I like thee well,
And will employ thee in some Service presently.

_Jul._ In what you please: I'll do, Sir, what I can.

_Pro. _I hope thou wilt.

How now, you Whore-Son Pefant,
Where have you been these two Days loitering?

_Larn._ Marry, Sir, I carry'd Mistres Silvia the Dog
you had me.

_Pro. _And what says she to my little Jewel?

_Larn._ Marry, she says, your Dog was a Cur, and tells you, currish Thanks is good enough for such a Present.

_Pro. _But she receiv'd my Dog?

_Larn._
Lauz. No indeed she did not:
Here have I brought him back again.

Pro. What, didst thou offer her this from me?

Lauz. Ay Sir; the other Squirrel was stolln from me
By the Hangman's Boy in the Market-Place;
And then I offer'd her mine own, who is a Dog
As big as ten of yours, and therefore the Gift the greater.

Pro. Go get thee hence, and find my Dog again,
Or ne'er return again into my Sight:
Away, I say; stay'th thou to vex me here?
A Slave, that still an end turns me to Shame. [Exit Lauz;
Sebastian, I have entertained thee,
Partly that I have need of such a Youth,
That can with some Discretion do my Business;
For 'tis no trusting to you foolish Lowt:
But chiefly for thy Face and thy Behaviour,
Which, if my Augury deceive me not,
Witness good bringing up, Fortune and Truth:
Therefore know thou, for this I entertain thee.
Go presently, and take this Ring with thee;
Deliver it to Madam Silvia.
She lov'd me well, that deliver'd it to me.

Jul. It seems you lov'd not her, to leave her Token;
She is dead belike.

Pro. Not so: I think she lives.

Jul. Alas!

Pro. Why dost thou cry alas?

Jul. I cannot chuse but pity her.

Pro. Wherefore shouldst thou pity her?

Jul. Because methinks, that she lov'd you as well
As you do love your Lady Silvia:
She dreams on him that has forgot her Love;
You deat on her that cares not for your Love.
'Tis pity Love should be so contrary;
And thinking on it makes me cry alas!

Pro. Well, give her that Ring, and therewithal
This Letter; that's her Chamber: Tell my Lady,
I claim the Promise for her heav'ly Picture.
Your Message done, h'ye home unto my Chamber,
Where thou shalt find me sad and solitary. [Exit Pro.

Jul.
Ful. How many Women would do such a Message?
Alas, poor Protheus, thou hast entertain’d
A Fox to be the Shepherd of thy Lambs:
Alas, poor Fool, why do I pity him
That with his very Heart despiseth me?
Because he loves her, he despiseth me;
Because I love him, I must pity him.
This Ring I gave him when he parted from me;
To bind him to remember my good Will;
And now I am, unhappy Messenger,
To plead for that which I would not obtain;
To carry that which I would have refus’d;
To praise his Faith, which I would have disprais’d,
I am my Master’s true confirmed Love,
But cannot be true Servant to my Master,
Unless I prove false Traitor to my self:
Yet will I woo for him, but yet so coldly,
As, Heav’n it knows, I would not have him speed.

Enter Silvia.

Gentlewoman, good Day; I pray you be my mean
To bring me where to speak with Madam Silvia.
Sil. What would you with her, if that I be she?
Ful. If you be she, I do entreat your Patience
To hear me speak the Message I am sent on.
Sil. From whom?
Ful. From my Master, Sir Protheus, Madam:
Sil. Oh! he sends you for a Picture?
Ful. Ay, Madam.
Sil. Ursula, bring my Picture there.
Go, give your Master this; tell him from me,
One Julia, that his changing Thoughts forget,
Would better fit his Chamber than this Shadow.
Ful. Madam, please you peruse this Letter.
Pardon me, Madam, I have unadvis’d
Deliver’d you a Paper that I should not;
This is the Letter to your Ladyship.
Sil. I pray thee let me look on that again.
Ful. It may not be; good Madam, pardon me.
Sil. There, hold;
I will not look upon your Master’s Lines,
I know they are stuff with Protestations,
And full of new-found Oaths, which he will break,
As easy as I do tear his Paper.

_Ful._ Madam, he sends your Ladyship this Ring.

_Sil._ The more Shame for him that he sends it me;

For I have heard him say a thousand times,
His _Julia_ gave it him at his Departure;
Tho' his false Finger have profan'd the Ring,
Mine shall not do his _Julia_ so much Wrong.

_Ful._ She thanks you.

_Sil._ What say'lt thou?

_Ful._ I thank you, Madam, that you tender her;
Poor Gentlewoman, my Master wrongs her much.

_Sil._ Doft thou know her?

_Ful._ Almost as well as I do know my self.

To think upon her Woes, I do protest,
That I have wept an hundred several times.

_Sil._ Belike she thinks that _Proteus_ hath forlook her.

_Ful._ I think she do's; and that's her cause of Sorrow.

_Sil._ Is she not passing fair?

_Ful._ She hath been fairer, Madam, than she is;

When she did think my Master lov'd her well,
She, in my Judgment, was as fair as you.

But since she did neglect her Looking-Glass,
And threw her Sun-expelling Mask away,
The Air hath starv'd the Roses in her Cheeks,
And pinch'd the Lilly-Tincture of her Face,
That now she is become as black as I.

_Sil._ How tall was she?

_Ful._ About my Stature: For at Pentecost,
When all our Pageants of Delight were plaid,
Our Youth got me to play the Woman's Part,
And I was trim'd in Madam _Julia's_ Gown,
Which served me as fit, by all Mens Judgments,
As if the Garment had been made for me;
Therefore I know she is about my height.
And at that time I made her weep agood,
For I did play a lamentable Part.

Madam, 'twas _Ariadne_ passioning!
For _Trojans_ Perjury, and unjust Flight;
Which I so lively acted with my Tears,

That
That my poor Mistress, moved therewithal,
Wept bitterly; and would I might be dead,
If I in Thought felt not her very Sorrow.

sil. She is beholding to thee, gentle Youth.
Alas, poor Lady! desolate and left;
I weep my self to think upon thy Words.
Here Youth, there is a Purse; I give thee this
For thy sweet Mistress sake, because thou lov'st her.
Farewel. [Exit Silvia.

Jul. And she shall thank you for't, if e'er you know
A virtuous Gentlewoman, mild and beautiful.
I hope my Master's Suit will be but cold,
Since he respects my Mistress Love so much.
Alas! how Love can trifle with it self!
Here is her Picture; let me see; I think,
If I had such a Tire, this Face of mine
Were full as lovely as is this of hers.
And yet the Painter flatter'd her a little,
Unless I flatter with my self too much.
Her Hair is Auburn, mine is perfect Yellow.
If that be all the Difference in his Love,
I'll get me such a colour'd Perriwig.
Her Eys are grey as Grays, and so are mine;
Ay, but her Forehead's low; and mine's as high.
What should it be that he respects in her,
But I can make respective in my self,
If this fond Love were not a blinded God?
Come, Shadow, come, and take this Shadow up;
For 'tis thy Rival. O thou senseless Form,
Thou shalt be worship'd, kiss'd, lov'd and ador'd;
And were there Sense in his Idolatry,
My Substance should be Statue in thy stead.
I'll use thee kindly for thy Mistress sake,
That us'd me so; or else, by Love I vow,
I should have scratch'd out your unseeing Eys,
To make my Master out of Love with thee. [Exit.

ACT
ACT V. SCENE I.

Enter Eglamour.

Egl. The Sun begins to gild the Western Sky,
     And now it is about the very Hour
That Silvia, at Friar Patrick's Cell. should meet me.
She will not fail; for Lovers break not Hours,
Unlesse it be to come before their time:
So much they spur their Expedition.
See where she comes. Lady, a happy Evening,

Enter Silvia.

Sil. Amen. Amen: Go on, good Eglamour,
Out at the Postern by the Abbey-wall;
I fear I am attended by some Spies.
Egl. Fear not; the Forest is not three Leagues off;
If we recover that, we are sure enough. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Thurio, Protheus and Julia.

Thu. Sir Protheus, what says Silvia to my Suit?
Pro. Oh, Sir, I find her milder than she was,
And yet she takes Exceptions at your Person.
Thu. What, that my Leg is too long?
Pro. No; that it is too little.
Thu. I'll wear a Boot to make it somewhat rounder.
Pro. But Love will not be spurr'd to what it loaths.
Thu. What says she to my Face?
Pro. She says it is a fair one.
Thu. Nay, then the Wanton lies; my Face is black.
Pro. But Pearls are fair; and the old Saying is,
Black Men are Pearls in beauteous Ladies Eyes.
Jul. 'Tis true, such Pearls as put out Ladies Eyes;
For I had rather wink than look on them. [Aside.
Thu. How likes she my Discourse?
Pro. Ill, when you talk of War.
Thu. But well when I discourse of Love and Peace.
Jul. But better indeed when you hold your Peace.
Ths. What says she to my Valour?
Pro. Oh, Sir, she makes no doubt of that.
Ful. She needs not, when she knows it Cowardise.
Ths. What says she to my Birth?
Pro. That you are well deriv'd.
Ful. True; from a Gentleman to a Fool.
Ths. Considers she my Possessions?
Pro. Oh, ay, and pities them.
Ths. Wherefore?
Ful. That such an Ass should owe them:
Pro. That they are out by Leave.
Ful. Here comes the Duke.

Enter Duke.

Duke. How now, Sir Prothems? how now, Thurio?
Which of you saw Sir Eglamour of late?
Ths. Not I.
Pro. Nor I.
Duke. Saw you my Daughter?
Pro. Neither.
Duke. Why then
She's fled unto the Peasant Valentine;
And Eglamour is in her Company:
'Tis true; for Friar Laurence met them both;
As he, in Penance, wander'd through the Forest:
Him he knew well, and guest that it was she;
But being mask'd, he was not sure of it.
Besides, she did intend Confection
At Patrick's Cell this Even, and there she was not:
These likelihoods confirm her Flight from hence.
Therefore I pray you stand not to discourse,
But mount you presently, and meet with me
Upon the Rising of the Mountain Foot
That leads toward Mantua, whither they are fled.
Dispatch, sweet Gentlemen, and follow me. [Exit Duke;

Ths. Why this it is to be a peevish Girl,
That flies her Fortune where it follows her:
I'll after, more to be reveng'd of Eglamour,
Than for the Love of wreckless Silvia.
The Two Gentlemen

Pro. And I will follow, more for Silvia's Love,
Than hate of Eglamour that goes with her.

Jul. And I will follow, more to crost that Love,
Than Hate for Silvia, that is gone for Love. [Exeunt.

SCENE III.

Enter Silvia and Out-laws.

1 Out. Come, come, be patient;
We must bring you to our Captain.
Sil. A thousand more Mischances than this one
Have learn'd me how to brook this patiently.
2 Out. Come, bring her away.

1 Out. Where is the Gentleman that was with her?
3 Out. Being nimble-footed, he hath out-run us;
But Moyes and Valerius follow him.
Go thou with her to the West end of the Wood,
There is our Captain: We'll follow him that's fled.
The Thicket is better, he cannot escape.

1 Out. Come, I must bring you to our Captain's Cave.
Fear not; he bears an honourable Mind,
And will not use a Woman lawlessly.
Sil. O Valentine! this I endure for thee. [Exeunt.

SCENE IV.

Enter Valentine.

Val. How Use doth breed a Habit in a Man!
This shadowy Desart, un frequented Woods,
I better brook than flourishing peopled Towns.
Here I can sit alone, un seen of any,
And to the Nightingale's complaining Notes
Tune my Distresses, and record my Woes.
O thou that dost inhabit in my Breast,
Leave not the Mansion to long Tenantless,
Left, growing ruinous, the Building fall,
And leave no Memory of what it was.
Repair me with thy Presence, Silvia;
Thou gentle Nymph, cherish thy forlorn Swain.

What
What hollowing, and what stir is this to-day?
These are my mates that make their wills their law,
Have some unhappy passenger in chase.
They love me well, yet I have much to do
To keep them from uncivil outrages.
Withdraw thee, Valentine: Who's this comes here?
Enter Protheus, Silvia and Julia.

Pro. Madam, this service have I done for you,
Tho' you respect not ought your servant doth,
To hazard life, and rescue you from him
That would have forc'd your honour and your love.
Vouchsafe me for my meed but one fair look,
A smaller boon than this I cannot beg,
And less than this I am sure you cannot give.

Val. How like a dream is this? I see and hear:
Love, lend me patience to forbear a while.

Sil. O miserable unhappy that I am!

Pro. Unhappy were you, Madam, ere I came;
But by my coming I have made you happy.

Sil. By thy approach thou mak'st me most unhappy.

Jul. And me, when he approacheth to your presence.

[Aside.

Sil. Had I been seized by a hungry lion,
I would I have been a breakfast to the beast,
Rather than have false Protheus rescue me.
Oh heav'n be judge how I love Valentine,
Whose life's as tender to me as my soul;
And full as much, for more there cannot be,
I do detest false perjur'd Protheus;
Therefore be gone, solicit me no more.

Pro. What dangerous action stood it next to death,
Would I not undergo for one calm look?
Oh, 'tis the curse in love, and still approv'd,
When women cannot love where they're below'd.

Sil. When Protheus cannot love where he's below'd.
Read over Julia's heart, thy first best love,
For whose dear sake thou didst then rend thy faith
Into a thousand oaths; and all those oaths
Descended into perjury to deceive me.
The Two Gentlemen

Thou hast no Faith left now, unless thou'dst two,
And that's far worse than none: Better have none
Than plural Faith, which is too much by one;
Thou Counterfeit to thy true Friend.

Pro. In Love,

Who respects Friend?

Sil. All Men but Protheus.

Pro. Nay, if the gentle Spirit of moving Words
Can no way change you to a milder Form;
I'll move you like a Soldier, at Arms end,
And love you 'gainst the Nature of Love; force ye.

Sil. Oh Heav'n!

Pro. I'll force thee yield to my Desire.

Val. Ruffian, let go that rude uncivil Touch,

Thou Friend of an ill Fashion.

Pro. Valentine!

Val. Thou common Friend, that's without Faith or Love;
For such is a Friend now: Thou treacherous Man!
Thou hast beguil'd my Hopes; nought but mine Eye
Could have persuaded me. Now I dare not say
I have one Friend alive; thou wouldst disprove me:

Who should be trusted now, when ones right Hand
Is perjur'd to the Bosom? Protheus,
I am sorry I must never trust thee more,
But count the World a Stranger for thy sake.
The private Wound is deepest. Oh time, most accurst!
'Mongst all Foes, that a Friend should be the worst!

Pro. My Shame and Guilt confound me:

Forgive me, Valentine; if hearty Sorrow
Be a sufficient Ransom for Offence,
I tender't here; I do as truly suffer,
As e'er I did commit.

Val. Then I am paid:

And once again I do receive thee honest.
Who by Repentance is not satisfy'd,
Is nor of Heav'n nor Earth, for these are pleas'd;
By Penitence th' Eternal's Wrath's appeas'd.
And that my Love may appear plain and free,
All that was mine in Silvia, I give thee.
Jul. Oh me unhappy!
Pro. Look to the Boy.
Val. Why, Boy?
Why Wag, how now? what's the Matter? look up; speak.
Jul. O good Sir, my Master charg'd me to deliver a Ring to Madam Silvia, which, out of my neglect, was never done.
Pro. Where is that Ring, Boy?
Jul. Here 'tis: This is it.
Pro. How? Let me see:
Why, this is the Ring I gave to Julia.
Jul. Oh, cry you mercy, Sir, I have mistook;
This is the Ring you sent to Silvia.
Pro. But how cam'it thou by this Ring? At my Depart
I gave this unto Julia.
Jul. And Julia her self did give it me.
And Julia her self hath brought it hither.
Pro. How, Julia?
Jul. Behold her that gave aim to all thy Oaths,
And entertain'd 'em deeply in her Heart:
How oft hast thou with Perjury cleft the Root?
Oh Protheus, let this Habit make thee blush!
Be thou ashamed that I have took upon me
Such an immodest Rayment. If Shame live
In a Disguise of Love,
It is the leffer Blot Modesty finds,
Women to change their Shapes, than Men their M inds.
Pro. Than Men their Minds? 'Tis true, oh Heav'n, were Man
But constant, he were perfect; that one Error
Fills him with Faults, makes him run through all th'Sins:
Inconstancy falls off ere it begins.
What is in Silvia's Face, but I may spy
More fresh in Julia's with a constant Eye?
Val. Come, come; a Hand from either:
Let me be blest to make this happy Cloze;
'Twere pity two such Friends should be long Foes.
Pro. Bear Witness, Heav'n, I have my Wish for ever.

Jul. And I mine.

Enter Duke, Thurio and Out-laws.

Out. A Prize, a Prize, a Prize.

Val. Forbear, forbear, I say: It is my Lord the Duke.

Your Grace is Welcome to a Man disgrac'd, Banished Valentine.

Duke. Sir Valentine?

Thur. Yonder is Silvia: And Silvia's mine.

Val. Thurio, give back; or else embrace thy Death:

Come not within the measure of my Wrath.

Do not name Silvia thine; if once again,

Verona shall not hold thee. Here she stands,

Take but Possession of her with a Touch;

I dare thee but to breathe upon my Love.

Thur. Sir Valentine, I care not for her, I.

I hold him but a Fool that will endanger

His Body for a Girl that loves him not:

I claim her not; and therefore she is thine.

Duke. The more degenerate and base art thou,

To make such means for her as thou hast done,

And leave her on such slight Conditions.

Now, by the Honour of my Ancestry,

I do applaud thy Spirit, Valentine,

And think thee worthy of an Empress Love:

Know then, I here forget all former Grievs,

Cancel all Grudge, repeal thee home again,

Plead a new State in thy arrival'd Merit,

To which I thus subscribe: Sir Valentine,

Thou art a Gentleman, and well deriv'd,

Take thou thy Silvia, for thou hast deserv'd her.

Val. I thank your Grace; the Gift hath made me happy.

I now beseech you, for your Daughter's sake,

To grant one Boon that I shall ask of you.

Duke. I grant it for thine own, what'eer it be.

Val. These banish'd Men that I have kept withal,

Are Men endu'd with worthy Qualities:

Forgive them what they have committed here,

And let them be recall'd from their Exile.

They
They are reform'd, civil, full of good,
And fit for great Employment, worthy Lord.

_Duke._ Thou hast prevail'd, I pardon them and thee;
Dispose of them as thou know'st their Deserts.
Come, let us go; we will include all Jars
With Triumphs, Mirth, and all Solemnity.

_Val._ And as we walk along, I dare be bold
With our Discourse to make your Grace to smile.
What think you of this Page, my Lord?

_Duke._ I think the Boy hath Grace in him, he blushes.
_Val._ I warrant you, my Lord, more Grace than Boy.

_Duke._ What mean you by that Saying?

_Val._ Please you, I'll tell you as we pass along,
That you will wonder what hath fortuned.
Come _Protheus,_ 'tis your Penance but to hear
The Story of your Loves discovered:
That done, our Day of Marriage shall be yours,
One Feast, one House, one mutual Happiness.

THE

Merry Wives of Windsor.

ACT I. SCENE I.

Enter Justice Shallow, Slender, and Sir Hugh Evans.

S H A L L O W.

Sir Hugh, persuade me not; I will make a Star-Chamber Matter of it: If he were twenty Sir John Falstaff, he shall not abuse Robert Shallow, Esq.

Sl. I vista. In the County of Gloucester, Justice of Peace, and Coram.

Shal. Ay, Cousin Slender, and Castalorum.

Slen. Ay, and Ratusorum too; and a Gentleman born, Master Parson, who writes himself Armigero, in any Bill, Warrant, Quittance, or Obligation, Armigero.

Shal. Ay, that I do, and have done any time these three hundred Years.

Slen. All his Successors, gone before him, have don't; and all his Ancestors, that come after him, may; they may give the dozen white Luces in their Coat.

Shal. It is an old Coat.
Eva. The dozen white Lowfes do become an old Coat well; it agrees well Passant; it is a familiar Beast to Man, and signifies Love.

Shal. The Luce is the Fresh-fish, the Salt-fish is an old Coat.

Slen. I may quarter, Coz.

Shal. You may, by marrying.

Eva. It is marring indeed, if he quarter it.

Shal. Not a whit.

Eva. Yes per-lady; if he has a quarter of your Coat, there is but three Skirts for your self, in my simple Conjectures; but that is all one: If Sir John Falstaff have committed Disparagements upon you, I am of the Church, and will be glad to do my Benevolence, to make Atonements and Compromises between you.

Shal. The Council shall hear it; it is a Riot.

Eva. It is not meet the Council hear a Riot; there is no Fear of Got in a Riot: The Council, look you, shall desire to hear the Fear of Got, and not to hear a Riot; take you visa-ments in that.

Shal. Ha! o my Life, if I were young again, the Sword should end it.

Eva. It is better that Friends is the Sword, that end it; and there is also another Device in my Prain, which peradventure prings good Discretions with it: There is Annie Page, which is Daughter to Master Thomas Page, which is pretty Virginity.

Slen. Miss, Misses Annie Page? she has brown Hair, and speaks like a Woman.

Eva. Is it that ferry Person for all the Orld, as just as you will desire; and seven hundred Pounds of Monies, and Gold, and Silver, is her Grand-fire upon his Death-bed (Got deliver to a joyful Resurrections) give, when she is able to overtake seventeen Years old: It were a good Motion, if we leave our priddles and prabbles, and desire a Marriage between Master Abraham, and Misses Annie Page.

Slen. Did her Grand-fire leave her seven hundred Pound?

Eva. Ay, and her Father is make her a petter Penny.
I know the young Gentlewoman; she has good Gifts.

Seven hundred Pounds, and possibility is good Gifts.

Well; let us see honest Mr. Page: Is Falstaff there?

Shall I tell you a Lie? I do despise a Liar as I do despise one that is false; or as I despise one that is not true. The Knight, Sir John, is there; and I beseech you be ruled by your Well-wishers. I will peat the Door [Knocks] for Master Page. What hoa? Got bless your House here.

Enter Mr. Page.

Who's there?

Here is Got's plesing, and your Friend, and Justice Shallow; and here's young Master Slender; that per-adventures shall tell you another Tale, if matters grow to your likings.

I am glad to see your Worship's well. I thank you for my Venison, Master Shallow.

Master Page, I am glad to see you; much good do it your good Heart: I wish'd your Venison better; it was ill kill'd. How doth good Mistress Page? And I thank you always with my Heart, la; with my Heart.

Sir, I thank you.

Sir, I thank you; by yea and no I do.

I am glad to see you, good Master Slender.

How do's your fallow Greyhound, Sir? I heard say, he was out-run on Coysale.

It could not be judg'd, Sir.

You'll not confess, you'll not confess.

That he will not, 'tis your fault, 'tis your fault; 'tis a good Dog.

A Cur, Sir.

Sir, he's a good Dog, and a fair Dog; can there be more said? He is good and fair. Is Sir John Falstaff here?

Sir, he is within; and I would I could do a good Office between you.

It is spoke as a Christians ought to speak.
Shal. He hath wrong'd me, Master Page.

Page. Sir, he doth in some sort confess it.

Shal. If it be confess'd, it is not redress'd; is not that so, Master Page? He hath wrong'd me, indeed he hath, at a word he hath, believe me, Robert Shallow, Esquire, faith, he is wrong'd.

Page. Here comes Sir John.

Enter Sir John Falstaff, Bardolph, Nym and Pistol.

Fal. Now, Master Shallow, you'll complain of me to the King?

Shal. Knight, you have beaten my Men, kill'd my Deer, and broke open my Lodge.

Fal. But not kill'd your Keeper's Daughter.

Shal. Tut, a pin; this shall be answer'd.

Fal. I will answer it straight: I have done all this.

That is now answer'd.

Shal. The Council shall know this.

Fal. 'Twere better for you if it were known in Council; you'll be laugh'd at.

Evn. Paucis verbis, Sir John, good Worts.

Fal. Good Worts? Good Cabbage. Slender, I broke your Head: what Matter have you against me?

Slen. Marry Sir, I have Matter in my Head against you, and against your Cony-catching Rascals, Bardolph, Nym and Pistol.

Bar. You Barbury Cheese.

Slen. Ay, it is no matter.

Pis. How now, Mephostophilus?

Slen. Ay, it is no matter.

Nym. Sliceth, I say, paucas, paucas: Slice, that's my Humour.

Slen. Where's Simple, my Man? Can you tell, Cousin?

Evn. Peace, I pray you: Now let us understand; there is three Umpires in this matter, as I understand; that is, Master Page, fidelicet, Master Page; and there is my self, fidelicet, my self; and the three Party is, lastly, and finally, mine Hoist of the Garter.

Mr. Page. We three to hear it, and end it between them.
Eva. Ferry goot; I will make a Prief of it in my Note book, and we will afterwards ork upon the Cause with as great discreetly as we can.

Fal. Pistol.

Pift. He hears with Ears.

Eva. The Tevil and his Tam; what Phrafe is this, he hears with Ear? Why it is Affectations.

Fal. Pistol, did you pick Master Slender’s Purfe?

Slen. Ay, by these Gloves did he, or I would I might never come in mine own great Chamber again else, of seven Groats in Mill-sixpences, and two Edward Shovelboards, that cost me two Shilling and two Pence a piece, of Yead Miller; by these Gloves.

Fal. Is this true, Pistol?

Eva. No; it is falle, if it is a Pick-purse.

Pift. Ha, thou Mountain Forger; Sir John, and Mafler mine, I Combate challenge of this Latin Bilboe: Word of Denial in thy Labras here; word of Denial; Froth and Scum, thou ly’t.

Slen. By these Gloves, then ’twas he.

Nym. Be advis’d, Sir, and pas good Humours: I will fay marry trap with you, if you run the Nut-hocks Humour on me; that is the very Note of it.

Slen. By this Hat, then he in the red Face had it; for tho’ I cannot remember what I did when you made me drunk, yet I am not altogether an As.

Fal. What fay you, Scarlet and John?

Bard. Why, Sir, for my part, I fay, the Gentleman had drunk himself out of his five Sentences.

Eva. It is his five Sentences: Fie, what the Ignorance is?

Bard. And being fap. Sir, was, as they fay, cashier’d; and fo Conclusions past the Car-eires.

Slen. Ay, you fapeake in Latin then too; but ’tis no matter; I’ll ne’er be drunk whilst I live again, but in honeft, civil, godly Company for this Trick: If I be drunk, I’ll be drunk with thole that have the Fear of God, and not with drunken Knaves.

Eva. So Got udg me, that is a virtuous Mind.

Fal. You hear all thefe Matters day’d, Gentlemen, you hear it.
The Merry Wives

Enter Mistress Anne Page, with wine.

Page. Nay, Daughter, carry the wine in; we'll drink within.

Slrn. Oh heav'n! this is Mistress Anne Page.

Enter Mistress Ford and Mistress Page.

Fal. Mistress Ford, by my troth you are very well met; by your leave, good Mistress.

Page. Wife, bid these Gentlemen Welcome: Come, we have a hot Venison Pasty to dinner; Come, Gentlemen, I hope we shall drink down all Unkindness.

Mancet Shallow, Evans and Slender.

Slrn. I had rather than forty Shillings, I had my Book of Songs and Sonnets here.

Enter Simple.

How now, Simple, where have you been? I must wait on myself, must I? You have not the Book of Riddles about you, have you?

Simp. Book of Riddles! Why, did you not lend it to Alice Short-cake upon Alhollowmas last, a fortnight afore Michaelmas?

Shal. Come Coz, come Coz; we say for you: A word with you Coz: Marry this, Coz; there is, as'twere, a Tender, a kind of Tender, made afar off by Sir Hugh here: Do you understand me?

Slen. Ay Sir, you shall find me reasonable: If it be so, I shall do that is Reason.

Shal. Nay, but understand me.

Slen. So I do, Sir.

Eua. Give ear to his Motions, Mr. Slender: I will description the Matter to you, if you be Capacity of it.

Slen. Nay, I will do as my Cousin Shallow says: I pray you pardon me: he's a Justice of Peace in his Country, simple tho' I stand here.

Eua. But that is not the Question: The Question is concerning your Marriage.

Shal. Ay, there's the point, Sir.

Eua. Marry is it; the very Point of it, to Mrs. Anne Page.

Slen.
Why, if it be so, I will marry her upon any reasonable Demands.

But can you affection the Roman? Let us command to know that of your Mouth, or of your Lips? For divers Philosophers hold, that the Lips is Parcel of the Mouth: Therefore precisely, can you marry your good Will to the Maid?

Cousin Abraham Slender, can you love her?

I hope, Sir; I will do as it shall become one that would do Reason.

Nay, Got's Lords and his Ladies, you must speak possible, if you can carry her your Desires towards her.

That you must:

Will you, upon good Dowry, marry her?

I will do a greater thing than that upon your Request, Cousin, in any Reason.

Nay, conceive me, conceive me, sweet Coz, what I do is to please you, Coz: Can you love the Maid?

I will marry her, Sir, at your Request: But if there be no great Love in the beginning, yet Heav'n may decrease it upon better Acquaintance, when we are marry'd, and have more occasion to know one another; I hope upon Familiarity will grow more Content: But if you lay, marry her, I will marry her, that I am freely dissolved, and dissolutely.

It is a ferry discretion Answer; save the fall is in th'Ort dissolutely: The Ort is, according to our meaning, resolutely; his Meaning is good.

Ay, I think my Cousin meant well.

Ay, or else I would I might be 'hang', la.

Enter Mistress Anne Page.

Here comes fair Mistress Anne: Would I were Young for your sake, Mistress Anne.

The Dinner is on the Table; my Father desires your Worship's Company.

I will wait on him, fair Mistress Anne.

Od's pleased Will, I will not be absent at the Grace.

[Ex. Shallow and Evans.

Will not please your Worship to come in, Sir?

No, I thank you Fortho foot heartily; I am very well.

Anne,
Anne. The Dinner attends you, Sir.

Slen. I am not a-hungry, I thank you Forsooth; Go Sirrah, for all you are my Man, go wait upon my Cousin Shallow; a Justice of Peace sometime may be beholding to his Friend for a Man. I keep but three Men and a Boy yet, 'till my Mother be dead; but what though, yet I live a poor Gentleman born.

Anne. I may not go in without your Worship; they will not fit 'till you come.

Slen. I'faith, I'll eat nothing; I thank you as much as though I did.

Anne. I pray you, Sir, walk in.

Slen. I had rather walk here, I thank you: I bruised my Shin th'other Day, with playing at Sword and Dagger with a Master of Fence, three Veneyes for a Dish of stew'd Prunes, and by my troth I cannot abide the smell of hot Meat since. Why do your Dogs bark so? be there Bears i'th' Town?

Anne. I think there are, Sir, I heard them talk'd of.

Slen. I love the Sport well; but I shall as soon quarrel at it as any Man in England. You are afraid if you see the Bear loofe, are you not?

Anne. Ay indeed, Sir.

Slen. That's Meat and Drink to me now; I have seen Sackerson loose twenty times, and have taken him by the Chain; but, I warrant you, the Women have so cry'd and shrieked at it, that it past; But Women indeed cannot a-bide 'em, they are very ill-favour'd rough things.

Enter Mr. Page.

Page. Come, gentle Mr. Slender, come; we stay for you.

Slen. I' ll eat nothing, I thank you, Sir.

Page. By Cock and Pye you shall not chuse, Sir; come; come.

Slen. Nay, pray you lead the Way.

Page. Come on, Sir.

Slen. Mistrel's Anne, your self shall go first.

Anne. Not I, Sir, pray you keep on.

Slen. Truly I will not go first, truly-la: I will not do you that wrong.

Anne. I pray you, Sir.
of W I N D S O R.

Scene. I'll rather be unmannerly than troublesome; you do your self wrong, indeed la.

[Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Evans and Simple.

Ev. Go your ways, and ask of Doctor Caius House which is the Way; and there dwells one Mistres: Quickly, which is in the manner of his Nurse, or his dry Nurse, or his Cook, or his Laundry, his Washer, and his Ringer.

Simp. Well, Sir.

Ev. Nay, it is petter yet; give her this Letter; for it is a 'oman that altogethers Acquaintance with Mistres Anne Page; and the Letter is to desirfe, and require her to sollicit your Master's Desires to Mistres Anne Page: I pray you be gone; I will make an end of my Dinner; there's Pippins and Cheefe to come.

[Exeunt.

SCENE III.

Enter Falstaff, Hoft, Bardolph, Nym, Pistol and Robin.

Hoft. What says my bully Rook? speak schollarly, and wisely.

Fal. Truly, mine Hoft, I must turn away some of my Followers.

Hoft. Discard, Bully Hercules, cashier; let them wag; trot, trot.

Fal. I sit at ten Pounds a Week.

Hoft. Thou'rt an Emperor, Cesar, Keifar and Phoeazar. I will entertain Bardolph, he will draw, he will tap; said I well, Bully Heftor?

Fal. Do so, good mine Hoft.

Hoft. I have spoke, let him follow; let me fee thee froth and live: I am at a word; follow. [Exit Hoft.

Fal. Bardolph, follow him, a Taper is a good Trade; an old Cloak makes a new Jerkin; a wither'd Serving-Man, a fresh Taper; go, adieu.

Bard. It is a Life that I have desir'd: I will thrive. [Exit Bard.

Pist.
The Merry Wives

Pist. O base Hungarian Wight, wilt thou the Spigot wield?

Nym. He was gotten in Drink; is not the Humour conceited?

Fal. I am glad I am so acquit of this Tinderbox; his Thefts were too open, his Filching was like an unskilful Singer, he kept not time.

Nym. The good Humour is to steal at a Minute's rest.

Pist. Convey, the Wife it call: Steal? foh, a fico for the Phrase.

Fal. Well, Sirs, I am almost out at Heels.

Pist. Why then let Kibes ensue.

Fal. Thereis no remedy: I must conicatch, I must shift.

Pist. Young Ravens must have Food.

Fal. Which of you know Ford of this Town?

Pist. I ken the Wight, he is of Substance good.

Fal. My honest Lads, I will tell you what I am about.

Pist. Two Yards and more.

Fal. No Quips now, Pistol: Indeed I am in the Waste two Yards about; but I am now about no Waste, I am about Thrift. Briefly, I do mean to make Love to Ford's Wife: I spy Entertainment in her; she discourses, she carves, she gives the Leer of Invitation; I can construe the Action of her familiar Stile, and the hardest Voice of her Behaviour, to be English'd right, is, I am Sir John Falstaff's.

Pist. He hath study'd her Will, and translated her Will, out of Honesty into English.

Nym. The Anchor is deep; will that Humour pass?

Fal. Now, the Report goes, she has all the Rule of her Husband's Purse: He hath a Legion of Angels.

Pist. As many Devils entertain; and to her, Boy, say I.

Nym. The Humour rises; it is good; humour me the Angels.

Fal. I have writ me here a Letter to her; and here another to Page's Wife, who even now gave me good Eyes too, examin’d my Parts with most judicious Illiads, sometimes the Beam of her View guided my Foot, sometimes my portly Belly.

Pist. Then did the Sun on Dung-hill shine.

Nym.
Nym. I thank thee for that Humour.
Fal. O she did so course o'er my Exteriors with such a greedy Intention, that the Appetite of her Eye did seem to scorch me up' like a Burning-Glass: Here's another Letter to her; she bears the Purle too; she is a Region in Guiana, all Gold and Bounty. I will be Cheaters to them both, and they shall be Exchequers to me; they shall be my East and West-Indies, and I will trade to them both. Go, bear thou this Letter to Mistress Page; and thou this to Mistress Ford: We will thrive, Lads, we will thrive.

Pisg. Shall I Sir Pandarus of Troy become;
And by my Side wear Steel? Then Lucifer take all.
Nym. I will run no base Humour: Here take the Humour-Letter, I will keep the Haviour of Reputation.
Fal. Hold, Sirrah, bear you these Letters rightly,
Soil like my Pinnace to these golden Shores.
Rogues, hence, avaunt, vanish like Hail-stones; go,
Trudge, plod away o'th' hoof, seek shelter, pack:
Falstaff will learn the Honour of the Age,
French Thrift, you Rogues, my self, and skirted Pages.

[Exit Falstaff and Boy.

Pisg. Let Vultures gripe thy Guts; for Gourd, and Fallam holds; and high and low beguiles the rich and poor
Teeter I'll have in Pouch when thou shalt lack,
Bafe Phrygian Turk.

Nym. I have Operations,
Which be Humours of Revenge.
Pisg. Wilt thou revenge?
Nym. By Welkin and her Star.
Pisg. With Wit, or Steel?
Nym. With both the Humours, I:
I will discuss the Humour of this Love to Ford.
Pisg. And I to Page shall eke unfold
How Falstaff, Varlet vile,
His Dove will prove, his Gold will hold,
And his soft Couch desile.

Nym. My Humour shall not cool; I will incense Ford to deal with Poison, I will posseis him with Yellowness, for the Revolt of mine is dangerous: That is my true Humour.
Pisg.
The Merry Wives

First. Thou art the Mars of Male-contents: I second thee; troop on. [Exit.]

SCENE IV.

Enter Mistress Quickly, Simple, and John Rugby.

Quick. What, John Rugby! I pray thee go to the Cellarment, and see if you can see my Master, Master Doctor Caius, coming; if he do, I' faith, and find any body in the House, here will be an old abusing of God's Patience, and the King's English.

Rug. I'll go watch. [Exit Rugby.

Quick. Go, and we'll have a Posset for't soon at Night, in Faith, at the latter end of a Sea-coal Fire: An honest, willing, kind Fellow, as ever Servant shall come in House withal, and I warrant you no Tell-tale, nor no Breed-bate; his worst Fault is that he is given to Pray'r, he is something peevish that way; but no body but has his Fault; but let that pass. Peter Simple you say your Name is.

Simple. Ay, for fault of a better.

Quick. And Master Slender's your Master?

Simple. Ay, Forsooth.

Quick. Does he not wear a great round Beard, like a Glover's Pairing-knife?

Simple. No, Forsooth; he hath but a little Wee-face, with a little yellow Beard, a Cane-colour'd Beard.

Quick. A softly-sprighted Man, is he not?

Simple. Ay, Forsooth; but he is as tall a Man of his Hands, as any is between this and his Head; he hath fought with a Warrener.

Quick. How say you? Oh, I should remember him; does he not hold up his Head, as it were? And strut in his Gate?

Simple. Yes indeed does he.

Quick. We'll, Heav'n send Anne Page no worse Fortune. Tell Master Parson Evans, I will do what I can for your Master: Anne is a good Girl, and I wish—— Enter Rugby.

Rug. Out, alas! here comes my Master.

Quick.
Quic. We shall all be shent; run in here, good young Man; go into this Closet; [Shuts Simple in the Closet.] He will not stay long. What, John Rugby! John! What John, I say; go John, go enquire for my Master, I doubt he be not well, that he comes not home: and down, down, a-down'a, &c.

Enter Doctor Caius.

Caius. Vat is you sing? I do not like des Toys; pray you go and vetch me in my Closet, un boitier verd; a Box, a green-a Box; do intend vat I speak? a green-a Box.

Quic. Ay Forsooth, I'll fetch it you.
I am glad he went not in himself; if he had found the young Man, he would have been horn-mad.

Caius. Fe, fe, fe, fe, ma foi, il fait fort chaud, je m'en vais a la Cour — la grande Affaire.

Quic. Is it this Sir?

Caius. Ouy, mette le au mon Pocket, Depêch Quickly:
Ven is dat Knave Rugby?

Quic. What, John Rugby! John!

Rug. Here Sir.

Caius. You are John Rugby, and you are Jack Rugby; come, take-a your Rapier, and come after my Heel to the Court.

Rug. 'Tis ready, Sir, here in the Porch.

Caius. By my Trot I tarry too long: Od's me: Que ay je oublie: Dere is some Simples in my Closet, dat I will not for the Varld I shall leave behind.

Quic. Ay-me, he'll find the young Man there, and be mad.

Caius. O Diable, Diable; vat is in my Closet?

Villanie, Larron! Rugby, my Rapier.

Quic. Good Master be content.

Caius. Wherefore should I be content-a?

Quic. The young Man is an honest Man.

Caius. What shall de honest Man do in my Closet? dere is no honest Man dat shall come in my Closet.

Quic. I beseech you be not so flegmatick; hear the truth of it. He came of an Errand to me from Parson Hugh.

Caiis. Vell.

Simp.
Simp. Ay Forsooth, to desire her to —

Quic. Peace, I pray you.

Caius. Peace-a your Tongue, speak-a your Tale.

Simp. To desire this honest Gentlewoman, your Maid, to speak a good Word to Mistres Anne Page for my Master in the way of Marriage.

Quic. This is all indeed-la; but I'll ne'er put my Finger in the Fire, and need not.

Caius. Sir Hugh lend-a-you? Rugby, ballow me some Paper; tarry you a little-a-while.

Quic. I am glad he is so quiet; if he had been thoroughly moved, you should have heard him so loud, and so melancholy: But notwithstanding, Man, I'll do for your Master what good I can; and the very yea, and the no is, the French Doctor my Master, I may call him my Master, look you, for I keep his House, and I wash, wring, brew, bake, scour, dress Meat and Drink, make the Beds, and do all my self.

Simp. 'Tis a great Charge to come under one body's Hand.

Quic. Are you a-vis'd o'that? you shall find it a great Charge; and to be up early, and down late. But notwithstanding, to tell you in your Ear, I would have no words of it, my Master himself is in Love with Mistres Anne Page; but notwithstanding that, I know Anne's Mind, that's neither here nor there.

Caius. You, Jack'nape; give'a this Letter to Sir Hugh, by gar it is a Challenge: I will cut his Trot in de Parke, and I will teach a scurvy Jack-a-nape Priest to meddle or make—— You may be gone, it is not good you tarry here; by gar I will cut all his two Stones, by gar, he shall not have a Stone to trow at his Dog. [Exit Simple.

Quic. Alas, he speaks but for his Friend.

Caius. It is no matter'a ver dat: do not you tell-a-me dat I shall have Anne Page for my self? by gar, I will kill de Jack Prietl; and I have appointed mine Hoft of de Fartiere to measure our Weapon; By gar I will my self have Anne Page.

Quic. Sir, the Maid loves you, and all shall be well: We must give Folks leave to prate; what the good-ger.

Caius.
Caius. Rugby, come to the Court with me; by gar, if I have not Anne Page, I shall turn your Head out of my Door; follow my Heels, Rugby. [Ex. Caius and Rugby.

Quic. You shall have An Fools-head of your own. No, I know Anne's Mind for that; never a Woman in Wind for knows more of Anne's Mind than I do, nor can do more than I do with her, I thank Heav'n.

Fent. [within.] Who's within there, hoa?

Quic. Who's there, I trow? Come near the House, I pray you.

Enter Mr. Fenton.

Fent. How now, good Woman, how dost thou?

Quic. The better that it pleases your good Worship to ask.

Fent. What News? how does pretty Mistress Anne?

Quic. In truth Sir, and she is pretty, and honest, and gentle, and one that is your Friend, I can tell you that by the Way, I praise Heav'n for it.

Fent. Shall I do any good, think'ft thou? shall I not lose my Suit?

Quic. Troth, Sir, all is in his Hands above; but notwithstanding, Master Fenton, I'll be sworn on a Book she loves you: Have not your Worship a Wart above your Eye?

Fent. Yes, marry have I; and what of that?

Quic. Well, thereby hangs a Tale; good Faith, it is such another Nan; but, I detest, an honest Maid as ever broke Bread; we had an Hour's talk of that Wart: I shall never laugh but in that Maid's Company! but, indeed, she is given too much to Allicholly and Musing; but for you — Well — go to —

Fent. Well, I shall see her to Day; hold, there's Mony for thee: Let me have thy Voice in my behalf; if thou seest her before me, commend me.

Quic. Will I? Ay faith that we will: And I will tell your Worship more of the Wart, the next time we have confide:ce, and of other Wocers.

Fent. Well, farewell, I am in great haste now. [Exit.

Quir. Farewel to your Worship. Truly an honest Gentleman, but Anne loves him not; I know Anne's Mind as well as another does. Out upon't, what have I forgot?

ACT II. SCENE I.

Enter Mistress Page with a Letter.

Mrs. Page. What, have I 'scap'd Love-Letters in the Holy-day-time of my Beauty, and am I now a Subject for them? let me see:

Ask me no Reason why I love you; for tho' Love useth Reason for his Precy'zen, he admits him not for his Counsellor: You are not young, no more am I; go to thee, there's Sympathy: You are merry, so am I; ha! ha! then there's more Sympathy: You love Sack, and so do I; would you desire better Sympathy? Let it suffice thee, Mistress Page, at the least if the Love of a Soldier can suffice, that I love thee. I will not say, Pity me, 'tis not a Soldier like Pharse; but I say, Love me:

By me, thine own true Knight, by Day or Night, Or any kind of Light, with all his Might, For thee to fight.

John Falstaff.

What a Hero of Fury is this? O wicked, wicked World! One that is well nigh worr'do pieces with Age, To show himself a young Gallant? What unwayed Behaviour hath this Flemish Drunkard pick't; I' th' Devil's Name, out of my Conversation, that he dares in this manner affay me? Why, he hath not been thrice in my Company: What should I say to him? I was then frugal of my Mirth, Heav'n forgive me: Why, I'll exhibit a Bill in the Parliament for the putting down of Men; how shall I be reveng'd on him? for reveng'd I will be, as sure as his Guts are made of Puddings.

Enter Mrs. Ford.

Mrs. Ford. Mistress Page, trust me, I was going to your House,
Mrs. Page. And trust me, I was coming to you; you look very ill.

Mrs. Ford. Nay, I'll ne'er believe that: I have to shew to the contrary.

Mrs. Page. Faith you do, in my Mind.

Mrs. Ford. Well, I do then; yet I say, I could shew you to the contrary: O Mistress Page, give me some Counsel.

Mrs. Page. What's the matter, Woman?

Mrs. Ford. O Woman! if it were not for one trifling Respect, I could come to such Honour.

Mrs. Page. Hang the Trifle, Woman, take the Honour; what is it? dispense with Trifles; what is it?

Mrs. Ford. If I would but go to Hell for an eternal Moment, or so, I could be knighted.

Mrs. Page. What, thou liest! Sir Alice Ford! these Knights will hack, and so thou shouldest not alter the Article of thy Gentry.

Mrs. Ford. We burn Day-light, here; read, read, perceive how I might be knighted: I shall think the worse of fat Men as long as I have an Eye to make difference of Men's liking; and yet he would not swear, praise Women's Modesty, and gave such orderly and well-behaved Reproof to all Uncomeliness, that I would have sworn his Disposition would have gone to the Truth of his Words; but they do no more adhere, and keep Place together, than the hundredth Psalm to the Tune of Green Sleeves. What Tempest, I trow, threw this Whale, with so many Tun of Oyl in his Belly, a' more at Windfor? How shall I be reveng'd on him? I think the best way were to entertain him with Hope, 'till the wicked Fire of Lust have melted him in his own Grease. Did you ever hear the like?

Mrs. Page. Letter for Letter, but that the Name of Page and Ford differs. To thy great Comfort in this mystery of ill Opinions, here's the Twin-brother of thy Letter; but let thine inherit first, for I protest mine never shall. I warrant he hath a thousand of these Letters, writ with blank-space for different Names, nay more; and these are of the second Edition: He will print them out of doubt, for he cares not what he puts into the Press, when he would put us two. I had rather be a Giantess, and lye under Mount Pelion. Well, I will find you twenty lascivious Turtles, e'er one chaffe Man.

Mrs. Ford. Why, this is the very same, the very Hand, the very Words; what doth he think of us?

Mrs. Page. Nay, I know not; it makes me almost ready to wrangle with mine own Honesty. I'll entertain my self like one that I am not acquainted withal; for sure unless he knew some Strain in me, that I know not my self, he would never have boarded me in this Fury.

Mrs. Ford. Boarding, call it you? I'll be sure to keep him above Deck.

Mrs. Page. So will I; if he come under my Hatches, I'll never to Sea again. Let's be reveng'd on him, let's appoint him a Meeting, give him a show of Comfort in his Suit, and lead him on with a fine bated Delay, 'till he hath pawn'd his Horfes to mine Hoft of the Garter.

Mrs. Ford. Nay, I will consent to act any Villany against him that may not fully the Chariness of our Honesty:
Oh that my Husband saw this Letter, it would give eternal Food to his Jealousie.

Mrs. Page. Why, look where he comes, and my good Man too; he's as far from Jealousie as I am from giving him Cause, and that, I hope, is an unmeasurable Di-fance.

Mrs. Ford. You are the happier Woman.

Mrs. Page. Let's consult together against this grea
Knight. Come hither.

Enter Ford with Pistol. Page with Nym.

Ford. Well, I hope it be not so.

Piff. Hope is a Curtal-dog in some Affairs.

Sir John. affects thy Wife.

Ford. Why, Sir, my Wife is not young.

Piff. He was both high and low, both rich and poor, both young and old, and one with another, Ford; he loves thy Gally-mawtry Ford, perpend.

Ford. Love my Wife?
of WINDSOR

Pis. With Liver burning hot: Prevent,
Or go thou, like Sir Acteon, with Ring-wood at thy Heels: O, odious is the Name.
Ford. What Name, Sir?

Pis. The Horn, I say: Farewell,
Take heed, have open Eye; for Thieves do foot by Night.
Take heed e'er Summer comes, or Cuckoo-birds do sing.
Away, Sir Corporal Nym,
Believe it, Page, he speaks Sense.

[Exit Pistol.]
Ford. I will be patient; I will find out this.

Nym. And this is true: I like not the Humour of lying;
he hath wrong'd me in some Humours: I should have born the 'humour'd Letter to her; but I have a Sword, and it shall bite upon my Necessity. He loves your Wife;
there's the short and the long. My Name is Corporal Nym;
I speak, and I avouch; 'tis true; my Name is Nym, and Falstaff loves your Wife. Adieu; I love not the Humour of Bread and Cheese: Adieu.

[Exit Nym.
Page. The Humour of it, quoth 'a? here's a Fellow frights English out of his Wits.
Ford. I will seek out Falstaff.
Page. I never heard such a drawling, affecting Rogue.
Ford. If I do find it: Well.
Page. I will not believe such a Cattian, tho' the Priest
o' th' Town commended him for a true Man.
Ford. 'Twas a good sensible Fellow: Well.
Page. How now, Meg?
Mrs. Page. Whither go you, George? hark you, Mrs. Ford. How now, sweet Frank, why art thou me lancholy?
Ford. I melancholy! I am not melancholy.
Get you home, go.

Mrs. Ford. Faith thou haft some Crotchets in thy Head.
Now will you go, Mistress Page?
Mrs. Page. Have with you. You'll come to Dinner, George? Look who comes yonder; she shall be our Mef-fenger to this poultry Knight.

Enter Mistress Quickly.
Mrs Ford. Trust me, I thought on her, she'll fit it.
Mrs. Page. You are come to see my Daughter Anne?

H 3
Quic.
Quic. Ay, Forsooth; and I pray how does good Mistress Anne?

Mrs. Page. Go in with us and see; we have an Hour's Talk with you. [Ex. Mrs. Page, Mrs. Ford, and Mrs. Quic.

Page. How now, Master Ford?

Ford. You heard what this Knave told me, did you not?

Page. Yes; and you heard what the other told me?

Ford. Do you think there is truth in them?

Page. Hang 'em, Slaves, I do not think the Knight would offer it; but these that accuse him in his Intent towards our Wives are a Yoke of his discarded Men, very Rogues now they be out of Service.

Ford. Were they his Men?

Page. Marry were they.

Ford. I like it never the better for that.

Does he lye at the Garter?

Page. Ay marry does he. If he should intend his Voyage toward my Wife, I would turn her loose to him; and what he gets more of her than sharp Words, let it lye on my Head.

Ford. I do not misdoubt my Wife, but I would be loath to turn them together; a Man may be too confident; I would have nothing lye on my Head; I cannot be thus satisfy'd.

Page. Look where my ranting Hoist of the Garter comes; there is either Liquor in his Pate, or Mony in his Purse, when he looks so merrily. How now, mine Hoist?

Enter Hoist and Shallow.

Shal. I follow, mine Hoist, I follow. Good Even, and twenty, good Master Page. Master Page, will you go with us? we have Sport in hand.

Hoist. Tell him, Cavalerio-Justice; tell him Bully Rook.

Shal. Sir, there is a Fray to be fought between Sir Hugh, the Welch Priet, and Cains, the French Doctor.

Ford. Good mine Hoist o' th'Garter, a Word with you.

Hoist. What say'lt thou, Bully Rook?
Shal. Will you go with us to behold it? My merry Host hath had the measuring of their Weapons, and, I think, hath appointed them contrary Places; for, believe me, I hear the Parson is no Jester. Hark, I will tell you what our Sport shall be.

Host. Hast thou no Suit against my Knight, my Guest-Cavalier!

Ford. None, I protest; but I'll give you a Pottle of burnt Sack to give me Recourse to him, and tell him my Name is Broom; only for a Jest.

Host. My Hand, Bully; thou shalt have Egress and Regress; said I well? and thy Name shall be Broom. It is a merry Knight. Will you go an-heirs?

Shal. Have with you, mine Host.

Page. I have heard the Frenchman hath good Skill in his Rapier.

Shal. Tut, Sir, I could have told you more; in these times you stand on Distance, your Passes, Stoccado's, and I know not what: 'Tis the Heart, Master Page; 'tis here,
'tis here. I have seen the time, with my long Sword, I would have made you four tall Fellows skip like Rats.

Host. Here Boys, here, here: Shall we wag?

Page. Have with you; I had rather hear them scold than fight. [Exeunt Host, Shallow and Page.

Ford. Tho' Page be a secure Fool, and stand so firmly on his Wife's Frailty, yet I cannot put off my Opinion so easily. She was in his Company at Page's House, and what they made there I know not. Well, I will look further into't; and I have a Disguise to found Falstaff: If I find her honest, I lose not my Labour; if she be otherwise,
'tis Labour well bestowed.

[Exit.

SCENE II.

Enter Falstaff and Pistol.

Fal. I will not lend thee a Penny.

Pistol. Why then the World's mine Oyster, which I with Sword will open.

Fal. Not a Penny. I have been content, Sir, you should lay my Countenance to Pawn; I have grated upon my good Friends for three Reprieves for you, and your Coach-fell-
H 4 low,
low, Nim; or else you had look'd through the Grate, like a Geminy of Baboons. I am damn'd in Hell for swearing to Gentlemen, my Friends, you were good Soldiers, and tall Fellows. And when Mistres Bridget loft the Handle of her Fan, I took'd upon mine Honour thou hadst it not.

Piff. Didst thou not share? Hadst thou not fifteen Pence?

Fal. Reason, you Rogue, Reason: Think'st thou I'll endanger my Soul gratis? At a Word; hang no more about me, I am no Gibbet for you: Go, a short Knife, and a Thorn, to your Mannor of Pickt-batcht; go, you'll not bear a Letter for me, you Rogue; you stand upon your Honour? Why, thou unconfinable Baseness, it is as much as I can do to keep the Term of my Honour precise. I, I, I my self sometimes, leaving the Fear of Heaven on the left Hand, and hiding mine Honour in my Necessity, am fain to stuffle, to hedge, and to lurch; and yet, you Rogue will enforce your Rags, your Cat-a-Mountain Looks your Red-Lettice Phrases, and your bold-beating Oaths, under the Shelter of your Honour! You will not do it, you!

Piff. I do relent; what wouldst thou more of Man?

Enter Robin.

Rob. Sir, here's a Woman would speak with you.

Fal. Let her approach.

Enter Mistres Quickly.

Quic. Give your Worship Good-morrow.

Fal. Good-morrow, good Wife.

Quic. Not so, and't please your Worship.

Fal. Good Maid then.

Quic. I'll be sworn,

As my Mother was the first Hour I was born.

Fal. I do believe the Swearer: What with me?

Quic. Shall I vouchsafe your Worship a Word or two?

Fal. Two thousand, fair Woman, and I'll vouchsafe thee the hearing.

Quic. There is one Mistres Ford, Sir: I pray come a little nearer this ways: I my self dwell with Mr. Doctor Caius.

Fal.
Fal. Well, on: Mistres Ford, you say.

Quic. Your Worship says very true: I pray your Worship come a little nearer this ways.

Fal. I warrant thee no body hears: mine own People, mine own People.

Quic. Are they so? Heav’n bless them, and make them his Servants.

Fal. Well: Mistres Ford, what of her?

Quic. Why, Sir, she’s a good Creature. Lord, Lord, your Worship’s a Wanton; well, Heav’n forgive you, and all of us, I pray —

Fal. Mistres Ford, come, Mistres Ford —

Quic. Marry this is the short and the long of it; you have brought her into such a Canaries as tis wonderful: The best Courtier of them all, when the Court lay at Windsor, could never have brought her to such a Canary. Yet there has been Knights, and Lords, and Gentlemen, with their Coaches; I warrant you Coach after Coach, Letter after Letter, Gift after Gift, smelling so sweetly; all Musk, and so rushing, I warrant you in Silk and Gold, and in such alligant Terms, and in such Wine and Sugar of the best, and the fairest, that would have won any Woman’s Heart; and I warrant you they could never get an Eye-wink of her. I had my self twenty Angels given me this Morning; but I defie all Angels, in any such sort as they say, but in the way of Honesty; and I warrant you they could never get her so much as sip on a Cup with the proudest of them all; and yet there has been Earls, nay, which is more, Pensioners, but I warrant you all is one with her.

Fal. But what says she to me? Be brief, my good she-Mercury.

Quic. Marry, she hath receiv’d your Letter, for the which she thanks you a thousand times; and she gives you to notifie, that her Husband will be absence from his House between ten and eleven.

Fal. Ten and eleven.

Quic. Ay, Forthoof; and then you may come and see the Picture, she says, that you wot of: Master Ford, her Husband, will be from home. Alas! the sweet Woman...
The Merry Wives

leads an ill Life with him, he's a very jealous-Man; she leads a very frumpold Life with him, good Heart.

Fal. Ten and eleven:
Woman, commend me to her, I will not fail her.

Quic. Why, you say well: But I have another Messenger to your Worship; Mistress Page has her hearty Commands to you too; and let me tell you in your Ear, she's as turtuous a civil modest Wife, and one (I tell you) that will not miss you Morning and Evening Prayer, as any is in Windsor, who'er be the other; and she bad me tell your Worship that her Husband is seldom from home, but she hopes there will come a time. I never knew a Woman so doat upon a Man; surely I think you have Charmes, la; yes in Truth.

Fal. Not I, I assure thee; setting the Attraction of my good Parts aside, I have no other Charmes.

Quic. Blessing on your Heart for't.

Fal. But I pray thee tell me this; has Ford's Wife and Page's Wife acquainted each other how they love me?

Quic. That were a jest indeed; they have not so little Grace, I hope; that were a Trick indeed! But Mistress Page would desire you to send her your little Page, of all Loves: Her Husband has a marvellous Infection to the little Page; and truly Master Page is an honest Man. Ne-ever a Wife in Windsor leads a better Life than she does;
do what she will, say what she will, take all, pay all, go to Bed when she lift, rise when she lift, all is as she will;
and truly she deserves it; for if there be a kind Woman in Windsor, truly she is one. You must send her your Page; no Remedy.

Fal. Why, I will.

Quic. Nay, but so then; and, look you, he may come and go between you both; and, in any case, have a Nay-word, that you may know one another's Mind, and the Boy never need to understand anything; for 'tis not good that Children should know any Wickedness: Old Folks, you know, have Discretion, as they say, and know the World.

Fal. Fare thee well; commend me to them both: There's my Purse, I am yet thy Debtor. Boy, go along with this Woman. This News distracts me. [Exit Quic. and Robin.

Pis.
Fist. This Punk is one of Cupid’s Carriers:
Clap on more Sails; pursue; up with your Fights;
Give Fire; she is my Prize, or Ocean whelm them all.
[Exit Pistol.

Fal. Say’st thou so, old Jack? go thy ways; I’ll make more of thy old Body than I have done; will they yet look after thee? Wilt thou, after the Expence of so much Mony, be now a Gainer? Good body; I thank thee; let them lay, ’tis grossly done, so it be fairly done, no matter.

Enter Bardolph.

Bard. Sir John, there’s one Master Broom below would fain speak with you, and be acquainted with you; and hath sent your Worship a Morning’s Draught of Sack.

Fal. Broom is his Name?

Bard. Ay, Sir.

Fal. Call him in; such Brooms are welcome to me that overflows such Liquor. Ah! ah! Mistress Ford and Mis-stress Page, have I encompass’d you? Go to, via.

Enter Ford disguised.

Ford. Bless you, Sir.

Fal. And you, Sir; would you speak with me?

Ford. I make bold to press with so little Preparation upon you.

Fal. You’re welcome; what’s your Will? Give us leave, Drawer.

Ford. Sir, I am a Gentleman that have spent much;
your Name is Broom.

Fal. Good Master Broom, I desire more Acquaintance of you.

Ford. Good Sir John, I sue for yours; not to charge you; for I must let you understand, I think my self in better Plight for a Lender than you are, the which hath something embodeled me to this unseason’d Intrusion, for they lay, it Mony go before, all ways do lie open.

Fal. Mony is a good Soldier, Sir, and will on.

Ford. Troth, and I have a Bag of Mony here troubles me; if you will help to bear it, Sir John, take all, or half, for easing me of the Carriage.

Fal. Sir, I know not how I may deserve to be your Porter.

Ford.
Ford. I will tell you, Sir, if you will give me the hearing.

Fal. Speak, good Master Broom, I shall be glad to be your Servant.

Ford. Sir, I hear you are a Scholar. I will be brief with you, and you have been a Man long known to me, tho' I had never so good Means as Defire to make myself acquainted with you: I shall discover a thing to you, wherein I must very much lay open mine own Imperfections; but, good Sir John, as you have one Eye upon my Follies as you hear them unfolded, turn another into the Register of your own, that I may pass with a Re-proof the easier, sith you your self know how easie it is to be such an Offender.

Fal. Very well, Sir, proceed.

Ford. There is a Gentlewoman in this Town, her Husband's Name is Ford.

Fal. Well, Sir.

Ford. I have long lov'd her, and, I protest to you, bestow'd much on her, follow'd her with a doating Observance, ingross'd Opportunities to meet her, fee'd every Flight Occasion that could but niggardly give me sight of her; not only bought many Presents to give her, but have given largely to many, to know what she would have given: Briefly, I have pursue'd her, as Love hath pursue'd me, which hath been on the Wing of all Occasions. But whatsoever I have merited, either in my Mind, or in my Means, Meed I am sure I have received none, unless Experience be a Jewel I have purchas'd at an infinite rate, and that hath taught me to say this;

"Love like a Shadow flies, when Substance Love pursues;

"Pursuing that that flies, and flying what pursues."

Fal. Have you receiv'd no Promise of Satisfaction at her Hands?

Ford. Never.

Fal. Have you importun'd her to such a Purpose?

Ford. Never.

Fal. Of what Quality was your Love then?

Ford. Like a fair House built on another Man's Ground, so that I have left my Edifice, by mistaking the Place where I erected it.
Fal. To what purpose have you unfolded this to me?

Ford. When I have told you that, I have told you all. Some say, that tho' she appear honest to me, yet in other places she enlargeth her Mirth so far, that there is shrewd construction made of her. Now, Sir John, here is the heart of my purpose: You are a gentleman of excellent breeding, admirable discourse, of great admittance, authentic in your place and person, generally allow'd for your many war-like, court-like, and learned preparations.

Fal. O Sir!

Ford. Believe it, for you know it; there is mony, spend it, spend it; spend more, spend all I have, only give me so much of your time in exchange of it, as to lay an amiable siege to the honesty of this Ford's wife; use your art of wooing, win her to consent to you; if any man may, you may as soon as any.

Fal. Would it apply well to the vehemence of your affection, that I should win what you would enjoy? Methinks you prescribe to yourself very preposterously.

Ford. O, understand my drift; she dwells so securely on the excellency of her honour, that the folly of my soul dares not present it self; she is too bright to be look'd against. Now could I come to her with any detection in my hand, my desires had instance and argument to commend themselves; I could drive her then from the ward of her purity, her reputation, her marriage-vow, and a thousand other defences, which now are too strongly embattail'd against me. What say you to't, Sir John?

Fal. Master Broom, I will first make bold with your mony; next, give me your hand; and last, as I am a gentleman, you shall, if you will, enjoy Ford's wife.

Ford. O good Sir!

Fal. I say, you shall.

Ford. Want no mony, Sir John, you shall want none.

Fal. Want no mistress Ford, Master Broom, you shall want none; I shall be with her, I may tell you, by her own appointment. Even as you came in to me, her assistant, or go-between, parted from me; I say, I shall be with her between ten and eleven; for at that time the jealous rascally knave, her husband, will be forth; come you to me at night, you shall know how I speed.
Ford. I am blest in your Acquaintance: Do you know Ford, Sir?

Fal. Hang him, poor cuckoldly Knave, I know him not: Yet I wrong him to call him poor; they say, the jealous wittolly Knave hath maffes of Mony, for which his Wife seems to me well-favour'd. I will use her as the Key of the Cuckold-Rogue's Coffar; and there's my Har-vest-home.

Ford. I would you knew Ford, Sir, that you might a-void him, if you saw him.

Fal. Hang him, mechanical-salt-butter Rogue; I will stare him out of his Wits; I will awe him with my Cudgel; it shall hang like a Meteor o'er the Cuckold's Horns. Master Broom, thou shalt know I will predominate over the Pelant, and thou shalt lye with his Wife: Come to me soon at Night; Ford's a Knave, and I will aggravate his Stile: Thou, Master Broom, shalt know him for Knave and Cuckold: come to me soon at Night. [Exit.

Ford. What a damn'd Epicurean Rascal is this! My Heart is ready to crack with Impatience. Who say's this is improvident Jealousie? My Wife hath sent to him, the Hour is fxt, the Match is made; Would any Man have thought this? See the Hell of having a false Woman; my Bed shall be abus'd, my Coffers raflack'd, my Reputation gnawn at, and I shall not only receive this villainous Wrong, but stand under the adoption of abominable Terms, and by him that does me the Wrong. Terms, Names; Amainon sounds well. Lucifer well, Barbazon well, yet they are Devils additions, the Names of Fiends; but Cuckold, Wittol. Cuckold! the Devil himself hath not such a Name. Page is an Afs, a secure Afs, he will trust his Wife; he will not be jealous: I will rather trust a Fleming with my Butter, Parson Hugh, the Welchman, with my Cheese, an Irish-man with my Aqua-vite Bottle, or a Thief to walk my ambling Gelding, than my Wife with her self: Then the plots, then she ruminates, then she devises; and what they think in their Hearts they may effect, they will break their Hearts but they will effect. Heav'n be prais'd for my Jealousie. Eleven o'Clock the Hour; I will prevent this, detect my Wife, be reveng'd on Falstaff, and laugh at Page: I will about it; better three Hours too soon than a Minute too late. Fie, fie, fie; Cuckold, Cuckold, Cuckold. [Exit.
of Windsor. 159

SCENE III.

Enter Caius and Rugby.

Caius. Jack Rugby!

Rug. Sir.

Caius. Vat is de Clock, Jack?

Rug. 'Tis past thee Hour, Sir, that Sir Hugh promis'd to meet.

Caius. By gar, he has sate his Soul, dat he is no come; he has pray his Bible well, dat he is no come: By gar, Jack Rugby, he is dead already, if he be come.

Rug. He is wife, Sir; he knew your Worship would kill him, if he came.

Caius. By gar, de Herring is no dead so as I vill kill him; take your Rapier, Jack, I vill tell you how I vill kill him.

Caius. Villany, take your Rapier.

Rug. Forbear; here's Company.

Enter Hotf, Shallow, Slender and Page.

Hotf. 'Bless thee, Bully-Doctor.

Shal. 'Save you, Mr. Doctor Caius.

Page. Now, good Mr. Doctor.

Slen. Give you Good-morrow, Sir.

Caius. Vat be all you, one, two, tree, four, come for?

Hotf. To see thee fight, to see thee soigne, to see thee traverse, to see thee here, to see thee there, to see thee pass thy Punço, thy Stock, thy Reverse, thy Distance, thy Montant. Is he dead, my Ethiopian? Is he dead, my Francisco? Ha, Bully? What says my Esculapius? my Galen? My Heart of Elder? Ha? is he dead, Bully-flake? is he dead?

Caius. By gar, he is de Coward Jack-Priest of de World; he is not show his Face.

Hotf. Thou art a Castalian-king-Urinal: Hector of Greece, my Boy.
Caius. I pray you bear witness, that me have stay fix or seven, two tree Hours for him, and he is no come.

Shal. He is the wiser Man, Mr. Doctor; he is a Curer of Souls, and you a Curer of Bodies: If you should fight, you go against the hair of your Professions: Is it not true, Master Page?

Page. Master Shallow, you have your self been a great Fighter, tho' now a Man of Peace.

Shal. Body-kins, Mr. Page, tho' I now be old, and of Peace, if I see a Sword out, my Finger itches to make one; tho' we are Justices, and Doctors, and Church-men, Mr. Page, we have some Salt of our Youth in us; we are the Sons of Women, Mr. Page.

Page. 'Tis true, Mr. Shallow.

Shal. It will be found so, Mr. Page. Mr. Doctor Caius, I am come to fetch you home; I am sworn of the Peace; you have shew'd your self a wise Physician, and Sir Hugh hath shown himself a wise and patient Churchman: You must go with me, Mr. Doctor.

Host. Pardon. Guest-Juslice; a Monsieur Mock-water.

Caius. Mock-vater? Vat is dat?

Host. Mock-water, in our English Tongue, is Valour, Bully.

Caius. By gar, then I have as much Mock-vater as de English-man, Scurvy-Jack-dog-Priest; by gar, me vill cut his Ears.

Host. He will clapper-claw thee tightly, Bully.

Caius. Clapper-de-claw? Vat is dat?

Host. That is, he will make thee amends.

Caius. By gar, me do look he shall clapper-de-claw me; for by gar, me vill have it.

Host. And I will provoke him to't, or let him wag.

Caius. Me ranck you for dat.

Host. And moreover, Bully; but first, Mr. Guest, and Mr. Page, and eek Cavalero Slender, go you through the Town to Froghere.

Page. Sir Hugh is there, is he?

Host. He is there; see what Humour he is in; and I will bring the Doctor about the Fields: Will it do well?
shal. We will do it.

All. Adieu, good Mr. Doctor.[Ex. Page, Shal. and Slen.

Cains. By gar, me will kill de Priest; for he speak for

Eva. He's welcome. To shallow Rivers, to whose Falls —

Heav'n prosper the Right: What Weapons is he?

Simp: No Weapons, Sir; there comes my Master, Mr.
Shallow, and another Gentleman, from Frogmore, over the Sile, this way.

Eva. Pray you give me my Gown, or else keep it in your Arms.

Enter Page, Shallow, and Slender.

Shal. How now, Master Parson? Good-morrow, good Sir Hugh. Keep a Gamester from the Dice, and a good Student from his Book, and it is wonderful.

Slen. Ah sweet Anne Page!

Page. Save you, good Sir Hugh.

Eva. Pleas you from his Mercy-fake, all of you.

Shal. What? The Sword and the Word?

Do you study them both, Mr. Parson?

Page. And youthful still, in your Doublet and Hose, this raw-rumatick Day?

Eva. There is Reasons and Causes for it.

Page. We are come to you, to do a good Office, Mr.
Parson.

Eva. Ferry well: What is it?

Page. Yonder is a most reverend Gentleman, who be-like, having receiv'd Wrong by some Person, is at most ods with his own Gravity and Patience, that ever you

Shal. I have liv'd fourscore Years, and upward; I ne-ever heard a Man of his Place, Gravity and Learning, to wide of his own Respect.

Eva. What is he?

Page. I think you know him; Mr. Doctor Cains, the renowned French Physician.

Eva. God's Will, and his Passion of my Heart! I had as lief you should tell me of a mess of Porridge.

Page. Why?

Eva.
Eva. He has no more Knowledge in Hippocrates and Galen; and he is a Knave besides, a cowardly Knave as you would desire to be acquainted withal.

Page. I warrant you, he's the Man should fight with him.

Slen. O sweet Anne Page!

Enter Hoft, Caius, and Rugby.

Shal. It appears so by his Weapons: Keep them asunder; here comes Doctor Caius.

Page. Nay, good Mr. Parson, keep in your Weapon.

Shal. So do you, good Mr. Doctor.

Hoft. Disarm them, and let them question; let them keep their Limbs whole, and hack our English.

Caius. I pray you let a me speak a Word with your Ear: Wherefore will you not meet a me?

Eva. Pray you use your Patience in good time.

Caius. By gar, you are de Coward, de Jack Dog, John Ape.

Eva. Pray you let us not be Laughing-flocks to other Mens Humours; I desire you in Friendship, and will one way or other make you amends; I will knog your Urinal about your Knave's Cogs-comb.

Caius. Diabe Jack Rugby, mine Hoft de Farteer, have I not stay for him, to kill him? have I not at de Place I did appoint?

Eva. As I am a Christian's-soul, now look you, this is the Place appointed; I'll be judgment by mine Hoft of the Garter.

Caius. Ay dat is very good, excellent.

Am I Politick? am I Subtle? am I a Machiavel?

Shall I lose my Doctor? No; he gives me the Potions and the Motions. Shall I lose my Parson? my Priest? my Sir Hugh? No; he gives me the Proverbs and the No-verbs. Give me thy Hand, Celestial, so. Boys of Art, I have deceived you both: I have directed you to wrong Places; your Hearts are mighty, your Skins are whole, and let burn'd Sack be the Issue. Come, lay their Swords Swords to pawn. Follow me, Lad of Peace, follow; follow, follow.

Shal. Trust me, a mad Host. Follow, Gentlemen, follow.

Cain. Ha! do I perceive dat? Have you make a-de-fot of us, ha, ha?

Eva. This is well, he has made us his Vlowing-stog: I desire you that we may be Friends; and let us knog our Prains together, to be revenge on this fame scall Scurvy-cogging Companion, the Host of the Garter.

Cain. By gar, with all my Heart; he promise to bring me where is Anne Page; by gar, he deceive me too.

Eva. Well, I will finite his Noddles; pray you follow.

SCENE II.

Enter Mistress Page and Robin.

Mrs. Page. Nay, keep your way, little Gallant; you were wont to be a Follower, but now you are a Leader. Whether had you rather lead mine Eyes, or eye your Master’s Heels?

Rob. I had rather, Forthoath, go before you like a Man, than follow him like a Dwarf.

Mrs. Page. O you are a flattering Boy; now I see you’ll be a Courtier.

Enter Ford.

Ford. Well met, Mistress Page; whither go you?

Mrs. Page. Truly Sir, to see your Wife; is she at home?

Ford. Ay, and as idle as she may hang together for want of Company; I think if your Husbands were dead, you two would marry.

Mrs. Page. Be sure of that, two other Husbands.

Ford. Where had you this pretty Weather-cock?

Mrs. Page. I cannot tell what the dickens his Name is my Husband had him of: What do you call your Knight’s Name, Sirrah?

Rob. Sir John Falstaff.

Ford. Sir John Falstaff?

Mrs. Page.
Mrs. Page. He, he; I can never hit on’s Name; there is such a League between my good Man and he. Is your Wife at home, indeed?

Ford. Indeed she is.

Mrs. Page. By your leave, Sir; I am sick ’till I see her.

[Exeunt Mrs. Page and Robin.

Ford. Has Page any Brains? hath he any Eyes? hath he any thinking? I ’see they sleep; he hath no use of them. Why, this Boy will carry a Letter twenty Mile, as easy as a Cannon will shoot point-blank twelve-score; he pieces out his Wife’s Inclination, he gives her Folly Motion and Advantage, and now she’s going to my Wife, and Falstaff’s Boy with her. A Man may hear this Shower fing in the Wind; and Falstaff’s Boy with her! Good Plots; they are laid, and our revolted Wives share Damnation together. Well, I will take him, then torture my Wife, pluck the borrowed Vail of Modesty from the so seeming Mistres Page, divulge Page himself for a secure and wiliul Action, and to thee violent Proceedings all my Neighbours shall cry aim. The Clock gives me my Cue, and my Assurance bids me search; there I shall find Falstaff: I shall be rather praised for this than mocked; for it is as positive as the Earth is firm, that Falstaff is there: I will go.

Enter Page, Shallow, Slender, Hoft, Evans, and Caius.

Shal. Page, &c. Well met, Mr. Ford.

Ford. Trust me, a good Knot: I have good Cheer at home, and I pray you all go with me.

Shal. I must excuse my self, Mr. Ford.

Slen. And so must I, Sir;

We have appointed to dine with Mistres Anne,

And I would not break with her for more Mony

Than I’ll speak of.

Shal. We have linger’d about a Match between Anne Page and my Cousin Slender, and this Day we shall have our Answer.

Slen. I hope I have your good Will, Father Page.

Page. You have, Mr. Slender, I stand wholly for you; but my Wite, Master Doctor, is for you altogether.

Cai. Ay, be gar, and de Maid is love-a-me: My Nurth-

a-Quickly tell me so much.

Hoft.
Hoft. What say you to young Mr. Fenton? he capers, he dances, he has Eyes of Youth, he writes Verfes, he speaks Holy-Day, he smells April and May, he will carry't, he will carry't, 'tis in his Buttons, he will carry't.

Page. Not by my Consent, I promise you: The Gentleman is of no having, he kept Company with the wild Prince, and Pawn; he is of too high a Region, he knows too much; no, he shall not knit a Knot in his Fortunes, with the Finger of my Substance. If he take her, let him take her simply; the Wealth I have waits on my Consent, and my Consent goes not that way.

Ford. I beseech you heartily, some of you go home with me to Dinner; besides your Cheer you shall have Sport; I will shew you a Monster. Mr. Doctor you shall go, so shall you Mr. Page, and you Sir Hugh.

Shal. Well, fare you well:
We shall have the freer going at Mr. Page's.

Caius. Go home, John Rugby, I come anon.

Hoft. Farewel my Hearts; I will to my honest Knight,
Falstaff and drink Canary with him,
Ford. I think I shall drink in Pipe-Wine first with him:
I'll make him dance. Will you go, Gentles?

All. Have with you to see this Monster. [Exeunt.

SCENE III.

Enter Mistress Ford, Mistress Page, and Servants with a Basket.

Mrs. Ford. What John! what Robert!
Mrs. Page. Quickly, quickly: Is the Buck-basket——
Mrs. Page. Come, come, come.
Mrs. Ford. Here, set it down.
Mrs. Page. Give your Men the Charge, we must be brief.

Mrs. Ford. Marry, as I told you before, John and Robert, be ready here hard by in the Brew-House, and when I suddenly call you, come forth, and, without any pause or staggering, take this Basket on your Shoulders; that done, trudge with it in all haste, and carry it among the Whistlers
Whittlers in Datchet-Mead, and there empty it in the muddy Ditch, close by the Thames side.

Mrs. Page. You will do it? [Direction.

Mrs. Ford. I ha' told them over and over; they lack no Be gone, and come when you are call'd.

Mrs. Page. Here comes little Robin.

Enter Robin.

Mrs. Ford. How now, my Eyes-Musket, what News with you?

Rob. My Master, Sir John, is come in at your Backdoor, Mistress Ford, and requests your Company.

Mrs. Page. You little Jack-a-lent, have you been true to us?

Rob. Ay, I'll be sworn; my Master knows not of your being here, and hath threaten'd to put me into everlasting Liberty, if I tell you of it; for he swears he'll turn me away.

Mrs. Page. Thou'rt a good Boy; this Secrecy of thine shall be a Tailor to thee, and shall make thee a new Doublet and Hose. I'll go hide me.

Mrs. Ford. Do so; go tell thy Master I am alone; Mistress Page, remember you your Cure. [Exit Robin.

Mrs. Page. I warrant thee; if do not act it, hiss me.

[Exit Mrs. Page.

Mrs. Ford. Go to then; we'll use this unwholesome Humidity, this gross wary Pumppion, we'll teach him to know Turtles from Jays.

Enter Falstaff.

Fal. Have I caught thee, my heav'ly Jewel? Why, now let me die; for I have liv'd long enough: This is the Period of my Ambition: O this bless'd Hour!

Mrs. Ford. O sweet Sir John!

Fal. Mistress Ford, I cannot cog, I cannot prate, Mistress Ford: Now shall I sin in my Wish. I would thy Husband were dead, I'll speak it before the best Lord, I would make thee my Lady.

Mrs. Ford. I your Lady, Sir John? Alas, I should be a pitiful Lady.

Fal. Let the Court of France shew me such another; I see how thine Eye would emula[e] the Diamond: Thou hast haft the right arched-beauty of the Brow, that becomes the Ship-Tire, the Tire-Valiant, or any Tire of Venetian Admissmittance.

Mrs. Ford. A plain Kerchief, Sir John:
My Brows become nothing else, nor that well neither.

Fal. Thou art a Tyrant to say so; thou wouldst make an abo late Courtier, and the firm fixture of thy Foot would give an excellent Motion to thy Gate, in a semi-circled Farthingale. I see what thou wert, if Fortune thy Foe were not, Nature thy Friend: Come, thou canst not hide it.

Mrs. Ford. Believe me, there's no such thing in me.

Fal. What made me love thee? Let that persuade thee.
There's something extraordinary in thee. Come, I cannot cog, and say, thou art this and that, like a many of thee lipping Haw-thorn Buds, that come like Women in Mens Apparel, and smell like Bucklers-Berry in simptime: I cannot; but I love thee, none but thee; and thou deserve it.

Mrs. Ford. Do not betray me, Sir; I fear you love Mistrs Page.

Fal. Thou might'st as well say, I love to walk by the Counter-Gate, which is as hateful to me as the reek of a Lime-kiln.

Mrs. Ford. Well, Heav'n knows how I love you, and you shall one day find it.

Fal. Keep in that Mind; I'll deserve it.

Mrs. Ford. Nay. I must tell you, so you do; or else I could not be in that Mind.

Rob. [within.] Mistress Ford, Mistress Ford, here's Mistrs Page at the Door, sweating, and blowing and looking wildly, and would needs speak with you presently.

Fal. She shall not see me; I will ensconce me behind the Arras.

Mrs. Ford. Pray you do so; she's a very talking Woman.

Enter Mistress Page.

What's the matter? How now?

Mrs. Page. O Mistress Ford, what have you done?

You're sham'd. y'are overthrown, you are undone for ever.

Mrs. Ford. What's the Matter, good Mistress Page?
Mrs. Page. O well-a-day, Mistref Ford, having an honest Man to your Husband, to give him such caufe of Suspicion.

Mrs. Ford. What caufe of Suspicion?

Mrs. Page. What caufe of Suspicion? Out upon you; how am I miftook in you?

Mrs. Ford. Why, alas! what's the Matter?

Mrs. Page. Your Husband's coming hither, Woman, with all the Officers in Windsor, to search for a Gentleman that he says is here now in the House, by your Consent, to take an ill Advantage of his Absence. You are undone.

Mrs. Ford. 'Tis not so, I hope.

Mrs. Page. Pray Heav'n it be not so, that you have such a Man here; but 'tis most certain your Husband's coming with half Windsor at his Heels, to search for such a one. I come before to tell you, if you know your self clear, why, I am glad of it; but if you have a Friend here, convey, convey him out. Be not amaz'd, call all your Sense to you, defend your Reputation, or bid farewell to your good Life for ever.

Mrs. Ford. What shall I do? there is a Gentleman, my dear Friend; and I fear not mine own Shame so much as his Peril. I had rather than a thousand Pound he were out of the House.

Mrs. Page. For shame, never stand, you had rather, and you had rather; your Husband's here at hand, bethink you of some Conveyance; in the House you cannot hide him. Oh, how have you deceiv'd me? Look, here is a Basket, if he be of any reasonable Stature, he may creep in here, and throw foul Linnen upon him, as if it were going to Bucking: Or it is whiting time, send him by your two Men to Datchet-Mead.

Mrs. Ford. He's too big to go in there: What shall I do?

Enter Falstaff.

Fal. Let me see't, let me see't, O let me see't; I'll in, I'll in; follow your Friend's Counsel; I'll in.

Mrs. Page. What, Sir John Falstaff? are these your Letters, Knight?

Vol. I. I

Fal.
Fal. I love thee, help me away; let me creep in here:
I never—

[He goes into the Basket. They cover him with foul Linen.
Mrs. Page. Help to cover your Master, Boy; Call your Men, Mistress Ford. You dissembling Knight.
Mrs. Ford. What, John, Robert, John, go take up these Cloaths here, quickly. Where's the Cowl-staff? Look how you drumble: Carry them to the Landres in Datchet-Mead; quickly come.

Enter Ford, Page, Caius, and Evans.

Ford. Pray you come near; if I suspect without Cause,
Why then make sport at me, then let me be your Jest,
I deserve it. How now? whither bear you this?

Serv. To the Landres, Forsooth.
Mrs. Ford. Why, what have you to do whither they bear it? You were best meddle with Buck-washing.

[Exeunt Servants with the Basket.

Gentlemen, I have dream'd to Night, I'll tell you my Dream: Here, here, here be my Keys; ascend my Chambers. Search, seek, find out. I'll warrant we'll unkennel the Fox. Let me stop this way first: So, now uncape.

Page. Good Master Ford, be contented:
You wrong your self too much.

Ford. True. Master Page. Up Gentlemen, you shall see Sport anon; follow me Gentlemen.

Caius. This is ferry fantastical Humours and Jealousies.
Page. Nay, follow him, Gentlemen, see the Issue of his Search

Exeunt Mistress Page and Mistress Ford.

Mrs. Page. Is there not a double Excellency in this?
Mrs. Ford. I know not which pleases me better, the:
my Husband is deceiv'd, or Sir John.

Mrs. Page. What a taking was he in when your Husband ask'd who was in the Basket?

Mrs. Ford.
Mrs. Ford. I am half afraid he will have need of washing; so throwing him into the water will do him a benefit.

Mrs. Page. Hang him, dishonourable Rascal; I would all of the same strain were in the same distrest.

Mrs. Ford. I think my husband hath some special suspicion of Falstaff’s being here! I never saw him so gross in his jealousy till now.

Mrs. Page. I will lay a plot to try that, and we will yet have more tricks with Falstaff: His dissolute disease will scarce obey this medicine.

Mrs. Ford. Shall we send that foolish Carrion, Mistress Quickly, to him, and excuse his throwing into the water, and give him another hope, to betray him to another punishment?

Mrs. Page. We’ll do it; let him be sent for to morrow by eight a clock, to have amends.

Re-enter Ford, Page, &c.

Ford. I cannot find him; may be the knave brag’d of, that he could not compass.

Mrs. Page. Heard you that?

Mrs. Ford. You use me well Master Ford, do you?

Ford. Ay, ay, I do so.

Mrs. Page. Heav’n make you better than your thoughts.

Ford. Amen.

Mrs. Page. You do yourself mighty wrong, Mr. Ford.

Ford. Ay, ay; I must bear it.

Eva. If there be any body in the house, and in the chambers, and in the coffers, and in the presses, Heav’n forgive my sins.

Cains. By gar, nor I too; there is no bodies.

Page. Fie, fie, Mr. Ford are you not ashamed? What spirit, what Devil suggests this imagination? I would not ha your distemper in this kind, for the wealth of Windsor Castle.

Ford. ’Tis my fault, Mr. Page: I suffer for it.

Eva. You suffer for a bad conscience; your wife is as honest as o’thens as I will desires among five thousand, and five hundred too.

Cains. By gar, I see ’tis an honest woman.
Ford. Well. I promis'd you a Dinner; come, come; walk in the Park. I pray you pardon me; I will hereafter make known to you why I have done this. Come Wife, come Mistresse Page, I pray you pardon me: Pray heartily pardon me.

Page. Let's go in, Gentlemen; but trust me, we'll mock him. I do invite you to Morrow Morning to my House to Breakfast, after we'll a birding together; I have a fine Hawk for the Bush. Shall it be so?

Ford. Any thing.

Eva. If there is one, I shall make two in the Company.

Cains. If there be one or two, I shall make-a the turd.

Ford. Pray you go, Mr. Page.

Eva. I pray you now remembrance to morrow on the lowlie Knave, mine Hoff.

Cains. Dat is good, by gar, with all my Heart.

Eva. A lowlie Knave, to have his Gibes, and his Mockeries.

SCENE IV.

Enter Fenton, and Mistresse Anne Page.

Fent. I see I cannot get thy Father's Love; Therefore no more turn me to him, sweet Nan.

Anne. Alas! how then?

Fent. Why, thou must be thy self. He doth object I am too great of Birth, And that my State being gall'd with my Expence, I seek to heal it only by his Wealth. Besides these, other Bars he lays before me, My Riots past, my wild Societies: And tells me, 'tis a thing impossible I should love thee, but as a Property.

Anne. May be he tells you true.

Fent. No. Heav'n so speed me in my time to come, Albeit I will confess, thy Father's Wealth Was the first Motive that I woo'd thee, Anne: Yet wooing thee, I found thee of more value Than Stamps in Gold, or Sums in sealed Bags; And 'tis the very Riches of thy self That now I aim at.
Anne. Gentle Mr. Fenton,
Yet seek my Father’s Love, till seek it, Sir:
If Opportunity and humble Suit
Cannot attain it, why then hark you hither.

Enter Shallow; Slender and Mistress Quickly.
Shal. Break their Talk, Mistress Quickly;
My Kinsman shall speak for himself.
Slen. I’ll make a Shaft or a Bolt on’t: ’D’slid ’tis but venturing.
Shal. Be not dismaid.
Slen. No, she shall not dismay me;
I care not for that, but I am affear’d.

Quiz. Hark ye; Mr. Slender would speak a word with you.
Anne. I come to him. This is my Father’s Choice.

O, what a World of vile ill-favour’d Faults
Look handsome in three hundred Pounds a Year?
Quiz. And how does good Master Fenton?

Pray you a word with you.

Shal. She’s coming; to her, Coz.

O Boy, thou hast a Father:

Slen. I had a Father, Mrs. Anne; my Uncle can tell you good Jests of him. Pray you, Uncle, tell Mrs. Anne the Jest, how my Father stole two Geese out of a Pen, good Uncle.

Shal. Mistress Anne, my Cousin loves you.

Slen. Ay, that I do, as well as I love any Woman in Glostershire.

Shal. He will maintain you like a Gentlewoman.

Slen. Ay, that I will; come cut and long-tail, under the degree of a Squire.

Shal. He will make you a hundred and fifty Pounds
Jointure.

Anne. Good Master Shallow, let him woo for himsel.

Shal. Marry, I thank you for it; I thank you for that.
Good Comfort; she calls you, Coz: I’ll leave you.

Anne. Now Master Slender.

Slen. Now good Mistress Anne.

Anne. What is your Will?
The Merry Wives

Slen. My Will? Od's-heart-lings, that's a pretty jest indeed, I ne'er made my Will yet, I thank Heav'n; I am not such a sickly Creature, I give Heav'n Praise.

Anne. I mean, Mr. Slender, what would you with me?

Slen. Truly for my own Part, I would little or nothing with you; your Father and my Uncle have made Motions; if it be my Luck, so; if not, happy Man be his dole; they can tell you how things go better than I can; you may ask your Father; here he comes.

Enter Page, and Mistress Page.

I tell you, Sir, my Daughter is dispos'd of.

Fent. Nay, Master Page, be not impatient.

Mrs. Page. Good Master Fenton, come not to my Child,

Page. She is no Match for you.

Fent. Sir, will you hear me?

Page. No, good Master Fenton.

Come, Master Shallow; come, Son Slender, in.

Knowing my Mind, you wrong me, Master Fenton.

[Exeunt Page, Shallow, and Slender.

Quick. Speak to Mistress Page.

Fent. Good Mistress Page, for that I love your Daughter
In such a righteous Fashion as I do,

Perforce, against all Checks, Rebukes and Manners,

I must advance the Colours of my Love,

And not retire. Let me have your good Will.

Anne. Good Mother, do not marry me to you Fool.

Mrs. Page. I mean it not, I seek you a better Husband.

Luc. That's my Master, Master Doctor.

Anne. Alas I had rather be set quick I'th' Earth,

And bowld'd to Death with Turneps.

Mrs. Page. Come, trouble not yourself, good Master

I will or be your Friend or Enemy:

My Daughter will I question how she loves you,
And as I find her, so am I affected.

'Till then, farewel Sir; she must needs go in,

Her Father will be angry.

[Ex. Mrs. Page and Anne.

Fent,
Fent. Farewell, gentle Mistress; farewell Nan.

Quic. This is my doing now. Nay, said I, will you call away your Child on a Fool, and a Physician?

Look on Master Fenton: This is my doing.

Fent. I thank thee; and I pray thee once to Night, Give my sweet Nan this Ring: There's for thy Pains.

[Exit.

Quic. Now Heav'n send thee good Fortune. A kind Heart he hath, a Woman would run through Fire and Water for such a kind Heart. But yet, I would my Master had Mistress Anne, or I would Mr. Slender had her; or, in sooth, I would Mr. Fenton had her. I will do what I can for them all three, for so I have promis'd, and I'll be as good as my Word, but speciously for Mr. Fenton. Well, I must of another Errand to Sir John Falstaff from my two Mistresses; what a Beast am I to lack it? [Exit.

SCENE III.

Enter Falstaff and Bardolph.

Fal. Bardolph, I say.

Bard. Here, Sir.

Fal. Go fetch me a Quart of Sack, put a Toast in't. Have I liv'd to be carry'd in a Basket, like a Barrow of Butchers Offal, and to be thrown into the Thames? Well, if I be serv'd such another trick, I'll have my Brains ta'en out and butter'd, and give them to a Dog for a New-years Gift. The Rogues slighted me into the River, with as little Remorse as they would have drown'd a blind Bitch's Puppies, fifteen 'th' litter; and you may know, by my Size, that I have a kind of alacrity in sinking: If the Bottom were as deep as Hell, I should down. I had been drown'd, but that the Shore was shelvy and shallow; a Death that I abhor; for the Water swells a Man: And what a thing should I have been when I had been swell'd? I should have been a Mountain of Mummy.

Bard. Here's Mrs. Quickly, Sir, to speak with you.

Fal. Come, let me pour in some Sack to the Thames-Water; for my Belly's as cold as if I had swallow'd Snowballs, for Pills to cool the Reins. Call her in.

I 4

Bard.
Bard. Come in, Woman.

Enter Mistress Quick'y.

Quic. By your Leave: I cry you Mercy.

Give your Worship Good morrow.

Fal. Take away these Challices:

Go, brew me a Pottle of Sack fincely.

Bard. With Eggs, Sir?

Fal. Simple of it felt: I'll no Pullet-Sperm in my Brew-age. How now?

Quic. Marry, Sir, I come to your Worship from Mistress Ford.

Fal. Mistress Ford? I have had Ford enough; I was thrown into the Ford; I have my Belly full of Ford.

Quic. Alas the Day! good Heart, that was not her Fault: She does so take on with her Men; they mistook their Ex-ecution.

Fal. So did I mine, to build on a foolish Woman's Pro mise.

Quic. Well, she laments, Sir, for it, that it would yern your Heart to see it. Her Husband goes this Morning a birding; she desires you once more to come to her, between eight and nine. I must carry her Word quickly, she'll make you amends, I warrant you.

Fal. Well, I will visit her; tell her so, and bid her think what a Man is: Let her consider his Frailty, and then judge of my Merit.

Quic. I will tell her.

Fal. Do so. Between nine and ten, say'lt thou?

Quic. Eight and nine, Sir.

Fal. Well, be gone; I will not mis her.

Quic. Peace be with you, Sir. [Exit.

Fal. I marvel I hear not of Master Broom; he sent me Word to stay within: I like his Mony well. Oh, here he comes.

Enter Ford.

Ford. Bless you, Sir.

Fal. Now, Master Broom, you come to know what hath pafs'd between me and Ford's Wife.

Ford. That indeed, Sir John, is my business.

Fal.
Fal. Master Broom, I will not lie to you;
I was at her House the Hour she appointed me.
Ford. And you spied, Sir?
Fal. Very ill-favour'dly, Master Broom.
Ford. How Sir, did she change her Determination?
Fal. No, Master Broom; but the peaking Cornuto her Husband, Master Broom, dwelling in a continual larum of Jealousie, comes in the instant of our Encounter, after we had embrac'd, kiss'd, protested, and as it were spoke the Prologue of our Comedy; and at his Heels a rabble of his Companions, thither provok'd and instigated by his Distemper, and forsooth; to search his House for his Wife's Love.
Ford. What, while you were there?
Fal. While I was there.
Ford. And did he search for you, and could not find you?
Fal. You shall hear. As good Luck would have it comes in one Miftress Page, giv's Intelligence of Ford's Approach, and in her Invention, and Ford's Wife's Distraction, they convey'd me into a Buck-basket.
Ford. A Buck-basket?
Fal. Yea, a Buck-basket; ramm'd me in with foul
Shirts and Smocks, Socks, foul Stockings, and greasy
Napkins, that, Master Broom, there was the rankest Compound of villainous Smell that ever offended Nostril,
Ford. And how long lay you there?
Fal. Nay, you shall hear, Master Broom, what I have suffer'd, to bring this Woman to evil, for your good. Being thus cram'd in the Basket, a couple of Ford's Knaves, his Hinds, were call'd forth by their Miftress, to carry me in the name of foul Cloaths to Datchet-lane; they took me on their Shoulders, met the jealous Knave their Master in the Door, who ask'd them once or twice what they had in their Basket; I quak'd for Fear, least the Lunatick Knave would have search'd it; but Fate, ordaining he should be a Cuckold, held his Hand. Well, on went he for a search, and away went I for foul Cloaths; but mark the sequel, Master Broom, I suffered the pangs of three several Deaths: First, an intolerable Fright, to be detected by a jealous rotten Bell-weather; next to be compass'd like a good Bilbo, in the circumference of a Peck, hilt to point,
point, he'el to head; and then to be stopt in, like a strong Distillation, with stinking Cloaths, that fretted in their own Grease: Think of that, a Man of my Kidney; think of that, that am as subject to heat as Butter; a Man of continual dissolution and thaw; it was a miracle to 'scape Suffocation. And in the height of this Bath, when I was more than half flew'd in Grease, like a Dutch Dish, to be thrown into the Thames, and cool'd, glowing hot, in that forge, like a Horse-shoe; think of that; hissing hot, think of that. Master Broom.

Ford. In good madnes, Sir, I am sorry that for my sake you suffer'd all this. My Suit is then desperate; you'll undertake her no more?

Fal. Master Broom, I will be thrown into Etna, as I have been into Thames, ere I will leave her thus. Her Husband is this Morning gone a Birding; I have receiv'd from her another Ambassie of meeting; 'twixt eight and nine is the Hour, Master Broom.

Ford. 'Tis past eight already, Sir.

Fal. Is it? I will then address me to my Appointment. Come to me at your convenient leisure, and you shall know how I speed; and the Conclusion shall be crown'd with your enjoying her; Adieu, you shall have her, Master Broom, Master Broom, you shall cuckold Ford. [Exit.

Ford. Hum! Ha! Is this a Vision? Is this a Dream? Do I sleep? Master Ford awake, awake Master Ford; there's a Hole made in your best Coat, Master Ford; This 'tis to be married! this 'tis to have Linnen and Buck-baskets! Well, I will proclaim myself what I am; I will now take the Leacher; he is at my House; he cannot 'scape me; 'tis impossible he should; he cannot creep into a Half-penny Purse, nor into a Pepper-box. But least the Devil that guides him should aid him, I will search impossible places; tho' what I am I cannot avoid, yet to be what I would not shall not make me tame: If I have Horns, to make one mad, let the Proverb go with me, I'll be horn-mad.

[Exit.
A C T IV. S C E N E I.

Enter Mistress Page, Mistress Quickly and William.

Mrs. Page. Is he at Mr. Ford's already, think'st thou?

Quic. Sure he is by this, or will be presently; but truly he is very courageous mad, about his throwing into the Water; Mrs. Ford desires you to come suddenly.

Mrs. Page. I'll be with her by and by; I'll but bring my young Man here to School. Look where his Master comes; 'tis a Playing-day I see. How now, Sir Hugh, no School to Day?

Enter Evans.

Eva. No; Master Slender is let the Boys leave to play.

Quic. Blessing of his Heart.

Mrs. Page. Sir Hugh, my Husband says my Son profits nothing in the World at his Book; I pray you ask him some Questions in his Accidence.

Eva. Come hither, William; hold up your Head, come.

Mrs. Page. Come on Sirrah, hold up your Head; answer your Master, be not afraid.

Eva. William, how many Numbers is in Nouns?

Will. Two.

Quic. Truly, I thought there had been one Number more, because they say, od's Nouns.

Eva. Peace, your tatlings. What is, Fair, William?

Will. Pulcher.

Quic. Poulcats? There are fairer things than Poulcats, sure.

Eva. You are a very simplicity o'man; I pray you peace.

What is Lapis William?

Will. A Stone

Eva. And what is a Stone, William?

Will. A Pebble.

Eva. No, it is Lapis: I pray you remember in your Prain.

Will. Lapis.
Eva. That is a good William: What is he, William, that does lend Articles?

Will. Articles are borrow'd of the Pronoun, and be thus declin'd Singulariter Nominativo, hic hac hoc.

Eva. Nominativo, big bag hog; pray you mark: Genitivo hujus: Well, what is your Accusative Case?

Will. Accusative, hunc.

Eva. I pray you have your remembrance, Child, Accusativo, hinc, hang, hog.

Quic. Hang hog is Latin for Bacon, I warrant you.

Eva. Leave you Prabbles, o'man. What is the Focative Case William?

Will. O, Vocativo. O.

Eva. Remember William. Focative, is caret.

Quic. And that's a good Root.

Eva. O'man, forbear.

Mrs. Page. Peace.

Eva. What is your Genitive Case Plural, William?

Will. Genitive Case?

Eva. Ay.

Will. Genitive, horum, harum, horum.

Quic. Vengeance of Gymes Case; sic on her; never name her, Child, if she be a Whore.

Eva. For shame, o'man.

Quic. You do ill to teach the Child such words: He teaches him to hic, and to hac, which they'll do fast enough of themselves; and to call horum; sic upon you.

Mrs. Page. Privice hold thy Peace.

Eva. Show me now, William, some Declensions of your Pronouns.

Will. Forsooth, I have forgot.

Eva. It is Quic, que, quod; if you forget your Quies, your Ques, and your Quods, you must be preaches: Go your ways and play, go.

Mrs. Page. He is a better Scholar than I thought he was.
of WINDSOR. 181

Eva. He is a good sport Memory. Farewel, Mrs. Page.

Mrs. Page. Adieu, good Sir Hugh.
Get you home, Boy. Come we stay too long. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Falstaff and Mistress Ford.

Fal. Mistress Ford, your Sorrow hath eaten up my Sufferance; I see you are obsequious in your Love, and I profess Requital to a hairs breath, not only Mistress Ford, in the simple Office of Love, but in all the Accountment, Complement, and Ceremony of it. But are you sure of your Husband now?

Mrs. Ford. He's a Birding, sweet Sir John.

Enter Mistress Page.

Mrs. Page. How now, sweet Heart, who's at home besides your self?

Mrs. Ford. Why none but mine own People.

Mrs. Page. Indeed?

Mrs. Ford. No certainly.---Speak louder.

Mrs. Page. Truly. I am so glad you have no body here.

Mrs. Ford. Why?

Mrs. Page. Why Woman, your Husband is in his old Lines again; he so takes on yonder with my Husband, so rails against all married Mankind, so curses all Eve's Daughters, of what Complexion ever, and so buffets himself on the Forehead. crying peer-out, peer-out, that any Madness I ever yet beheld seem'd but Tameness. Civility and Patience to this Distemper he is in now; I am glad the fat Knight is not here.

Mrs. Ford. Why, does he talk of him?

Mrs. Page. Of none but him, and these years he was carry'd out the last time he search'd for him, in a Basket; protests to my Husband he is now here, and hath drawn him and the rest of their Company from their Sport, to make another Experiment of his Suspicion; but I am glad the Knight is not here; now he shall see his own Foolery.

Mrs.
Mrs. Ford. How near is he, Sir, is Page?
Mrs. Page. Hard by, at sure's end, he will be here anon.

Mrs. Ford. I am undone, the Knight is here.
Mrs. Page. Why then thou art utterly sham'd, and he's but a dead Man. What a Woman are you? away with him, away with him; better Shame than Murther.

Mrs. Ford. Which way should he go? How should I bestow him? Shall I put him into the Basket again?

Enter Falstaff.

Fal. No, I'll come no more 'th' Basket:
May I not go out ere he come?

Mrs. Page. Alas, Alas, three of Master Ford's Brothers watch the Door with Pistols, that none should issue out, otherwise you might slip ere he came: But what make you here?

Fal. What shall I do? I'll creep up into the Chimney.
Mrs. Ford. There they always use to discharge their Birding-Pieces; creep into the Kill-Hole.

Fal. Where is it?

Mrs. Ford. He will seek there, on my Word: Neither Press, Coffin, Chair, Trunk, Well, Vault, but he hath an Abstract for the remembrance of such Places, and goes to them by his Note; there is no hiding you in the House.

Fal. I'll go out then.
Mrs. Ford. If you go out in your own Semblance, you die, Sir John, unless you go out disguis'd. How might we disguise him?

Mrs. Page. Alas-the-Day, I know not; there is no Woman's Gown big enough for him; otherwise he might put on a Hat a Muffler, and a Kerchief, and go escape.

Fal. Good Heart, devise something; any Extremity, rather than Mischief.

Mrs. Ford. My Maid's Aunt, the fat Woman of Brainford, has a Gown above.

Mrs. Page. On my Word it well serve him, she's as big as he is; and there's her thumbn Hat, and her Muffler too. Run up, Sir John.

Mrs.
Mrs. Ford. Go, go, sweet Sir John, Mistress Page and I will look some Linnen for your Head.

Mrs. Page. Quick, quick, we'll come dress you straight; put on the Gown the while. [Exit Falstaff.

Mrs. Ford. I would my Husband would meet him in this Shape, he cannot abide the old Woman of Brainford; he swears she's a Witch, forbad her my House, and hath threatened to beat her.

Mrs. Page. Heav'n guide him to thy Husband's Cudgel, and the Devil guide his Cudgel afterwards.

Mrs. Ford. But is my Husband coming?

Mrs. Page. Ay in good Sadness is he, and talks of the Basket too, howsoever he hath had Intelligence.

Mrs. Ford. We'll try that; for I'll appoint my Men to carry the Basket again, to meet him at the Door with it, as they did last time.

Mrs. Page. Nay, but he'll be here presently; let's go dress him like the Witch of Brainford.

Mrs. Ford. I'll first direct my Men, what they shall do with the Basket; go up, I'll bring Linnen for him straight.

Mrs. Page. Hang him, dishonest Varlet, We cannot misdeme him enough We'll leave a Proof, by that which we will do, Wives may be merry, and yet honest too. We do not act that often jest and laugh: 'Tis old but true, Still Swine eats all the Draugh.

Mrs. Ford. Go Sirs, take the Basket again on your Shoulders; your Master is hard at door; if he bid you set it down obey him: Quickly, dispatch.

Enter Servants with the Basket.

1 Serv. Come. come, take up.
2 Serv. Pray Heav'n it be not full of the Knight again.
3 Serv. I hope not. I had as lief bear so much Lead.

Enter Ford, Shallow, Page, Caius and Evans.

Ford. Ay, but if it prove true, Master Page, have you any way then to unfool me again? Set down the Basket, Villain; somebody call my Wife: Youth in a Basket! Oh you panderly Rascals, there's a Knot, a Gang, a Pack, a Conspiracy against me; now shall the Devil be sham'd. What Wife, I say; come, come forth, behold what honest Cloaths you send forth to bleaching.
Page. Why, this pßes Master Ford, you are not to go loose any longer; you must be pinioned.

Eva. Why, this is Lunatics; this is mad as a mad Dog.

Shal. Indeed, Master Ford, this is not well indeed.

Ford. So say I too. Sir, come hither Mistresses Ford, Mistresses Ford, the honest Woman, the modest Wife, the virtuous Lady, are that hath the jealous Fool to her Husband; I suspect without Cause. Mistresses, do I?

Mrs. F. r. d. How'n be my Witness you do, if you suspect me in any Dishonesty.

Ford. Well said, Brazen-face, hold it out: Come forth, Sir . . . [Pulls the Cloaths out of the Basket.

Page. This passes.

Mrs. Ford. Are you not asham'd, let the Cloaths alone.

Ford. I shall find you anon.

Eva. 'Tis unreasonable; will you take up your Wife's Cloaths? Come away.

Ford. Empty the Basket, I say.

Mrs. Ford. Why Man, why?

Ford. Master Page, as I am a Man, there was one convey'd out of my House Yesterday in this Basket; why may not he be there again? In my House I am sure he is; my Intelligence is true, my Jealousie is reasonable; pluck me out all the Listens.

Mrs. Ford. If you find a Man there, he shall die a Flea's death.

Page. Here's no Man.

Shal. By my Fidelity this is not well, Master Ford; this wrongs you.

Eva. Master Ford you must pray, and not follow the Imaginations of your own Heart; this is Jealousies.

Ford. Well she's not here I seek for.

Page. No nor no where else but in your Brain.

Ford. Help to search my House this one time; if I find not what I seek there no colour for my Extremity; let me forever be your Table-sport; let them say of me, As jealous as Ford that search'd a hollow Wail-nut for his Wife's Lemman, Satisfie me once more, once more search with me.
of WINDSOR. 185

Mrs. Ford. What hoa, Mistrels Page! come you and the old Woman down; my Husband will come into the Chamber.

Ford. Old Woman! What old Woman's that?

Mrs. Ford. Why, it is my Maid's Aunt of Brainford.

Ford. A Witch, a Quean, an old cozening Quean; have I not forbid her my House? She comes of Errands, does she? We are simple Men, we do not know what's brought to pass under the Profession of Fortune-telling. She works by Charms, by Spells, by th' Figure, and such dawbry as this is, beyond our Element; we know nothing. Come down, you Witch, you Hag you, come down, I say.

Mrs. Ford. Nay, good sweet Husband; good Gentlemen, let him not strike the old Woman.

Enter Falstaff in Women's Cloaths.

Mrs. Page. Come Mother Prat, come, give me your Hand.

Ford. I'll Prat her. Out of my Door you Witch. [Beats him.] you Hag, you Baggage, you Poulcat, you Runnion, out, out, out; I'll conjure you, I'll Fortune-tell you.

[Exit Fal.

Mrs. Page. Are you not ashamed?
I think you have kill'd the poor Woman.

Mrs. Ford. Nay, he will do it; 'tis a goodly Credit for you.

Evw. By yea, and no, I think the o'man is a Witch indeed; I like not when a o'man has a great Peard; I spy a great Peard under her Muffler.

Ford. Will you follow, Gentlemen? I beseech you follow; see but the Issue of my Jealousie; if I cry out thus upon no Trial, never trust me when I open again.

Page. Let's obey his Humour a little further:

Come, Gentlemen. [Exeunt.

Mrs. Page. Trust me, he beat him most pitifully.

Mrs. Ford. Nay, by th' Mass that he did not; he beat him most unpitifully, methought.

Mrs. Page. I'll have the Cudgel hallow'd, and hung o'er the Altar; it hath done meritorious Service.

Mrs. Ford.
Mrs. Ford. What think you? May we, with the warrant of Woman-hood, and the Witnesses of a good Conscience, pursuie him with any further Revenge?

Mrs. Page. The Spirit of Wantonness is sure scar'd out of him; if the Devil have him not in Fee-simple, with Fine and Recovery, he will never, I think, in the way of waste, attempt us again.

Mrs. Ford. Shall we tell our Husbands how we have serv'd him?

Mrs. Page. Yes, by all means; if it be but to scrape the Figures out of your Husband's Brain. If they can find in their Hearts the poor unvirtuous fat Knight shall be any further afflicted, we two will still be the Ministers.

Mrs. Ford. I'll warrant they'll have him publicly sham'd; and methinks there would be no period to the Jest, should he not be publicly sham'd.

Mrs. Page. Come to the Forge with it, then shape it: I would not have things cool. [Exeunt.

SCENE III.

Enter Hoft and Bardolph.

Bard. Sir, the German desires to have three of your Horses; the Duke himself will be to Morrow at Court, and they are going to meet him.

Hoft. What Duke should that be comes so secretly? I hear not of him in the Court: Let me speak with the Gentlemen; they speak English?

Bar. Sir, I'll call them to you.

Hoft. They shall have my Horses, but I'll make them pay, I'll sawce them. They have had my House a Week at Command; I have turn'd away my other Guests; they must come off; I'll sawce them, come. [Exeunt.

SCENE IV.

Enter Page, Ford, Mistress Page, Mistress Ford, and Evans.

Evans. 'Tis one of the best Discrections of a o'man as ever I did look upon.
Page. And did he send you both these Letters at an instant?

Mrs. Page. Within a quarter of an Hour.

Ford. Pardon me, Wife. Henceforth do what thou wilt; I rather will suspect the Sun with Cold Than thee with Wantonness; now doth thy Honour stand, In him that was of late an Heretick, As firm of Faith.

Page. 'Tis well, 'tis well; no more.
Be not extrem in Submission, as in Offense, But let our Plot go forward: Let our Wives Yet once again, to make us publick Sport, Appoint a Meeting with this old fat Fellow, Where we may take him, and disgrace him for it.

Ford. There is no better way than that they spoke of.

Evans. You say he hath been thrown into the River; and has been grievously peaten, as an old o' man; me thinks there should be Terrors in him, that he should not come; me thinks his Flesh is punish'd, he shall have no Desires.

Page. So think I too.

Mrs. Ford. Devise but how you'll use him when he comes; And let us two devise to bring him thither.

Mrs. Page. There is an old Tales goes, that Herne the Hunter, sometime a Keeper in Windsor Forest, Doth all the Winter time at still of Midnight Walk round about an Oak, with great ragged Horns, And there he blasts the Tree, and takes the Cattle, And makes Milch-kine yield Blood, and shakes a Chain In a most hideous and dreadful manner. You have heard of such a Spirit. and well you know The superstitious idle-headed Eld Receiv'd and did deliver to our Age This Tale of Herne the Hunter for a Truth.

Page. Why yet there want not many that do fear In deep of Night to walk by this Herne's Oak; But what of this?

Mrs. Ford. Marry this is our Device, That Falstaff at that Oak shall meet with us.
Page. Well, let it not be doubted, but he'll come. And in this Shape when you have brought him thither, What shall be done with him? What is your Plot?

Mrs. Page. That is, we have thought upon, and thus:

Nan Page, (my Daughter) and my little Son,
And three or four more of their Growth, we'll dress
Like Urchins, Ouphes, and Fairies, green and white,
With Rounds of waxen Tapers on their Heads,
And Rattles in their Hands; upon a sudden,
As Falstaff's he, and I, are nearly met,
Let them from forth a Saw-pit rush at once
With some diffused Song: Upon their fight
We two, in great Amazement, will fly;
Then let them all encircle him about,
And Fairy-like to pinch the unclean Knight;
And ask him why, that Hour of Fairy Revel,
In their so sacred Paths he dares to tread
In Shape profane.

Mrs. Ford. And till he tell the Truth, I
Let the supposed Fairies pinch him sound,
And burn him with their Tapers.

Mrs. Page. The Truth being known,
We'll all present our selves; dischorn the Spirit,
And mock him home to Windsor.

Ford. The Children must
Be practis'd well to this, or they'll ne'er do't.

Evans. I will teach the Children their Behaviours; and I will be like a Jack-a-napes also, to burn the Knight with my Taber.

Ford. This will be excellent.
I'll go buy them Vizards.

Mrs. Page. My Nan shall be the Queen of all the Fairies,
Finely attired in a Robe of white.

Page. That Silk would I go buy, and in that time
Shall Mr. Slender steal my Nan away,
And marry her at Eaton. Go, send to Falstaff straight.

Ford. Nay, I'll to him again in the name of Broom;
He'll tell me all his Purpose. Sure he'll come.

Mrs. Page. Fear not you that; go get us Properties
And Trickling for your Fairies.

Evans.
of Windsor

Eva. Let us about it; its admirable Pleasures, and suvey honest Knavernies.

[Exeunt Page, Ford and Evans.

Mrs. Page. Go Mrs. Ford, Send quickly to Sir John, to know his Mind.

[Exit Mrs. Ford.

I'll to the Doctor, he hath my good Will, And none but he to marry with Nan Page. That Slender, th' well landèd, is an Ideot; And he my Husband best of all affects: The Doctor is well mony'd, and his Friends Potent at Court; he, none but he shall have her. Tho' twenty thousand worthier came to crave her. [Exit.

Scene V.

Enter Hoft and Simple.

Hoft. What wouldst thou have, Boor? what, Thick-skin? spake, breathe, discuss; brief, short, quick, snap.

Simp. Marry, Sir, I come to speak with Sir John Falstaff, from Mr. Slender.

Hoft. There's his Chamber, his House, his Castle, his Standing-bed and Truckle-bed; 'tis painted about with the Story of the Prodigal, fresh and new; go, knock and call; he'll speak like an Anthropophaginian unto thee: Knock, I say.

Simp. There's an old Woman, a fat Woman gone up into his Chamber; I'll be so bold as say, Sir, 'till she come down; I come to speak with her indeed.

Hoft. Ha! a fat Woman? The Knight may be robb'd: I'll call. Bully-Knight! Bully-Sir John! speak from thy Lungs Military: Art thou there? It is thine Hoft, thine Ephesian calls.

Enter Falstaff.

Fal. How now, mine Hoft?

Hoft. Here's a Bohemian-Tartar tarries the coming down of thy fat Woman: Let her descend, Bully, let her descend; my Chambers are honourable. Fie, Privacy? Fie.

Fal. There was, mine Hoft, an old fat Woman even now with me, but she's gone.

Simp.
Simp. Pray you, Sir, was’t not the wife Woman of Brainford?
Fal. Ay marry was it, Muscle-shell, what would you with her?
Simp. My Master, Sir, my Master Slender sent to her, seeing her go thro’ the Street, to know, Sir, whether one Nym, Sir, that beguiled him of a Chain, had the Chain, or no.
Fal. I spake with the old Woman about it.
Simp. And what says she, I pray Sir?
Fal. Marry she says, that the very same Man that beguiled Master Slender of his Chain, cozen’d him of it.
Simp. I would I could have spoken with the Woman her self, I had other things to have spoken with her too, from him.
Fal. What are they? Let us know.
Hoft. Ay, come; quick.
Simp. I may not conceal them, Sir.
Hoft. Conceal them, or thou dy’st.
Simp. Why, Sir, they were nothing but about Mistref’s Anne Page, to know if it were my Master’s Fortune to have her or no.
Fal. ’Tis, ’tis his Fortune.
Simp. What, Sir?
Fal. To have her, or no: Go; say the Woman told me so.
Simp. May I be so bold to say so, Sir?
Hoft. Ay Sir; like who more bold.
Simp. I thank you Worship: I shall make my Master glad with these Tidings. [Exit Simp.
Hoft. Thou art clarkly; thou art clarkly, Sir John: Was there a wife Woman with thee?
Fal. Ay, that there was, mine Hoft, one that hath taught me more Wit than ever I learn’d before in my Life; and I paid nothing for it neither, but was paid for my learning.

Enter Bardolph.

Bard. Out alas, Sir Cozenage; meer Cozenage!
Hoft. Where be my Horfes? Speak well of them, Varletto.
Bard. Run away with the Cozeners; for so soon as I came beyond Eaton, they threw me off from behind one of them in a Slough of Mire, and set Spurs and away; like three German Devils, three Doctor Fausbuses.

Hof. They are gone but to meet the Duke, Villain, do not say they be fled; Germans are honest Men.

Enter Evans.

Eva. Where's mine Hof? Hof. What is the Matter, Sir? Eva. Have a care of your Entertainments; there is a Friend o' mine come to Town, tells me there is three Cozen-Jerms that has cozen'd all the Hof's of Reading, of Maiden-Head, of Coles-Brook, of Horses and Mony. I tell you for good Will, look you; you are wise, and full of Gibes and vlouting-Stocks, and 'tis not convenient you should be cozened; fare you well. [Exit.

Enter Caius.

Caius. Ver's mine Hof de Jarteer?

Hof. Here, Master Doctor, in Perplexity and doubtful Delemma.

Caius. I cannot tell vat is dat; but it is tell-a-me, dat you make a grand Preparation for a Duke de Jamanys; by my trot, der is no Duke dat the Court is know, to come: I tell you for good Will; adieu. [Exit.

Hof. Hue and Cry, Villain, go; assist me, Knight, I am undone; fly, run, Hue and Cry. Villain, I am undone. [Exit.

Fal. I would all the World might be cozened, for I have been cozened and beaten too. If it should come to the Ear of the Court, how I have been transformed, and how my Transformation hath been wash'd and cudgel'd, they would melt me out of my Fat, Drop by Drop, and liquor Fishermens Boots with me; I warrant they would whip me with their fine Wits, 'till I were as crest-faln as a dry'd Pear. I never prosper'd since I forswore my self at Primero. Well, if my Wind were but long enough, I would repent. Now, whence come you?

Enter Mistress Quickly.

Qut. From the two Parties, Forfooth.
Fal. The Devil take one Party, and his Dam the other, and so they shall be both bestowed; I have suffered more for their Sakes, more than the villainous Inconstancy of Man's Disposition is able to bear.

Quic. And have not they suffered? yes, I warrant, specially one of them; Miss [several words illegible], good Heart, is beaten black and blue, that you cannot see a white Spot about her.

Fal. What tell'st thou me of black and blue? I was beaten my self into all the Colours of the Rain-Bow; and I was like to be apprehended for the Witch of Brainford, but that my admirable Dexterity of Wit, counterfeiting the Action of an old Woman deliver'd me, the Knave Constable had set me i'th' Stocks, i'th' common Stocks for a Witch.

Quic. Sir, let me speak with you in your Chamber, you shall hear how things go, and, I warrant, to your Content. Here is a Letter will say somewhat. Good Hearts, what ado is here to bring you together? Sure one of you does not serve Hear'n well, that you are so cros'd.

Fal. Come up into my Chamber. [Exeunt.

SCENE IV.

Enter Fenton and Hoft.

Hoft. Master Fenton, talk not to me, my Mind is heavy, I will give over all.

Fent. Yet hear me speak; assist me in my Purpose, And, as I am a Gentleman, I'll give thee A hundred Pound in Gold more than your Loss.

Hoft. I will hear you, Master Fenton; and I will, at the least, keep your Counsel.

Fent. From time to time I have acquainted you With the dear Love I bear to fair Anne Page, Who, mutually, hast answer'd my Affection, (So far forth as her self might be her Chaser) Ev'n to my Wish; I have a Letter from her Of such Contents, as you will wonder at; The Mirth whereof's so larded with my Matter, That neither singly can be manifested,
of Windsor. 193

Without the shew of both. Fat Sir John Falstaff
Hath a great Scene; the Image of the Jest
I'll shew you here at large. Hark good mine Host;
To Night at Herne's Oak, just 'twixt twelve and one,
Must my sweet Nan present the Fairy Queen,
The Purpose why, is here; in which Disguise,
While other Jests are something rank on Foot,
Her Father hath commanded her to slip
Away with S'nder, and with him at Eaton
Immediately to marry; she hath consented. Now Sir,
Her Mother, even strong against that Match,
And him for Doctor Caius, hath appointed
That he shall likewise shuffle her away,
While other Sports are tasking of their Minds,
And at the Deanry, where a Priest attends,
Straight marry her; to this her Mother's Plot
She, seemingly obedient, likewise hath
Made promise to the Doctor: Now thus it rests;
Her Father means she shall be all in White,
And in that Habit, when Slender sees his time
To take her by the Hand, and bid her go,
She shall go with him. Her Mother hath intended,
The better to devote her to the Doctor,
(For they must all be mask'd and vizarded)
That, quaint in Green, she shall be loose enrob'd,
With Ribbands-Pendant, flaring 'bout her Head;
And when the Doctor spies his Vantage ripe,
To pinch her by the Hand, and on that Token,
The Maid hath given Consent to go with him.
Host. Which means she to deceive? Father or Mother?

Font. Both, my good Host, to go along with me;
And here it rests, that you'll procure the Vicar
To say for me at Church, 'twixt twelve and one,
And in the lawful Name of marrying,
To give our Hearts united Ceremony.
Host. Well, husband your Device; I'll to the Vicar.
Bring You the Maid, you shall not lack a Priest.

Font. So shall I evermore be bound to thee;
Beside, I'll make a present Recompence. [Ex euntes]
ACT V. SCENE I.

Enter Falstaff and Mistress Quickly.

Fal. Prithee no more prating; go, I'll hold. This is the third time; I hope good Luck lies in odd Numbers; away, go; they say there is Divinity in odd Numbers, either in Nativity, Chance or Death; away.

Quic. I'll provide you a Chain, and I'll do what I can to get you a Pair of Horas. [Exit Mrs. Quickly.

Fal. Away, I say, time wears: hold up your Head, and mince.

Enter Ford.

How now, Master Broom? Master Broom, the Matter will be known to Night, or never. Be you in the Park about Mid-Night, at Herne's Oak, and you shall see Wonders.

Ford. Went you not to her Yesterday, Sir, as you told me you had appointed?

Fal. I went to her, Master Broom, as you see, like a poor old Man; but I came from her, Master Broom, like a poor old Woman. That same Knave, Ford her Husband, had the finest mad Devil of Jealousie in him, Master Broom, that ever govern'd Frenzy. I will tell you, he beat me grievously, in the shape of a Woman; for in the shape of a Man. Master Broom, I fear not Goliath with a Weaver's Beam; because I know also Life is a Shuttle; I am in haste; go along with me, I'll tell you all, Master Broom. Since I plucked Geese, play'd Truant, and whipt Top, I knew not what 'twas to be beaten, 'till lately. Follow me, I'll tell you strange things of this Knave Ford, on whom to Night I will be reveng'd, and I will deliver his Wife into your Hand. Follow; strange things in hand, Master Broom; follow. [Exeunt.

SCENE II.

Enter Page, Shallow and Slender.

Page. Come, come; we'll couch ith' Castle-ditch, 'till we see the light of our Fairier. Remember, Son Slender, my Daughter.
Slen. Ay Forthoof, I have spoke with her, and we have a Nay-word how to know one another. I come to her in white and cry Mum, she cries Budget, and by that we know one another.

Shal. That's good too; but what needs either your Mum, or her Budget? The white will decipher her well enough. It hath struck ten a-Clock.

Page. The Night is dark, Light and Spirits will become it well; Heav'n prosper our Sport. No Man means evil but the Devil, and we shall know him by his Horns. Let's away; follow me. [Exeunt.

SCENE III.

Enter Mistress Page, Mistress Ford and Caius.

Mrs. Page. Mr. Doctor, my Daughter is in green; when you see your time, take her by the Hand, away with her to the Deanary, and dispatch it quickly; go before into the Park; we two must go together.

Caius. I know vat I have to do; adieu. [Exit.

Mrs. Page. Fare you well, Sir. My Husband will not rejoice so much at the Abuse of Falstaff, as he will chafe at the Doctor's marrying my Daughter: But 'tis no matter; better a little chiding, than a great deal of heart-break.

Mrs. Ford. Where is Nan now, and her Troop of Fairies, and the Welch Devil Herne?

Mrs. Page. They are all couch'd in a Pit hard by Herne's Oak with obscure' Lights; which at the very instant of Falstaff's and our meeting they will at once display to the Night

Mrs. Ford. That cannot chuse but amaze him.

Mrs. Page. If he be not amaz'd he will be mock'd; if he be amaz'd he will be mock'd.

Mrs. Ford. We'll betray him finely.

Mrs. Page. Against such Lewdsters, and their Lechery, Tho'f that betray them do no Treachery.

Mrs. Ford. The Hour draws on; to the Oak, to the Oak. [Exeunt.
SCENE IV.

Enter Evans and Faires.

Evans. Trib. trib, Faires; come and remember your parts: Be bold, I pray you, follow me into the Pit, and when I give the Watch-ords do as I bid you: Come, come; trib, trib.

[Exeunt.

SCENE V.

Enter Falstaff.

Falstaff. The Windsor Bell hath struck twelve, the Minute draws on; now the hot-blooded Gods afflck me. Remember, O love, thou wast a Bull for thy Europa; Love set on thy Horns. Oh powerful Love! that in some respects makes a Beast a Man; in some other, a Man a Beast. You were also Jupiter, a Swan, for the love of Leda: Oh omnipotent Love! how near the God drew to the Complexion of a Goose; a Fault done first in the form of a Beast, O Love, a beastly Fault; and then another Fault in the semblance of a Fowl; think on't, O love, a foul Fault. When Gods have hot Backs, what shall poor Men do? For me, I am here a Windsor Stag, and the fattest, I think, 'tis Forrest. Send me a cool Rut-time, love, or who can blame me to piss my Tallow? Who comes here? my Doe?

Enter Mistrefs Ford and Mistrefs Page.

Mrs. Ford. Sir John? Art thou there, my Deer?

My Male-Deer?

Falstaff. My Doe with the black Scut? Let the Sky rain Potatoes, let it thunder to the Tune of Green Sleeves, hail Killing-Comfits, and snow Eringoes; let there come a Tempest of Provocation, I will shelter me here.

Mrs. Ford. Mistress Page is come with me, sweet Heart.

Falstaff. Divide me like a brib'd Buck, each a Haunch, I will keep my Sides to my self, my Shoulders for the Fellow of this Walk, and my Horns I bequeath your Husbands. Am I a Woodman, ha? Speak I like Herne the Hunter? Why, now is Cupid a Child of Conscience, he makes makes Restitution. As I am a true Spirit, welcome.

Mrs. Page. Alas! what Noise?
Mrs. Ford. Heav'n forgive our Sins.
Fal. What should this be?

Fal. I think the Devil will not have me damn'd,
Left the Oil that is in me should set Hell on Fire;
He would never else cross me thus.

Enter Fairies.

Quic. Fairies, black, gray, green, and white,
You Moon-shine Revellers, and Shades of Night;
You Orphan-Heirs of fixed Destiny,
Attend your Office, and your Quality.
Grier Hobgoblin, make the Fairy O-yes.

Pist. Elves, lift your Names; silence, you airy Toys;
Cricket, to Windsor Chimneys shall thou leap;
Where Fires thou find'st unshak'd, and Hearths unswept,
There pinch the Maids as blew as Bilberry.
Our radiant Queen hates Slutt and Slutt'ry.

Fal. They are Fairies, he that speaks to them shall die;
I'll wink and cough; no Man their Works must see.

[Dies down upon his Face.

Eva. Where's Bede? Go you, and where you find a Maid
That e'er she sleep hath thrice her Prayers said,
Raise up the Organs of her Fantasie,
Sleep she as sound as careless Infancy;
But those that sleep and think not on their Sins,
Pinch them, Arms, Legs, Backs, Shoulders, Sides and Shins;

Quic. About, about;
Search Windsor Castle, Elves, within and out.
Strew good Luck, Ouphes, on every sacred Room,
That it may stand 'till the perpetual Doom,
In State as wholesom, as in State 'tis fit;
Worthy the Owner, and the Owner it.
The several Chairs of Order look you 'four,
With Juice of Balm and ev'ry precious Flow'r;
Each fair Insignment, Coat, and Sev'rel Crest,
With loyal Blazon evermore be blest.
And nightly-meadow-Fairies, look you sing
Like to the Garter-compsas in a Ring:
Th' Expresseure that it bears, Green let it be,
More fertile flesh than all the Field to see;
And, Hony Soit Qui Mal-y-Penfe write
In Emroid-tuffs, Flowers, purple, blue and white,
Like Saphire-pearl, and rich Embroidery,
Buckled below fair Knight-hoods bending Knee;
Fairies use Flow'rs for their Character.
Away, dissever; but 'till 'tis one a Clock
Our Dance of Custom round about the Oak
Of Herne the Hunter, let us not forget.

[let:

Eva. Pray you lock Hand in Hand, your selves in order
And twenty Glow-worms shall our Lanthorns be
To guide our Measure round about the Tree.
But say, I smell a Man of middle Earth.
Fal. Heavn's defend me from that Welch Fairy,
Left he transform me to a piece of Cheefe.

Pifi. Vild Worm, thou wast o'er-look'd even in thy Birth;
Quic. With Trial-fire touch me his Finger end;
If he be Chafie, the Flame will back descend
And turn him to no Pain; but if he start,
It is the Flesh of a corrupted Heart.

Pifi. A Trial, come.

[They burn him with their Tapers, and pinch him.

Eva. Come, will this Wood take fire?
Fal. Oh, oh, oh.

Quic. Corrupt, corrupt, and tainted in Desire;
About him, Fairies, sing a scornful Rhime.
And as you trip, still pinch him to your time.

The S O N G.

Fie on simple Phantasie: Fie on Lust and Luxury:
Lust is but a bloody Fire, kindled with unchaste Desire.
Fed in Heart whose Flames aspire,
As Thoughts do blow them higher and higher.

Pinch him, Fairies, mutually; pinch him for his Villany:
Pinch him, and burn him, and turn him about,
Till Candles, and Star-light, and Moon-shine be out.

[He offers to run out. Enter
Enter Page. Ford, &c. They lay hold on him.

Page. Nay, do not fly. I think I have watcht you now; will none but Herne the Hunter serve your turn?

Mrs. Page. I pray you come, hold up the Jeff no higher. Now, good Sir John how like you Windsor Wives? See you these Husbands? Do not these fair Oaks become the forest better than the Town?

Ford. Now, Sir, who's a Cuckold now?

Master Broom, Falstaff's a Knave, a cuckoldly Knave, here are his Horns, Master Broom; and, Master Broom, he hath enjoy'd nothing of Ford's. But his Buck-basket, his Cudgel, and twenty Pounds of Mony, which must be paid to Master Broom; his Horses are arrested for it, Master Broom.

Mrs. Ford. Sir John, we have had ill Luck; we could never meet. I will never take you for my Love again, but I will always count you my Deer.

Fal. I do begin to perceive that I am made an As.

Ford. Ay, and an Ox too: Both the Proofs are extant.

Fal. And these are not Fairies:

I was three or four times in the Thought they were not Fairies, and yet the guiltiness of my Mind, the sudden surprize of my Powers, drove the grossest of the Foppery into a receiv'd Belief, in delight of the Teeth of all Rhime and Reason, that they were Fairies. See now how Wit may be made a Jack-a-Lent, when 'tis upon ill Imployment.

Eva. Sir John Falstaff, serve Got, and leave your Desires, and Fairies will not pinse you.

Ford. Well said, Fairy Hugh.

Eva. And leave you your Jealouzies too, I pray you.

Ford. I will never mistrust my Wife again, 'till thou art able to woo her in good English.

Fal. Have I laid my Brain in the Sun and dry'd it, that it wants Matter to prevent so gross o'er-reaching as this? Am I ridden with a Welsh Goat too? Shall I have a Coxcomb of Frize? 'Tis time I werechoak'd with a piece of toatfed Cheefe.

Eva. Seefe is not good to give Putter; your Pelly is all Putter.

K. 4

Fal.
Fal. Seese and Putter? Have I liv’d to stand in the taunt of one that makes Fritters of English? This is enough to be the decay of Lust and late-walking, through the Realm.

Mrs. Page. Why S.r John, do you think, though we would have thrufht Virtue out of our Hearts by the Head and Shoulders, and have given our selves without scruple to Heil, that ever the Devil could have made you our Delight?

Ford. What, a Hodge-pudding? A Bag of Flax?

Mrs. Page. A puff Man?

Page. Old, cold, with’r’d, and of intolerable Entrails?

Ford. And one that is as flanderous as Satan?

Page. And as poor as Job?

Ford. And as wicked as his Wife?

Eva. And given to Fornications, and to Taverns, and Sack, and Wine, and Metheglins, and to Drinkings, and Swearings, and Staring, Pribbles and prabbles?

Fal. Well, I am your Theme; you have the Start of me, I am dejected; I am not able to answer the Welsh Flannel, Ignorance it self is a Plummct o’er me, use me as you will.

Ford. Marry Sir, we’ll bring you to Windsor to one Mr. Broom, that you have cozen’d of Mony, to whom you should have been a Pander: Over and above that you have suffer’d, I think, to repay that Mony will be a biting Afflication.

Page. Yet be cheerful. Knight, thou shalt eat a Poffet to Night at my House, where I will desire thee to laugh at my Wife, that now laughs at thee. Tell her Mr. Slender hath marry’d her Daughter.

Mrs. Page. Doctors doubt that;

If Anne Page be my Daughter, she is, by this, Doctor Caius’s Wife.

Enter Slender.

Slender. What hoe! hoe! Facher Page!

Page. Son? How now? How now Son, Have you dispatch’d?

Slender. Dispatch’d? I’ll make the best in Gloucestershire know on’t; would I were hang’d-la, else.

Page. Of what, Son?
Slen. I came yonder at Eaton to marry Mistress Anne Page, and she's a great lubberly Boy. If it had not been i' th' Church, I would have swing'd him, or he should have swing'd me. If I did not think it had been Anne Page, would I might never stir, and 'tis a Post-master's Boy.

Page. Upon my Life then you took the wrong.

Slen. What need you tell me that? I think so, when I took a Boy for a Girl: If I had been marry'd to him, for all he was in Woman's Apparel, I would not have had him.

Page. Why, this is your own Folly.
Did not I tell you how should know my Daughter
By her Garments?

Slen. I went to her in white and cry'd Mum, and she cry'd Budget, as Anne and I had appointed, and yet it was not Anne, but a Post-master's Boy.

Mrs. Page. Good George be not angry; I knew of your purpose, turn'd my Daughter into green, and indeed she is now with the Doctor at the Deanery, and there marry'd.

Enter Caius.

Caius. Ver is Mistress Page; by gar I am cozen'd, I ha' marry'd one Garfoon, a Boo; oon Pefant, by gar. A Boy;
it is not Anne Page, by gar, I am cozen'd.

Mrs. Page. Why? Did you take her in white?

Caius. Ay be gar, and 'tis a Boy; be gar, I'll raise all Windor.

Ford. This is strange? who hath got the right Anne?

Page. My Heart misgives me; here comes Mr. Fenton.

How now Mr. Fenton?

Anne. Pardon, good Father; good my Mother, Pardon;

Page. Now Mistress,

How chance you went not with Mr. Slender?

Mrs. Page. Why went you not with Mr. Doctor, Maid?

Fent. You do amaze her. Hear the Truth of it.

You would have marry'd her most shamefully,
Where there was no proportion held in Love;
The Truth is, the and I, long since con-tracted,
Are now so sure that nothing can dissolve us.
Th' Offence is holy that she hath committed,
And this Deceit loses the name of Craft,
Of Disobedience, or unduteous Title;
Since therein she doth evitate and shun
A thousand irreligious cursed Hours
Which forced Marriage would have brought upon her.

Ford. Stand not amaz'd, here is no Remedy.

In Love, the Heav'ns themselves do guide the State;
Mony buys Lands, and Wives are sold by Fate.

Fal. I am glad, tho' you have ta'en a special Stand to strike at me, that your Arrow hath glanc'd.

Page. Well, what Remedy? Fenton, Heav'n give thee Joy;
What cannot be eschew'd, must be embrac'd.

Fal. When Night-dogs run, all sorts of Deer are chac'd.

Mrs. Page. Well, I will mufe no further. Mr. Fenton,
Heav'n give you many, many merry Days.
Good Husband, let us every one go home,
And laugh this Sport o'er by a Country Fire,
Sir John and all.

Ford. Let it be so, Sir John:
To Master Broom you yet shall hold your Word;
For he, to Night, shall lye with Mistress Ford.[Exe. Omnes.

What figure of us think you, he will bear?
For you must know, we have with special Soul
Elected him our Absence to supply;
Lent him our Terror, drest him with our Love,
And given his Deputation all the Organs
Of our own Power: What think you of it?

Escal. If any in Vienna be of Worth
To undergo such ample Grace and Honour,
It is Lord Angelo.

Enter Angelo.

Duke. Look where he comes.

Ang. Always obedient to your Grace's Will;
I come to know your Grace's Pleasure.

Duke. Angelo,
There is a kind of Character in thy Life,
That, to th' Observer, doth thy History
Fully unfold: Thy self and thy Belongings
Are not thine own so proper, as to waste
Thy self upon thy Virtues; they on thee:
Heav'n doth with us, as we with Torches do,
Not light them for themselves: For if our Virtues
Did not go forth of us, 'twere all alike
As if we had them not. Spirits are not finely touch'd,
But to fine Issues; nor Nature never lends
The smallest Scruple of her Excellence,
But like a thrifty Goddess, she determines
Her self the Glory of a Creditor,
Both Thanks and Use. But I do bend my Speech
To one that can my Part in him advertise;
Hold therefore, Angelo:
In our Remove, be thou at full, our self.
Mortality and Mercy in Vienna,
Live in thy Tongue and Heart: Old Escalus,
Though first in Question, is thy Secondary.
Take thy Commission.

Ang. Now, good my Lord,
Let there be some more Test made of my Metal,
Before so noble and so great a Figure.
Be stampt upon it.
Duke. No more Evagination: We have with a leaven'd and prepar'd Choice
Proceeded to you; therefore take your Honours. Our Haste from hence is of so quick Condition,
That it prefers it self; and leaves unquestion'd Matters of needful Value. We shall write to you,
As Time and our Concernings shall importune,
How it goes with us, and do look to know What doth befal you here. So fare you well,
To th' hopeful Execution do I leave you Of our Commission.

Ang. Yet give leave, my Lord,
That we may bring you something on the Way.

Duke. My Haste may not admit it,
Nor need you, on mine Honour, have to do With any Scruple; your Scope is as mine own,
So to informe, or qualifie the Law,
As to your Soul seems good. Give me your Hand; I'll privily away. I love the People,
But do not like to stage me to their Eyes:
Though it do well, I do not relish well Their loud Applause, and Acres vehement:
Nor do I think the Man of safe Discretion That does affect it. Once more fare you well:

Ang. The Heav'n's give Safety to your Purposes.

Escal. Lead forth and bring you back in Happiness.

Duke. I thank you, fare you well. [Exit.

Escal. I shall desire you, Sir, to give me leave To have free Speech with you; and it concerns me To look into the Bottom of my Place: A Power I have, but of what Strength and Nature I am not yet instructed.

Ang. 'Tis so with me: Let us with-draw together, And we may soon our Satisfaction have Touching that Point.

Escal. I'll wait upon your Honour. [Exeunt.

SCENE
SCENE II. The Street.

Enter Lucio, and two Gentlemen.

Lucio. If the Duke, with the other Dukes, come not to Composition with the King of Hungary, why then all the Dukes fall upon the King.

1 Gent. Heav'n grant us its Peace, but not the King of Hungary's.

2 Gent. Amen.

Lucio. Thou conclu'dst like the Sanctimonious Pyrat, that went to Sea with the ten Commandments, but scrap'd one out of the Table.

2 Gent. Thou shalt not steal?

Lucio. Ay, that he raz'd.

1 Gent. Why? 'twas a Commandment to command the Captain and all the rest from their Functions; they put forth to steal: There's not a Soldier of us all, that, in the Thanksgiving before Meat, do relish the Petition well that prays for Peace.

2 Gent. I never heard any Soldier dislike it.

Lucio. I believe thee: For I think thou never wast where Grace was said.

2 Gent. No: a dozen times at least.

1 Gent. What? in Meeter?

Lucio. In any Proportion, or in any Language.

1 Gent. I think, or in any Religion.

Lucio. Ay, why not? Grace, is Grace, despight of all Controversie; as for Example, Thou thy self art a wicked Villain, despight of all Grace.

1 Gent. Well; there went but a Pair of Sheers between us.

Lucio. I grant; as there may between the Lifts and the Velvet. Thou art the Lift.

1 Gent. And thou the Velvet; thou art good Velvet; thou'rt a three-pil'd Piece I warrant thee: I had as lief be a Lift of an English Kersey, as be pil'd, as thou art pil'd, for a French Velvet. Do I speak feelingly now?

Lucio. I think thou dost; and indeed with most painful feeling of thy Speech: I will, out of thine own Confession, learn to begin thy Health; but, whilst I live, forget to drink after thee.
1 Gent. I think I have done my self wrong, have I not?
2 Gent. Yes, that thou haft; whether thou art tainted, or free.

Enter Bawd.

Lucio. Behold, behold, where Madam Mitigation comes,
I have purchas'd as many Diseases under her Roof,
As come to —

2 Gent. To what, pray?
Lucio. Judge.

2 Gent. To three thousand Dollars a Year.

1 Gent. Ay, and more.

Lucio. A French Crown more.

1 Gent. Thou art always figuring Diseases in me; but thou art full of Error; I am found.

Lucio. Nay, not, as one would say, healthy; but so found, as things that are hollow; thy Bones are hollow;
Impiety has made a Feast of thee.

1 Gent. How now, which of your Hips has the most profound Sciatica?

Bawd. Well, well; there's one yonder arrested, and carry'd to Prison, was worth five thousand of you all.

1 Gent. Who's that, I prethce?

Bawd. Marry Sir, that's Claudio Signior Claudio.

1 Gent. Claudio to Prison? 'tis not so.

Bawd. Nay, but I know 'tis so; I saw him arrested; saw him carry'd away; and which is more, within these three Days his Head is to be chopt off.

Lucio. But, after all this fooling, I would not have it so:
Art thou sure of this?

Bawd. I am too sure of it; and it is for getting Madam
Julietta with Child.

Lucio. Believe me this may be; he promised to meet me two Hours since, and he was ever precise in Promise-keeping.

2 Gent. Besides, you know it draws something near to the Speech we had to such a Purpose.

1 Gent. But most of all agreeing with the Proclamation.

Lucio.
Lucio. Away, let's go learn the Truth of it. [Exeunt.

Bawd. Thus, what with the War, what with the Swear, what with the Gallows, and what with Poverty,
I am Custom-shrunken. How now? what's the News with you?

Enter Clown.

Clown. Yonder Man is carry'd to Prison.

Bawd. Well; what has he done?

Clown. A Woman.

Bawd. But what's his Offence?

Clown. Groping for Trouts in a peculiar River.

Bawd. What? is there a Maid with Child by him?

Clown. No; but there's a Woman with Maid by him.

You have not heard of the Proclamation, have you?

Bawd. What Proclamation, Man?

Clown. All Houses in the Suburbs of Vienna must be pluck'd down.

Bawd. And what shall become of those in the City?

Clown. They shall stand for Seed; they had gone down too, but that a wise Burger put in for them.

Bawd. But shall our Houses of Refort in the Suburbs, be pull'd down?

Clown. To the Ground, Mistress.

Bawd. Why here's a Change indeed in the Commonwealth; what shall become of me?

Clown. Come, fear not you; good Counsellors lack no Clients; though you change your Place, you need not change your Trade: I'll be your Tapper still. Courage, there will be pity taken on you; you that have worn your Eyes almost out in the Service, you will be considered.

Bawd. What's to do here, Thomas Tapper? let's withdraw.

Clown. Here comes Signior Claudio, led by the Provost to Prison; and there's Madam Juliet.

Enter Provost, Claudio, Juliet, and Officers.

Claud. Fellow, why dost thou show me thus to th'World?
Bear me to Prison, where I am committed.

Prov.
Measure for Measure. 211

Prov. I do it not in evil Disposition,
But from Lord Angelo by special Charge.

Claud. Thus can the Demi-god, Authority,
Make us pay down, for our Offence, by weight
The words of Heav'n; on whom it will, it will;
On whom it will not, so; yet still 'tis just. [Straint?

Lucio. Why how now Claudio? Whence comes this Restraint?

Claud. From too much Liberty, my Lucio, Liberty;
As Surfeit is the Father of much Fast,
So every Scope by the immoderate use
Turns to Restraint: Our Natures do pursue,
Like Rats that ravin down their proper Bane,
A thirsty Evil, and when we drink, we die.

Lucio. If I could speak so wisely, under an Arrest, I would send for certain of my Creditors; and yet, to say the Truth, I had as lief have the Popery of Freedom, as the Morality of Imprisonment: What's thy Offence
Claudio?

Claud. What, but to speak of, would offend again.

Lucio. What is't, Murder?

Claud. No.

Lucio. Letchery?

Claud. Call it so.

Prov. Away, Sir, you must go.

Claud. One Word, good Friend:

Lucio, a Word with you,

Lucio. A hundred;

If they'll do you any good: Is Letchery so look'd after?

Claud. Thus stands it with me; upon a true Contract
I got Possession of Julietta's Bed,
You know the Lady, she is fast my Wife,
Save that we do the Denunciation lack
Of outward Order. This we came not to,
Only for Propagation of a Dowre
Remaining in the Coffer of her Friends,
From whom we thought it meet to hide our Love
'Till Time had made them for us. But it chances
The Stealth of our most mutual Entertainment
With Character too gross, is writ in Juliet.

Lucio. With Child, perhaps?

Claud.
Claud. Unhappily, even so.
And the new Deputy, now for the Duke,
Whether it be the fault and glimpse of Newness,
Or whether that the Body publick be
A Horse whereon the Governor doth ride,
Who newly in the Seat, that it may know
He can command, lets it strait feel the Spur;
Whether the Tyranny be in his Place,
Or in his Eminence that fills it up,
I stagger in: But this new Governor
Awakes me all the enrolled Penalties
Which have, like unscour'd Armour, hung by th’Wall
So long, that nineteen Zodiacks have gone round,
And none of them been worn; and for a Name,
Now puts the drowse and neglected Act
Fresly on me; ’tis surely for a Name.

Lucio. I warrant it is; and thy Head stands so tickle on thy Shoulders, that a Milk-maid, if she be in Love, may fitch it off. Send after the Duke, and appeal to him.

Claud. I have done so, but he’s not to be found.
I prethee, Lucio, do me this kind Service:
This Day, my Sister should the Cloister enter,
And there receive her Approbation.
Acquaint her with the danger of my State,
Implore her in my Voice, that she make Friends
To the strict Deputy; bid her self assay him,
I have great Hope in that; for in her Youth
There is a prone and speechless Dialect,
Such as moves Men! besides, she hath prosperous Art
When she will play with Reason, and Discourse,
And well she can persuade.

Lucio. I pray she may; as well for the Encouragement of the like, which else would stand upon grievous Imposition as for the enjoying of thy Life, who I would be for thy should be thus foolishly lost, at a Game of Tick-tack. I’ll to her.

Claud. I thank you, good Friend Lucio.

Lucio. Within two Hours.

Claud. Come Officer, away.

[Exeunt.

SCENE
Measure for Measure. 2:13

Scene III. A Monastery.

Enter Duke and Friar Thomas.

Duke. No; holy Father, throw away that Thought; Believe not that the dribbling Dart of Love Can pierce a compleat Bosom: Why I desire thee To give me secret Harbour, hath a Purpose More grave and wrinkled than the Aims and Ends Of burning Youth.

Fri. May your Grace speak of it?

Duke. My holy Sir, none better knows than you How I have ever lov'd the Life remov'd, And held in idle price to haunt Assemblies Where Youth and Cost, and witless Bravery keeps. I have delivered to Lord Angelo, A Man of Stricture and firm Abstinence, My absolute Power and Place here in Vienna, And he supposes me travell'd to Poland, For so I have strew'd it in the common Ear, And so it is receiv'd: Now, pious Sir, You will demand of me, why I do this.

Fri. Gladly, my Lord.

Duke. We have strict Statutes, and most biting Laws, The needful Bits and Curbs for head-strong Weeds, Which for this fourteen Years we have let slip, Even like an o'er-grown Lion in a Cave That goes not out to prey: Now, as fond Fathers, Having bound up the threat'ning Twigs of Birch, Only to stick it in their Childrens fight, For Terror, not to use; in time the Rod More mock'd than fear'd: So our Decrees, Dead to Infliction, to themselves are dead, And Liberty plucks Justice by the Nose; The Baby beats the Nurse, and quite athwart Goes all Decorum.

Fri. It reiled in your Grace To unloose this ty'd-up Justice, when you pleas'd: And it in you more dreadful would have seem'd Than in Lord Angelo.

Duke.
Duke. I do fear, too dreadful;
Sith 'twas my Fault to give the People scope,
'Twould be my Tyranny to strike and gall them
For what I bid them do. For we bid this be done
When evil Deeds have their permissive Pass,
And not the Punishment: Therefore indeed, my Father,
I have on Angelo impos'd the Office,
Who may in th'ambush of my Name strike home,
And yet, my Nature never in the fight
To do in slander: And to behold his Sway,
I will, as 'twere a Brother of your Order,
Visit both Prince and People; therefore I prethee
Supply me with the Habit, and instrue me
How I may formally in Person bear
Like a true Friar. More Reasons for this Action,
At your more leisure, shall I render you;
Only this one: Lord Angelo is precife,
Stands at a guard with Envy, scarce confesses
That his Blood flows, or that his Appetite
Is more to Bread than Stone: Hence shall we see,
If Power change Purpose, what our Seemers be. [Exeunt.

SCENE IV. A Nunnery.

Enter Isabella and Francisca.

Isab. And have you Nuns no farther Privileges?
Nun. Are not these large enough?
Isab. Yes truly; I speak not as desiring more,
But rather wishing a more strict Restraint
Upon the Sisterhood, the Votaries of Saint Clare.
Lucio within.

Lucio. Ha! Peace be in this Place.
Isab. Who's that which calls?
Nun. It is a Man's Voice, gentle Isabella,
Turn you the Key, and know his Business of him;
You may; I may not; you are yet unsworn:
When you have vow'd, you must not speak with Men,
But in the Presence of the Priories;
Then if you speak, you must not shew your Face,

Or
Or if you shew your Face, you must not speak.
He calls again, I pray you answer him. [Exit Franc.

Isab. Peace and Prosperity, who is't that calls?

Enter Lucio.

Lucio. Hail Virgin, if you be, as those Cheek-Roses
Proclaim you are no less, can you so stead me,
As bring me to the Sight of Isabella,
A Novice of this Place, and the fair Sister
To her unhappy Brother Claudio?

Isab. Why her unhappy Brother? Let me ask,
The rather, for I now must make you know
I am that Isabella, and his Sister.

Lucio. Gentle and Fair, your Brother kindly greets you;
Not to be weary with you, he's in Prison.

Isab. Wo me, for what?

Lucio. For that, which if my self might be his Judge,
He should receive his Punishment in Thanks;
He hath got his Friend with Child.

Isab. Sir, make me not your Story.

Lucio. 'Tis true; I would not, tho' 'tis my familiar Sin,
With Maids to seem the Lapwing, and to jest,
Tongue, far from Heart; play with all Virgins so.
I hold you as a thing en-sk'd and fainted,
Be your Renunciation an Immortal Spirit,
And to be talk'd with in Sincerity,
As with a Saint.

Isab. You do blaspheme the Good, in mocking me.

Lucio. Do not believe it. Fewness, and Truth; 'tis thus;
Your Brother and his Lover having embrac'd,
As those that feed grow full, as blossoming time
That from the Seedness the bare Fallow brings
To teeming Foylon; even in her plenteous Womb
Expresseth his full Tilth and Husbandry.

Isab. Some one with Child by him? My Cousin Juliet?

Lucio. Is she your Cousin?

Isab. Adoptedly, as School-Maids change their Names,
By vain, tho' apt Affection.

Lucio. She it is.

Isab. Let him marry her.
Lucio. This is the Point.
The Duke is very strangely gone from hence;
Bore many Gentlemen, my self being one,
In hand, and hope of Action; but we do learn,
By those that know the very Nerves of State,
His givings out were of an infinite Distance
From his true mean Design. Upon his Place;
And with full Line of his Authority,
Govern Lord Angelo; a Man whose Blood
Is very Snow-Broth, one who never feels
The wanton Stings and Motions of the Sense;
Put doth rebate, and blunt his natural Edge
With Profits of the Mind, Study and Faint.
He, to give Fear to Use and Liberty,
Which have for long run by the hideous Law,
As Mice by Lyons, hath pickt out an Act,
Under whose heavy Sense your Brother's Life
Falls into Forfeit; he arreets him on it,
And follows close the Rigor of the Statute,
To make him an Example; all Hope is gone,
Unless you have the Grace by your fair Prayer
To seal Fier Angelo; and that's my Pith of Business
'Twixt you, and your poor Brother.

Isab. Doth he to Seek his Life?

Lucio. Has censor'd him already,
And, as I hear, the Provost hath a Warrant
For's Execution.

Isab. Alas! what poor
Ability's in me, to do him good?

Lucio. Affay the Power you have.

Lucio. Our Doubts are Traitors,
And make us lose the Good we oft might win,
By fearing to attempt. Go to Lord Angelo,
And let him learn to know, when Maidens sue,
Men give like Gods; but when they weep and kneel,
All their Petitions are as truly theirs,
As they themselves would owe them.

Isab. I'll see what I can do.
Lucio. But speedily.
Isab. I will about it straight;
 No longer stay, but to give the Mother
Notice of my Affair. I humbly thank you;
Commend me to my Brother: Soon at Night
I'll send him certain word of my Success.

Lucio. I take my Leave of you,
Isab. Good Sir, adieu.

[Exeunt.

ACT II. SCENE I.

SCENE the Palace.

Enter Angelo, Escalus, Justice, and Attendants.

Ang. W e must not make a Scar-crow of the Law,
 Setting it up to fear the Birds of Prey,
And let it keep one Shape, 'till Custom make it
Their Perch, and not their Terror.

Escal. Ay, but yet
Let us be keen, and rather cut a little,
Than fall, and bruise to Death. Alas! this Gentleman,
Whom I would save, had a most noble Father;
Let but your Honour know,
Whom I believe to be most strait in Virtue,
That in the working of your own Affections,
Had Time coher'd with Place, or Place with Wishing,
Or that the resolute acting of your Blood,
Could have attain'd th'Efect of your own Purpose,
Whether you had not sometime in your Life
Err'd in this Point, which now you censure him,
And pull'd the Law upon you.

Ang. 'Tis one thing to be tempted, Escalus,
Another thing to fall. I not deny
The Jury passing on the Prisoner's Life,
May in the sworn Twelve have a Thief or two,
Guiter than him they try; what's open made to Justice,
That Justice seizes. What know the Laws

VOL. I. | L | That
That Thieves do pass on Thieves? 'Tis very pregnant,
The Jewel that we find, we stoop and take't,
Because we see it; but what we do not see,
We tread upon, and never think of it.
You may not so extenuate his Offence,
For I have had such Faults; but rather tell me
When I, that censure him, do so offend,
Let mine own Judgment pattern out my Death,
And nothing come in partial. Sir, he must die.

Enter Provost.

Escal. Be it as your Wisdom will.

Ang. Where is the Provost?

Prov. Here, if it like your Honour.

Ang. See that Claudio
Be executed by nine to Morrow Morning.
Bring him his Confessor, let him be prepar'd,
For that's the utmost of his Pilgrimage. [Exit Provost.

Escal. Well: Heav'n forgive him! and forgive us all,
Some rise by Sin, and some by Virtue fall:
Some run through Brakes of Vice, and answer none;
And some condemned for a Fault alone.

Enter Elbow, Froth, Clown, and Officers.

Elb. Come, bring them away; if these be good People in a Common weal, that do nothing but use their Abuses in common Houses, I know no Law; bring them away.

Ang. How now, Sir, what's your Name? and what's the Matter?

Elb. If it please your Honour, I am the poor Duke's
Constable, and my Name is Elbow; I do lean upon Justice, Sir, and do bring in here before your good Honour, two notorious Benefactors.

Ang. Benefactors? Well; what Benefactors are they?
Are they not Malefactors?

Elb. If it please your Honour, I know not well what they are; but precise Villains they are, that I am sure of,
and void of all Profanation in the World, that good Chrisrians ought to have.

Escal. This comes off well; here's a wise Officer.

Ang. Go to: What Quality are you of? Elbow is your Name?

Why
Measure for Measure. 219

Why dost thou not speak, Elbow?

Clown. He cannot, Sir; he's out at Elbow.

Ang. What are you, Sir?

Elb. He, Sir? A Tapster, Sir; parcel Bawd; one that serves a bad Woman; whose House, Sir, was, as they say, pluckt down in the Suburbs; and now she professes a Hot-house; which, I think, is a very ill House too.

Escal. How know you that?

Elb. My Wife, Sir, whom I detest before Heav'n and your Honour.

Elb. Ay, Sir; whom I thank Heav'n is an honest Woman.

Escal. Doest thou detest her therefore?

Elb. I say, Sir, I will detest my self also, as well as she, that this House, if it be not a Bawd's House, it is pity of her Life, for it is a naughty House.

Escal. How dost thou know that, Constable?

Elb. Marry, Sir, by my Wife, who, if she had been a Woman cardinaly given, might have been accused in Fornication, Adultery, and all Uncleanneas there.

Escal. By the Woman's Means?

Elb. Ay, Sir, by Mistress Overdon's Means; but as she spit in his Face, so she defy'd him.

Clown. Sir, if it please your Honour, this is not so.

Elb. Prove it before these Varlets here, thou honourable Man, prove it.

Escal. Do you hear how he misplaces?

Clown. Sir, he came in great with Child; and longing, having your Honour's Reverence, for stew'd Prewns; we had but two in the House, which at that very instant time stood, as it were, in a Fruit-dish, a Dish of som' three Pence; your Honours have seen such Dishes, they are not China Dishes, but very good Dishes.

Eescal. Go too, go too; no matter for the Dish, Sir.

Clown. No indeed, Sir, not of a Pin; you are therein in the right: But to the Point; as I say, this Mistress Elbow, being, as I say, with Child, and being great belly'd, and longing, as I said, for Prewns; and having no more in the Dish, as I said; Mutter Froth here, this very Man, having eaten the rest, as I said, and, as I say, paying for them very honestly; honestly; for, as you know, Master Froth, I could not give you three Pence again.

_Froth._ No indeed.

_Clown._ Very well; you being then, if you be remembred, cracking the Stones of the foresaid Prewns.

_Froth._ Ay, so I did indeed.

_Clown._ Why, very well; I telling you then, if you be remembred, that such a one, and such a one, were past Cure of the thing you wot of, unless they kept good Diet, as I told you.

_Froth._ All this is true.

_Clown._ Why. very well then.

_Escal._ Come, you are a tedious Fool; to the Purpose; what was done to Elbow's Wife, that he hath Cause to complain of? Come me to what was done to her.

_Clown._ Sir, your Honour cannot come to that yet.

_Escal._ No Sir, nor I mean it not.

_Clown._ Sir, but you shall come to it, by your Honour's leave: And I beseech you, look into Master Froth here, Sir, a Man of fourscore Pound a Year; whose Father dy'd at Hallowmas. Was't not at Hallowmas, Master Froth?

_Froth._ All hail'd Eve.

_Clown._ Why very well; I hope here be Truths. He, Sir, sitting, as I say, in a lower Chair, Sir; 'twas in the Bunch of Grapes, where indeed you have a delight to sit, have you not?

_Froth._ I have so, because it is an open Room, and good for Winter.

_Clown._ Why, very well then; I hope here be Truths.

_Ang._ This will last out a Night in Russia,

When Nights are longest there. I'll take my Leave,

And leave you to the hearing of the Caufe,

Hoping you'll find good Cause to whip them all. [Exit.

_Escal._ I think no les. Good-morrow to your Lordship.

Now, Sir, come on: What was done to Elbow's Wife, once more?

_Clown._ Once, Sir? There was nothing done to her once.

_Elb._ I beseech you, Sir, ask him what this Man did to my Wife.

_Clown._
Clown. I befeeoh your Honour ask me.

Escal. Well, Sir, what did this Gentleman to her?

Clown. I befeeoh you Sir, look in this Gentleman's Face; good Master Froth, look upon his Honour; 'tis for a good Purpose; doth your Honour mark his Face?

Escal. Ay, Sir very well.

Clown. Nay, I befeeoh you mark it well.

Escal. Well. I do so.

Clown. Doth your Honour see any Harm in his Face?

Escal. Why, no.

Clown. I'll be suppos'd upon a Book, his Face is the worst thing about him: Good then; if his Face be the worst thing about him, how could Master Froth do the Constable's Wife any harm? I would know that of your Honour.

Escal. He's in the right; Constable, what say you to it?

Elb. First, and it you like, the House is a respected House; next, this is a respected Fellow; and his Mistress is a respected Woman.

Clown. By this Hand, Sir, his Wife is a more respected Person than any of us all.

Elb. Varlet, thou liest; thou liest, wicked Varlet; the time is yet to come, that she was ever respected with Man, Woman, or Child.

Clown. Sir, she was respected with him before he marry'd with her.

 Escal. Which is the wiser here; Justice, or Iniquity? Is this true?

Elb. O thou Caiiff! O thou Varlet! O thou wicked Hannibal! I respected with her, before I was marry'd to her? If ever I was respected with her, or she with me, let not your Worship think me the poor Duke's Officer; prove this, thou wicked Hannibal, or I'll have mine Action of Battery on thee.

Escal. If he took you a Box o'th'Ear, you might have your Action of Slander too.

Elb. Marry I thank your good Worship for it: What is't your Worship's Pleasure I shall do with this wicked Caiiff?
Measure for Measure.

Escal. Truly, Officer, because he hath some Offences in him, that thou wouldst discover, if thou couldst, let him continue in his Course, 'till thou know'st what they are.

Elb. Marry, I thank your Worship for it; thou feest, thou wicked Varlet now, what's come upon thee. Thou art to continue now, thou Varlet? Thou art to continue.

Escal. Where were you born, Friend? [To Froth.
Froth. Here in Vienna, Sir.

Escal. Are you of four score Pounds a Year?
Froth. Yes, and't please you, Sir.

Escal. So. What Trade are you of, Sir? [To the Clown.
Clown. A Tapster, a poor Widow's Tapster.

Escal. Your Mistress's Name?
Clown. Mistress Over-don.

Escal. Hath she had any more than one Husband?
Clown. Nine, Sir: Over-don by the last.

Escal. Nine? Come hither to me, Master Froth: Master Froth, I would not have you acquainted with Tapsters; they will draw you, Master Froth, and you will hang them. Get you gone, and let me hear no more of you.

Froth. I thank your Worship; for mine own Part, I never come into any Room in a Taphouse, but I am drawn in.

Escal. Well; no more of it, Master Froth; farewel. [Exe. Froth.

Come you hither to me, Master Tapster, what's your Name, Master Tapster?

Clown. Pompey.

Escal. What else?

Clown. Bum, Sir.

Escal. Troth, and your Bum is the greatest thing about you, so that in the basest Sense, you are Pompey the great; Pompey, you are partly a Bawd, Pompey; however you colour it in being a Tapster; are you not? come, tell me true, it shall be the better for you.

Clown. Truly, Sir, I am a poor Fellow that would live.

Escal. How would you live, Pompey? by being a Bawd? what do you think of the Trade, Pompey? is it a lawful Trade?

Clown.
Clown. If the Law will allow it, Sir.

Escal. But the Law will not allow it, Pompey, nor it shall not be allowed in Vienna.

Clown. Does your Worship mean to geld and fplay all the Youth in the City?

Escal. No, Pompey.

Clown. Truly, Sir, in my poor Opinion, they will to't then. If your Worship will take Order for the Drabs and Knaves, you need not to fear the Bawds.

Escal. There are pretty Orders beginning, I can tell you: It is but heading and hanging.

Clown. If you head and hang all that offend that way but for ten Years together, you'll be glad to give out a Commission for more Heads: If this Law hold in Vienna, ten Years, I'll rent the fairest House in it after three Pence a Day: If you live to see this come to pass, say, Pompey told you so.

Escal. Thank you, good Pompey; and in Requital of your Prophecy, hark you; I advise you let me not find you before me again upon any Complaint whatsoever; no, not for dwelling where you do: If I do, Pompey, I shall beat you to your Tent, and prove a shrewd Caesar to you: In plain Dealing, Pompey I shall have you whipt: So for this time, Pompey, fare you well.

Clown. I thank your Worship for your good Counsel; but I shall follow it as the Flesh and Fortune shall better determine.

Whip me? no, no; let Carman whip his Jade.

The valiant Heart's not whipt out of his Trade. [Exit.

Escal. Come hither to me, Master Elbow; come hither, Master Constable; How long have you been in this Place of Constable?

Elb. Seven Year and a half, Sir.

Escal. I thought, by the readiness in the Office, you had continued in it some time: You say, seven Years together?

Elb. And a half, Sir.

Escal. Alas! it hath been great Pains to you; they do you Wrong to put you so oft upon't: Are there not Men in your Ward sufficient to serve it?
M E A S U R E  f o r  M E A S U R E.

Edw. Faith, Sir, few of any Wit in such Matters; as they are chosen they are glad to chuse me for them: I do it for some piece of Mony. and go through with all.

Escal. Look you, bring me in the Names of some six or seven, the most sufficient of your Parish.

Edw. To your Worship's House, Sir?

Escal. To my House; fare you well. What's a Clock, think you? [Exit Elbow.

Just. Eleven, Sir.

Escal. I pray you go home to Dinner with me.

Just. I humbly thank you.

Escal. It grieves me for the Death of Claudio:

But there's no Remedy.

Just. Lord Angelo is severe.

Escal. It is but needful:

Mercy is not it self, that oft looks so;

Pardon is still the Nurse of second Woe:

But yet, poor Claudio! there is no Remedy.

Come, Sir. [Exit.

S C E N E  II.

Enter Provost, and a Servant.

Serv. He's hearing of a Cause; he will come straight:

I'll tell him of you.

Prov. Pray you do; I'll know

His Pleasure; may be he will relent; alas!

He hath but as offended in a Dream:

All Sects, all Ages smack of this Vice; and he

To die for't!

Enter Angelo.

Ang. Now, what's the Matter, Provost?

Prov. Is it your Will Claudio shall die to morrow?

Ang. Did not I tell thee yea? hadst thou not Order?

Why dost thou ask again?

Prov. Left I might be too rash.

Under your good Correction, I have seen

When after Execution, Judgment hath

Repented o'er his Doom. [Exit.
Ang. Go to; let that be mine;
Do you your Office, or give up your Place,
And you shall well be spar’d.

Prov. I crave your Honour’s Pardon.
What shall be done, Sir, with the groaning Juliet?
She’s very near her Hour.

Ang. Dispose of her
To some more fitter Place, and that with speed.
Serv. Here is the Sister of the Man condemn’d,
Desires Access to you.

Ang. Hath he a Sister?
Prov. Ay, my good Lord, a very virtuous Maid,
And to be shortly of a Sister-hood,
If not already.

Ang. Well; let her be admitted.
See you the Fornicatres be remov’d;
Let her have needful, but not lavish Means;
There shall be Order for’t.

Enter Lucio and Isabella.

Prov. ’Save your Honour.
Ang. Stay a little while. Y’are welcome; what’s your Will?

Isab. I am a woful Suitor to your Honour,
’Please but your Honour hear me.

Ang. Well; what’s your Suit?
Isab. There is a Vice that most I do abhor,
And more desire should meet the Blow of Justice,
For which I would not plead, but that I must;
For which I must not plead, but that I am
At War ’twixt will and will not.

Ang. Well; the Matter?
Isab. I have a Brother is condemn’d to die;
I do beseech you let it be his Fault,
And not my Brother.

Prov. Heavn give thee moving Graces.
Ang. Condemn the Fault and not the Actor of it?
Why, every Fault’s condemn’d ere it be done;
Mine were the very Cipher of a Function
To fine the Faults, whose Fine stands in Record,
And let go by the Actor.
Measure for Measure.

Isab. O just, but severe Law:
I had a Brother then;—Heav'n keep your Honour.

Lucio. Give't not o'er so: To him again, intreat him,
Kneel down before him, hang upon his Gown;
You are too cold; if you should need a Pin,
You could not with a more tame Tongue desire it.
To him, I say.

Isab. Must he needs die?
Ang. Maiden, no Remedy.

Isab. Yes; I do think that you might pardon him,
And neither Heav'n nor Man grieve at the Mercy.

Ang. I will not do't.

Isab. But can you if you would?

Ang. Look, what I will not, that I cannot do.

Isab. But might you do't, and do the World no Wrong,
If so your Heart were touch'd with that Remorse,
As mine is to him?

Ang. He's sentenc'd; 'tis too late.

Lucio. You are too cold.

Isab. Too late? why no; I that do speak a Word,
May call it back again: Well, believe this,
No Ceremony that to great ones belongs,
Not the King's Crown, nor the deputed Sword,
The Marshal's Truncheon, nor the Judge's Robe,
Become them with one half so good a Grace
As Mercy does: If he had been as you, and you as he;
You would have flipp'd like him; but he, like you,
Would not have been so stern.

Ang. Pray you be gone.

Isab. I would to Heav'n I had your Potency,
And you were Isabel; should it then be thus?
No; I would tell what 'twere to be a Judge,
And what a Prisoner.

Lucio. Ay, touch him; there's the Vein.

Ang. Your Brother is a Forfeit of the Law,
And you but waste your Words.

Isab. Alas! alas!
Why, all the Souls that were, were Forfeit once;
And he that might the 'Vantage best have took,
Found out the Remedy. How would you be,
If he, which is the top of Judgment, should
But judge you as you are? Oh, think on that,
And Mercy then will breathe within your Lips.
Like Man new-made.

Ang. Be you content, fair Maid,
It is the Law, not I, condemns your Brother.
Were he my Kin'sman, Brother, or my Son,
It should be thus with him; he must die to Morrow;

Isab. To Morrow? Oh! that's sudden.
Spare him, spare him;
He's not prepar'd for Death: Even for our Kitchens
We kill the Fowl of Seafon; shall we serve Heav'n
With less Respect than we do minister
To our gross selves? Good, good my Lord, bethink you;
Who is it that hath dy'd for this Offence?
There's many have committed it.

Lucio. Ay, well said.

Ang. The Law hath not been dead, tho' it hath slept;
Those many had not dar'd to do that Evil,
If the first, that did th' Edict infringe,
Had answer'd for his Deed. Now 'tis awake,
Takes note of what is done, and like a Prophet,
Looks in a Glass that shows what future Evils
Either now, or by Remiss'ness, new conceived;
And so in Progress to be hatch'd, and born,
Are now to have no successive degrees,
But here they live to end.

Isab. Yet shew some Pity.

Ang. I shew it most of all when I shew Justice;
For then I pity those I do not know,
Which a dimiss'd Offence would after gall,
And do him Right, that answering one foul Wrong,
Lives not to act another. Be satisfied;
Your Brother dies to Morrow; be content.

Isab. So you must be the first that gives this Sentence;
And he that suffers: Oh, it is excellent
To have a Giant's Strength; but it is tyrannous
To use it like a Giant.

Lucio. That's well said,
Ifab. Could great Men thunder
As love himself does, love would ne'er be quiet;
For every pelting petty Officer
Would use his Heav'n for Thunder;
Nothing but Thunder: Mercifull Heav'n,
Thou rather with thy sharp and sulphurous Bolt
Split't the unwedgeable and gnarled Oak,
Than the soft Mirtle: O but Man! proud Man!
Drest in a little brief Authority,
Most ignorant of what he's most affur'd,
His glassie Essence, like an angry Ape,
Plays such fantastick Tricks before high Heav'n,
As makes the Angels weep; who with our Spleens
Would all themselves laugh mortal.
Lucio. Oh, to him, to him Wench; he will relent;
He's coming: I perceive't.
Prov. Pray Heav'n she win him.
Ifab. We cannot weigh our Brother with our self:
Great Men may jest with Saints; 'tis Wit in them,
But in the less foul Prophanation.
Lucio. Thou'rt i'right, Girl; more o'that.
Ifab. That in the Captain's but a cholericke Word,
Which in the Soldier is flat Blasphemy.
Lucio. Art advis'd o'that? More on't.
Arg. Why do you put these Sayings upon me?
Ifab. Because Authority, tho' it err like others,
Hath yet a kind of Medicine in it self,
That skins the Vice o'th' top: Go to your Bosom,
Knock there, and ask your Heart what it doth know
That's like my Brother's Fault; if it confess
A natural Guiltiness, such as is his,
Let it not found a Thought upon your Tongue
Against my Brother's Life.
Arg. She speaks, and 'tis such Sense,
That my Sense breeds with it. Fare you well.
Ifab. Gentie, my Lord, turn back.
Arg. I will bethink me: Come again to Morrow.
Ifab. Hark how I'll bribe you: Good my Lord turn back,
Arg. How? Bribe me?
Ifab. Ay, with such Gifts that Heav'n shall share with you.
Lucio You had marr'd all else.

Ifab. Not with fond Sicksles of the tested Gold,
Or Stones, whose Rate are either rich or poor,
As Fancy values them; but with true Prayers,
That shall be up at Heav'n, and enter there
Ere Sun rise: Prayers from preferred Souls,
From fasting Maids, whose Minds are dedicate
To nothing Temporal.

Ang. Well; come to me to Morrow.

Lucio. Go to; 'tis well; away.

Ifab. Heav'n keep your Honour safe.

Ang. Amen:
For I am that way going to Temptation,
Where Prayers crofs.

Ifab. At what Hour to Morrow
Shall I attend your Lordship?

Ang. At any time 'fore Noon.

Ifab. Save your Honour. [Exeunt Lucio and Isabella.

Ang. From thee; even from thy Virtue.
What's this? What's this? Is this her Fault, or mine?
The Tempter, or the Tempted who sins most? Ha?
Not she; nor doth she tempt; but it is I,
That, lying by the Violet in the Sun,
Does as the Carrion does, not as the Flower,
Corrupt with virtuous Seafon. Can it be,
That Modesty may more betray our Sense,
Than Woman's Lightnes? Having waste Ground enough,
Shall we desire to raze the Sanctuary.
And pitch our Evils there? Oh fie, fie, fie;
What dost thou? Or what art thou, Angelo?
Dost thou desire her souly, for those things
That make her good? Oh let her Brother live:
Thieves for their Robbery have Authority,
When Judges steal themselves. What! do I Love her,
That I desire to hear her speak again,
And feast upon her Eyes? What is't I dream on?
Oh cunning Enemy, that to catch a Saint,
With Saints doth bait thy Hook! Most dangerous
Is that Temptation, that doth goad us on
To Sin, in loving Virtue; never could the Strumpet,

With
With all her double Vigour, Art, and Nature,
Once for my Temper: But this virtuous Maid
Subdues me quite; even 'till now,
When Men were fond, I smil'd, and wondred how. [Exit.

SCENE III. A Prison.

Enter Duke habited like a Friar, and Provost.

Duke. Hail to you, Provost; so I think you are.
Prov. I am the Provost; what's you Will, good Friar?
Duke. Bound by my Charity, and my blotter Order,
I come to visit the afflicted Spirits
Here in the Prison; do me the common Right
To let me see them, and to make me know
The nature of their Crimes; that I may minister
To them accordingly.
Prov. I would do more than that, if more were needful.

Enter Juliet.

Look here comes one; a Gentlewoman of mine,
Who falling in the Flaws of her own Youth,
Hath blitter'd her Report: She is with Child,
And he that got it, sentenc'd: A young Man
More fit to do another such Offence,
Than die for this.
Duke. When must he die?
Prov. As I do think, to Morrow.
I have provided for you; stay a while,
And you shall be conducted.
Duke. Repent you, fair one, of the Sin you carry?
Juliet. I do; and bear the Shame most patiently.
Duke. I'll teach you how you shall arraign your Con-
And try your Penitence, if it be found, [science,
Or hollowly put on.
Juliet. I'll gladly learn.
Duke. Love you the Man that wrong'd you?
Juliet. Yes, as I love the Woman that wrong'd him.
Duke. So then it seems your most offensive Act
Was mutually committed.
Juliet. Mutually.

Duke,
Measure for Measure. 231

Duke. Then was your Sin of heavier kind than his.

Juliet. I do confess it, and repent it, Father.

Duke. 'Tis meet so, Daughter; but least do you repent
As that the Sin hath brought you to this Shame,
Which Sorrow's always 'w'ards our selves, not Heav'n;
showing we'd not spare Heav'n, as we love it,
But as we stand in fear.

Juliet. I do repent me, as it is an Evil,
And take the Shame with Joy.

Duke. There rest.

Your Partner, as I hear, must die to Morrow,
And I am going with Instruction to him;
Grace go with you; Benedict.

Juliet. Must die to Morrow! Oh injurious Love,
That respite me a Life, whose very Comfort
Is still a dying Horror!

Prov. 'Tis pity of him.

SCENE IV. The Palace.

Enter Angelo.

Ang. When I would pray and think, I think and pray
To several Subjects: Heav'n hath my empty Words,
Whilst my Invention, hearing not my Tongue,
Anchors on Isabel: Heav'n's in my Mouth,
As if I did but only chew his Name,
And in my Heart the strong and swelling Evil
Of my Conception: The State wherein I studied
Is like a good thing, being often read,
Grown fear'd, and tedious; yea, my Gravity,
Wherein (let no Man hear me) I take pride,
Could I, with boot, change for an idle Plume
Which the Air beats for vain: Oh Place! oh Form!
How often dost thou with thy Cane, thy Habit,
Wrench Awe from Fools, and tie the wiser Souls
To thy false seeming? Blood, thou art Blood:
Let's write good Angel on the Devil's Horn;
'Tis not the Devil's Crest. How now? who's there?

Enter Servant.

Serv. One Isabel, a Sister, desires Access to you.

Ang.
Ang. Teach her the Way. Oh Heav'n's!
Why does my Blood thus mutter to my Heart,
Making both it unable for it self,
And disposing all my other Parts
Of necessary fitness?
So play the foolish Throngs with one that swoons;
Come all to help him, and so stop the Air
By which he should revive; and even so
The general Subjects to a well-wish' King,
Quit their own part, and in obsequious Fondness
Crowd to his Presence, where their untaught Love
Must needs appear Offence. How now, fair Maid?

Enter Ifabella.

Ifab. I am come to know your Pleasure. [me,
Ang. That you might know it, would much better please
Than to demand what 'tis; your Brother cannot live.
Ifab. Even so?—Heav'n keep your Honour. [Going
Ang. Yet may he live a while; and it may be
As long as you or I; yet he must die.
Ifab. Under your Sentence?
Ang. Yea.
Ifab. When, I beseech you? that, in his Reprieve,
Longer or shorter, he may be so fitted,
That his Soul flicken not.
Ang. Ha? fie, these filthy Vices! it were as good
To pardon him, that hath from Nature stol'n
A Man already made, as to remit
Their fawry Sweetness, that do coin Heav'n's Image
In Stamps that are forbid; 'tis all as easie,
Falsely to take away a Life true made;
As to put Mettle in restrained means,
To make a falle one.
Ifab. 'Tis set down so in Heav'n, but not in Earth:
Ang. Say you so? Then I shall poze you quickly,
Which had you rather, that the most just Law
Now took your Brother's Life; or to redeem him,
Give up your Body to such sweet Uncleanness
As she that he hath stain'd?
Ifab. Sir, believe this,
I had rather give my Body than my Soul.
Ang. I talk not of your Soul; our compell'd Sins
Stand more for Number than Accompit.

Isab. How say you?

Ang. Nay, I'll not warrant that; for I can speak Against the thing I say. Answer to this:
I, now the Voice of the recorded Law,
Pronounce a Sentence on your Brother's Life:
 Might there not be a Charity in Sin,
To save this Brother's Life?

Isab. Please you to do't,
I'll take it as a Peril to my Soul;
It is no Sin at all, but Charity.

Ang. Pleas'd you to do't at Peril of your Soul,
Were equal poize of Sin and Charity.

Isab. That I do beg his Life, if it be Sin,
Heav'n let me hear it; you granting of my Suit,
If that be Sin, I'll make it my Morn-pray'r,
To have it added to the Faults of mine,
And nothing of your Answer.

Ang. Nay, but hear me:
Your Sense pursues not mine: Either you are ignorant,
Or seem so, craftily; and that's not good.

Isab. Let me be ignorant, and in nothing good,
But graciously to know I am no better.

Ang. Thus Wisdom wishes to appear most bright,
When it doth tax it self: As these black Masques
Proclaim an en-shield Beauty ten times louder
Than Beauty could display'd. But mark me,
To be received plain, I'll speak more gros's;
Your Brother is to die.

Isab. So.

Ang. And his Offence is so, as it appears,
Accountant to the Law upon that pain.

Isab. True.

Ang. Admit no other way to save his Life,
As I subscribe not that, nor any other,
But in the loss of Question, that you, his Sister,
Finding your self desir'd of such a Person,
Whose Credit with the Judge, or own great Place,
Could fetch your Brother from the Manacles

Of
Of the all-holding Law; and that there were
No earthly Mean to save him, but that either
You must lay down the Treasures of your Body,
To this suppos'd, or else to let him suffer;
What would you do?

Isab. As much for my poor Brother as my self;
That is, were I under the Terms of Death,
The impression of keen Whips I'd wear as Rubies,
And strip my self to Death, as to a Bed,
That longing I've been sick for, ere I'd yield
My Body up to Shame.

Ang. Then must your Brother die.

Isab. And 'twere the cheaper way;
Better it were a Brother dy'd at once,
Than that a Sisiter, by redeeming him,
Should die for ever.

Ang. Were not you then as cruel as the Sentence
That you have slander'd so?

Isab. Ignominy in Ransom. and free Pardon,
Are of two Houses; lawful Mercy
Is nothing kin to foul Redemption.

Ang. You seem'd of late to make the Law a Tyrant,
And rather prov'd the sliding of your Brother
A Merriment than a Vice.

Isab. Oh pardon me, my Lord; it oft falls out,
To have what we would have, we speak not what we mean:

I something do excuse the thing I hate
For his Advantage that I dearly love.

Ang. We are all frail.

Isab. Else let my Brother die,
If not a Feodary but only he Owe, and succeed by Weakness.

Ang. Nay, Women are frail too.

Isab. Ay, as the Glasses where they view themselves;
Which are as eafie broke as they make Forms.
Women! Help Heav'n; Men their Creation mar
In profiting by them: Nay, call us ten times frail;
For we are soft, as our Complexions are,
And credulous to false Prints.
Ang. I think it well;
And from this Testimony of your own Sex,
Since I suppose we're made to be no stronger
Than Faults may shake our Frames, let me be bold;
I do arrest your Words: Be that you are,
That is, a Woman; if you be more, you're none.
If you be one, as you are well express
By all external Warrants, shew it now,
By putting on the deftin'd Livery.

Isab. I have no Tongue but one; gentle my Lord,
Let me intreat you speak the former Language.

Ang. Plainly conceive I love you.

Isab. My Brother did love Juliet;
And you tell me, that he shall die for it.

Ang. He shall not, Isabel, if you give me Love.

Isab. I know your Virtue hath a Licence in't,
Which seems a little fouler than it is,
To pluck on others.

Ang. Believe me on mine Honour,
My Words express my Purpose.

Isab. Ha! Little Honour to be much believ'd,
And most pernicious Purpose! Seeming, Seeming,
I will proclaim thee, Angelo; lock for't:
Sign me a present Pardon for my Brother,
Or with an out-stretch'd Throat I'll tell the World
Aloud what Man thou art.

Ang. Who will believe thee, Isabel?
My unfoil'd Name, th' Aufferences of my Life,
My Vouch against you, and my Place i'th' State,
Will fo your Acculation over-weigh,
That you shall stifle in your own Report,
And smell of Calumny. I have begun,
And now I give my sensual Race the Rein;
Fit thy Content to my sharp Appetite,
Lay by all Nicety, and prolixious Bluthes
That banish what they sue for: Redeem thy Brother
By yielding up thy Body to my Will;
Or else he must not only die the Death,
But thy Unkindness shall his Death draw out
To lingering Sufferance. Answer me to Morrow,
236 Measure for Measure.

Or by th' Affection that now guides me most,
I'll prove a Tyrant to him. As for you,
Say what you can, my false o'er-weighs your true. [Exit.

Isab. To whom should I complain? Did I tell this,
Who would believe me? O perilous Mouths,
That bear in them one and the self-same Tongue,
Either of Condemnation or Approof;
Bidding the Law make Curtie to their Will,
Hooking both Right and Wrong to th' Appetite,
To so low as it draws I'll to my Brother;
Tho' he hath fallen by Prompture of the Blood,
Ye hath he in him such a Mind of Honour,
That had he twenty Heads to render down
On twenty bloody Blocks, he'd yield them up,
Before his Sister should her Body floor
To such abhor'd Pollution.
Then Isabe live chaste and Brother die;
More than our Brother is our Chastity.
I'll tell him yet of Angelo's Request,
And fit his Mind to Death for his Soul's Rest. [Exit.

ACT III. SCENE I.

SCENE The Prison.

Enter Duke, Claudio, and Provost.

Duke. So, then you hope of Pardon from Lord Angelo?

Claud. The miserable have no other Medicine
But only Hope: I've hope to live, and am prepar'd to die.

Duke. Be absolute for Death; either Death or Life
Shall thereby be the sweeter. Reason thus with Life;
If I do lose thee, I do lose a thing
That none but Fool's would keep; a Breath thou art,
Servile to all the Skiey Influences;
That doth this Habitation where thou keep'st
Hourly afflict: Meerly thou art Death's Fool;
For him thou labourst by thy flight to shun,
And yet runn'ft tow'rd him still. Thou art not noble;
For all th' Accommodations that thou bear'ft,
Are nurs'd by Baseness: Thou'rt by no means valiant;
For thou dost fear the soft and tender Fork
Of a poor Worm. Thy heft of Rest is Sleep,
And that thou o't provok'ft, yet grozly fear'ft
Thy Death, which is no more. Thou'rt not thy self;
For thou exist'ft on many a thousand Grains
That issue out of Dust. Happy thou art not;
For what thou hast not, till thou striv'ft to get,
And what thou hast forget'tt. Thou art not certain,
For thy Complexion shifs to strange Effects,
After the Moon. If thou art rich, thou'rt poor;
For like an As, whole Back with Ingots bows,
Thou bear'ft thy heavy Riches but a Journey,
And Death unloadeth thee. Friend hast thou none;
For thine own Bowels, which do call thee Sire,
The meer Effusion of thy proper Loins,
Do curse the Gout, Serpigo, and the Rheum,
For ending thee no sooner. Thou hast nor Youth, nor Age;
But, as it were, an after-dinner's Sleep,
Dreaming on both; for all thy blessed Youth
Becomes as aged, and doth beg the Arms
Of palled-Eld; and when thou'rt old, and rich,
Thou hast neither Heart, Affection, Limb, nor Beauty
To make thy Riches pleasant. What's yet in this
That bears the Name of Life? Yet in this Life
Lye hid more thousand Deaths; yet Death we fear,
That makes these Odds all Even.

Glad. I humbly thank you.
To sue to live, I find I seek to die,
And seeking Death, find Life: Let it come on.

Enter Isabella.

Ifab. What hoa? Peace here; Grace and good Company.

Duke. Dear Sir, ere long I'll visit you again.

Glad. Most holy Sir, I thank you.

Ifab. My busines is a Word or two with Claudio.

Prov.
Prov. And very welcome. Look Signior, here’s your Sister.

Duke. Provost, a Word with you.

Prov. As many as you please.

Duke. Bring them to speak where I may be conceal’d, yet hear them. [Exeunt Duke and Provost.

Claud. Now, Sister, what’s the Comfort?

Isab. Why, As all Comforts are; most good, most good indeed:
Lord Angelo having Affairs to Heav’n,
Intends you for his Swiftest Ambassador;
Where you shall be an everlasting Leiger.
Therefore your best Appointment make with Speed,
To Morrow you set on.

Claud. Is there no Remedy?

Isab. None, but such Remedy, as to save a Head
To cleave a Heart in twain.

Claud. But is there any?

Isab. Yes, Brother, you may live:
There is a devilish Mercy in the Judge,
If you’ll implore it, that will free your Life,
But fetter you ’till Death.

Claud. Perpetual Durance?

Isab. Ay just, perpetual Durance. a Restraint,
Tho’ all the World’sValidity you had,
To a determin’d Scope.

Claud. But in what Nature?

Isab. In such a one, as you consenting to’t,
Would bark your Honour from that Trunk you bear,
And leave you naked.

Claud. Let me know the Point.

Isab. Oh, I do fear thee, Claudio, and I quake,
Left thou a few’rous Life shouldst entertain,
And six or seven Winters more respect
Than a perpetual Honour. Dar’st thou die?
The Sense of Death is most in Apprehension,
And the poor Beetle that we tread upon,
In corporal Sufferance finds a Pang as great,
As when a Giant dies.

Claud.
Measure for Measure. 239

Claud. Why give you me this Shame?
Think you I can a Resolution fetch
From flow'ry Tenderness? If I must die,
I will encounter Darkness as a Bride,
And hug it in mine Arms.

Isab. There spake my Brother; there my Father's Grave
Did utter forth a Voice. Yes, thou must die:
Thou art too noble to conserve a Life
In base Appliances. This outward sainted Deputy,
Whose settled Visage and deliberate Word
Nips Youth 'th Head, and Follies doth emmew,
As Falcon doth the Fowl, is yet a Devil:
His Filth within being cast, he would appear
A Pond as deep as Hell.

Claud. The Princely Angelo?

Isab. Oh 'tis the cunning Livery of Hell,
The damned'it Body to invest and cover
In Princely Guards. Daft thou think, Claudio,
If I would yield him my Virginity,
Thou might'ft be freed?

Claud. Oh Heav'n's, it cannot be.

Isab. Yes, he would give't thee; from this rank Offence
So to offend him still. This Night's the time
That I should do what I abhor to name,
Or else thou dy'ft to Morrow.

Claud. Thou shalt not do't.

Isab. Oh, were it but my Life,
I'd throw it down for your Deliverance
As frankly as a Pin.

Claud. Thanks, dear Isabel.

Isab. Be ready, Claudio, for your Death to Morrow.

Claud. Yes. Has he Affections in him,
That thus can make him bite the Law by th' Nose,
When he would force it? Sure it is no Sin;
Or of the deadly feven it is the least.

Isab. Which is the least?

Claud. If it were damnable, he being so wise,
Why would he for the momentary trick
Be perdurably fin'd? Oh Isabel!

Isab. What says my Brother?
Claud. Death is a fearful thing.
Ifab. And shamed Life a hateful.
Claud. Ay, but to die, and go we know not where:
To lye in cold Obstruction, and to rot;
This sensible warm Motion, to become
A kneaded Clod; and the delighted Spirit
To bathe in fiery Floods, or to reside
In thrilling Regions of thick-ribbed Ice,
To be imprison'd in the viewless Winds,
And blown with restless Violence round about
The pendant World; or to be worse than worst
Of those, that lawless and uncertain Thought
Imagine howling; 'tis too horrible!
The weariest and most loathed worldly Life,
That Age, Ach. Penury, and Imprisonment
Can lay on Nature, is a Paradise
To what we fear of Death.
Ifab. Alas! alas!
Claud. Sweet Sisster, let me live.
What Sin you do to save a Brother's Life,
Nature dispenses with the Deed so far,
That it becomes a Virtue.
Ifab. Oh you Beast!
Oh faithles Coward! oh dishonest Wretch!
Wilt thou be made a Man out of my Vice?
Is't not a kind of Incit, to take Life
From thine own Sisster's Shame? What should I think?
Heaven shield my Mother plaid my Father fair:
For such a warped slip of Wilderness
Ne'er issu'd from his Blood. Take my Defiance,
Die, perish! Might but my bending down
Reprive thee from thy Fate, it should proceed.
I'll pay a thousand Prayers for thy Death;
No Word to save thee.
Claud. Nay, hear me, Ifabel.
Ifab. Oh, fie, fie, fie!
Thy Sin's not accidental, but a Trade;
Mercy to thee would prove it self a Bawd;
'Tis best that thou dy't quickly.
Claud. Oh hear me, Ifabella.
Enter Duke and Provost.

Duke. Vouchsafe a Word, young Sister, but one Word.

Isab. What is your Will?

Duke. Might you dispense with your Leisure, I would by and by have some Speech with you: The Satisfaction I would require, is likewise your own Benefit.

Isab. I have no superfluous Leisure; my Stay must be stolen out of other Affairs: But I will attend you a while.

Duke. Son, I have over-heard what hath past between you and your Sister. Angelo had never the Purpose to corrupt her; only he hath made an Essay of her Virtue, to practice his Judgment with the Disposition of Natures: She, having the truth of Honour in her, hath made him that gracious Denial, which he is most glad to receive: I am Confessor to Angelo, and I know this to be true; therefore prepare your Self to Death. Do not satisfy your Resolution with Hopes that are fallible; to Morrow you must die; go to your Knees, and make ready.

Claud. Let me ask my Sister Pardon; I am so out of love with Life, that I will sue to be rid of it. [Exit Claud.

Duke. Hold you there; farewell. Provost, a Word with you.

Prov. What's your Will, Father?

Duke. That now you are come, you will be gone; leave me a while with the Maid; my Mind promiseth with my Habit, no loss shall touch her by my Company.

Prov. In good time. [Exit Prov.

Duke. The Hand that hath made you fair, hath made you good; the Goodness that is cheap in Beauty, makes Beauty brief in Goodness; but Grace being the Soul of your Complexion, shall keep the Body of it ever fair; the Assault that Angelo hath made to you, Fortune hath convey'd to my Understanding; and but that Frailty hath Examples for his Falling, I should wonder at Angelo. How will you do to content this Substitue, and to save your Brother?

Isab. I am now going to resolve him: I had rather my Brother die by the Law, than my Son should be unlawfully born. But, oh, how much is the good Duke deceived in Angelo: If ever he return, and I can speak to him,
Claud. Death is a fearful thing.
Ifab. And shamed Life a hateful.
Claud. Ay, but to die, and go we know not where:
To lye in cold Obstruction, and to rot;

Measure for Measure. 241

Enter Duke and Provost.

Duke. Vouchsafe a Word, young Sister, but one Word: I:ab. What is your Will?

Duke. Might you dispense with your Leisure, I would by and by have some Speech with you: The Satisfaction I would require, is likewise your own Benefit.

I:ab. I have no superfluous Leisure; my Stay must be stolen out of other Affairs: But I will attend you a while.

Duke. Son, I have over-heard what hath past between you and your Sister. Angelo had never the Purpose to corrupt her; only he hath made an Essay of her Virtue, to practise his Judgment with the Disposition of Natures: She, having the truth of Honour in her, hath made him that gracious Denial, which he is most glad to receive; I am Confessor to Angelo, and I know this to be true; therefore prepare your self to Death. Do not satisfy your Resolution with Hopes that are fallible; to Morrow you must die; go to your Knees, and make ready.

Claud. Let me ask my Sister Pardon; I am so out of love with Life, that I will sue to be rid of it. [Exit Claud.

Duke. Hold you there; farewell. Provost, a Word with you.

Prov. What's your Will, Father?

Duke. That now you are come, you will be gone; leave me a while with the Maid; my Mind promisses with my Habit, no loss shall touch her by my Company.

Prov. In good time. [Exit Prov.

Duke. The Hand that hath made you fair, hath made you good; the Goodness that is cheap in Beauty, makes Beauty brief in Goodness; but Grace being the Soul of your Complexion, shall keep the Body of it ever fair; the Assault that Angelo hath made to you, Fortune hath convey'd to my Understanding; and but that Frailty hath Examples for his Falling, I should wonder at Angelo: How will you do to content this Substitute, and to save your Brother?

I:ab. I am now going to resolve him: I had rather my Brother die by the Law, than my Son should be unlawfully born. But, oh, how much is the good Duke deceiv'd in Angelo: If ever he return, and I can speak to him, him, I will open my Lips in vain, or discover his Go-dernment.

Duke. That shall not be much amiss; yet, as the Matter now stands, he will avoid your Accusation; He made Trial of you only. Therefore fasten your Ear on my Ad-vilings, to the Love I have in doing good; a Remedy presents itself. I do make my self believe that you may most uprightly do a poor wronged Lady a merited Benefit, redeem your Brother from the angry Law; do no Stain to your own gracious Person, and much please the absent Duke, if peradventure he shall ever return to have hearing of this Business.

Isab. Let me hear you speak, Father: I have Spirit to do any thing that appears not foul in the Truth of my Spirit.

Duke. Virtue is bold, and Goodness never fearful: Have you not heard speak of Mariana, the Sister of Frederick, the great Soldier, who miscarry’d at Sea?

Isab. I have heard of the Lady, and good Words went with her Name.

Duke. She should this Angelo have marry’d; was affiance’d to her by Oath, and the Nuptial appointed: Between which time of the Contract, and limit of the Solemnity, her Brother Frederick was wrack’d at Sea, having in that perish’d Vefel the Dowry of his Sister. But mark how heav’ly this befel to the poor Gentlewoman; there she lost a noble and renowned Brother, in his Love toward her ever most kind and natural; with him the Portion and Sinew of her Fortune, her Marriage-dowry; with both, her Combinate-husband, this well-seeing Angelo.

Isab. Can this be so? Did Angelo so leave her?

Duke. Left her in her Tears, and dry’d not one of them with his Comfort; swallow’d his Vows whole, pretending in her Discoveries of Dishonour: In few Words, bestow’d her on her own Lamentation, which she yet wears for his sake; and he, a Marble to her Tears, is washed with them, but relents not.

Isab. What a Merit were it in Death to take this poor Maid from the World! What Corruption in this Life, that it will let this Man live! But how out of this can she avail?

Duke.
Duke. It is a Rupture that you may easily heal; and the Cure of it: not only saves your Brother, but keeps you from Dishonour in doing it.

Isab. Shew me how, good Father.

Duke. This fore-nam’d Maid hath yet in her the Continuance of her first Affection; his unjust Unkindness, that in all Reason should have quenched her Love, hath, like an Impediment in the Current, made it more violent and unruly. Go you to Angelo, answering his requiring with a plausible Obedience; agree with his Demands to the Point: Only refer your self to this Advantage; first, that your Stay with him may not be long; that the Time may have all Shadow and Silence in it; and the Place answer to Convenience. This being granted, in Course now follows all: We shall advise this wronged Maid to read up your Appointment, go in your place; if the Encounter acknowledge it self hereafter, it may compel him to her Recompence; and here, by this is your Brother saved, your Honour untainted, the poor Mariana advantaged, and the corrupt Deputy sealed. The Maid will I frame, and make fit for his Attempt: If you think well to carry this, as you may, the doublesness of the Benefit defends the Deceit and Reproof. What think you of it?

Isab. The Image of it gives me Content already, and I trust it will grow to a most prosperous Perfection.

Duke. It lyes much in your holding up; haste you speedily to Angelo; if for this Night he intreat you to his Bed, give him Promise of Satisfaction. I will presently to St. Luke’s; there at the moated Grange resides this dejected Mariana; at that place call upon me, and dispatch with Angelo, that it may be quickly.

Isab. I thank you for this Comfort: Fare you well, good Father. [Exit.

Enter Elbow, Clown and Officers.

Elb. Nay, if there be no Remedy for it, but that you will needs buy and sell Men and Women like Beasts, we shall have all the World drink brown and white Baifard.

Duke. Oh Heav’ns! what stuff is here?

Clown. ’Twas never merry World since of two Usuries the merriest was put down, and the worser allow’d by M 2 Order
Order of Law, a fur'd Gown to keep him warm; and fur'd with Fox and Lambskins too, to signifie, that Craft being richer than Innocency, stands for the facing.

_Elb._ Come your way, Sir: Bless you, good Father Friar.

_Duke._ And you, good Brother Father; what Offence hath this Man made you, Sir?

_Elb._ Marry, Sir, he hath offended the Law; and, Sir, we take him to be a Thief too, Sir; for we have found upon him, Sir, a strange Pick-lock, which we have sent to the Deputy.

_Duke._ Fie, Sirrah. a Bawd, a wicked Bawd; The Evil that thou causest to be done, That is thy means to live. Do thou but think What 'tis to cram a Maw, or cloath a Back From such a filthy Vice: Say to thy self, From their abominable and beastly Touches I drink, I eat away my self, and live. Canst thou believe thy living is a Life, So stinkingly depending? Go mend, go mend.

_Clown._ Indeed it dees stink in some sort, Sir; But yet, Sir, I would prove——

_Duke._ Nay, if the Devil have given thee Proofs for Sin, Thou wilt prove his. Take him to Prison, Officer; Correction and Instruction must both work, Ere this rude Beast will profit.

_Elb._ He must before the Deputy Sir; he has given him Warning; the Deputy cannot abide a Whoremaster; if he be a Whore-monger, and comes before him, he were as good go a Mile on his Errand.

_Duke._ That we were all, as some would seem to be, Free from all Faults, as Faults from seeming free.

_Enter Lucio._

_Elb._ His Neck will come to your Wast to, a Cord, Sir.
_Clown._ I spy Comfort; I cry Bail: Here's a Gentleman, and a Friend of mine.

_Lucio._ How now, noble Pompey? What, at the Wheels of Caesar? Art thou led in Triumph? What, is there none of Pigmaliion's Images newly made Woman to be had now, for putting the Hand in the Pocket, and extracting it clutch'd?
clutch’d? What Reply? Ha? What say’st thou to this Tune, Matter and Method? Is’t not drown’d i’t’ th’ last Rain? Ha? What say’st thou, Trot? Is the World as it was, Man? Which is the way? Is it sad, and few Words?
Or how? The Trick of it?

Duke. Still thus, and thus; still worse?

Lucio How doth my dear Morsel, thy Mistrefs? Proccures th’ e still? Ha?

Clown. Troth, Sir, she hath eaten up all the Beef, and she is her self in the Tub.

Lucio. Why, ’tis good; it is the right of it; it must be so. E’er your fresh Whore, and your powder’d Bawd, an unhunn’d Consequence, it must be so. Art going to Prison, Pompey?

Clown. Yes, Faith, Sir.

Lucio. Why, ’tis not amis, Pompey: Farewel: Go, say I sent thee thither; for Debt, Pompey? Or how?

Elb. For being a Bawd, for being a Bawd.

Lucio. Well, then imprison him; if Imprisonment be the due of a Bawd, why, ’tis his right. Bawd is he doubtless, and of Antiquity too; Bawd born. Farewel, good Pompey: Commend me to the Prison, Pompey; you will turn good Husband now, Pompey; you will keep the House.

Clown. I hope, Sir, your good Worship will be my Bail.

Lucio. No indeed will I not, Pompey; it is not the wear;
I will pray, Pompey, to encrease your Bondage, if you take it not patiently: Why, your Mettle is the more: Adieu, truly Pompey.

Bless you, Friar.

Duke. And you.

Lucio. Does Bridget paint still, Pompey? Ha?

Elb. Come your ways, Sir, come.

Clown. You will not bail me then, Sir?

Lucio. Then, Pompey, nor now. What News abroad, Friar?

What News?

Elb. Come your ways, Sir, come.

Lucio. Go to Kennel, Pompey. go:

[Execunt Elbow, Clown and Officers.

What News, Friar, of the Duke?

M 3

Duke.
Duke. I know none: Can you tell me of any?

Lucio. Some say, he is with the Emperor of Russia; other some, he is in Rome: But where is he think you?

Duke. I know not where; but wheresoever, I wish him well.

Lucio. It was a mad fantastical Trick of him, to steal from the State, and usurp the Beggary he was never born to; Lord Angelo's Dukes it well in his Absence; he puts Transgression to't.

Duke. He does well in't.

Lucio. A little more Lenity to Leachery would do no harm in him; something two crabb'd that way, Friar.

Duke. It is too general a Vice, and Severity must cure it.

Lucio. Yes, in good sooth, the Vice is of great Kindred; it is well ally'd; but it is impossible to extirp it quite, Friar, 'till eating and drinking be put down. They say, this Angelo was not made by Man and Woman, after this downright way of Creation; is it true, think you?

Duke. How should he be made then?

Lucio. Some report, a Sea-maid spawn'd him. Some, that he was begot between two Stock-fishes. But it is certain, that when he makes Water, his Urine is congeal'd Ice; that I know to be true; and he is a Motion generative; that's infallible.

Duke. You are pleasant, Sir, and speak apace.

Lucio. Why, what a ruthless thing is this in him, for the Rebellion of a Cod-piece, to take away the Life of a Man? Would the Duke that is absent have done this? Ere he would have hang'd a Man for the getting a hundred Bastards, he would have paid for the nursing a thousand. He had some feeling of the Sport, he knew the Service, and that instructed him to Mercy.

Duke. I never heard the absent Duke much detected for Women; he was not inclin'd that way.

Lucio. Oh, Sir, you are deceiv'd.

Duke. 'Tis not possible.

Lucio. Who, not the Duke? Yes, your Beggar of fifty; and his life was, to put a Ducket in her Clack-dish; the Duke had Crotchet's in him. He would be drunk too, that let me inform you.

Duke.
Lucio. Sir, I was an Inward of his; a thy Fellow was the Duke; and I believe I know the Cause of his withdrawing.
Duke. What, prithee. might be the Cause?
Lucio. No; Pardon: 'Tis a Secret must be lockt within the Teeth and the Lips; but this I can let you understand, the greater File of the Subject held the Duke to be wise.
Duke. Wise? Why no question but he was.
Lucio. A very superficial, ignorant, unweighing Fellow.
Duke. Either this is Envy in you, Folly, or Mistaking: The very stream of his Life, and the Business he hath helmed, must upon a warranted need give him a better Proclamation. Let him be but testified in his own bringings forth, and he shall appear to the envious, a Scholar, a Statesman, and a Soldier; thererfore you speak unskilfully; or if your Knowledge be more, it is much darken'd in your Malice.
Lucio. Sir, I know him, and I love him.
Duke. Love talks with better Knowledge, and Knowledge with dear Love.
Duke. I can hardly believe that, since you know not what you speak. But if ever the Duke return, as our Prayers are he may, let me desire you to make your Answer before him: If it be honest you have spoke, you have Courage to maintain it; I am bound to call upon you, and I pray you your Name?
Lucio. Sir, my Name is Lucio, well known to the Duke.
Duke. He shall know you better, Sir, if I may live to report you.
Lucio. I fear you not.
Duke. O, you hope the Duke will return no more; or you imagine me too unhurtful an Opposite; but indeed I can do you little harm: You'll forswear this again?
Lucio. I'll be hang'd first: Thou art deceiv'd in me, Friar. But no more of this. Canst thou tell if Claudio die to Morrow, or no?
Duke. Why should he die, Sir?

Lucio. Why? For filling a Bottle with a Tun-dish: I would the Duke we talk of were return’d again; this un-genitur’d Agent will unpeople the Province with Conti-nency. Sparrows must not build in his House-eyes, be-came they are lecherous. The Duke yet would have dark Deeds darkly answered; he would never bring them to light; would he were return’d. Marry, this Claudio is con-summed for untrusting. Farewel, good Friar, I pri-thee pray for me: The Duke, I say to thee again, would eat Mutton on Fridays. He’s now past it; yet, and I say to thee, he would mouth with a Beggar, tho’ the smell of brown Bread and Garlick: Say, that I said so: Farewel,

[Exit.

Duke. No Might nor Greatness in Mortality
Can Censure escape: Back-wounding Calumny
The whitest Virtue strikes. What King so strong
Can tie the Gall up in the Slanderous Tongue?
But who comes here?

Enter Escalus, Provost, and Bawd.

Escal. Go, away with her to Prison.

Bawd. Good my Lord, be good to me; your Honour is accounted a merciful Man: Good my Lord.

Escal. Double and treble Admonition, and still forfeit in the same kind? This would make Mercy swear, and play the Tyrant.

Prov. A Bawd of eleven Years continuance, may it please your Honour.

Bawd. My Lord. this is one Lucio’s Information against me: Missress Kate Keep-down was with Child by him in the Duke’s time; he promised her Marriage: His Child is a Year and a Quarter old, come Philip and Jacob: I have kept it my self; and see how he goes about to a-buse me.

Escal That Fellow is a Fellow of much Licence; let him be call’d b-fore us. Away with her to Prison:
Go to; no more Words. [Exeunt with the Bawd.

Provost, my Brother Angelo will not be alter’d; Claudio must die to Morrow: Let him be furnish’d with Divines, and have all charitable Preparation. If my Brother wrought by my Pity, it should not be so with him.

Pro. So pleae you, this Friar hath been with him, and advis'd him for the entertainment of Death.

Escal. Good Even, good Father,

Duke. Bliss and Goodness on you.

Escal. Of whence are you?

Duke. Not of this Country, tho' my Chance is now
To use it for my time: I am a Brother
Of gracious Order, late come from the Sea,
In special Business from his Holiness.

Escal. What News abroad i'th' World?

Duke. None, but that there is so great a Fever on Goodness, that the Dissolution of it must cure it. Novelty is only in Request; and it is as dangerous to be aged in any kind of Course, as it is virtuous to be constant in any Undertaking. There is scarce Truth enough alive to make Societies secure; but Security enough to make Fellowships accrue. Much upon this Riddle runs the Wisdom of the World; this News is old enough, yet it is every Day's News. I pray you, Sir, of what Disposition was the Duke?

Escal. One, that above all other Strifes,
Contended especially to know himself.

Duke. What Pleasure was he given to?

Escal. Rather rejoicing to see another merry, than merry at any thing which profest to make him rejoice.
A Gentleman of all Temperance. But leave him to his Events, with a Prayer they may prove prosperous; and let me desire to know how you find Claudio prepar'd?
I am made to understand, that you have lent him Visitation.

Duke. He professes to have received no sinister measure from his Judge, but most willingly humbles himself to the determination of Justice: Yet had he fram'd to him-sell, by the instruction of his Frailty, many deceiving Promises of Life, which I, by my good leisure, have discredited to him, and now is he resolv'd to die.

Escal. You have paid the Heav'n's your Function, and the Prisoner the very Debt of your Calling. I have la-

M 5

hour'd bour’d for the poor Gentleman, to the extremest shore of my Modesty, but my Brother Justice have I found so severe, that he hath forc’d me to tell him, he is indeed Justice.

Duke. If his own Life
Answer the straights of his Proceeding,
It shall become him well; wherein if he chance to fail,
he hath sentenc’d himself.

Escal. I am going to visit the Prisoner: Fare you well. [Exit.

Duke. Peace be with you.
He who the Sword of Heav’n will bear,
Should be as Holy as Severe:
Pattern in himself to know,
Grace to stand, and Virtue go:
More nor less to others paying,
Than by Self-offences weighing.
Shame to him whose cruel striking,
Kills for Faults of his own liking!
Twice treble Shame on Angelo,
To weed my Vice, and let his grow!
Oh, what may Man within him hide,
Tho’ Angel on the outward side?
How may Likeness made in Crimes,
Making practice on the Times,
To draw with idle Spider’s Strings
Most ponderous and substantial things?
Craft against Vice I must apply.
With Angelo to Night shall lye
His old betrothed, but despis’d;
So Disguise shall by th’ disguis’d
Pay with Falseness false exacting,
And perform an old contracting.

[Exit.

AC T
Enter Mariana, and Boy singing.

Song.

TAKE, Oh take those Lips away,
That so sweetly were forsworn;
And those Eyes, the break of Day,
Lights that do mislead the Morn;
But my Kisses bring again,
Seals of Love, but seal'd in vain.

Enter Duke.

MARI. Break off thy Song, and haste thee quick away:
Here comes a Man of Comfort, whose Advice
Hath often still'd my brawling Discontent.
I cry you mercy, Sir, and well could wish.
You had not found me here so musical:
Let me excuse me, and believe me so.
My Mirth it much displeas'd, but pleas'd my Woe.

Duke. 'Tis good; tho' Musick oft hath such a Charm
To make bad, good, and good provoke to harm.
I pray you tell me, hath any Body enquir'd for me here to Day? Much upon this time have I promis'd here to meet.

MARI. You have not been enquir'd after: I have fate here all Day.

Enter Isabel.

Duke. I do constantly believe you: The time is come, even now. I shall crave your forbearance a little; may be I will call upon you anon, for some Advantage to your self.

MARI. I am always bound to you. [Exit.

Duke. Very well met, and well come:
What is the News from this good Deputy?

ISAB. He hath a Garden circummur'd with Brick,
Whose Western side is with a Vineyard backt;
And to that Vineyard is a planched Gate,
That makes his opening with this bigger Key:
This other doth command a little Door,

Which
Which from the Vineyard to the Garden leads;
There have I made my Promise, upon the Heavy middle of the Night, to call upon him:

_Duke._ But shall you on your knowledge find this Way?

_Ifab._ I have ta'en a due and wary Note upon't;
With whispering, and most guilty Diligence,
In Action all of Precept, he did show me
The way twice o'er.

_Duke._ Are there no other Tokens
Between you 'greed, concerning her Observance?

_Ifab._ No; none but only a Repair i'th' dark;
And that I have posset him, my most flay
Can be but brief; for I have made him know,
I have a Servant comes with me along,
That stays upon me, whose Persuasion is
I come about my Brother.

_Duke._ 'Tis well born up.

• I have not yet made known to_Mariana_

_A Word of this. What hoa! within! come forth!

_Enter Mariana._

I pray you be acquainted with this Maid;
She comes to do you good.

_Ifab._ I do desire the like.

_Duke._ Do you persuade your self that I respect you?

_Mari._ Good Friar, I know you do, and have found it.

_Duke._ Take then this your Companion by the Hand,
Who hath a Story ready for your Ear:
I shall attend your leisure; but make haste;
The vaporous Night approaches.

_Duke._ Oh Place, and Greatness! Millions of false Eyes
Are fluck upon thee: Volumes of Report
Run with these false and most contrarious Quests
Upon thy Doings: Thousand Escapes of Wit
Make thee the Father of their idle Dreams,
And rack thee in their Fancies. Welcome, how agreed?

_Enter Mariana, and Ifabel._

_Ifab._ She'll take the Enterprize upon her, Father,
If you advise it.
Duke. It is not my Consent,
But my Intreaty too.

I had. Little have you to say
When you depart from him, but soft and low,
Remember now my Brother.

Mari. Fear me not.

Duke. Nor, gentle Daughter, fear you not at all:
He is your Husband on a Pre-contract;
To bring you thus together, 'tis no Sin,
Sith that the Justice of your Title to him
Doth flourish the Deceit. Come, let us go;
Our Corn's to reap, for yet our Tythes to sow. [Exeunt.

SCENE II. The Prison.

Enter Provost, and Clown.

Prov. Come hither, Sirrah: Can you cut off a Man's Head?

Clown. If the Man be a Batchelor, Sir. I can:
But if he be a marry'd Man, he's his Wife's Head,
And I can never cut off a Woman's Head.

Prov. Come, Sir, leave me your Snatches, and yield me a direct Answer. To Morrow Morning are to die Claudio and Barnardine: Here is in our Prison a common Executioner, who in his Office lacks a Helper; if thou will take it on you to assist him, it shall redeem you from your Gyves: If not, you shall have your full time of Imprisonment and your Deliverance with an unpitied Whipping; for you have been a notorious Bawd.

Bawd. Sir, I have been an unlawful Bawd. time out of mind, but yet I will be content to be a lawful Hangman: I would be glad to receive some Instruction from my Fellow-Partner.

Prov. What hoa, Abborson! where's Abborson there?

Enter Abborson.

Abbor. Do you call, Sir?

Prov. Sirrah, here's a Fellow will help you to Morrow in your Execution: If you think it meet, compound with him by the Year, and let him abide here with you; if not, use him for the present, and dismiss him.
He cannot plead his Estimation with you; he hath been a Bawd.

Abbor. A Bawd, Sir? Fie upon him, he will discredit our Mystery.

Prov. Go to, Sir; you weigh equally, a Feather will turn the Scale. [Exit.

Clown. Pray Sir, by your good Favour; for surely, Sir, a good Favour you have, but that you have a hanging Look; Do you call, Sir, your Occupation a Mystery?

Abbor. Ay, Sir, a Mystery.

Clown. Painting, Sir, I have heard say, is a Mystery; and your Whores, Sir, being Members of my Occupation, using painting, do prove my Occupation a Mystery: But what Mystery there should be in hanging, if I should be hang'd, I cannot imagine.

Abbor. Sir, it is a Mystery.

Clown. Proof.

Abbor. Every true Man's Apparel fits your Thief.

Clown. If it be too little for your Thief, your true Man thinks it big enough. If it be too big for your Thief, your Thief thinks it little enough: So every true Man's Apparel fits your Thief.

Enter Provost.

Prov. Are you agreed?

Clown. Sir, I will serve him: For I do find your Hangman is a more penitent Trade than your Bawd; he doth oftner ask Forgiveness.

Prov. You, Sirrah, provide your Block and your Ax to Morrow, four a Clock.

Abbor. Come on, Bawd, I will instruct thee in my Trade; follow.

Clown. I do desire to learn, Sir; and I hope, if you have occasion to use me for your own turn, you shall find me yours: For truly, Sir, for your Kindness, I owe you a good turn. [Exit.

Prov. Call hither Barnardine and Claudio: Th' one has my Pity; not a jot the other, Being a Murderer, tho' he were my Brother.

Enter
Measure for Measure. 255

Enter Claudio.

Look, here's the Warrant, Claudio, for thy Death;
'Tis now dead Midnight, and by eight to Morrow
Thou must be made Immortal. Where's Barnardine?

Claud. As fast lock'd up in Sleep as guiltlesse Labour,
When it lyes starkly in the Traveller's Bones:
He will not awake.

Prov. Who can do good on him?
Well, go, prepare your self. But hark, what Noise?

[Knock within.

Heav'n give your Spirits Comfort; By and by;
I hope it is some Pardon, or Reprieve
For the most gentle Claudio. Welcome, Father.

Enter Duke.

Duke. The best and wholsom'st Spirits of the Night
Invellop you, good Provost: Who call'd here of late?

Prov. None since the Curfew rung.

Duke. Not Isabel?

Prov. No.

Duke. They will then, ere't be long.

Prov. What Comfort is for Claudio?

Duke. There's some in hope.

Prov. It is a bitter Deputy.

Duke. Not so, not so; his Life is parallel'd
Even with the Stroak and Line of his great Justice;
He doth with holy Abstinence subdue
That in himself which he spurs on his Power
To qualifie in others. Were he meas'd with that
Which he corrects, then were he tyrannous;
But this being so, he's just. Now are they come.

[Knock again.

This is a gentle Provost, seldom when
The fleded Goaler is the Friend of Men.

How now? What Noise? That Spirit's posseted with haste
That wounds th' unresisting Postern with these Strokes.

Prov. There he must stay until the Officer
Arise to let him in; he is call'd up.

Duke. Have you no Countermand for Claudio yet?
But he must die to Morrow?

Prov. None, Sir, none.
Duke. As near the Dawning, Proveft, as it is, You shall hear more ere Morning.

Prov. Happily
You something know; yet I believe there comes
No Countermand; no such Example have we:
Besides, upon the very Siege of Justice,
Lord Angelo hath to the publick Ear
Proveft the contrary.

Enter a Messenger.

Duke. This is his Lordship's Man.

Prov. And here comes Claudio's Pardon.

Mess. My Lord hath sent you this Note,
And by me this further Charge,
That you swerve not from the smallest Article of it,
Neither in Time, Matter, or other Circumstance.
Good Morrow, for, as I take it, it is almost Day.

Prov. I shall obey him. [Exit Meffen.

Duke. This is his Pardon, purchas'd by such Sin
For which the Pardoner himself is in:
Hence hath Offence his quick Celerity,
When it is born in high Authority;
When Vice makes Mercy, Mercy's so extended,
That for the Fault's love, is th' Offender friended.
Now, Sir, what News?

Prov. I told you:
Lord Angelo, be-like, thinking me remiss
In mine Office, awakens me
With this unwonted putting on, methinks strangely,
For he hath not us'd it before.

Duke. Pray you let's hear.

Proveft reads the Letter.

Whate'er you may hear to the contrary, let Claudio be exes-cuted by four of the Clock, and in the Afternoon Barnard-dine: For my better Satisfaction, let me have Claudio's
Head sent me by five. Let this be duly performed, with a Thought that more depends on it than we must yet deliver.
Thus fail not to do your Office, as you will answer it at your Peril.

What say you to this, Sir?

Duke.
Duke. What is that Barnardine, who is to be executed in th’ Afternoon?

Prov. A Bohemian born; but here nurtur’d up and bred,
One that is a Prisoner nine Years old.

Duke. How came it, that the absent Duke had not either deliver’d him to his Liberty, or executed him? I have heard it was ever his manner to do so.

Prov. His Friends still wrought Reprieves for him; And indeed his Fact, ’till now in the Government of Lord Angelo, came not to an undoubted Proof.

Duke. It is now apparent?

Prov. Most manifest, and not deny’d by himself.

Duke. Hath he born himself penitently in Prison?

How seems he to be touch’d?

Prov. A Man that apprehends Death no more dreadful- ly, but as a drunken Sleep, careless, wreakless, and fear- less of what’s past, present, or to come; insensible of Mortality, and desperately mortal.

Duke. He wants Advice.

Prov. He will hear none; he hath evermore had the Liberty of the Prison: Give him leave to escape hence. he would not: Drunk many times a Day, if not many Days entirely drunk. We have very oft awak’d him, as if to carry him to Execution, and shew’d him a seeming Warrant for it; it hath not mov’d him at all.

Duke. More of him anon. There is written in your Brow, Provost, Honesty and Constancy; if I read it not truly, my ancient ‘kilt beguiles me; but in the boldness of my cunning, I will lay my self in Hazard. Claudio, whom here you have Warrant to execute, is no greater Forfeit to the Law than Angelo, who hath sentenc’d him. To make you understand this in a manifested Effect, I crave but four Days Respite; for the which you are to do me both a present and a dangerous Courtseie.

Prov. Pray, Sir, in what?

Duke. In the delaying Death.

Prov. Alack! how may I do it, having the Hour lim- ited, and an express Command, under Penalty, to deli- ver his Head in the view of Angelo? I may make my Case as Claudio’s, to cross this in the smallest.
Duke. By the Vow of mine Order, I warrant you, If my Instructions may be your Guide: Let this Barnardine be this Morning executed, And his Head born to Angelo.

Prov. Angelo hath seen them both, And will discover the Favour.

Duke. Oh, Death’s a great Disguiser, and you may add to it; shave the Head, and tie the Beard, and say, it was the Desire of the Penitent to be barb’d before his Death; you know the Course is common. If any thing fall to you upon this, more than Thanks and good Fortune; by the Saint whom I profess, I will plead against it with my Life.

Prov. Pardon me, good Father; it is against my Oath.

Duke. Were you sworn to the Duke, or to the Deputy?

Prov. To him, and to his Substitutes.

Duke. You will think you have made no Offence, if the Duke avouch the Justice of your Dealing?

Prov. But what likelihood is in that?

Duke. Not a Resemblance, but a Certainty; yet since I see you fearful, that neither my Coat, Integrity, nor my Persuasion, can with ease attempt you, I will go further than I meant, to pluck all Fears out of you. Look you, Sir, here is the Hand and Seal of the Duke; you know the Character, I doubt not, and the Signet is not strange to you.

Prov. I know them both.

Duke. The Contents of this is the Return of the Duke; you shall anon over-read it at your Pleasure; where you shall find within these two Days he will be here. This is a thing which Angelo knows not; for he this very Day receives Letters of strange Tenor, perchance of the Duke’s Death, perchance entering into some Monastery, but by chance nothing of what is writ. Look, the unfolding Star calls up the Shepherd; put not your self into amazement how these things should be; all Difficulties are but easie when they are known. Call your Executioner, and off with Barnardine’s Head: I will give him a present Shrift, and advise him for a better Place. Yet you are amaz’d, but this shall absolutely resolve you. Come away, it is almost clear Dawn.

[Exit.

Measure for Measure. 259

Enter Clown.

Clown. I am as well acquainted here, as I was in our House of Profession; one would think it were Mistress O-\nver-don’s own House; for here be many of her old Customers: First, here’s young Mr. Ralph; he’s in for a Commodity of brown Pepper and old Ginger, nine-score and seventeen Pounds; of which he made five Marks ready Mony: Marry then, Ginger was not much in request; for the old Women were all dead. Then is there here one Mr. Capri, at the Suit of Master Three-Pile, the Mercer, for some four Suits of Peach-colour’d Sattin, which now preaches him a Beggar. Then have we here young Dizy, and young Mr. Deep wow, and Mr. Copper-spur, and Master Starve-Lacky, the Raper and Dagger Man, and young Dropheire, that kill’d lufty Pudding, and Mr. Forth-light, the Tilter, and brave Mr. Shooty, the great Traveler, and wild Half-Canne, that stabb’d Pots, and, I think, forty more, all great doers in our Trade, and are now for the Lord’s sake.

Enter Abhorson.

Abhor. Sirrah, bring Barnardine hither.

Clown. Master Barnardine, you must rise and be hang’d,
Master Barnardine.

Abhor. What hoa, Barnardine!

Barnardine within.

Barnardine. A Pox o’your Throats; who makes that noise there? What are you?

Clown. Your Friend, Sir, the Hangman:
You must be so good, Sir, to rise, and be put to Death,

Barnar. Away, you Rogue, away, I am sleepy.

Abbor. Tell him he must awake,

And that quickly too.

Clown. Pray, Master Barnardine, awake ’till you are executed, and sleep afterwards.

Abhor. Go in to him, and fetch him out.

Clown. He is coming, Sir, he is coming; I hear the Straw ruffle.

Enter Barnardine.

Abhor. Is the Ax upon the Block, Sirrah?

Clown. Very ready, Sir.

Barnar.
Barnar. How now, Abbotson?
What's the News with you?

Abbor. Truly, Sir. I would desire you to clap into your Prayers: For lo! you, the Warrant's come.

Barnar. You Rogues, I have been drinking all Night,
I am not fitted for't.

Clown Oh! the better, Sir; for he that drinks all Night, and is hang'd betimes in the Morning, may sleep the sounder
all the next Day.

Enter Duke.

Abbor. Look you, Sir, here comes your ghostly Father;
Do we jest now, think you?

Duke. Sir, induced by my Charity, and hearing how ha-sily you are to depart, I am come to advise you, comfort you, and pray with you.

Barnar. Friar, not I: I have been drinking hard all Night; and will have more time to prepare me. or they shall beat out my Brains with Billets: I will not consent to die
this Day, that's certain.

Duke. Oh, Sir, you must; and therefore I beseech you look forward on the Journey you shall go.

Barnar. I swear I will not die to Day for any Man's Persuasion.

Duke. But hear you.

Barnar Not a Word: If you have any thing to say to me, come to my Ward, for thence will not I to Day.

[Exit.

Enter Provost.

Duke. Unfit to live, or die: Oh gravel Heart!

After him Fellows: Bring him to the Block.

Prov. Now, Sir, how do you find the Prisoner?

Duke. A Creature unprepar'd, unmeet for Death;

And to transport him in the Mind he is,
Were damnable.

Prov. Here in the Prison, Father,
There dy'd this Morning of a cruel Fever,
One Ragozine, a most notorious Pirate,
A Man of Claudio's Years; his Beard and Head
Just of his Colour. What if we do omit
This Reprobate, 'till he were well enclin'd,

And
And fastifie the Deputy with the Village
Of Raguzine, more like to Claudio?

Duke. O, 'tis an Accident that Heav'n provides:
Dispatch it presently; the Hour draws on Prefix by Angelo: See this be done,
And sent according to Command; whiles I
Persuade this rude Wretch willingly to die.

Prov. This shall be done, good Father, presently.
But Barnardine must die this Afternoon:
And how shall we continue Claudio,
To save me from the Danger that might come,
If he were known alive?

Duke. Let this be done;
Put them in secret holds, both Barnardine and Claudio:
Ere twice the Sun hath made his Journal greeting
To yonder Generation, you shall find
Your Safety manifested.

Prov. I am your free Dependant. [Exit.

Duke. Quick, dispatch, and send the Head to Angelo,

Now will I write Letters to Angelo,
The Provost he shall bear them, whose Contents
Shall witness to him I am near at home;
And that by great Injunctions I am bound
To enter publicly: Him I'll desire
To meet me at the consecrated Fount,
A League below the City; and from thence,
By cold Gradation, and well-ballanc'd Form,
We shall proceed with Angelo.

Enter Provost.

Prov. Here is the Head, I'll carry it myself.

Duke. Convenient is it: Make a swift Return;
For I would commune with you of such things
That want no Ear but yours.

Prov. I'll make all speed.

Isab. Peace hoa, be here.

Duke. The Tongue of Isabell. She comes to know,
If yet her Brother's Pardon come hither:
But I will keep her ignorant of her Good,
To make her heavily Comforts of Despair,
When it is least expected. [Enter
Enter Isabell.

Isab. Hoa, by your Leave.

Duke. Good Morning to you, fair and gracious Daughter.

Isa. The better given me by so holy a Man:

Hat. yet the Deputy sent my Brother's Pardon?

Duke. He hath releas'd him, Isabell, from the World;

His lead is off, and sent to Angelo.

Isa. Nay, but it is not so.

Duke. It is no other.

Shew your Wisdom, Daughter, in your close Patience,

Isab. Oh, I will to him, and pluck out his Eyes.

Duke. You shall not be admitted to his sight.

Isab. Unhappy Claudio, wretched Isabell!

Injurious World, most damned Angelo!

Duke. This hurts not him, nor profits you a jot:

Forbear it therefore, give your Cause to Heav'n:

Mark what I say, which you shall find

By every Syllable a faithful Verity.

The Duke comes home to Morrow; nay, dry your Eyes;

One of our Convent, and his Confessor.

Gives me this Instance: Already he hath carry'd

Notice to Eusalus and Angelo,

Who do prepare to meet him at the Gates,

There to give up their Power. If you can, pace your Wisdom

In that good Path that I would wish it go,

And you shall have your Bofom on this Wretch,

Grace of the Duke, Revenges to your Heart,

And general Honour.

Isab. I am directed by you.

Duke. This Letter then to Friar Peter give;

'Tis that he sent me of the Duke's Return:

Say, by this Token, I define his Company

At Mariana's House to Night. Her Cause, and yours,

I'll perfect him withal, and he shall bring you

Before the Duke; and to the Head of Angelo

Accuse him home and home. For my poor self,

I am combined by a sacred Vow,

And shall be absent. Wend you with this Letter:

Command these fretting Waters from your Eyes

With
With a light Heart; trust not my holy Order
If I pervert your Course. Who's here?

Enter Lucio.

Lucio. Good Even,
Friar, where's the Provost?

Lucio. Oh pretty Isabella, I am pale at mine Heart to see thine Eyes so red; thou must be patient; I am fain to dine and sup with Water and Bran; I dare not for my Head fill my Belly: One fruitful Meal would set me to't. But, they say the Duke will be here to Morrow. By my Troth, Isabel. I lov'd thy Brother: If the old fantastical Duke of dark Corners had been at Home, he had lived.

Duke. Sir, the Duke is marvellous little beholden to your Reports; but the best is, he lives not in them.

Lucio. Friar, thou know'st not the Duke so well as I do; he's a better Woodman than thou tak'st him for.

Duke. Well; you'll answer this one Day. Fare ye well,

Lucio. Nay, tarry, I'll go along with thee:
I can tell thee pretty Tales of the Duke.

Duke. You have told me too many of him already, Sir, if they be true; if not, none were enough.

Lucio. I was once before him for getting a Wench with Child.

Duke. Did you such a thing?

Lucio. Yes, marry did I; but I was fain to forswear it; They would else have marry'd me to the rotten Medler.

Duke. Sir, your Company is fairer than honest: Rest you well.

Lucio. By my Troth, I'll go with thee to the Lane's-end: If bawdy Talk offend you, we'll have very little of it; nay, Friar, I am a kind of Bur, I shall stick.

[Exeunt.}

SCENE III. The Palace.

Enter Angelo and Escalus.

Escal. Every Letter he hath writ hath disvouch'd other.

Ang. In most uneven and distracted manner. His Actions shew much like to Madness: pray Heav'n his Wisdom be
Measure for Measure.

be not tainted: And why meet him at the Gates, and deliver our Authorities there?

Escal. I guess not.

Ang. And why should we proclaim it in an Hour before his entring, that if any crave Redress of Injustice, they should exhibit their Petitions in the Street?

Escal. He shews his Reason for that; to have a Dispatch of Complaints, and to deliver us from Devices hereafter, which shall then have no Power to stand against us.

Ang. Well; I beseech you let it be proclaimed betimes Ith Morn; I'll call you at your House: Give Notice to such Men of fort and suit as are to meet him.

Escal. I shall, Sir. Fare you well. [Exit.

Ang. Good Night.

This Deced unshapes me quite, makes me unpregnant, and dull to all Proceedings. A defloured Maid, and by an eminent Body, that enforce the Law against it? But that her tender Shame will not proclaim against her Maiden lost, how might the Tongue me? Yet Reason dares her no; for my Authority bears off a credent Bulk, that no particular Scandal once can touch, but it confounds the Breather. He should have liv'd, save that his riotous Youth, with dangerous Sense, might in the Times to come, have ta'en Revenge by so receiving a dishonour'd Life. With Ransom of such Shame: Would yet he had liv'd. Alack, when once our Grace we have forgot, Nothing goes right, we would, and we would not. [Exit.

SCENE IV.

SCENE The Fields without the Town.

Enter Duke in his own Habit, and Friar Peter.

Duke. Thee Letters at this time; deliver me.

The Proctor knows our Purpose and our Plot: The Matter being afoot, keep your Instruction, and hold you ever to our special Drift, tho' sometimes you do bleanch from this to that;
As cause doth minister: Go call at Flavius House,
And tell him where I stay; give the like notice
To Valencius, Rowland, and to Crassius,
And bid them bring the Trumpets to the Gate:
But send me Flavius first.

Peter. It shall be speeded well.

Enter Varrius.

Duke. I thank thee, Varrius; thou hast made good haste:
Come, we will walk. There's other of our Friends
Will greet us here anon, my gentle Varrius.      [Exeunt:

SCENE V.

Enter Isabella and Mariana.

Isab. To speak so indirectly I am loath;
I would say the Truth; but to accuse him so,
That is your Part; yet I am advis'd to do it.
He says, to vail full Purpose.

Mar. Be rul'd by him.

Isab. Besides, he tells me, that if peradventure
He speak against me on the adverse side,
I should not think it strange; for 'tis a Physick
That's bitter to sweet End.

Enter Peter.

Mar. I would Friar Peter——

Isab. Oh Peace; the Friar is come.

Peter. Come, I have found you out a Stand most fit,
Where you may have such Vantage on the Duke,
He shall not pass you.

Twice have the Trumpets sounded;
The generous and gravest Citizens
Have bent the Gates, and very near upon
The Duke is entering:
Therefore hence away.

[Exeunt.

VOL. I.      N      ACT
266 Measure for Measure.

ACT V. SCENE I.

SCENE the Street.

Enter Duke, Varrius, Lords, Angelo, Escalus, Lucio, and Citizens, at several Doors.

Duke. My very worthy Cousin, fairly met; [you.
Our old and faithful Friend, we are glad to see

Ang. and Esc. Happy Return be to your Royal Grace.

Duke. Many and hearty thanks be to you both:
We have made Enquiry of you, and we hear
Such Goodness of your Justice, that our Soul
Cannot but yield you forth to publick Thanks,
For running more Requital.

Ang. You make my Bonds still greater.

Duke. Oh. your Defert speaks loud, and I should wrong
To lock it in the Wards of covert Bosom,
When it deserves, with Characters of Bras,
A ported Residence against the tooth of Time,
And rasure of Oblivion: Give me your Hand,
And let the Subject see; to make them know,
That outward Courtesies would fain proclaim
Favours that keep within. Come, Escalus,
You must walk by us on our other Hand:
And good Supporters are you.

Enter Peter and Isabella.

Peter. Now is your time;
Speak loud, and kneel before him.

Isab. Justice, O royal Duke; vail your Regard
Upon a wrong'd, I would fain have said, a Maid;
Oh worthy Prince, dishonour not your Eye
By throwing it on any other Object,
Till you have heard me in my true Complaint,
And give me Justice, Justice, Justice, Justice.

Duke. Relate your Wrongs;
In what, by whom? be brief:
Here is Lord Angelo shall give you Justice;
Reveal your self to him.

Isab. Oh worthy Duke,
You bid me seek Redemption of the Devil:
Hear me your fell; for that which I must speak
Must either punish me, not being believ'd,
Or wring Redress from you:
Hear me; oh hear me here.

_Ang._ My Lord, her Wits, I fear me, are not firm;
She hath been a Suitor to me for her Brother,
Cut off by course of Justice.

_Isab._ By course of Justice!

_Ang._ And she will speak most bitterly.

_Isab._ Most strange, but yet most truly will I speak;
That _Angelo's_ forsworn: Is it not strange?
That _Angelo's_ a Murtherer: Is't not strange?
That _Angelo_ is an adulterous Thief,
An Hypocrite, a Virgin Violater:
Is it not strange, and strange?

_Duke._ Nay, it is ten times strange.

_Isab._ It is not truer he is _Angelo_,
Than this is all as true as it is strange:
Nay, it is ten times true; for Truth is Truth
To th' end of reckoning.

_Duke._ Away with her: Poor Soul,
She speaks this in th' infirmity of Sense.

_Isab._ Oh Prince, I conjure thee, as thou believ'lt
There is another Comfort than this World,
That thou neglect me not, with that Opinion,
That I am touch'd with Madness. Make not impossible
That which but seems unlike; 'Tis not impossible
But one, the wicked & Cai'tiff on the Ground,
May seem as sly, as grave; as just, as absolute
As _Angelo_; ev'n so may _Angelo_,
In all his Dressings, Caracts, Titles, Forms,
Be an Arch-villain; Believe it, Royal Prince,
If he be les, he's nothing; but he's more,
Had I more Name for Badness.

_Duke._ By mine Honesty,
If she be mad, as I believe no other,
Her Madness hath the oddest frame of Sense,
Such a dependency of thing on thing,
As e'er I heard in Madness.

_N. 2_

_Isab._
Measure for Measure.

Isab. O gracious Duke,
Harp not on that; nor do not banish Reason
For Inequality; but let your Reason serve
To make the Truth appear, where it seems hid,
And hide the false seems true.

Duke. Many that are not mad
Have sure more lack of Reason.
What would you say?

Isab. I am the Sister of one Claudio,
Condemn'd, upon the Act of Fornication,
To lose his Head; condemn'd by Angelo:
I, in Probation of a Sisterhood,
Was sent to by my Brother; one Lucio,
As then the Messenger,—

Lucio. That's I, and't like your Grace;
I came to her from Claudio, and desir'd her
To try her gracious Fortune with Lord Angelo,
For her poor Brother's Pardon.

Isab. That's he indeed.

Duke. You were not bid to speak. [To Lucio.

Lucio. No, my good Lord,
Nor wish'd to hold my Peace.

Duke. I wish you now then;
Pray you take note of it: And when you have
A business for your self, pray Heav'n you then
Be perfect.

Lucio. I warrant your Honour.

Duke. The Warrant's for your self; take heed to't.
Isab. This Gentleman told something of my Tale.

Lucio. Right.

Duke. It may be right, but you are i'th' wrong
To speak before your time. Proceed.

Isab. I went
To this pernicious Cattiff Deputy.

Duke. That's somewhat madly spoken.

Isab. Pardon it:

The Phrase is to the Matter.

Isab. In brief; to set the needless by,
How I persuaded, how I pray'd, and kneel'd,
How he refell'd me, and how I reply'd,
For this was of much length; the vile Conclusion
I now begin with Grief and Shame to utter.
He would not, but by Gift of my chaste Body
To his concupiscible intemperate Lust,
Release my Brother; and after much Debatement,
My sisterly Remorse confutes mine Honour,
And I did yield to him: But the next Morn betimes,
His Purpose forfeiting, he sends a Warrant
For my poor Brother's Head.
\textit{Duke.} This is most likely!
\textit{Isab.} Oh that it were as like as it is true!
\textit{Duke.} By Heav'n, fond Wretch, thou know'st not what thou speak'st;

Or else thou art suborn'd against his Honour
In hateful Practice. First, his Integrity
Stands without blemish; next, it imports no Reason,
That with such vehemency, he should pursue
Faults proper to himself: If he had so offended,
He would have weigh'd thy Brother by himself,
And not have cut him off. Some one hath set you on;
Confess the Truth, and say by whose Advice
Thou cam'st here to complain.
\textit{Isab.} And is this all?
Then oh you blessed Ministers above,
Keep me in Patience; and with ripen'd time,
Unfold the Evil which is here wrapt up
In countenance: Heav'n shield your Grace from Wo.
As I thus wrong'd, hence unbeliev'd go.
\textit{Duke.} I know you'd fain be gone. An Officer;
To Prison with her. Shall we thus permit
A blasting and a scandalous Breath to fall
On him so near us? This needs must be a Practice.
Who knew of our Intent, and coming hither?
\textit{Isab.} One that I would were here, Friar Lodowick.
\textit{Duke.} A ghostly Father belike:
Who knows that Lodowick?
\textit{Lucio.} My Lord, I know him; 'tis a medling Friar;
I do not like the Man; had he been Lay, my Lord,
For certain Words he spake against your Grace

\textit{N 3}
in your Retirement, I had swing’d him soundly.

Duke. Words against me? This is a good Friar belike,
And to set on this wretched Woman here
Against our Substitute! Let this Friar be found.

Lucio. But Ye sternight, my Lord, she and that Friar,
I say them at the Prison: A fawcy Friar,
A very feverly Fellow.

Peter. Blessed be your Royal Grace!
I have flood by, my Lord, and I have heard
Your Royal Ear abus’d. First hath this Woman
Most wrongfully accus’d your Substitute
Who is as free from touch or foil with her,
As he from one ungot.

Duke. We did believe no less.
Know you that Friar Lodowick which she speakes of?

Peter. I know him for a Man divine and holy;
Not feverly, nor a temporary Medler,
As he’s reported by this Gentleman;
And, on my Tryst, a Man that never yet
Did, as he vouches, misreport your Grace.

Lucio. My Lord, most villainously; believe it.

Peter. Well; he in time may come to clear himself;
But at this instant he is sick, my Lord,
Of a strange Fever; upon his meer Request,
Being come to knowledge, that there was Complaint
Intended against Lord Angelo, came I hither
To speak, as from his Mouth, what he doth know
Is true and false; and he with his Oath,
And all Probation, will make up full clear,
Whensoever he is convened. First, for this Woman,
To justify this worthy Nobleman.
So vulgarly and personally accus’d,
Her shall you hear disproved to her Eyes,
’Till she her self confess it.

Duke. Good Friar, let’s hear it.
Do you not smile at this. Lord Angelo?
O Heav’n! the vanity of wretched Fools!—
Give us some Seats; Come, Cousin Angelo,
In this I’ll be impartial: Be you Judge
Of your own Cause. Is this the Witness, Friar?
Enter Mariana veil’d.
First, let her shew her Face, and after speak.

Mari. Pardon, my Lord, I will not shew my Face
Until my Husband bid me.

Duke. What, are you marry’d?
Mari. No, my Lord.

Duke. Are you a Maid?
Mari. No, my Lord.

Duke. A Widow then?
Mari. Neither, my Lord.

Duke. Why, are you nothing then? Neither Maid, Widow, nor Wife?

Lucio. My Lord, she may be a Punk; for many of them are neither Maid, Widow nor Wife.

Duke. Silence that Fellow: I would he had some Cause to prattle for himself.

Lucio. Well, my Lord.

Mari. My Lord, I do confess I ne’er was marry’d,
And I confess besides, I am no Maid;
I have known my Husband, yet my Husband.
Knows not that ever he knew me.

Lucio. He was drunk then, my Lord; it can be no better.

Duke. For the benefit of Silence, would thou wert so too.

Lucio. Well, my Lord.

Duke. This is no Witness for Lord Angelo.

Mari. Now I come to’t, my Lord.

She that accuses him of Fornication,
In self-same manner doth accuse my Husband,
And charges him, my Lord, with such a time,
When I’ll depose I had him in mine Arms,
With all th’ Effect of Love.

Ang. Charges she more than me?

Mari. Not that I know.

Duke. No? you say your Husband; [To Mariana.

Mari. Why, just, my Lord, and that is Angelo,
Who thinks he knows, that he ne’er knew my Body;
But knows, he thinks, that he knows Isabet’s.

Ang. This is a strange Abuse: Let’s see thy Face.

Mari. My Husband bids me; now I will unmask.[Unveiling.

This is that Face, thou cruel Angelo,

N 4 Which
Which once thou sware'st was worth the looking on:
This is the Hand which, with a vow'd Contract,
Was fast belock'd in thine: This is the Body
That took away the Match from Isabel,
And did supply thee at thy Garden-house
In her imagin'd Person.

Duke. Know you this Woman?
Lucio. Carnally, she says.
Duke. Sirrah, no more.
Lucio. Enough, my Lord.

Ang. My Lord, I must confess I know this Woman;
And five Years since there was some speech of Marriage
Betwixt my self and her; which was broke off,
Partly for that her promised Proportions
Came short of Composition; but in chief,
For that her Reputation was dis-valued'
In Levity; Since which time, of five Years
I never spake with her, saw her, nor heard from her,
Upon my Faith and Honour.

Mari. Noble Prince,
As there comes Light from Heav'n, and Words from Breath,
As there is Sense in Truth, and Truth in Virtue,
I am affianced this Man's Wife as strongly
As Words could make up Vows: And, my good Lord,
But Tuesday Night last gone, in's Garden-house:
He knew me as a Wife; as this is true,
Let me in safety raise me from my Knees;
Or else for ever be confounded here:
A Marble Monument.

Ang. I did but smile 'till now.
Now, good my Lord, give me the Scope of Justice;
My Patience here is touch'd: I do perceive
These poor informal Women are no more
But Infruments of some more mightier Member
That sets them on. Let me have way, my Lord,
To find this Practice out.

Duke. Ay, with my Heart;
And punish them to your height of Pleasure.
Thou foolish Friar, and thou pernicious Woman,
Compact with her that's gone; thinkst thou thy Oaths
Tho'
Tho' they would swear down each particular Saint,
Were Testimonies 'gainst his Worth and Credit,
That's seal'd in Approbation? You, Lord Escalus,
Sit with my Cousin; lend him your kind Pains
To find out this Abuse, whence 'tis deriv'd.
There is another Friar that set them on;
Let him be sent for.

Peter. Would he were here, my Lord; for he indeed
Hath set the Women on to this Complaint:
Your Provost knows the Place where he abides;
And he may fetch him.

Duke. Go, do it instantly.
And you my noble and well warranted Cousin,
Whom it concerns to hear this Matter forth,
Do with your Injuries as seems you best
In any Chastisement: I for a while
Will leave you, but sir not you, 'till you have Well determin'd upon these Slanderers. [Exit.

Escal. My Lord, we'll do it thoroughly. Signior Lucio, did not you say, you knew that Friar Lodowick to be a dishonest Person?

Lucio. Cucullus non facit Monachum, honest in nothing but in his Cloaths, and one that hath spoke most villainous Speeches of the Duke.

Escal. We shall intreat you to abide here 'till he come, and inforce them against him; we shall find this Friar a notable Fellow.

Lucio. As any in Vienna, on my Word.

Escal. Call that same Isabel here once again: I would speak with her. Pray you, my Lord, give me leave to question; you shall see how I'll handle her.

Lucio. Not better than he, by her own Report.

Escal. Say you?

Lucio. Marry, Sir, I think if you handled her privately she should sooner confess; perchance publickly she'd be ashamed.

Enter Duke in the Friar's Habit, Provost and Isabella.

Escal. I will go darkly to work with her.

Lucio. That's the way; for Women are light at Midnight.

[Exit.
Measure for Measure.

Escal. Come on, Mistress: Here's a Gentlewoman denies all that you have said.

Lucio. My Lord, here comes the Rascal I spoke of, Here with the Provost.

Escal. In very good time: Speak not you to him 'till we call upon you.

Lucio. Mum.

Escal. Come, Sir, did you set these Women on to slander Lord Angelo? They have confess'd you did.

Duke. 'Tis false.

Escal. How? Know you where you are?

Duke. Reckon to your great Place; and let the Devil By sometime honour'd for his burning Throne.
Where is the Duke? 'Tis he should hear me speak.

Escal. The Duke's in us; and we will hear you speak.

Look you speak justly.

Duke. Boldly at least. But oh, poor Souls, Come you to seek the Lamb here of the Fox? Good-night to your Redrefs: Is the Duke gone? Then is your Cause too. The Duke's unjust,
Thus to rotort your manifest Appeall,
And put your Trial in the Villain's Mouth
Which here you come to accuse.

Lucio. This is the Rascal; this is he I spoke of.

Escal. Why, thou unrespectful and unhallow'd Friar,
Is't not enough thou hast suborn'd these Women To accuse this worthy Man, but in foul Mouth,
And in the witness of his proper Ear,
To call him Villain; and then to glance from him To th' Duke himself; to tax him with Injustice?
Take him hence; to th' Rack with him: Well touze you Joint by Joint, but we will know his Purpose: What? Unjust?

Duke. Be not so hot; the Duke dare
No more stretch this Finger of mine, than he Dare rack his own: His Subject am I not,
Nor here Provincial; my Business in this State Made me a Looker on here in Vienna;
Where I have seen Corruption boil and bubble,
Till it o'er-run the Stew: Laws for all Faults,
Measur for Measur. 275.

But Faults so countenanc'd, that the strong Statutes,
Stand like the Forfeits in a Barber's Shop,
As much in Mock as Mark.

Escal. Slander to th' State!

Away with him to Prison.

Ang. What can you vouch against him, Signior Lucio?

Is this the Man that you did tell us of?

Lucio. 'Tis he, my Lord. Come hither, Goodman Baldpate: Do you know me?

Lucio. Oh, did you so? And do you remember what you said of the Duke?

Duke. Most notably, Sir.

Lucio. Do you so, Sir? And was the Duke a Flesh-monger, a Fool, and a Coward, as you then reported him, to be?

Duke. You must, Sir, change Persons with me ere you make that my Report: You indeed spoke so of him, and much more, much worse.

Lucio. Oh thou damnable Fellow! did not I pluck thee by the Nose for thy Speeches?

Duke. I protest, I love the Duke as I love my self.

Ang. Hark how the Villain would close now after his treasonable Abuses.

Escal. Such a Fellow is not to be talk'd with: Away with him to Prison: Where is the Proc oft? Away with him to Prison; lay Bolts enough upon him; let him speak no more; away with those Giglets too, and with the other confederate Companion.

Duke. Stay, Sir, lay a while.

Lucio. Come Sir, come Sir, come Sir; foh, Sir; why, you bald-pated lying Rascal; you must be hooded, must you?

Show your Knave's Visage, with a Pox to you; show your Sheep-biting Face, and be hang'd an Hour: Will't not off?

[Pulls off the Friar's Hood, and discovers the Duke.

Duke. Thou art the first Knave that e'er mad'rt a Duke.

First Proc oft, let me bail these gentle three.

Socak not away, Sir; for the Friar and you Must have a word anon: Lay hold on him. Lucio.
Lucio. This may prove worse than hanging.
Duke. What you have spoke; I pardon; sit you down:
[To Escalus.

We'll borrow place of him; Sir, by your Leave:
Haft thou or Word, or Wit, or Impudence,
That yet can do thee Office? If thou haft,
Rely upon it 'till my Tale be heard,
And hold no longer out.

Ang. Oh my dread Lord,
I should be guiltier than my Guiltiness;
To think I can be undiscernable,
When I perceive your Grace, like Power divine,
Hath look'd upon my Passes: Then, good Prince,
No longer Session hold upon my Shame;
But let my Trial be mine own Confeffion:
Immediate Sentence then, and frequent Death,
Is all the Grace I beg.

*Duke. Come hither, Mariana:
Say; waft thou ever contracted to this Woman?

Ang. I was, my Lord.

Duke. Go take her hence, and marry her instantly,

Do you the Office, Friar; which confummate,
Return him here again: Go with him, Provost.

[Exeunt Angelo, Mariana, and Provost.

Ecal. My Lord, I am more amaz'd at his Dishonour,

Than at the strangeenes of it.

Duke. Come hither, Isabel;

Your Friar is now your Prince: As I was then
Advertising, and holy to your Business,
Not changing Heart with Habit, I am still Attornied at your Service.

*Isab. Oh give me Pardon,

That I, your Vassal, have employ'd and pain'd
Your unknown Sovereignty.

Duke. You are pardon'd, Isabel:

And now, dear Maid, be you as free to us.

Your Brother's Death, I know, sits at your Heart;
And you may marvel why I obscur'd my self,
Labouring to save his Life; and would not rather
Make rash Remonstrance of my hidden Power,
Than let him be so lost: O most kind Maid,
It was the swift Celerity of his Death,
Which I did think with slower foot came on,
That brain’d my Purpose: But Peace be with him:
That Life is better Life, past fearing Death,
Than that which lives to Fear: Make it your Comfort,
So happy is your Brother.

Enter Angelo, Mariana, Peter, and Provost.

Isab. I do, my Lord.

Duke. For this new marry’d Man, approaching here,
Whose sullied Imagination yet hath wrong’d
Your well-defended Honour; you must pardon
For Mariana’s Sake: But as he adjudg’d your Brother
Being Criminal, in double violation
Of sacred Chastity, and of Promise-breach,
Thereon dependant for your Brother’s Life,
The very Mercy of the Law cries out
Most audible, even from his proper Tongue,
And Angelo for Claudio; Death for Death.
Haste still pays haste, and leisure answers leisure;
Like doth quit like, and Measure still for Measure.
Then, Angelo, thy Faults are manifested;
Which tho’ thou wouldst deny; denies thee vantage.
We do condemn thee to the very Block
Where Claudio stoop’d to Death; and with like haste,
Away with him.

Mari. Oh my most gracious Lord,
I hope you will not mock me with a Husband?

Duke. It is your Husband mock’d you with a Husband.
Concerning to the Safeguard of your Honour,
I thought your Marriage fit; else Imputation,
For that he knew you, might reproach your Life,
And chock your good to come: For his Possessions,
Altho’ by Confiscation they are ours,
We do enstate, and Widow you withal,
To buy you a better Husband.

Mari. Oh my dear Lord,
I crave no other, nor no better Man.

Duke. Never crave him; we are definitive.

Mari. Gentle, my Leige.
Duke. You do but lose your Labour:
Away with him to Death. Now, Sir, to you.

Mari. Oh my good Lord. Sweet Isabel, take my Part;
Lend me your Knees, and all my Life to come
I'll lend you, all my Life to do you Service.

Duke. Against all Sense you do importune her;
Should she kneel down, in mercy of this Fact,
Her Brother's Ghost his paved Bed would break,
And take her hence in Horror.

Mari. Isabel.

Isabel, do yet but kneel by me,
Hold up your Hands, say nothing; I'll speak all,
They say, best Men are moulded out of Faults;
And, for the most, become much more the better
For being a little bad: So may my Husband.
Oh Isabel; will you not lend a Knee?

Duke. He dies for Claudio's Death.

Ishac. Most bounteous Sir,

Look, if it please you, on this Man condemn'd,
As if my Brother liv'd: I partly think,
A due Sincerity govern'd his Deeds,
'Till he did look on me: Since it is so,
Let him not die. My Brother had but Justice,
In that he did the thing for which he dy'd.
For Angelo, his Act did not o'er-take his bad Intent,
And must be bury'd but as an Intent
That perish'd by the way: Thoughts are no Subjects:
Intents, but meerly Thoughts.

Mari. Meery, my Lord.

Duke. Your Suit's unprofitable; stand up, I say:
I have bethought me of another Fault.

Proveft, how came it Claudio was beheaded
At an unvious Hour?

Prove. It was commanded so.

Duke. Had you a special Warrant for the Deed?

Prove. No, my good Lord; it was by private Message;
Duke. For which I do discharge you of your Office:
Give up your Keys.

Prove. Pardon me, noble Lord.
I thought it was a Fault, but knew it not;
Yet did repent me, after more Advice;
For Testimony whereof, one in the Prison,
That should by private Order else have dy'd,
I have reserv'd alive.

Duke. What's he?

Prov. His Name is Barnardine.

Duke. I would thou hadst done so by Claudio:
Go fetch him hither; let me look upon him.

Escal. I am sorry one so learned, and so wise
As you, Lord Angelo, have still appear'd,
Should slip so grossly, both in the heat of Blood,
And lack of temper'd Judgment afterward.

Ang. I am sorry that such Sorrow I procure;
And so deep sticks it in my penitent Heart,
That I crave Death more willingly than Mercy:
'Tis my def'ring, and I do intreat it.

Enter Provost, Barnardine, Claudio, and Julietta.

Duke. Which is that Barnardine?

Prov. This my Lord!

Duke. There was a Friar told me of this Man:
Sirrah thou art said to have a stubborn Soul
That apprehends no further than this World,
And squar'lt thy Life accordingly: Thou'rt condemn'd.
But for those earthly Faults, I quit them all:
I pray thee take this Mercy to provide
For better times to come: Friar, advise him;
I leave him to your Hand. What muffled Fellow's that?

Prov. This is another Prisoner that I sav'd,
Who should have dy'd when Claudio loft his Head,
As like almost to Claudio as himself.

Duke. If he be like your Brother, for his sake
Is he pardon'd; and for your lovely sake,
Give me your Hand, and say you will be mine,
He is my Brother too; but fitter time for that.
By this Lord Angelo perceivcs he's safe;
Methinks I see a quickning in his Eye.

Well. Angelo, your Evil quits you well;
Look that you love your Wife; her Worth worth yours.
I find an apt Remission in my self,
And yet here's one in place I cannot pardon.

You, Sirrah, that knew me for a Fool, a Coward, [To Lucio.

One
One all of Luxury, an As, a Mad-man;
Wherein have I so deserv'd of you,
That you extol me thus?

Lucio. 'Faith, my Lord, I spoke it but according to the Trick; if you will hang me for it you may, but I had rather it would please you, I might be whipt.

Proclaim it, Provoest, round about the City;
If any Woman wrong'd by this lewd Fellow,
As I have heard him swear himself, there's one
Whom he begot with Child, let her appear,
And he shall marry her; the Nuptial finish'd,
Let him be whip'd and hang'd.

Lucio. I beseech your Highness, do not marry me to a Whore: Your Highness said even now, I made you a Duke; good my Lord, do not recompence me in making me a Cuckold.

Duke. Upon mine Honour thou shalt marry her:
Thy Slanders I forgive, and therewithal
Remit thy other Forfeits; take him to Prison:
And see our Pleasure herein executed.

Lucio. Marrying a Punk, my Lord, is pressing to Death,
Whipping and hanging.

Duke. Slandering a Prince deserves it.
She, Claudio, that you wrong'd, look you restore.
Joy to you, Mariana; love her Angelo:
I have confess'd her, and I know her Virtue.
Thanks, good Friend Ercalus, for thy much Goodness:
There's more behind that is more grateful.
Thanks, Provoest, for thy Care and Secresie;
We shall imploy thee in a worthier Place:
Forgive him, Angelo, that brought you home
The Head of Roguzine for Claudio's;
Th' Offence pardons it self. Dear Isabel,
I have a Motion much imports your good,
Where-to if you'll a willing Ear incline,
What's mine is yours, and what is yours is mine:
So bring us to our Palace, where we'll show
What's yet behind that's meet you all should know. [Exeunt.

Comedy of Errors.

ACT I. SCENE I.

Enter the Duke of Ephesus, Ægeon, Jailer, and other Attendants.

ÆGEON.

Proceed, Salinus, to procure my Fall,
And by the doom of Death end Woes
and all.

Duke. Merchant of Syracuse, plead no more;
I am not partial to infringe our Laws:
The Enmity and Discord which of late
Sprung from the rancorous Outrage of your Duke,
To Merchants, our well-dealing Countrymen,
Who wanting Gilders to redeem their Lives,
Have seal'd his rigorous Statutes with their Bloods,
Excludes all Pity from our threatening Looks.
For, since the mortal and intestine Jars
'Twixt thy seditious Countrymen and us,
It hath in solemn Synods been decreed,
Both by the Syracusians and our selves,
T'admit no Traffick to our adverse Towns.
Nay, more; if any born at Ephesus
Be seen at any Syracusan Marts and Fairs:

Again,
Again, if any Syracusan born
Come to the Bay of Ethesus, he dies;
His Goods confiscate to the Duke's dispose,
Unles a thousand Marks be levied
To quit the Penalty, and ransom him.
Thy Substance, valu'd at the highest rate,
Cannot amount unto a hundred Marks;
Therefore by Law thou art condemn'd to die. [done,

Ægæn. Yet this my Comfort, when your Words are My Woes end likewise with the Evening Sun.

Duke. Well, Syracusan, say in brief the Cause,
Why thou departedst from thy native Home;
And for what Cause thou cam'st to Ethesus.

Ægæn. A heavier Task could not have been impos'd,
Than I to speak my Grief unspeakable:
Yet that the World may witness, that my End
Was wrought by Nature, not by vile Offence,
I'll utter what my Sorrow gives me leave.

In Syracusa was I born, and wed
Unto a Woman, happy but for me;
And by me too, had not our Hap been bad:
With her I liv'd in Joy, our Wealth increas'd.

By prosperous Voyages I often made
To Epidamnium, 'till my Factor's Death;
And he great store of Goods at random leaving;
Drew me from kind Embracements of my Spouse;
From whom my Absence was not six Months old,
Before her self, almost at fainting under
The pleasing Punishment that Women bear,
Had made Provision for her following me,
And soon and safe arrived where I was.

There she had not been long, but she became
A joyful Mother of two goodly Sons;
And, which was strange, the one so like the other,
As could not be distinguish'd but by Names.
That very Hour, and in the self-same Inn,
A poor mean Woman was delivered
Of such a burthen, Male-twins both alike:
Those, for their Parents were exceeding poor,
I bought, and brought up to attend my Sons.
The Comedy of Errors. 285

My Wife, not meanly proud of two such Boys,
Made daily Motions for our Home return:
Unwilling I agreed; alas! too soon we came aboard.
A League from Epidamnium had we sail'd,
Before the always wind-obeying Deep
Gave any tragick Instance of our Harm;
But longer did we not retain much Hope:
For what obscured Light the Heav'ns did grant,
Did but convey unto our fearful Minds
A doubtful warrant of immediate Death;
Which tho' my self would gladly have embrac'd,
Yet the incessant weeping of my Wife,
Weeping before for what she knew must come,
And piteous Plainings of the pretty Babes,
That mourn'd for Fashion, ignorant what to fear,
Forc'd me to seek Delays for them and me:
And this it was, for other Means was none.
The Sailors fought for Safety by our Boat,
And left the Ship then sinking-ripe to us;
My Wife, more careful for the Elder born,
Had fasten'd him unto a small spare Mast,
Such as Sea-faring Men provide for Storms;
To him one of the other Twins was bound,
Whilst I had been like heedful of the other.
The Children thus dispos'd, my Wife and I,
Fixing our Eyes on whom our Care was fixt,
Fasten'd our selves at either end the Ship,
And floating straight, obedient to the Stream,
Were carry'd towards Corinth, as we thought.
At length the Sun gazing upon the Earth,
Disperst those Vapours that offended us;
And by the benefit of his wish'd Light,
The Seas wax calm, and we discovered
Two Ships from far making amain to us,
Of Corinth that, of Epidaurus this;
But ere they came—oh let me say no more;
Gather the Sequel by that went before.

Duke. Nay, forward old Man, do not break off so;
For we may pity, tho' not pardon thee.

Ægeon.
Ægeon. Oh had the Gods done so, I had not now
Worthily term'd them merciless to us;
For ere the Ships could meet by twice five Leagues,
We were encountered by a mighty Rock;
Which being violently born up upon,
Our helpless Ship was splitted in the midst:
So that in this unjust Divorce of us
Fortune had left to both of us alike,
What to delight in, what to sorrow for.
Her part, poor Soul, seeming as burdened
With lesser Weight, but not with lesser Wo,
Was carry'd with more speed before the Wind,
And in our sight they three were taken up
By Fishermen of Corinth, as we thought.
At length another Ship had seiz'd on us;
And knowing whom it was their hap to save,
Gave helpful welcome to their shipwrecked Guests,
And would have rest the Fishers of their Prey,
Had not their Bark been very slow for Sail;
And therefore homeward did they bend their Course;
Thus have you heard me fever'd from my Blues,
That by Misfortunes was my Life prolong'd,
To tell sad Stories of my own Mishaps.

Duke. And for the fakes of them thou sorrow'st for,
Do me the Favour to dilate the full,
What hath befall'n of them and thee 'till now.
Ægeon. My youngest Boy, and yet my eldest Care,
At eighteen Years became inquisitive
After his Brother, and importun'd me,
That his Attendant, for his Cafè was like,
Reft of his Brother, but retain'd his Name,
Might bear him Company in the quest of him:
Whom whilst I labour'd of a Love to see,
I hazarded the Loss of whom I lov'd.
Five Summers have I spent in farthest Greece,
Roaming clean through the Bounds of Asia,
And coasting homeward, came to Ephesus:
Hopeless to find, yet loath to leave unseemly,
Or that, or any Place that harbours Men.
But here must end the Story of my Life;

And
And happy were I in my timely Death,
Could all my Travels warrant me they live.

_Duke._ Helpless _Ægeon_, whom the Fates have mark:
To bear the extremity of a dire Misshap;
Now trust me, were it not against our Laws,
Against my Crown my Oath, my Dignity,
Which Princes would, they may not disdain,
My Soul should sue as Advocate for thee.
But thou dost art adjudged to the Death,
And passed Sentence may not be recall’d,
But to our Honour’s great Disparagement,
Yet will I favour thee in what I can.
Therefore, Merchant, I limit thee this Day
To seek thy Life by beneficial Help:
Try all the Friends thou hast in Ephesus,
Beg thou, or borrow, to make up the Sum,
And live; if not, then thou art doom’d to die:
Jailer, take him to thy Custody.

_Fail._ I will, my Lord.

_Ægeon._ Helpless and helpless doth _Ægeon_ wend,
But to procrastinate his lifeless End.

[Exit.

_Enter Antipholis of Syracuse, a Merchant, and Dromio._

_Mer._ Therefore give out, your are of Epidamnium.
Left that your Goods too soon be confiscate.
This very Day a Syracusian Merchant
Is apprehended for Arrival here;
And not being able to buy out his Life,
According to the Statute of the Town,
Dies ere the weary Sun sets in the West:
There is your Mony that I had to keep.

_Ant._ Go bear it to the Censor, where we hoist,
And stay there, _Dromio_. ’Till I come to thee:
’Till that I’ll view the Manners of the Town,
Within this Hour it will be Dinner-time,
Peruse the Traders, gaze upon the Buildings,
And then return and sleep within mine Inn;
For with long Travel I am stiff and weary.
Get thee away.

_Dro._ Many a Man would take you at your Word,
And go indeed, having so good a Means. [Exit Dromio.

_Ant._
Ant. A maie iust, sir, that very eft,
When I am dial with care and mischief,
Lightens my humour with his merry jolls.
What, will you walk with me about the town,
And then go to the inn and dine with me?

Mer. I am invited. Sir, to certain merchants,
Of whom I hope to make much benefit:
I crave your pardon. Soon at five a clock,
Please you, I will meet with you upon the mart,
And afterward comfort you till bed-time:
My present business calls me from you now.

Ant. Farewell till then; I will go lose my self,
And wander up and down to view the city.

Mer. Sir, I commend you to your own content.

[Exit Mer.

Ant. He that commends me to my own content,
Commends me to the thing I cannot get.
I to the world am like a drop of water,
That in the ocean seeks another drop,
Who falling there to find his fellow forth,
Unseen inquisitive, confounds himself:
So I, to find a mother and a brother,
In quest of them, unhappy, lose my self.

Enter Dromio of Ephesus.

Here comes the almanack of my true date.
What now? how chance thou art return'd so soon?

E. Dro. Return'd so soon! rather approach'd too late:
The capon burns, the pig falls from the spit,
The clock has stricken twelve upon the bell;
My mistress made it one upon my cheek;
She is so hot because the meat is cold;
The meat is cold because you come not home;
You come not home because you have no stomach;
You have no stomach having broke your fast;
But we that know what 'tis to fast and pray,
Are penitent for your default to day.

Ant. Stop in your wind, sir; tell me this I pray,
Where you have left the mony that I gave you?

E. Dro. Oh, six pence that I had a wednesday last,
To pay the sadler for my mistress crupper?
The Comedy of Errors. 289

The Sadler had it, Sir; I kept it not.

Ant. I am not in a sportive Humour now;
Tell me and dally not, where is the Mony?
We being Strangers here, how dar'ft thou trust
So great a Charge from thine own Custody?

E. Dro. I pray you Jeff, Sir, as you sit at Dinner:
I from my Mistress come to you in Post,
If I return, I shall be Post indeed;
For she will score your Fault upon my Pate:
Methinks your Maw, like mine, should be your Cook;
And strike you home without a Messenger.

Ant. Come Dromio, come, these Jeffs are out of Season;
Reserve them 'till a merrier Hour than this:
Where is the Gold I gave in Charge to thee?

E. Dro. To me, Sir? Why, you gave no Gold to me.

Ant. Come on, Sir Knave, have done your foolishness,
And tell me how thou hast dispos'd thy Charge?

E. Dro. My Charge was but to fetch you from the Mart
Home to your House, the Phænix, Sir, to Dinner;
My Mistress and her Sister stay for you.

Ant. Now as I am a Christian answer me,
In what safe Place you have bestow'd my Mony;
Or I shall break that merry Sconce of yours,
That stands on Tricks when I am undispos'd:
Where is the thousand Marks thou hadst of me?

E. Dro. I have some Marks of yours, upon my Pate;
Some of my Mistress's Marks upon my Shoulders;
But not a thousand Marks between you both.
If I should pay your Worship thöse again,
Perchance you will not bear them patiently.

Ant. Thy Mistress's Marks? What Mistress, Slave, hast thou?

E. Dro. Your Worship's Wife, my Mistress at the Phænix;
She that doth fast 'till you come home to Dinner;
And prays that you will bie you home to Dinner.

Ant. What, wilt thou flout me thus unto my Face,
Being forbid? There take you that, Sir Knave.

E. Dro. What mean you, Sir? For God's sake hold your Nay, and you will not, Sir, I'll take my Heels. [Hands;
[Exit Dromio.

VOL. I. . O

Ant.
The Comedy of Errors.

Ant. Upon my Life, by some Device or other,
The Villain is o'er-wrought of all my Mony:
They say, this Town is full of Couzenage;
As nimble Juglers, that deceive the Eye;
Dark-working Sorcerers, that change the Mind;
Soul-killing Witches, that deform the Body;
Disguised Cheaters, prating Mountebanks,
And many such like Liberties of Sin:
If it prove so, I will be gone the sooner.
I'll to the Centaur go to seek this Slave;
I greatly fear my Mony is not safe. [Exit.

ACT II. SCENE I.

Enter Adriana and Luciana.

Adr. Neither my Husband, nor the Slave return'd,
That in such haste I sent to seek his Master?
Sure, Luciana, it is two a Clock.

Luc. Perhaps some Merchant hath invited him,
And from the Mart he's somewhere gone to Dinner:
Good Sister, let us dine, and never fret.
A Man is Master of his Liberty:
Time is their Master, and when they see time,
They'll go or come; if so, be patient, Sister.

Adr. Why should their Liberty than ours be more?

Luc. Because their Business still lies out a-door.

Adr. Look, when I serve him so, he takes it ill.

Luc. Oh, know he is the Bridle of your Will.

Adr. There's none but Asses will be bridled so.

Luc. Why, head strong Liberty is last with Wo.

There's nothing situate under Heav'n's Eye,
But hath its bound in Earth, in Sea, and Sky:
The Beasts, the Fishes, and the winged Fowls,
Are their Master's Subjects, and at their Controuls:

Man more divine, the Master of all these,
Lord of the wide World, and wide watry Seas,
Indul'd with intellectual Sense and Soul.
Of more Preheminence than Fish and Fowl.
Are Masters to their Females, and their Lords:
Then let your Will attend on their Accords.

Adr. This Servitude makes you to keep unwed.

Luc. Not this, but Troubles of the Marriage-bed.

Adr. But were you wedded, you would bear some Sway.

Luc. Ere I learn to Love, I’ll prattelse to Obey.

Adr. How if your Husband starts some other where?

Luc. ’Till he comes home again I would forbear.

Adr. Patience unmov’d, no marvel tho’ the pause;
They can be meek that have no other Cause:
A wretched Soul bruised with Adversity,
We bid be quiet when we hear it cry;
But were we burden’d with like weight of Pain,
As much, or more we should our selves complain;
So thou that hast no unkind Mate to grieve thee,
With urging helpless Patience wouldst relieve me:
But if thou live to see like right bereft,
This fool-begg’d Patience in thee will be left.

Luc. Well, I will marry one day but to try;
Here comes your Man, now is your Husband nigh,

Enter Dromio Eph.

Adr. Say, is your tardy Master now at hand?

E. Dro. Nay, he’s at two Hands with me, and that my two Ears can witness.

Adr. Say, didst thou speak with him? Know’st thou his Mind?

E. Dro. Ay, ay, he told his Mind upon mine Ear,
Befriended his Hand, I scarce could understand it.

Luc. Spake he so doubtfully, thou couldst not feel his Meaning?

E. Dro. Nay, he struck so plainly, I could too well feel his Blows; and withal so doubtfully, that I could scarce understand them.

Adr. But say, I prithee, is he coming home?
It seems he hath great Care to place his Wife.

E. Dro. Why, Mistrefs sure my Master is Horn-mad.

Adr. Horn-mad, thou Villain?

E. Dro. I mean not Cuckold-mad;
But sure he is stark mad:
When I desir’d him to come home to Dinner,
He ask'd me for a thousand Marks in Gold:
*Tis Dinner-time, quoth I; my Gold, quoth he:
Your Meat doth burn, quoth I; my Gold, quoth he:
Will you come, quoth I? My Gold, quoth he:
Where is the Thousand Marks I gave thee, Villain?
The Pig, quoth I, is burn'd; my Gold, quoth he.
My Mistress, Sir, quoth I; hang up thy Mistress;
I know not thy Mistress; out on thy Mistress:

Luc. Quoth who?

E. Dro. Quoth my Master: I know, quoth he, no House, no Wife, no Mistress; so that my Errand, due unto my Tongue, I thank him, I bare home upon my Shoulders:
For in conclusion, he did beat me there.

Adr. Go back again, thou Slave, and fetch him home.
E. Dro. Go back again, and be new beaten home?

For God's sake send some other Messenger.

Adr. Back, Slave, or I will break thy Pate acros.
E. Dro. And he will bless that Cross with other beating:

Between you I shall have a holy Head.

Adr. Hence, prating Peasant, fetch thy Master home.
E. Dro. Am I so round with you as you with me,
That like a Foot-ball you do spurn me thus?
You spurn me hence, and he will spurn me hither:
If I las't in this Service, you must cease me in Leather.

[Exit.

Luc. Fie, how Impatience lowreth in your Face!

Adr. His Company must do his Minions grace,

Whilst I at home starve for a merry Look:
Hath homely Age th'alluring Beau'y took
From my poor Cheek? Then he hath wasted it.
Are my Discourses dull? Barren my Wit;
If voluble and sharp Discourse be mar'td,
Unkindness blots it more than Marble hard.
Do their gay Veiments his Affections bait?
That's not my Fault; he's Master of my State.
What Ruins are in me that can be found,
By him not ruin'd? Then is he the ground
Of my Defeatures. My decayed fair,
A sunny Look of his would soon repair.

But
But, too unruly Deer, he breaks the Pale,
And feeds from home; poor I am but his Stale.

Luc. Self-harming Jealousie; fie, beat it hence.

Adr. Unfeeling Fools can with such Wrongs dispense;
I know his Eye doth Homage other-where;
Or else what lets it but he would be here?
Sister, you know he promis’d me a Chain,
Would that alone, alone he would detain,
So he would keep fair quarter with his Bed.
I see the Jewel best enameled
Will lose his Beauty; yet the Gold bides still
That others touch, and often touching will:
Since that my Beauty cannot please his Eye,
I’ll weep, what’s left, away, and weeping die.

Luc. How many fond Fools serve mad Jealousie?

[Exeunt.

Enter Antipholis of Syracuse.

Ant. The Gold I gave to Dromio is laid up
Safe at the Centaur, and the heedful Slave
Is wander’d forth in care to seek me out.
By computation, and mine Host’s report,
I could not speak with Dromio, since at first
I sent him from the Mart. See here he comes.

Enter Dromio of Syracuse.

How now, Sir? is your merry Humour alter’d?
As you love Strokes, so jest with me again.
You know no Centaur? You receiv’d no Gold?
Your Mistres s ent to have me home to Dinner?
My House was at the Phoenix? Wait thou mad,
Thou thus so madly thou didst answer me?

S. Dro. What Answer, Sir? When spoke I such a Word?

Ant. Even now, even here, not half an Hour since.

S. Dro. I did not see you since you sent me hence
Home to the Centaur, with the Gold you gave me.

Ant. Villain, thou didst deny the Gold’s Receipt,
And told’st me of a Mistres s, and a Dinner;
For which I hope thou felt’st I was displeas’d.

S. Dro. I am glad to see you in this merry Vein:
What means this Jest, I pray you, Master, tell me?

Ant. Yea, dost thou jeer and flout me in the Teeth?

Think’st
Think’st thou I jeft? Hold, take thou that, and that,

[Beats Dro.]

S. Dro. Hold, Sir, for God’s sake, now your Jeft is Earnest;
Upon what Bargain do you give it me?

Ant. Because that I familiarly sometimes
Do use you for my Fool, and chat with you,
Your Sawciness will jeft upon my Love,
And make a Common of my serious Hours.
When the Sun shines let foolish Gnats make sport,
But creep in Crannies when he hides his Beams:
If you will jeft with me, know my Aspect,
And fashion your Demeanor to my Looks;
Or I will beat this Method in your Sconce.

E. Dro. Sconce, call you it? So you would leave battering, I had rather have it a Head; an you use these Blows long, I must get a Sconce for my Head, and in-sconce it too, or else I shall fetch my Wit in my Shoulders: But I pray, Sir, why am I beaten?

Ant. Doft thou not know?

S. Dro. Nothing, Sir, but that I am beaten.

Ant. Shall I tell you why?

S. Dro. Ay, Sir, and wherefore; for they say, every why hath a wherefore.

Ant. Why, first for flouting me; and then wherefore, for urging it the second time to me.

S. Dro. Was there ever any Man thus beaten out of Season,
When in the Why and Wherefore is neither Rhime nor Reason?

Well, Sir, I thank you.

Ant. Thank me, Sir, for what?

S. Dro. Marry Sir, for this something that you gave me for nothing.

Ant. I’ll make you amends next, to give you nothing for something. But say, Sir, is it Dinner-time?

S. Dro. No, Sir; I think the Meat wants that I have.

Ant. In good time, Sir, what’s that?

S. Dro. Basting.

Ant. Well, Sir, then ’twill be dry.

S. Dro. If it be, Sir, I pray you eat not of it.

Ant. Your Reason?

S. Dro.
S. Dro. Left it make you Cholerick, and purchase me another dry bafing.
   Ant. Well, Sir, learn to jfeit in good time; there's a time for all things.
   S. Dro. I durft have deny'd that, before you were so chol-erick.
   Ant. By what Rule, Sir?
   S. Dro. Marry, Sir, by a Rule as plain as the plain bald Pate of Father Time himself.
   Ant. Let's hear it.
   S. Dro. There's no time for a Man to recover his Hair that grows bald by Nature.
   Ant. May he not do it by Fine and Recovery?
   S. Dro. Yes, to pay a Fine for a Peruke, and recover the lost Hair of another Man.
   Ant. Why, is Time such a niggard of Hair, being, as it is, so plentiful an Excrement?
   S. Dro. Because it is a Blessing that he bestows on Beasts; and what he hath scanted them in Hair, he hath given them in Wit.
   Ant. Why, but there's many a Man hath more Hair than Wit.
   S. Dro. Not a Man of those but he hath the Wit to lose his Hair.
   Ant. Why, thou didft conclude hairy Men plain Dealers without Wit.
   S. Dro. The plainer Dealer, the sooner lost; yet he loseth it in a kind of Jollity.
   Ant. For what Reason?
   S. Dro. For two, and found ones too.
   Ant. Nay, not found ones, I pray you.
   S. Dro. Sure ones then.
   Ant. Nay, not sure in a thing falling.
   S. Dro. Certain ones then.
   Ant. Name them.
   S. Dro. The one to save the Mony that he spends in trim-ming; the other, that at Dinner they should not drop in his Porridge.
   Ant. You would all this time have prov'd, there is no time for all things.
S. Dro. Marry, and did, Sir; namely, no time to recover Hair lost by Nature.

Ant. But your Reason was not substantial, why there is no time to recover.

S. Dro. Thus I mend it: Time himself is bald, and therefore to the World's end, will have bald Followers.

Ant. I knew, 'twould be a bald Conclusion; but soft, who waits us yonder?

Enter Adriana and Luciana.

Adr. Ay, ay Antipholis, look strange and frown;
Some other Mistress hath some sweet Aspects.
I am not Adriana, nor thy Wife.
The time was once, when thou unreg'd wouldst vow,
That never Words were Music to thine Ear,
That never Object pleasing in thine Eye,
That never Touch well welcome to thy Hand,
That never Meat sweet-favour'd in thy Table,
Unless I spake, or look'd, or touch'd, or carv'd to thee.

How comes it now, my Husband, oh how comes it,
That thou art thus estranged from thy self?
Thy self, I call it, being strange to me:
That unadividable Incorporate
Am better than thy dear Self's better Part.
Ah do not tear away thy self from me;
For know, my Love, as ease may't thou fall
A Drop of Water in the breaking Gulf,
And take unmingled thence that Drop again,
Without addition or diminishing,
As take from me thy self, and not me too.
How dearly would it touch thee to the quick,
Shouldst thou but hear I were licentious?
And that this Body consecrate to thee,
By Ruffian Luft should be contaminate?
Wouldst thou not spit at me, and spurn at me.
And hurl the Name of Husband in my Face,
And tear the stain'd Skin of my Harlot-brow,
And from my false Hand cut the Wedding-Ring,
And break it with a deep-divorcing Vow?
I know thou canst; and therefore see thou do it.
I am possi'd with an adulterate Blot;

My
The Comedy of Errors

My Blood is mingled with the Crime of Luft:
For if we two be one, and thou play false,
I do digest the Poison of my Flesh,
Being strumpeted by the Contagion.
Keep then fair League and Truce with thy true Bed;
I live disdain'd, and thou dishonoured.

Ant. Plead you to me, fair Dame? I know you not:
In Ephesus I am but two Hours old,
As strange unto your Town as to your Talk,
Who every Word by all my Wit being scann'd,
Wants Wit in all one Word to understand.

Luc. Fie, Brother, how the World is chang'd with you;
When were you wont to use my Sister thus?
She sent for you by Dromio home to Dinner.

Ant. By Dromio?
S. Dro. By me?

Ardr. By thee; and thus thou diest return from him;
That he did buffet thee, and in his Blows,
Deny'd my House for his, me for his Wife.

Ant. Did you converse, Sir, with this Gentlewoman?
What is the course and drift of your Compact?
S. Dro. I, Sir? I never saw her 'till this time.

Ant. Villain, thou liest; for even her very Words
Didst thou deliver to me on the Mart.

S. Dro. I never spake with her in all my Life.

Ant. How can thee thus then call us by our Names,
Unles it be by Inspiration?

Ardr. How ill agrees it with your Gravity,
To counterfeit thus grosly with your Slave,
Abetting him to thwart me in my Mood?
By it my Wrong, you are from me exempt.
But wrong not that Wrong with a more Contempt!
Come, I will fasten on this Sleeve of thine;
Thou art an Elm, my Husband, I a Vine:
Whose Weakness marry'd to thy stronger State,
Makes me with thy Strength to communicate;
If ough possesse thee from me, it is Dross,
Usurping Ivy, Brier, or idle Moss,
Who all for want of pruning, with Intrusion,
Infect thy Sap, and live on thy Confusion.

O 5

Ant.
The Comedy of Errors.

Ant. To me she speaks; she moves me for her Theam; What, was I marry'd to her in my Dream? Or sleep I now, and think I hear all this? What Error drives our Eyes and Ears amiss? Until I know this sure Uncertainty, I'll entertain the favour'd Fallacy.

Luc. Dromio, go bid the Servants spread for Dinner.
S. Dro. Oh for my Beads, I crosf me for a Sinner.
This is the Fairy Land: Oh Spight of Spights; We talk with Goblins, Owls, and Elves Sprights; If we obey them not, this will ensue, They'll suck our Breath, or pinch us black and blue.

Luc. Why prat'ft thou to thy self,
Dromio, thou Dromio. Snail, thou Slug, thou Sot?
S. Dro. I am transformed, Master, am I not?
Ant. I think thou art in Mind, and so am I.
S. Dro. Nay Master, both in Mind and in my Shape.
Ant. Thou haft thine own Form.
S. Dro. No; I am an Ape.
Luc. If thou art chang'd to ought, 'tis to an Aes.
S. Dro. 'Tis true, she rides me, and I long for Grass.
'Tis so. I am an Aes; else it could never be,
But I should know her as well as she knows me.

Ard. Come, come, no longer will I be a Fool,
To put the Finger in the Eye and weep,
Whiff Man and Master laughs my Woes to scorn.
Come, Sir. to Dinner; Dromio, keep the Gate;
Husband, I'll dine above with you to Day,
And shrieve you of a thousand idle Pranks;
Sirrah, if any ask you for your Master,
Say, he dines forth, and let no Creature enter:
Come, Sister; Dromio, play the Porter well.
Ant. Am I in Earth, in Heaven, or in Hell?
Sleeping or waking, mad or well advis'd?
Known unto thefe, and to my self disguis'd?
I'll say as they say, and perfevere fo;
And in this Mift at all Adventures go.
S. Dro. Master, shall I be Porter at the Gate?
Ard. Ay, and let none enter, let I break your Pate.
Luc. Come, come, Antipholis, we dine too late. [Exit.]

ACT
Enter Antipholis of Ephesus, Dromio of Ephesus, Angelo and Balthazar.

E. Ant. God Signior Angelo, you must excuse us all:
My Wife is sithrish when I keep not Hours;
Say, that I linger'd with you at your Shop
To see the making of her Carkanet,
And that to Morrow you will bring it Home.
But here's a Villain that would face me down,
He met me on the Mart, and that I beat him,
And charg'd him with a thousand Marks of Gold;
And that I did deny my Wife and House:
Thou Drunkard thou; what didst thou mean by this?
E. Dro. Say what you will, Sir, but I know what I know,
That you beat me at the Mart, I have your Hand to show:
If the Skin were Parchment, and the Blows you gave were Ink,
Your Hand-writing would tell you what I think.
E. Ant. I think thou art an Afs.
E. Dro. Marry, so it doth appear
By the Wrongs I suffer, and the Blows I bear;
I should kick being kickt; and being at that pass,
You would keep from my Heels, and beware of an Afs.
E. Ant. Y'are fad, Signior Balthazar. Pray God our Cheer
May answer my good Will, and your good Welcome here,
Bal. I hold your Dainties cheap, Sir, and your welcome dear.
E. Ant. Ah Signior Balthazar, either at Flesh or Fish,
A Table-full of Welcome makes scarce one dainty Dish.
Bal. Good Meat, Sir, is common, that every Churl affords.
E. Ant. And Welcome more common; for that's nothing but Words.
Bal. Small Cheer, and good Welcome, makes a merry Feast.
E. Ant. Ay, to a niggardly Host, and more sparing Guest:
But
But tho' my Cares be mean, take them in good Part;
Better Cheer may you have, but not with a better Heart;
But soft; my Door is lock'd; go bid them let us in.

S. Dro. within. Mome, Malt-horse, Capon, Coxcomb, Idiot, Patch.

Either get thee from the Door, or sit down at the Hatch:
Dost thou conjure for Wenches, that thou call'st for such store.
When one is one too many? Go, get thee from the Door.

E. Dro. What Patch is made our Porter? My Master
flays in the Street.

S. Dro. Let him walk from whence he came, left he catch cold on's Feet.

E. Ant. Who talks within there? Hoa, open the Door.
S. Dro. Right, Sir, I'll tell you when, an you'll tell me wherefore.

E. Ant. Wherefore? for my Dinner: I have not din'd to Day.

S. Dro. Nor to Day here you must not: Come again when you may.

E. Ant. What art thou that keep'st me out from the House
I owe?

S. Dro. The Porter for this time, Sir, and my Name is Dromio.

E. Dro. O Villain, thou hast stoll'n both mine Office and my Name.

The one ne'er got me Credit, the other mickle Blame;
If thou hadst been Drom'o to Day in my Place,
Thou wouldst have chang'd thy Face for a Name, or thy Name for an As.

Luce. within What a Coile is there, Dromio? Who are those at the Gate?

E. Dro. Let my Master in, Luce.

Luce. Faith, no; he comes too late;
And so tell your Master.

E. Dro. O Lord, I must laugh;
Have at you with a Proverb. Shall I set in my Staff?

Luce. Have at you with another; that's when? Can you tell?

S. Dro. If thy Name be called Luce, Luce, thou hast anfwer'd him well.
E. Ant. Do you hear, you Minion, you'll let us in, I hope?

Luce. I thought to have askt you.

S. Dro. And you-said, no.

E. Dro. So, come, help, well struck; there was Blow for Blow.

E. Ant. Thou Baggage, let me in.

Luce. Can you tell for whose sake?

E. Dro. Master, knock the Door hard.

Luce. Let him knock 'till it ake.

E. Ant. You'll cry for this, Minion, if I beat the Door down.

Luce. What needs all that, and a pair of Stocks in the Town?

Adv. within. Who is that at the Door that keeps all this Noise?

S. Dro. By my Troth, your Town is troubled with unruly Boys.

E. Ant. Are you there, Wife? You might have come before.

Ari. Your Wife, Sir Knave! Go get you from the Door.

E. Dro. If you went in pain, Master, this Knave would go fore.

Ang. Here is neither Cheer, Sir, nor Welcome; we would fain have either.

Bal. In debating which was best, we shall part with neither.

E Dro. They stand at the Door, Master; bid them Welcome hither.

E. Ant. There's something in the Wind, that we cannot get in.

E. Dro. You would say so, Master, if your Garments were thin.

Your Cake here is warm within: You stand here in the Cold.

It would make a Man as mad as Buck to be sold and fold.

E. Ant. Go fetch me something, I'll break ope the Gate.

S. Dro. Break any breaking here, and I'll break your Knave's Pate.
E. Dro. A Man may break a Word with you, Sir, and Words are but Wind;
Ay, and break it in your Face, so he break it not behind.
S. Dro. It seems thou want'ft breaking; Out upon thee, Hind.
E. Dro. Here's too much: Out upon thee; I pray thee let me in.
S. Dro. Ay, when Fowls have no Feathers, and Fish have no Fin.
E. Ant. Well, I'll break in; go borrow me a Crow.
E. Dro. A Crow without Feather, Master, mean you so? For a Fish without a Fin, there's a Fowl without a Feather:
If a Crow help us in, Sirrah, we'll pluck a Crow together,
E. Ant. Go, get thee gone, fetch me an Iron Crow.
Bal. Have patience, Sir: Oh let it not be so,
Herein you war against your Reputation.
And draw within the compass of Suspicion,
Th'unviolated Honour of your Wife.
Once this; your long Experience of her Wisdom,
Her sober Virtue, Years and Modesty,
Plead on her Part some Cause to you unknown;
And doubt not, Sir, but she will well excuse
Why at this time the Doors are barr'd against you.
Be rul'd by me, depart in Patience,
And let us to the Tyger all to Dinner,
And about Evening come your self alone,
To know the Reason of this strange Restraint.
If by strong Hand you offer to break in
Now in the stirring Passage of the Day,
A vulgar Comment will be made of it;
And that suppos'd by the common Rout,
Against your yet ungalled Estimation,
That may with foule Intrusion enter in,
And dwell upon your Grave when you are dead:
For Slander lives upon Succession,
For ever hous'd where it once gets Possession.
E. Ant. You have prevail'd; I will depart in quiet,
And in despight of Mirth mean to be merry.
I know a Wench of excellent Discourse,
Pretty and witty, wild, and yet too, gentle;
There will we dine: This Woman that I mean,
My Wife, but I protest without Defert,
Hath oftentimes upbraided me withal;
To her will we to Dinner. Get you home;
And fetch the Chain; by this I know 'tis made;
Bring it, I pray you, to the Porcupine;
For there's the Houfe: That Chain I will bestow,
Be it for nothing but to spight my Wife,
Upon mine Hostess there; good Sir, make haste:
Since my own Doors refuse to entertain me,
I'll knock elsewhere, to see if they'll disdain me.

_Ang._ I'll meet you at that Place, some Hour, Sir, hence.
_E. Ant._ Do so; this Jeft shall cost me some Expence.
[Exe.
_Enter Luciana, with Antipholis of Syracuse._

_Luc._ And may it be, that you have quite forgot
A Husband's Office? Shall, _Antipholis_,
Even in the Spring of Love, thy Love-springs rot?
Shall Love in Buildings grow so ruinate?
If you did wed my Sister for her Wealth,
Then for her Wealths-fake use her with more Kindness;
Or if you like elsewhere, do it by stealth,
Muffle your false Love with some Shew of Blindness;
Let not my Sister read it in your Eye?
Be not thy Tongue thy own Shame's Orator;
Look sweet, speak fair; become Disloyalty:
Apparel Vice like Virtue's Harbinger;
Bear a fair Presence, tho' your Heart be tainted;
Teach Sin the carriage of a holy Saint;
Be secret Falsé: What need she be acquainted?
What tiple Thief brags of his own Attaint?
'Tis double Wrong, to truant with your Bed,
And let her read it in thy Looks at Board:
Shame hath a Baffard-fame, well managed;
Ill Deeds are doubled with an evil Word:
Alas poor Women, make us not believe,
Being compaft of Credit, that you love us;
Thò' others have the Arm, shew us the Sleeve:
_We in your Motion turn, and you may move us._

_Then._
Then, gentle Brother, get you in again;
Comfort my Sister, cheer her, call her Wife:
'Tis holy Sport to be a little vain,
When the sweet breath of Flattery conquers Strife.

S. Ant. Sweet Mistrels; what your Name is else, I know
Nor by what wonder you do hit of mine: [not,
Left in your Knowledge, and your Grace you show not,
Than our Earth's Wonder, more than Earth, Divine,
Teach me, dear Creature, how to think and speake;
Lay open to my earthy gross Conceit,
Smother'd in Errors, feeble, shadow, weak,
The fouled meaning of your Words deceit;
Against my Soul's pure Truth, why labour you,
To make it wander in an unknown Field?
Are you a God? would you create me new?
Transform me then, and to your Power I'll yield.
But if that I am I, then well I know
Your weeping Sister is no Wife of mine,
Nor to her Bed a Homage do I owe;
Far more, far more to you do I decline:
Oh train me not, sweet Mermaid, with thy Note,
To drown me in thy Sister's flood of Tears;
Sing Sirens for thy self, and I will dote;
Spread o'er the silver Waves thy golden Hairs,
And as a Bed I'll take thee, and there lye:
And in that glorious Suppofition think,
He gains by Death that hath such means to die;
Let Love, being light, be drowned if he sink.

Luc. What, are you mad, that you do reason so?
S. Ant. Not mad, but mated; how, I do not know.
Luc. It is a Fault that springeth from your Eye.
S. Ant. For gazing on your Beams, fair Sun being by.
Luc. Gaze where you should, and that will clear your Sight.

S. Ant. As good to wink, sweet Love, as look on Night.
Luc. Why call you me, Love? call my Sister so.
S. Ant. Thy Sister's sister.
Luc. That's my Sister.

S. Ant. No; it is thy self, mine own self's better Part:
Mine Eye's clear Eye, my dear Heart's dearer Heart,
My Food, my Fortune, and my Sweet Hope's Aim,
My sole Earth's Heav'n, and my Heav'n's Claim.

Luc. All this my Sister is, or else should be.

S. Ant. Call thy self Sister, Sweet; for I mean thee:
Thy will I love, and with thee lead my Life,
Thou hast no Husband yet, nor I no Wife;
Give me thy Hand.

Luc. Oh soft, Sir, hold you still;
I'll fetch my Sister, to get her good Will. [Exit Luc.

Enter Dromo of Syracuse.

S. Ant. Why how now, Dromo, where runn'rt thou so fast?

S. Dro. Do you know me, Sir? am I Dromo? am I your Man? am I my self?

S. Ant. Thou art Dromo, thou art my Man, thou art thy self.

S. Dro. I am an Ais, I am a Woman's Man, and besides my self.

S. Ant. What Woman's Man? and how besides thy self?

S. Dro. Marry, Sir, besides my self, I am due to a Woman; one that claims me, one that haunts me, one that will have me.

S. Ant. What Claim lays she to thee?

S. Dro. Marry, Sir, such Claim as you would lay to your Horse; and she would have me as a Beast: Not that I being a Beast she would have me, but that she being a very beastly Creature, lays Claim to me.

S. Ant. What is she?

S. Dro. A very reverent Body; ay, such a one as a Man may not speak of, without he say, Sir-reverence: I have but lean luck in the Match; and yet is she a wondrous fat Marriage.

S. Ant. How dost thou mean, a fat Marriage?

S. Dro. Marry, Sir, she's the Kitchen-wench, and all Grease, and I know not what use to put her to, but to make a Lamp of her, and run from her by her own light. I warrant her Rags, and the Tallow in them, will burn a Poland Winter: If she lives 'till Doomsday, she'll burn a Week longer than the whole World.

S. Ant. What Complexion is she of?
The Comedy of Errors.

S. Dro. Swart, like my Shoe, but her Face nothing like so clean kept; for why? she sweats, a Man may go over-shoes in the Grime of it.

S. Ant. That's a Fault that Water will mend.

S. Dro. No, Sir, 'tis in Grain; Noah's Flood could not do it.

S. Ant. What's her Name?

S. Dro. Nell, Sir; but her Name is three Quarters; that's an Ell and three Quarters will not measure her from Hip to Hip.

S. Ant. Then she bears some breadth?

S. Dro. No longer from Head to Foot, than from Hip to Hip; she is Spherical, like a Globe: I could find out Countries in her.

S. Ant. In what part of her Body stands Ireland?

S. Dro. Marry, Sir, in her Buttocks; I found it out by the Bogs.

S. Ant. Where Scotland?

S. Dro. I found it by the Barrenness, hard in the Palm of her Hand.

S. Ant. Where France?

S. Dro. In her Forehead, arm'd and reverted, making War against her Hair.

S. Ant. Where England?

S. Dro. I look'd for the chalky Cliffs, but I could find no whiteness in them; but I guess, it stood in her Chin, by the salt Rheum that ran between France and it.

S. Ant. Where Spain?

S. Dro. Faith, I saw it not, but I felt it hot in her Breath.

S. Ant. Where America, the Indies?

S. Dro. Oh, Sir, upon her Nose, all o'er embellished with Rubies, Carbuncles, Saphires, declining their rich Aspect to the hot Breath of Spain, who lent whole Armadoes of Carrafts to be ballast at her Nose.

S. Ant. Where stood Belgium, the Netherlands?

S. Dro. Oh, Sir, I did not look so low. To conclude, this Drudge, or Diviner, laid claim to me, call'd me Dramio, swore I was affur'd to her, told me what privy Marks I had about me, as the Marks of my Shoulder, the Mole in my Neck, the great Wart on my left Arm, that I, amaz'd, ran from her, as a Witch. And I think, if my Breast had not been been made of Faith, and my Heart of Steel, she had transform'd me to a Curtal Dog, and made me turn i' th' Wheel.

S. Ant. Go hie thee presently; post to the Road;
And if the Wind blow any way from Shore,
I will not harbour in this Town to Night.
If any Bark put forth, come to the Mart;
Where I will walk 'till thou return to me:
If every one knows us, and we know none,
'Tis time I think to trudge, pack and be gone.

S. Dro. As from a Bear a Man would run for Life,
So fly I from her that would be my Wife. [Exit.

S. Ant. There's none but Witches do inhabit here;
And therefore 'tis high time that I were hence:
She that doth call me Husband, even my Soul
Doth for a Wife abhor. But her fair Sister
Poss'd with such a gentle Sovereign Grace,
Of such enchanting Prefence and Discourse,
Hath almost made me Traitor to my self:
But left my self be guilty to Self-wrong,
I'll stop mine Ears against the Mermaid's Song.

Enter Angelo with a Chain.

Ang. Master Antipholis.

S. Ant. Ay, that's my Name.

Ang. I know it well, Sir, lo, here's the Chain;
I thought to have tane you at the Porcupine;
The Chain unfinish'd made me stay thus long.

S. Ant. What is your Will that I shall do with this?

Ang. What please your self, Sir; I have made it for you.

S. Ant. Make it for me, Sir! I bespoke it not.

Ang. Not once, not twice, but twenty times you have:
Go home with it, and please your Wife withal;
And soon at Supper-time I'll visit you,
And then receive my Mony for the Chain.

S. Ant. I pray you, Sir, receive the Mony now,
For fear you ne'er see Chain nor Mony more.

Ang. You are a merry Man, Sir; fare you well. [Exit.

S. Ant. What I should think of this, I cannot tell:
But this I think, there's no Man is so vain,
That would refuse so fair an offer'd Chain.
ACT IV. SCENE I.

Enter a Merchant, Angelo, and an Officer.

Mer. You know since Pentecost the Sum is due;
And since I have not much importun'd you;
Nor now I had not, but that I am bound
To Persia, and want Gilders for my Voyage:
Therefore make present Satisfaction;
Or I'll attach you by this Officer.

Ang. Even just the Sum that I do owe to you;
Is growing to me by Antiphelis;
And in the Instant that I met with you,
He had of me a Chain: At five a Clock,
I shall receive the Mony for the same:
Please you walk with me down to his House,
I will discharge my Bond, and thank you too.

Enter Antiph. Eph. and Dro. Eph. as from the Courtezeans.

Off. That Labour you may live: See where he comes.

E. Ant. While I go to the Goldsmith's House, go thou
And buy a Ropes-end; that I will bestow
Among my Wife, and her Confederates,
For locking me out of my Doors by Day.
But soft; I see the Goldsmith; get thee gone,
Buy thou a Rope, and bring it home to me.

E. D. I buy a thousand Pound a Year; I buy a Rope!

E. Ant. A Man is well holp up that trulls to you:
I promised your Presence, and the Chain:
But neither Chain nor Goldsmith came to me:
Belike you thought our Love would last too long
If it were chain'd together; and therefore came not.

Ang. Saving your merry Humour, here's the Note,
How much your Chain weighs to the utmost Raccat,
The fineness of the Gold, and chargeful Fashion,
Which doth amount to three odd Duckets more
Than I stand debted to this Gentleman;
I pray you see him presently discharge'd;
For he is bound to Sea, and stays for it.

E. Ant. I am not furnish'd with the present Mony;
Besides, I have some Business in the Town;
Good Signior take the Stranger to my House,
And with you take the Chain, and bid my Wife
Disburse the Sum on the Receipt thereof;
Perchance I will be there as soon as you.

Ang. Then you will bring the Chain to her your self.
E. Ant. No; bear it with you, lest I come not time

Ang. Well, Sir, I will: have you the Chain about you?
E. Ant. And if I have not, Sir, I hope you have:
Or else you may return without your Mony.

Ang. Nay, come, I pray you, Sir, give me the Chain,
Both Wind and Tide stay for the Gentleman;
And I to blame have held him here too long.

E. Ant. Good Lord, you use this Dalliance to excuse
Your breach of Promise to the Porcupine:
I should have chid you for not bringing it;
But like a Shrew, you first begin to brawl.

Mer. The Hour steals on; I pray you, Sir, dispatch:

Ang. You hear how he importunes me; the Chain.
E. Ant. Why, give it my Wife, and fetch your Mony.

Ang. Come, come, you know I gave it you even now.
Either send the Chain, or send me by some Token.

E. Ant. Fie, now you run this Humour out of breath:
Come, where's the Chain? I pray you let me see it.

Mer. My Business cannot brook this dalliance:
Good Sir, say, whether you'll answer me, or no;
If not, I'll leave him to the Officer.

E. Ant. I answer you? Why should I answer you?
Ang. The Mony that you owe me for the Chain.
E. Ant. I owe you none 'till I receive the Chain.
Ang. You know I gave it you half an Hour since.
E. Ant. You gave me none; you wrong me much to say so.
Ang. You wrong me more, Sir, in denying it;
Consider how it stands upon my Credit.
Mer. Well, Officer, arrest him at my Suit.
Off. I do, and charge you in the Duke’s Name to obey me.

Ang. This touches me in Reputation.
Either consent to pay the Sum for me,
Or I attach you by this Officer.
E. Ant. Consent to pay for that I never had!
Arrest me, foolish Fellow, if thou dar’st.
Ang. Here is thy Fee; arrest him, Officer;
I would not spare my Brother in this Case,
If he should scorn me so apparently.
Off. I do arrest you, Sir; you hear the Suit.
E. Ant. I do obey thee till I give thee Bail.
But, Sirrah, you shall buy this Sport as dear
As all the Metal in your Shop will answer.
Ang. Sir, Sir, I shall have Law at Ephesus,
To your notorious Shame, I doubt it not.

Enter Dromio Sira from the Bay.

S. Dro. Master, there’s a Bark of Epidamus, That stays but ’till her Owner comes aboard;
Then, Sir, she bears away. Our Frughtage, Sir,
I have convey’d aboard; and I have bought
The Oyl, the Balsamum, and Aqua-vite.
The Ship is in Trim; the merry Wind
Blows fair from Land; they stay for nought at all,
But for their Owner, Master, and your self.

E. Ant. How now! a mad Man! Why, thou peevish
What Ship of Epidamus stays for me? [Sheep,
S. Dro. A Ship you sent me to, to hire Waftage.
E. Dro. Thou drunken Slave, I sent thee for a Rope;
And told thee to what Purpose, and what end.
S. Dro. You sent me for a Ropes-end as soon:
You sent me to the Bay, Sir, for a Bark.

E. Ant. I will debate this Matter at more leisure,
And teach your Ears to lift me with more heed.
To Adriana. Villain, hie thee strait.
Give her this Key, and tell her in the Desk
That’s cover’d o'er with Turkish Tapestry.
There is a Purse of Duckets, let her send it:
Tell her, I am arrested in the Street,
And that shall bail me; hie thee, Slave; be gone:
On Officer, to Prison 'till it come. [Exeunt.

S. Dro. To Adriana? that is where we din'd,
Where Dowabel di: claim me for her Husband;
She is too big. I hope, for me to compass.
Thither I must, altho' against my Will,
For Servants must their Masters Minds fulfil. [Exit.

Enter Adriana and Luciana.

Adr. Ah Luciana, did he tempt thee so?
Might'th thou perceive austerely in his Eye,
That he did plead in earnest, yea or no?
Look'd he or red or pale, or sad or merrily?
What Observation mad'st thou in this Cafe,
Of his Heart's Meteors tilting in his Face?

Luc. First he deny'd you had in him a right.

Adr. He meant, he did me none, the more my Spight.

Luc. Then swore he, that he was a Stranger here.

Adr. And true he swore, though yet forsworn he were.

Luc. Then pleaded I for you.

Adr. And what said he?

Luc. That Love I begg'd for you, he begg'd of me.

Adr. With what Persuasion did he tempt thy Love?

Luc. With Words, that in an honest Suit might move.

First, he did praise my Beauty, then my Speech.

Adr. Did'st speak him fair?

Luc. Have Patience, I beseech.

Adr. I cannot, nor I will not hold me still;
My Tongue, tho' not my Heart, shall have it's Will.
He is deformed, crooked, old and fere,
Ill-fac'd, worse Body'd, shapeless everywhere;
Vicious, ungentle, foolish, blunt, unkind,
Stigmatical in making, worse the Mind.

Luc. Who would be jealous then of such a one?
No Evil lost, is wait'd, when it is gone.

Adr. Ah! but I think him better than I say,
And yet would herein others Eyes were worle,
Far from her Nest, the Lapwing cries away;
My Heart prays for him, tho' my Tongue do curse.

Enter
Enter S. Dromio.

S. Dro. Here, go; the Desk, the Purse; sweet now make haste.

Luc How hast thou lost thy Breath?

S. Dro. By running fast.

Adr. Where is thy Master, Dromio? Is he well?

S. Dro. No; he's in Tartar Limbo, worse than Hell; A Devil in an everlasting Garment hath him, One whose hard Heart is button'd up with Steel: A Fiend, a Fairy, pitiless and rough, A Wolf, nay worse, a Fellow all in Buff; A back-Friend, a Shoulder-Clapper, one that countermands The Passages of Allies, Creeks, and narrow Lands; A Hound that runs counter, and draws dry-foot well; One that before the Judgment carries poor Souls to Hell.

Adr. Why Man, what is the Matter?

S. Dro. I do not know the Matter; he is refted on the Cage.

Adr. What, is he arrested? tell me at whose Suit?

S. Dro. I know not at whose Suit he is arrested, well; but he's in a Suit of Buff which refted him, that I can tell. Will you send him, Mistrefs Redemption, the Mony in his Desk?

Adr. Go fetch it, Sister. This I wonder at, [Exit Luc. That he unknown to me should be in Debt; Tell me, was he arrested on a Bond?

S. Dro. Not on a Bond, but a stronger thing, A Chain, a Chain; do you not hear it ring?

Adr. What, the Chain?

S. Dro. No, the Bell; 'tis time that I were gone; It was two ere I left him, and now the Clock strikes One. Adr. The Hour's come back, that I did never hear.

S. Dro. O yes, if any Hour meet a Serjeant, a turns back for very Fear.

Adr. As if Time were in debt, how fondly dost thou reason?

S. Dro. Time is a very Bankrout, and owes more than he's worth to reason.

Nay, he's a Thief too; have you not heard Men say, That Time comes stealing on by Night and Day?
If Time be in debt and theft, and a Serjeant in the Way,
Hath he not Reason to turn back an Hour in a Day?

Enter Luciana.

Adri. Go, Dromio; there's the Mony, bear it strait,
And bring thy Master home immediately.
Come, Sister, I am prest down with Conceit;
Conceit, my Comfort and my Injury. [Exeunt.

Enter Antipholus of Syracuse.

S. Ant. There's not a Man I meet but doth salute me,
As if I were their well acquainted Friend;
And every one doth call me by my Name.
Some tender Mony to me, some invite me;
Some other give me Thanks for Kindnesses;
Some offer me Commodities to buy.
Even now a Taylor call'd me in his Shop,
And shou'd me Silks that he had bought for me,
And therewithal took measure of my Body.
Sure these are but imaginary Wiles,
And Lapland Sorcerers inhabit here.

Enter Dromio of Syracuse.

S. Dro. Master, here's the Gold you sent me for; what, have you got the Picture of old Adam new apparel'd?

S. Ant. What Gold is this? What Adam dost thou
mean?

S. Dro. Not that Adam that kept the Paradise, but that Adam that keeps the Prison; he that goes in the Calves-Skin, that was kill'd for the Prodigal; he that came behind you, Sir, like an evil Angel, and bid you forfake your Liberty.

S. Ant. I understand thee not.

S. Dro. No? why 'tis a plain Case; he that went like a Bafe-Viol in a Case of Leather; the Man, Sir, that when Gentlemen are tired gives them a Fob, and rests them;
he, Sir, that takes pity on decay'd Men and gives them
Saits of currence; he that sets up his Refl to do more Exploits with his Mace, than a Mori Pike.

S. Ant. What! thou mean'st an Officer?

S. Dro. Ay, Sir, the Serjeant of the Band; he that brings any Man to answer it that breaks his Bond; one that thinks

Vol. I.
a Man always going to Bed, and faith, God give you good Rest.

S. Ant. Well, Sir, there rest in your Foolery.
Is there any Ship puts forth to Night? May we be gone?
S. Dro. Why, Sir, I brought you Word an Hour since, that the Bark Expedition puts forth to Night, and then were you hinder'd by the Serjeant, to tarry for the Ho; Delay; here are the Angels that you sent for, to deliver
you.

S. Ant. The Fellow is distraught, and so am I,
And here we wander in Illusions;
Some blessed Power deliver us from hence.

Enter a Curtezian.

Cur. Well met, well met, Master Antipholis.
I see, Sir, you have found the Goldsmith now:
Is that the Chain you promis'd me to Day?
S. Ant. Satan avoid, I charge thee tempt me not.
S. Dro. Master, is this Mistrefs Satan?
S. Ant. It is the Devil.
S. Dro. Nay, she is worse, she's the Devil's Dam;
And here she comes in the Habit of a light Wench, and thereof comes that the Wenches say, God dam me, that's as much as to say, God make me a light Wench. It is written, they appear to Men like Angels of Light, Light is an Effect of Fire, and Fire will burn; ergo, light
Wenches will burn; come not near her.

Cur. Your Man and you are marvellous merry, Sir.
Will you go with me, we'll mend our Dinner here?
S. Dro. Master, if you do expect Spoon-Meat, bespeak a long Spoon.
S. Ant. Why, Dromio?
S. Dro. Marry, he must have a long Spoon that must eat with the Devil.
S. Ant. Avoid thou Fiend, what tell'st thou me of sup-
Thou art (as you are all) a Sorceress? [ping:
I conjure thee to leave me, and be gone.

Cur. Give me the Ring of mine you had at Dinner,
Or for my Diamond the Chain you promis'd,
And I'll be gone, Sir, and not trouble you.

S. Dro.
S. Dro. Some Devils ask but the Parings of ones Nail, a Ruth, a Hair, a Drop of Blood, a Pin, a Nut, a Cherry Stone; but she, more covetous, would have a Chain. Mafter be wife, and if you give it her, the Devil will shake her Chain, and fright us with it.

Cur. I pray you Sir, my Ring, or else the Chain; I hope you do not mean to cheat me so?

S. Ant. Avant, thou Witch! come Dromio, let us go.

S. Dro. Fly Pride, says the Peacock; Mississues that you know.

[Exeunt.

Cur. Now out of Doubt Antipholis is mad, Else would he never so demean himself.

A Ring he hath of mine worth forty Duckets,
And for the same he promis'd me a Chain;
Both one and other he denies me now.
The Reason that I gather he is mad,
(Besides this present Instance of his Rage,)
Is a mad Tale he told to Day at Dinner,
Of his own Doors being shut against his Entrance.
Belike his Wife, acquainted with his Fits,
On purpose shut the Doors against his Way.
My Way is now to his home to his House,
And tell his Wife; that being Lunatick,
He rush'd into my House, and took perchance
My Ring away. This Course I fitter chuse,
For forty Duckets is too much to lose.

Enter Antipholis of Ephesus with a Jailer.

E. Ant. Fear me not Man, I will not break away,
I'll give thee ere I leave thee so much Mony,
To warrant thee, as I am rested for.
My Wife is in a wayward Mood to Day,
And will not lightly trust the Messenger.
That I should be attach'd in Ephesus,
I tell you 'twill found harshly in her Ears.

Enter Dromio of Ephesus with a Ropes-end.

Here comes my Man, I think he brings the Mony.
How now, Sir, have you that I sent you for?

E. Dro. Here's that I warrant you will pay them all.
E. Ant. But where's the Mony?

E. Dro. Why, Sir, I gave the Mony for the Rope?
E. Ant. Five Hundred Duckets, Villain, for a Rope?
E. Dro. I'll serve you, Sir, five hundred at the rate.
E. Ant. To what end did I bid thee hie thee home?
E. Dro. To a Ropes-end, Sir, and to that end am I return'd.
E. Ant. And to that end, Sir, I will welcome you.
Off. Good Sir, be patient.
E. Dro. Nay, 'tis for me to be patient, I am in Adversity.
Off. Good now hold thy Tongue.
E. Dro. Nay, rather persuade him to hold his Hands,
E. Ant. Thou whoremonger, senseless Villain!
E. Dro. I would I were senseless, Sir, that I might not feel your Blows.
E. Ant. Thou art sensible in nothing but Blows, and so is an As.
E. Dro. I am an As indeed, you may prove it by my long Ears. I have serv'd him from the Hour of my Nativity to this Instant, and have nothing at his Hands but Blows. When I am cold, he heats me with beating; when I am warm, he cools me with beating; I am wak'd with it when I sleep, rais'd with it when I sit, driven out of Doors with it when I go from home, welcom'd home with it when I return; nay, I bear it on my Shoulders, as a Beggar wont her Brat; and I think when he hath lam'd me, I shall beg with it from Door to Door.

Enter Adriana, Luciana, Curtexan and Pinch.
E. Ant. Come, go along, my Wife is coming yonder.
E. Dro. Mistress repice fseum, respect your End, or rather prophesie like the Parrot, beware the Ropes-end.
Cur. How say you now? Is not your Husband mad?
Adr. His Incivility confirms no less.
Good Doctor Pinch, you are a Conjurer, Establish him in his true Sense again.
And I will please you what you will demand.
Luc. Alas, how fiery and how sharp he looks!
Cur. Mark how he trembles in his Extasie.
Pinch. Give me your Hand, and let me feel your Pulse.
E. Ant. There is my Hand, and let it feel your Ear.
Pinch.
Finch. I charge thee, Satan, hous'd within this Man,
To yield Possession to my holy Prayers,
And to thy State of Darkness hie thee strait,
I conjure thee by all the Saints in Heav'n.

E. Ant. Peace, doating Wizard, Peace, I am not mad.

Aed. Oh that thou wert not, poor distrest Soul.

E. Ant. You Minion, you, are these your Customers?

Did this Companion with the Saffron Face,
Revel and feast it at my House to Day,
Whilst upon me the guilty Doors were shut,
And I deny'd to enter in my House?

Aed. O Husband, God doth know you din'd at home,
Where would you had remain'd until this Time,
Free from these Slanders, and this open Shame.

E. Ant. Din'd at home? Thou Villain, what say'st thou?

E. Dro. Sir, sooth to say, you did not dine at home.

E. Ant. Were not my Doors lock'd up, and I shut out?

E. Dro. Perdie, your Doors were lock'd, and you shut out.

E. Ant. And did not she her self revile me there?

E. Dro. Sans Fable, she her self revil'd you there.

E. Ant. Did not her Kitchen-Maid rail, taunt, and scorn me?

E. Dro. Ceres, she did, the Kitchen-Vestal scorn'd you.

E. Ant. And did not I in Rage depart from thence?

E. Dor. In verity you did, my Bones bear Witness,
That since have felt the Vigour of your Rage.

Aed. Is't good to sooth him in these Contraries?

Pinch. It is no Shame; the Fellow finds his Vein,
And yielding to him, humours well his Frenzy.

E. Ant. Thou hast suborn'd the Goldsmith to arrest me.

Aed. Alas, I sent you Mony to redeem you,

By Dromio here, who came in haste for it.

E. Dro. Mony by me? Heart and good Will you might,
But surely Matter not a rag of Mony.

E. Ant. West'lt not thou to her for a Purse of Duckets?

Aed. He came to me, and I deliver'd it.

Luc. And I am Witness with her that she did.
E. Dro. God and the Rope-Maker bear me witness,
That I was sent for nothing but a Rope.

Pinch. Mistress, both Man and Master are possessed,
I know it by their pale and deadly Looks;
They must be bound and laid in some dark Room.

E. Ant. Say, wherefore didst thou lock me forth to Day,
And why dost thou deny the Bag of Gold?

Adr. I did not, gentle Husband, lock thee forth.

E. Dro. And gentle Master I receiv'd no Gold,
But I confess, Sir, that we were lock'd out.

Adr. Dissembling Villain, thou speak'st falsely in both.

E. Ant. Dissembling Harlot, thou art false in all,
And art confederate with a damned Pack,
To make a loathsome abject Scorn of me:
But with these Nails I'll pluck out those false Eyes,
That would behold in me this shameful Sport.

Enter three or four, and offer to bind him: He strives.

Adr. Oh bind him, bind him, let him not come near me.

Pinch. More Company, the Fiend is strong within him.

Luc. Ay me poor Man, how pale and wan he looks!

E. Ant. What, will you murther me? Thou Jailor thou,
I am thy Prisoner, wilt thou suffer them to make a Re-

Offic. Masters; let him go: he is my Prisoner, and you shall not have him.

Pinch. Go bind this Man, for he is frantick too.

Adr. What wilt thou do, thou peevish Officer?

Haft thou delight to see a wretched Man
Do Outrage and Displeasure to himself?

Offic. He is my Prisoner, if I let him go,
The Debt he owes will be requir'd of me.

Adr. I will discharge thee, ere I go from thee;
Bear me forthwith unto his Creditor,[They bind Ant. and Dro.
And knowing how the Debt grows I will pay it.
Good Master Doctor, see him safe convey'd
Home to my House. Oh most unhappy Day!

E. Ant. Oh most unhappy Strumpet.

E. Dro.
E. Dro. Master, I am here enter'd in Bond for you.

E. Ant. Out on thee, Villain! wherefore dost thou mad me?

E. Dro. Will you be bound for nothing? be mad, good Master, cry the Devil.

Luc. God help poor Souls, how idly do they talk!

Adr. Go bear him hence; Sister go you with me.

Say, now, whose Suit is he arrested at?

[Exeunt Pinch, Ant. and Dro;]

Mainent Officer, Adri. Luci. and Curtezan.

Offic. One Angelo, a Goldsmith, do you know him?

Adr. I know the Man; what is the Sum he owes?

Offic. Two hundred Ducks.

Adr. Say, how grows it due?

Offic. Due for a Chain your Husband had of him.

Adr. He did bespeak a Chain for me, but had it not.

Cur. When as your Husband, all in rage to Day,

Came to my House, and took away my Ring,

The Ring I saw upon his Finger now,

Straight after did I meet him with a Chain.

Adr. It may be so, but I did never see it.

Come Jailor, bring me where the Goldsmith is;

I long to know the Truth hereof at large.

Enter Antipholis Syracusian with his Rapier Drawn, and Dromio Syrac.

Luc. God for thy Mercy! they are loose again.

Adr. And come with naked Swords;

Let's call more help to have them bound again.

[They all run out.

Offic. Away, they'll kill us.

S. Ant. I see these Witches are afraid of Swords.

S. Dro. She that would be your Wife, now ran from you.

S. Ant. Come to the Centaur, fetch our Stuff from thence:

I long that we were safe and sound aboard.

S. Dro. Faith stay here this Night, they will surely do us no harm; you saw they spake us fair, gave us Gold; methinks they are such a gentle Nation, that but for the
The Comedy of Errors.

Mountain of mad Flesh that claims Marriage of me, I could find in my Heart to stay here still, and turn Witch.
S. Ant. I will not stay to Night for all the Town, Therefore away, to get our Stuff aboard. (Exeunt.

ACT V. SCENE I.

Enter the Merchant and Angelo.

Ang. I am sorry, Sir, that I have hinder'd you,
But I protest he had the Chain of me,
Though most dishonestly he did deny it.
Mer. How is the Man esteem'd here in the City?
Ang. Of very reverent Reputation, Sir,
Of Credit infinite, highly belov'd,
Second to none that lives here in the City;
His Word might bear my Wealth at any time.
Mer. Speak softly; yonder, as I think, he walks.
Enter Antipholis and Dromio of Syracuse.

Ang. 'Tis so; and that self Chain about his Neck,
Which he forswore, most monstrously, to have.
Good Sir draw near to me, I'll speak to him.
Signior Antipholis, I wonder much
That you would put me to this Shame and Trouble,
And not without some Scandal to your self,
With Circumstance and Oaths so to deny
This Chain, which now you wear so openly;
Besides the Charge, the Shame, Imprisonment,
You have done wrong to this my honest Friend,
Who but for staying on our Controversie,
Had hoisted Sail, and put to Sea to Day:
This Chain you had of me, can you deny it?
S. Ant. I think I had, I never did deny it.
Mer. Yes, that you did, Sir, and forswore it too.
S. Ant. Who heard me to deny it, or forswear it?
Mer. These Ears of mine thou know'st did hear thee:
Fie on thee, Wretch, 'tis pity that thou liv'st
To walk where any honest Men resort.

S. Ant.
The Comedy of Errors

S. Ant. Thou art a Villain to impeach me thus,
I'll prove mine Honour and my Honesty
Against thee presently, if thou dar'ft stand.

Mer. I dare, and do defie thee for a Villain.

[They draw.

Enter Adriana, Luciana, Curteoxan and others.

Adr. Hold, hurt him not for God's sake, he is mad;
Some get within him, take his Sword away:
Bind Dromio too, and bear them to my House.

S. Dso. Run Master, run, for God's sake take a House;
This is some Priory; in, or we are spoilt'd.

[Exeunt to the Priory.

Enter Lady Abbeis.

Abb. Be quiet People, wherefore throng you hither?

Adr. To fetch my poor distracted Husband hence;
Let us come in, that we may bind him fast,
And bear him home for his Recovery.

Ang. I knew he was not in his perfect Wits.

Mer. I am sorry now that I did draw on him.

Abb. How long hath this Possession held the Man?

Adr. This Week he hath been heavy, four, sad,
And much, much different from the Man he was:
But 'till this Afternoon his Passion
Ne'er brake into extremity of Rage.

Abb. Hath he not lost much Wealth by wrack at Sea?
Bury'd some dear Friend? hath not else his Eye
Stray'd his Affection in unlawful Love?
A Sin prevailing much in youthful Men,
Who give their Eyes the liberty of gazing.

Which of these Sorrows is he subject to?

Adr. To none of these, except it be the last,
Namely, some Love that drew him oft from home.

Abb. You should for that have reprehended him.

Adr. Why so I did.

Abb. Ay, but not rough enough.

Adr. As roughly as my Modesty would let me.

Abb. Haply in private.

Adr. And in Assemblies too.

Abb. Ay, but not enough.
Adr. It was the Copy of our Conference.
In Bed he slept not for my urging it,
At Board he fed not for my urging it;
Alone, it was the Subject of my Theam;
In Company I often glanced it;
Still did I tell him, it was vile and bad.

Abb. And therefore came it that the Man was mad:
The venomous Clamours of a jealous Woman,
Poisons more deadly than a mad Dog's Tooth,
It seems his Sleeps were hinder'd by thy railing,
And thereof comes it that his Head is light.
Thou say'st his Meat was sauc'd with thy Upbraiding,
Unquiet Meals make ill Digestions,
Theroof the raging Fire of Fever bred,
And what's a Fever but a Fit of Madness?
Thou say'st his Sports were hindered by thy Brawls;
Sweet Recreation barr'd, what doth ensue,
But muddy and dull Melancholy,
Kin'sman to grim and comfortless Despair,
And at her Heels a huge infectious Troop
Of pale Distemperatures, and Foes to Life?
In Food, in Sport, and life-preserving Rest
To be disturb'd would mad or Man or Beast;
The Consequence is then, thy jealous Fits
Have sear'd thy Husband from the use of Wits.

Luc. She never reprehended him but mildly,
When he demean'd himself rough, rude and wildly,
Why hear you those Rebukes, and answer not?

Adr. She did betray me to my own Reproof.

Luc. Good People enter and lay hold on him.

Abb. No, not a Creature enters in my House.

Adr. Then let your Servants bring my Husband forth;

Abb. Neither; he took this Place for Sanctuary,
And it shall privilege him from your Hands,
'Till I have brought him to his Wits again,
Or lose my Labour in assaying it.

Adr. I will attend my Husband, be his Nurse,
Dread his Sicknes: for it is my Office,
And will have no Attorney but my self,
And therefore let me have him home with me.
Abb. Be patient, for I will not let him stir,
'Till I have us'd th'approved Means I have,
With wholesome Syrups, Drugs, and holy Prayers
To make of him a formal Man again;
It is a Branch and Parcel of mine Oath,
A charitable Duty of my Order;
Therefore depart and leave him here with me.

Adr. I will not hence, and leave my Husband here;
And ill it doth beseen your Holiness
To separate the Husband and the Wife.

Abb. Be quiet and depart, thou shalt not have him;
Luc. Complain unto the Duke of this Indignity.

Adr. Come go, I will fall prostrate at his Feet,
And never rise, until my Tears and Prayers
Have won his Grace to come in Person hither,
And take perforce my Husband from the Abbess. [Exeunt.

Enter Merchant and Angelo.

Mer. By this I think the Dial points at Five;
Anon I am sure the Duke himself in Person
Comes this way to the melancholy Vale;
The place of Death and sorry Execution,
Behind the Ditches of the Abbey here.

Ang. Upon what Cause?

Mer. To see a reverend Syracusan Merchant,
Who put unluckily into this Bay
Against the Laws and Statutes of this Town,
Behaved publickly for his Offence.

Ang. See where they come, we will behold his Death.

Enter Adriana and Luciana.

Luc. Kneel to the Duke before he pass the Abbey.

Enter the Duke, and Ægeon bare-headed, with the Headsman and other Officers.

Duke. Yet once again proclaim it publickly,
If any Friend will pay the Sum for him,
He shall not die, so much we tender him.

Adr. Justice, most sacred Duke, against the Abbess:
Duke. She is a virtuous and a reverend Lady;
It cannot be that she hath done thee wrong.

Adr. May it please your Grace, Antipholus my Husband, Whom I made Lord of me, and all I had,
At your all-potent Letters, this ill Day
A most outrageous Fit of Madness took him,
That desperately he hurry'd through the Street,
With him his Bondman, all as mad as he,
Doing displeasure to the Citizens,
By rushing in their Houses; bearing thence Rings, Jewels, any thing his Rage did like.
Once did I get him bound, and sent him home,
Whilst to take Order for the Wrongs I went,
That here and there his Fury had committed:
Anon, I wot not by what strong Escape,
He broke from those that had the Guard of him,
And with his mad Attendant and himself,
Each one with resful Passion, with drawn Swords
Met us again, and madly bent on us,
Chac'd us away; 'till raising of more Aid
We came again to bind them; then they fled
Into this Abbey, whither we pursu'd them,
And here the Abbess shuts the Gates on us,
And will not suffer us to fetch him out,
Nor send him forth that we may bear him hence.
Therefore, most gracious Duke, with thy Command,
Let him be brought forth, and born hence for help.

_Duke._ Long since thy Husband serv'd me in my Wars,
And I to thee ingag'd a Prince's Word,
When thou didst make him Master of thy Bed,
To do him all the Grace and Good I could.
Go some of you knock at the Abbey Gate,
And bid the Lady Abbess come to me;
I will determine this before I stir.

_Enter a Messenger._

_Mess._ O Mistress, Mistress, shift and save your self;
My Master and his Man are both broke loose,
Beaten the Maids a row, and bound the Doctor,
Whose Beard they have fng'd off with Brands of Fire,
And ever as it blaz'd, they threw on him
Great Pails of puddled Mire to quench the Hair;
My Master preaches Patience to him, and the while
His Man with Scissors nicks him like a Fool:

And
And sure, unless you send some present help,
Between them they will kill the Conjurer.

Aedr. Peace Fool, thy Master and his Man are here,
And that is false thou dost report to us.

Mess. Mistress, upon my Life I tell you true,
I have not breath'd almost since I did see it.
He cries for you, and vows if he can take you,
To scourch your Face, and to disfigure you.
[Cry within.
Hark, hark, I hear him Mistress; fly, be gone.

Duke. Come, stand by me, fear nothing: Guard with Halberds.

Aedr. Ay me, it is my Husband; witness you,
That he is born about invisible,
Even now we hous'd him in the Abbey here,
And now he's there, past thought of human Reason.

Enter Antipholis and Dromio of Ephesus.

E. Ant. Justice, most gracious Duke, oh grant me Justice.
Even for the Service that long since I did thee,
When I bestrid thee in the Wars, and took Deep Scars to save thy Life, even for the Blood
That then I lost for thee, now grant me justice.

Egeon. Unles the fear of Death doth make me dote,
I see my Son Antipholis, and Dromio.

E. Ant. Justice, sweet Prince, against that Woman there;
She whom thou gav'st to me to be my Wife;
That hath abused and dishonour'd me,
Even in the strength and height of Injury:
Beyond Imagination is the Wrong
That she this Day hath shamelessly thrown on me.

Duke. Discover how, and thou shalt find me just.

E. Ant. This Day, great Duke, she shut the Doors upon me;

Whilst she with Harlots feasted in my House.

Duke. A grievous Fault; say Woman, didst thou so?
Aedr. No, my good Lord: My self, he, and my Sister,
To Day did dine together: So befall my Soul,
As this is false he burthens me withal.

Luc. Ne'er may I look on Day, nor sleep on Night,
But she tells to your Highness simple Truth.

Aeg.
The Comedy of Errors

Ang. O perjur'd Woman! they are both forsworn,
In this the Mad-man justly chargeth them.
E. Ant. My Liege, I am advised what I say,
Neither disturb'd with the Effect of Wine,
Nor heady-rath provok'd with raging Ire,
Albeit my Wrongs might make one wiser mad.
This Woman lock'd me out this Day from Dinner;
That Goldsmith there, were he not pack'd with her,
Could witness it; for he was with me then,
Who parted with me to go fetch a Chain,
Promising to bring it to the Porcupine
Where Balthazar and I did dine together.
Our Dinner done, and he not coming thisither,
I went to seek him; in the Street I met him,
And in his Company that Gentleman,
There did this perjur'd Goldsmith swear me down,
That I this Day from him receiv'd the Chain,
Which God he knows, I saw not. For the which
He did arrest me with an Officer.
I did obey, and sent my Peasant home
For certain Ducks; he with none return'd.
Then fairly I bespoke the Officer
To go in Person with me to my House.
By th'way, we met my Wife, her Sister, and a Rabble more
Of vile Confederates; along with them
They brought one Pinch, a hungry lean'd-fac'd Villain,
A meer Anatomy, a Mountebank,
A thread-bare Juggler, and a Fortune-teller,
A needy, hollow-ey'd, sharp-looking Wretch,
A living dead Man. This pernicious Slave
Forsooth took on him as a Conjurer;
And gazing in my Eyes, feeling my Pulse,
And with no-face, as 'twere, out-facing me,
Cries out, I was possified. Then all together
They fell upon me, bound me, and bore me thence,
And in a dark and dankish Vault at home
There left me and my Man, both bound together;
'Till gnawing with my Teeth my Bonds aunder,
I gained my Freedom, and immediately
Ran hither to your Grace, whom I beseech
To give me ample Satisfaction
For these deep Shames, and great Indignities.

Ang. My Lord, in truth, thus far I witness with him;
That he din'd not at Home, but was lock'd out.

Duke. But had he such a Chain of thee, or no?

Ang. He had my Lord, and when he ran in here;
These People saw the Chain about his Neck.

Mer. Besides, I will be sworn these Ears of mine
Heard you confess you had the Chain of him,
After you first forswore it on the Mart,
And thereupon I drew my Sword on you;
And then you fled into this Abbey here,
From whence I think you are come by Miracle.

E. Ant. I never came within these Abbey Walls,
Nor ever didst thou draw thy Sword on me;
I never saw the Chain, to help me heav'n;
And this is false you brother me withal.

Duke. Why what an intricate Impeach is this?
I think you all have drunk of Circes Cup:
If here you hou'd him, here he would have been.
If he were mad, he would not plead so coldly;
You say he din'd at home, the Goldsmith here
Denies that saying. Sirrah, what say you?

E. Dro. Sir, he din'd with her there, at the Porcupine.

Cur. He did, and from my Finger snatch'd that Ring.

E. Ant. 'Tis true, my Leige, this Ring I had of her.

Duke. Saw'st thou him enter at the Abbey here?

Cur. As sure, my Liege, as I do see your Grace.

Duke. Why this is strange; go call the Abbess hither;
I think you are all mated, or stark mad.

[Exit one to the Abbess.

Ægeon. Most mighty Duke, vouchsafe me speak a Word:
Haply I see a Friend will save my Life,
And pay the Sum that may deliver me.

Ægeon. Is not your Name, Sir, called Antipolis?
And is not that your Bond-man Dromio?

E. Dro. Within this Hour I was his Bond-man, Sir;
But he, I thank him, gnaw'd in two my Cords,
Now am I Dromio, and his Man unbound.

Ægeon:
The Comedy of Errors.

Aegon. I am sure both of you remember me.

E. Dro. Our selves we do remember, Sir, by you;
For lately we were bound as you are now.
You are not Pinch's Patient, are you, Sir?

Aegon. Why look you strange on me? you know me well.

E. Ant. I never saw you in my Life 'till now.

Aegon. Oh! Grief hath chang'd me since you saw me last,
And careful Hours, with Time's deformed Hand,
Have written strange Defeatures in my Face;
But tell me yet, dost thou not know my Voice?

E. Ant. Neither.

Aegon Dromio. nor thou?

E. Dro. No, trust me, nor I.

Aegon. I am sure thou dost.

E. Dro. I, Sir, but I am sure I do not; and whatsoever a Man denies, you are now bound to believe him.

Aegon. Not know my Voice! oh Time's Extremity,
Haft thou so crack'd and splitted my poor Tongue
In seven short Years, that here my only Son
Knows not my feeble Key of untun'd Cares?
Tho' now this grained Face of mine be hid
In sap-consuming Winter's drizled Snow,
And all the Conduits of my Blood froze up;
Yet hath my Night of Life some Memory,
My wasting Lamp some fading Glimmer left;
My dull deaf Ears a little use to hear:
All these old Witnessies, I cannot err,
Tell me, thou art my Son Antipholis.

E. Ant. I never saw my Father in my Life.

Aegon. But seven Years since, in Syracuse Bay,
Thou know'st we parted; but perhaps, my Son,
Thou shamt to acknowledge me in Misery.

E. Ant. The Duke, and all that know me in the City,
Can witness with me that it is not so:
I ne'er saw Syracuse in my Life.

Duke. I tell thee, Syracuseian, twenty Years
Have I been Patron to Antipholis,
During which time he ne'er saw Syracuse:
I see thy Age, and Dangers make thee dote.
Enter the Abbess, with Antipholis Syracusean and Dromio Syracusean.

Abb. Most mighty Duke, behold a Man much wrong'd.

[All gather to see them.

Adm. I see two Husbands, or mine Eyes deceive me.

Duke. One of these Men is Genius to the other;
And so of these which is the natural Man,
And which the Spirit? who Deciphers them?
S. Dro. I, Sir, am Dromio, command him away.
E. Dro. I, Sir, am Dromio, pray let me stay.
S. Ant. Aegon, art thou not? or else his Ghost?
S. Dro. Oh, my old Master! who hath bound him here?

Abb. Whoever bound him, I will loose his Bonds,
And gain a Husband by his Liberty.
Speak, old Aegon, if thou be'st the Man
That hadst a Wife once call'd Æmilia,
That bore thee at a Burthen two fair Sons?
Oh if thou be'st the same Aegon, speak;
And speak unto the same Æmilia.

Duke. Why here begins the Morning Story right:
These two Antipholis's, these two so like,
And those two Dromio's, one in semblance;
Besides her urging of her wrack at Sea,
These are the Parents to these Children,
Which accidentally are met together.

Aegon. If I dream not, thou art Æmilia;
If thou art she, tell me where is that Son
That floated with thee on the fatal Raft.

Abb. By Men of Epidamnum, he and I,
And the twin Dromio, all were taken up;
But by and by, rude Fishermen of Corinth
By force took Dromio and my Son from them,
And me they left with those of Epidamnum.
What then became of them I cannot tell;
To this Fortune that you see me in.

Duke. Antipolis, thou can't from Corinth first.
S. Ant. No, Sir, not I, I came from Syracuse.

Duke. Stay, stand apart, I know not which is which.
E. Ant. I came from Corinth, my most gracious Lord.
E. Dro. And I with him.

E. Ant. Brought to this Town by that most famous War-
Duke Menaphon, your most renowned Uncle.

Adr. Which of you two did dine with me to Day?

S. Ant. I, gentle Mistress.

Adr. And are not you my Husband?

E. Ant. No, I say nay to that.

S. Ant. And so do I, yet did she call me so:

And this fair Gentlewoman here
Did call me Brother. What I told you then,
I hope I shall have leisure to make good,
If this be not a Dream I see and hear.

Ang. That is the Chain, Sir, which you had of me.

S. Ant. I think it be, Sir, I deny it not.

E. Ant. And you, Sir, for this Chain arrested me.

Ang. I think I did, Sir, I deny it not.

Adr. I sent you Mony, Sir, to be your Bail
By Dromio, but I think he brought it not.

E. Dro. No, none by me.

S. Ant. This Purse of Ducats I receiv'd from you.

And Dromio, my Man, did bring them me:
I see we still did meet each others Man,
And I was tane for him, and he for me,
And thereupon these Errors all arose.

E. Ant. These Ducats pawn I for my Father here;
Duke. It shall not need, thy Father hath his Life.
Cur. Sir, I must have that Diamond from you.

E. Ant. There take it, and much thanks for my good Cheer.

Abb. Renowned Duke, vouchsafe to take the Pains
To go with us into the Abbey here,
And hear at large discoursed all our Fortunes:
And all that are assembled in this Place,
That by this sympathized one Day's Error
Have suffered Wrong, to keep us Company,
And ye shall have full Satisfaction.

Thirty three Years have I been gone in Travel
Of you my Sons, and 'till this present Hour
My heavy Burthens are delivered:
The Duke, my Husband, and my Children both,
And you the Kalenders of their Nativity,
Go to a Gossip's Feast. and go with me,
After so long Grief such Nativity!

_Duke._ With all my Heart I'll gossip at this Feast.

_[Exeunt omnes. Manent the two Antiph. and two Dromio's._

_S. Dro._ Master, shall I fetch your Stuff from Shipboard?
_E. Dro._ Dromio, what Stuff of mine hast thou imbar'd?
_S. Dro._ Your Goods that lay at hoist, Sir, in the _Centaur._
_S. Ant._ He speaks to me; I am your Master, Dromio.

Come go with us, we'll look to that anon;
Embrace thy Brother there, rejoice with him. [Exit.

_S. Dro._ There is a fat Friend at your Master's House,
That kitchen'd me for you to Day at Dinner:
She now shall be my Sister, not my Wife.

_E. Dro._ Methinks you are my Glass, and not my Brother;
I see by you, I am a sweet fac'd Youth,
Will you walk in to see their Gossiping?
_S. Dro._ Not I, Sir, you are my Elder,
_E. Dro._ That's a Question, how shall I try it.
_S. Dro._ We'll draw Cuts for the Senior: 'till then, lead thou first.

_E. Dro._ Nay, then thus — [Embracing.
We came into the World like Brother and Brother:
And now let's go Hand in Hand, not one before another.
_[Exeunt._

ACT I. SCENE I.

Enter Leonato, Innogen, Hero and Beatrice, with a Messenger.

LEONATO.

Learn in this Letter, that Don Pedro of Arragon comes this Night to Messina. Mess. He is very near by this; he was not three Leagues off when I left him.

Leon. How many Gentlemen have you loit in this Action?

Mess. But tw of any sort, and none of Name.

Leon. A Victory is twice itself, when the Achiever brings home full Numbers; I find here that Don Pedro hath bestowed much Honour on a young Florentine, call'd Claudio.

Mess. Much deserved on his Part, and equally remembred by Don Pedro, he hath born himself beyond the Promise of his Age, doing in the Figure of a Lamb, the Feats of a Lion; he hath indeed better better'd Expectation, than you must expect of me to tell you how.

Leon. He hath an Uncle here in Messina will be very much glad of it.

Mess. I have already delivered him Letters, and there appears much Joy in him, even so much that Joy could not shew it itself modest enough, without a Badge of Bitterness.

Leon.
Leon. Did he break out into Tears?
Meff. In great measure.
Leon. A kind overflow of Kindness; there are no Faces truer, than those that are so wash’d; how much better is it to weep at Joy, than to joy at Weeping?
Bess. I pray you, is Signior Montanto return’d from the Wars, or no?
Meff. I know none of that Name-Lady, there was none such in the Army of any sort.
Leon. What is he that you ask for, niece?
Hero. My Cousin means Signior Benedict of Padua.
Meff. O he’s return’d, and as pleasant as ever he was.
Bess. He set up his Bills here in Messins, and challeng’d Cupid at the fight? and my Uncle’s Fool reading the Challenge, subscrib’d for Cupid, and challeng’d him at the Burbolt. I pray you, how many hath he kill’d and eaten in these Wars? But how many hath he kill’d? for indeed I promise to eat all of his killing.
Leon. ‘Faith, niece, you tax Signior Benedict too much, but he’ll be meet with you, I doubt it not.
Meff. He hath done good Service, Lady, in those Wars.
Bess. You had musty Victuals, and he hath holf to eat it; he’s a very valiant Trencher-man, he hath an excellent Stomach.
Meff. And a good Soldier too, Lady.
Bess. And a good Soldier to a Lady? But what is he to a Lord?
Meff. A Lord to a Lord, a Man to Man, stufth with all honourable Virtues.
Bess. It is so indeed, he is no less than a stufth Man: but for the stuffing well, we are all Mortal.
Leon. You must not, sir, mistake my niece; there is a kind of merry War betwixt Signior Benedict and her; they never meet, but there’s a Skirmish of Wit between them.
Bess. Alas, he gets nothing by that. In our last Conflict, four of his five Wits went halting off; and now is the whole Man govern’d with one: So that if he have Wit enough to keep himself warm, let him bear it for a difference difference between himself and his Horse. For it is all the Wealth that he hath left, to be known a reasonable Creature. Who is his Companion now? He hath every Month a new sworn Brother.

Mess. Is it possible?

Beat. Very easily possible; he wears his Faith but as the fashion of his Hat, it ever changes with the next Block.

Mess. I see, Lady, the Gentleman is not in your Books.

Beat. No, and he were I would burn my Study. But I pray you who is his Companion? Is there no young Squerer now, that will make a Voyage with him to the Devil?

Mess. He is most in the Company of the right noble
Claudio.

Beat. O Lord, he will hang upon him like a Disease;
he is sooner caught than the Pestilence, and the Taker runs presently mad. God help the noble Claudio, if he have cought the Benedick, it will cost him a thousand pound;
ere it be cur'd.

Mess. I will hold Friends with you, Lady.

Beat. Do good Friend.

Leon. You'll ne'er run mad, Neice.

Beat. No, not 'till a hot January.

Mess. Don Pedro is approach'd.

Enter Don Pedro, Claudio, Benedick, Balthazar and Don John.

Pedro. Good Signior Leonato, you are come to meet your Trouble: The fashion of the World is to avoid Cost, and you encounter it.

Leon. Never came Trouble to my House in the likeness of your Grace; for, the Trouble being gone, Comfort should remain; But when you depart from me, Sorrow abides, and Happiness takes his Leave.

Pedro. You embrace your Charge most willingly: I think this is your Daughter.

Leon. Her Mother hath many times told me so.

Bene. Were you in doubt, that you askt her?

Leon. Signior Benedick, no, for then were you a Child.

Pedro. You have it full Benedick, you may gues by this what you are, being a Man, truly the Lady fathers
Vol. I.
her self; be happy, Lady, for you are like an honourable Father.

Bene. If Signior Leonato be her Father, she would not have his Head on her Shoulders for all Messina, as like him as she is.

Beat. I wonder that you will still be talking, Signior Benedick, no Body marks you.

Bene. What, my dear Lady Disdain! are you yet living?

Beat. Is it possible Disdain should die, while she hath such meet Food to feed it, as Signior Benedick? Courtesie it self must convert to Disdain, if you come in her Presence.

Bene. Then is Courtesie a Turn-coat, but it is certain I am lov'd of all Ladies, only you excepted; and I would I could find in my Heart that I had not an hard Heart, for truly I love none.

Beat. A dear Happiness to Women, they would else have been troubled with a pernicious Sutor. I thank God and my cold Blood, I am of your Humour for that; I had rather hear my Dog bark at a Crow, than a Man swear he loves me.

Bene. God keep your Ladyship still in that Mind, so some Gentleman or other shall scape a predestinate scratcht Face.

Beat. Scratching could not make it worse, an 'twere such a Face as yours were.

Bene. Well you are a rare Parrot Teacher.

Beat. A Bird of my Tongue, is better than a Beast of yours.

Bene. I would my Horse had the speed of your Tongue, and so good a Continuer; but keep your way a God's Name, I have done.

Beat. You always end with a Jade's Trick, I know you of old.

Pedro. This is the sum of all: Leonato, Signior Claudio, and Signior Benedick; my dear Friend Leonato hath invited you all; I tell him we shall stay here at the least a Month, and he heartily prays some Occasion may detain us longer: I dare swear he is no Hypocrite, but prays from his Heart.

Lem
Leon. If you swear, my Lord, you shall not be forsworn; let me bid you welcome, my Lord, being reconciled to the Prince your Brother; I owe you all Duty.

John. I thank you, I am not of many Words, but I thank you.

Leon. Please it your Grace lead on?

Pedro. Your Hand Leonato, we will go together.

[Exeunt all but Benedick and Claudio.

Claud. Benedick, didst thou note the Daughter of Signior Leonato?

Bene. I noted her not; but I look'd on her.

Claud. Is she not a modest young Lady?

Bene. Do you question me, as an honest Man should do, for my simple true Judgment? Or would you have me speak after my Custom, as being a professed Tyrant to their Sex?

Claud. No, I prithee speak in sober Judgment.

Bene. Why 't faith methinks she's too low for an high Praise, too brown for a fair Praise, and too little for a great Praise; only this Commendation I can afford her, that were she other than she is, she were unhandome; and being no other but as she is, I do not like her.

Claud. Thou think'st I am in sport, I pray thee tell me truly how thou lik'st her.

Bene. Would you buy her, that you enquire after her?

Claud. Can the World buy such a Jewel?

Bene. Yea, and a Cafe to put it into; but speak you this with a sad-Brow? or do you play the flouting Jack, to tell us Cupid is a good Hare-finder, and Vulcan a rare Carpenter? Come, in what Key shall a Man take you to go in the Song?

Claud. In mine Eye, she is the sweetest Lady that ever I look'd on.

Bene. I can see yet without Spectacles, and I see no such Matter: There's her, Cousin, and she were not possest with such a Fury, exceeds her as much in Beauty, as the first of May doth the last of December: But I hope you have no intent to turn Husband, have you?

Claud. I would scarce trust my self, tho' I had, sworn the contrary, if Hero would be my Wife.
Much Ado about Nothing.

Bene. Is't come to this; In Faith hath not the World one Man, but he will wear his Cap with Suspicion? Shall I never see a Batchelor of threescore again? Go to 'faith, and thou wilt needs thrust thy Neck into a Yoke, wear the print of it, and sigh away Sundays: Look, Don Pedro is return'd to seek you.

Enter Don Pedro and Don John.

Pedro. What Secret hath held you here, that you follow'd not to Leonato's?

Bene. I would your Grace would constrain me to tell.

Pedro. I charge thee on thy Allegiance.

Bene. You hear, Count Claudio, I cannot be secret as a dumb Man, I would have you think so; but on my Allegiance, mark you this, on my Allegiance, he is in love; with whom? Now that is your Grace's part: Mark how short his Answer is; with Hero, Leonato's short Daughter.

Claud. If this were so, so were it uttered.

Bene. Like the old Tale, my Lord, it is not so, nor twas not so; but indeed, God forbid it should be so.

Claud. If my Passion change not shortly, God forbid it should be otherwise.

Pedro. Amen, if you love her, for the Lady is very well worthy.

Claud. You speak this to fetch me in, my Lord.

Pedro. By my Troth I speak my Thought.

Claud. And in Faith, my Lord, I spoke mine.

Bene. And by my two Faiths and Troths, my Lord, I speak mine.

Claud. That I love her, I feel.

Pedro. That she is worthy I know.

Bene. That I neither feel how she should be loved, nor know how she should be worthy, is the Opinion that Fire cannot melt out of me; I will die in it at the Stake.

Pedro. Thou wait ever an obdurate Heretick in the despite of Beauty.

Claud. And never could maintain his Part, but in the force of his Will.

Bene. That a Woman conceived me, I thank her; that she brought me up, I likewise give her most humble Thanks; But that I will have a Recherche winded in my Forehead, Forehead, or hang my Bugle in an invisible Baldrick, all.
Women shall pardon me; because I will not do them the.
Wrong to mistrust any, I will do my self the right to trust none; and the fine is, for the which I may go the finer, I will live a Batchelor.

Pedro. I shall see thee ere I die, look pale with Love.

Bene. With Anger, with Sickness, or with Hunger, my Lord, not with Love: Prove that ever I lose more Bloods with Love, than I will get again with drinking; pick out mine Eyes with a Ballad-maker’s Pen, and hang me up at the Door of a Brothel-house for the Sign of blind Cupid.

Pedro. Well, if ever thou dost fall from this Faith, thou wilt prove a notable Argument.

Bene. If I do, hang me in a Bottle like a Cat, and shoot at me, and he that hits me, let him be clapt on the Shoulder, and call’d Adam.

Pedro. Well, as time shall try; in time the savage Bull doth bear the Yoke.

Bene. The savage Bull may, but if ever the sensible Be-nedick bear it, pluck off the Bull’s horns, and set them in my Forehead, and let me be vilely painted, and in such great Letters as they write, Here is good Horse to hire; let them signify under my Sign, Here you may see Benedick the marry’d Man.

Claud. If this should ever happen, thou wouldst be Horn mad.

Pedro. Nay, if Cupid hath not spent all his Quiver in Venice, thou wilt quake for this shortly.

Bene. I look for an Earthquake too then.

Pedro. Well you will temporize with the Hours; in the mean time, good Signior Benedick, repair to Leonato’s, commend me to him, and tell him I will not fail him at Supper, for indeed he hath made great Preparation.

Bene. I have almost Matter enough in me for such an Embassage, and so I commit you.

Claud. To the Tuition of God. From my House if I had it.

Pedro. The sixth of July, Your loving Friend, Benedick.

Bene. Nay, mock not, mock not; the body of your Discourse is sometime guarded with Fragments, and the Guards

Guards are but slightly bastled on neither: Ere you flout old Ends any further, examine your Conscience, and so I leave you.

_Claud._ My Liege, your Highness now may do me good.
_Pedro._ My Love is thine to teach, teach it but how,
And thou shalt see how apt it is to learn
Any hard Lesson, that may do thee good.
_Claud._ Hath Leonato any Son, my Lord?
_Pedro._ No Child but Hero, she's his only Heir:
Dost thou affect her, _Claudio_?

_Claud._ O my Lord,
When you went onward on this ended Action,
I look'd upon her with a Soldier's Eye,
That lik'd, but had a rougher Task in hand,
Than to drive Liking to the Name of Love;
But now I am return'd, and that War-thoughts
Have left their places vacant; in their rooms
Come thro'ning soft and delicate Desires,
All prompting me how fair young _Hero_ is,
Saying I lik'd her ere I went to Wars.

_Pedro._ Thou wilt be like a Lover presently
And tire the Hearer with a Book of Words:
If thou dost love fair _Hero_, cherish it,
And I will break with her; was't not to this end,
That thou began'st to twist so fine a Story?

_Claud._ How sweetly do you minister to Love,
That know Love's Grief by his Complexion!
But left my Liking might too sudden seem,
I would have sav'd it with a longer Treatise.

_Pedro._ What need the Bridge much broader than the
The fairest Grant is the Necessity;
Look what will serve, is fit; 'tis once, thou lovest,
And I will fit thee with the Remedy.
I know we shall have revelling to Night,
I will assume thy part in some Disguise,
And tell fair _Hero_ I am _Claudio_,
And in her Bosom I'll unclasp my Heart,
And take her hearing Prisoner with the force
And strong encounter of my amorous Tale:
Then after, to her Father will I break,

And
Much Ado about Nothing. 343

And the Conclusion is, she shall be thine;
In Practice let us put it presently.
[Exit.

Enter Leonato and Antonio.

Leon. How now Brother, where is my Cousin your Son?
Hath he provided this Musick?
Ant. He is very busie about it; but Brother, I can tell you News that you yet dream'd not of:

Leon. Are they good?

Ant. As the Event stamps them, but they have a good Cover: they show well outward: The Prince and Count Claudio, walking in a thick peached Alley in my Orchard, were thus over-heard by a Man of mine: The Prince discover'd to Claudio that he lov'd my Neice your Daughter, and meant to acknowledge it this Night in a Dance; and if he found her Accordant, meant to take the present time by the top, and instantly break with you of it.

Leon. Hath the Fellow any Wit, that told you this?

Ant. A good sharp Fellow, I will send for him, and question him your self.

Leon. No, no; we will hold it as a Dream, till it appear it self: But I will acquaint my Daughter with all, that she may be the better prepared for answer, if peradventure this be true; go you and tell her of it: Cousins, you know what you have to do. O, I cry you mercy Friend, go you with me: and I will use your Skill; good Cousin have a Care this busie time.
[Exit.

Enter Don John and Conrade.

Conr. What the good Year my Lord, why are you thus out of Measure sad?

John. There is no measure in the Occasion that breeds; therefore the Sadness is without limit.

Conr. You should hear Reason.

John. And when I have heard it, what Blessing bringeth it?

Conr. If not a present Remedy, yet a patient Sufferance.

John. I wonder that thou (being, as thou say'st thou art, born under Saturn) goest about to apply a mortal Medicine to a mortifying Mischief: I cannot hide what I am: I must be sad when I have Cause, and smile at no Man's Jefts; eat when I have Stomach, and wait for no Man's Leisure; sleep when I am drowsie, and tend on no Man's Man's Business: laugh when I am merry, and claw no Man in his Humour.

Conr. Yea, but you must not make the full show of this, 'till you may do it without Controlement; you have of late fluxed out against your Brother, and he hath ta'en you newly into his Grace, where it is impossible you should take Root, but by the fair Weather that you make your self; it is needful that you frame the Season for your own Harvest.

John. I had rather be a Canker in a Hedge, than a Rose in his Grace; and it better fits my Blood to be disdain'd of all, than to fashion a Carriage to reb Love from any: In this (though I cannot be said to be a flattering honest Man) it must not be deny'd but I am a plain-dealing Villain; I am trusted with a Muzzel, and infranchised with a Clog, therefore I have decreed not to sing in my Cage: If I had my Mouth, I would bite; if I had my Liberty, I would do my liking: In the mean time, let me be that I am, and seek not to alter me.

Conr. Can you make no use of your Discontent?

John. I will make all use of it, for I use it only.

Who comes here? what News, Borachio?

Enter Borachio.

Bora. I came yonder from a great Supper; the Prince, your Brother, is royally entertain'd by Leonato, and I can give you Intelligence of an intended Marriage.

John. Will it serve for any Model to build Mischief on? What is he for a Fool that betroths himself to Unquietness?

Bora. Marry it is your Brother's right Hand.

John. Who, the most exquisite Claudio?

Bora. Even he.

John. A proper Squire; and who, and who? which way looks he?

Bora. Marry on Hero, the Daughter and Heir of Leonato.

John. A very forward March-chick, how come you to this?

Bora. Being entertain'd for a Perfumer, as I was smoking in a musty Room, comes me the Prince and Claudio, Hand in Hand in sad Conference: I whipt behind the Ar-
Was, and there heard it agreed upon that the Prince should woo Hero for himself, and having obtain’d her, give her to Count Claudio.

John. Come, come, let us thither, this may prove Food to my Displeasure: That young Start-up hath all the Glory of my Overthrow; if I can cros him any way, I blest my self every way; you are both sure, and will assist me?

Corr. To the Death, my Lord.

John. Let us to: the great Supper, their Cheer is the greater that I am subdu’d; would the Cook were of my Mind: Shall we go prove what’s to be done?

Bors. We’ll wait upon your Lordship. [Exeunt.

A C T I I. S C E N E 1.

Enter Leonato, Antonio, Innogen, Hero, Beatrice, Marga ret and Ursula.

Leon. WAS not Count John here at Supper?

Ant. I saw him not.

Beat. How tartly that Gentleman looks; I never can see him, but I am Heart-burn’d an Hour after.

Hero. He is of a very melancholy Disposition.

Beat. He were an excellent Man that were made just in the mid-way between him and Benedick; the one is too like an Image, and says nothing; and the other too like my Lady’s eldest Son, evermore tating.

Leon. Then half Signior Benedick’s Tongue in Count John’s Mouth, and half Count John’s Melancholy in Signior Benedick’s Face—

Beat. With a good Leg, and a good Foot, Uncle, and Mony enough in his Purse, such a Man would win any Woman in the World, if he could get her good Will.

Leon. By my troth, Neice, thou wilt never get thee a Husband, if thou be so shrewd of thy Tongue.

Ant. In faith she’s too curt.

Beat. Too curt is more than curt, I shall lessen God’s sending that way; for it is said, God sends a curt Cow, short Horns, but to a Cow too curt he sends none.
Leon. So, by being too curst, God will send you no Horns.

Beat. Just, if he send me no Husband, for which Blessing, I am at him upon my Knees every Morning and Evening: Lord, I could not endure a Husband with a Beard on his Face, I had rather lye in Woollen.

Leon. You may light upon a Husband that hath no Beard.

Beat. What should I do with him? dress him in my Apparel, and make him my Waiting-Gentlewoman? He that hath a Beard is more than a Youth, and he that hath no Beard is less than a Man; and he that is more than a Youth, is not for me; and he that is less than a Man, I am not for him: Therefore, I will even take six Pence in earnest of the Bearherd, and lead his Apes into Hell.

Leon. Well then, go you into Hell.

Beat. No, but to the Gate, and there will the Devil meet me like an old Cuckold, with his Horns on his Head, and say, get you to Heav’n, Beatrice, get you to Heav’n, here’s no Place for you Maids; to deliver I up my Apes, and away to St. Peter; for the Heav’ns, he shews me where the Batchelors sit, and there live we as merry as the Day is long.

Ant. Well Neice, I trust you will be rul’d by your Father.

[To Hero.

Beat. Yes, Faith, it is my Cousin’s Duty to make Curtie, and say, as it please you; but yet for all that Cousin, let him be a handsome Fellow, or else make another Curtie, and say, Father, as it pleases me.

Leon. Well, Neice, I hope to see you one Day fitted with a Husband.

Beat. Not till God make Men of some other Mettal than Earth; wou’d it not grieve a Woman to be over-matter’d with a Piece of valiant Dust? to make account of her Life to a Clod of wayward Marle? No, Uncle, I’ll none; Adam’s Sons are my Brethren, and truly I hold it a Sin to match in my Kindred.

Leon. Daughter, remember what I told you; if the Prince do solicit you in that kind, you know your Answer.

Beat,
Beat. The Fault will be in the Musick, Cousin, if you be not woo'd in good time; if the Prince be too importunate, tell him there is measure in every thing, and so dance out the Answer; for hear me, Hero, wooing, wedding, and repenting, is a Scotch Jig, a Measure, and a Cinque-pace; The first Suit is hot and haisty, like a Scotch Jig, and full as fantastical; the Wedding mannerly modest, as a Measure, full of State and Anchentry; and then comes Repentance, and with his bad Legs falls into the Cinque-pace faster and faster, till he sinks into his Grave.

Leon. Cousin, you apprehend passing shrewdly.

Beat. I have a good Eye, Uncle, I can see a Church by Day Light.

Leon. The Revellers are entering, Brother; make good room.

Enter Don-Pedro, Claudio, Benedick, Balthazar, and others in Masquerade.

Pedro. Lady, will you walk about with your Friend?

Hero. So you walk softly, and look sweetly, and say nothing, I am yours for the Walk, and especially when I walk away.

Pedro. With me in your Company?

Hero. I may say so when I please.

Pedro. And when please you to say so?

Hero. When I like your Favour; for God defend the Lute should be like the Case.

Pedro. My Visor is Philemon's Roof, within the House is Love.

Hero. Why then your Visor should be thatch'd.

Pedro. Speak low if you speak Love.

Bene. Well, I would you did like me.

Marg. So would not I for your own Sake, for I have many ill Qualities.

Bene. Which is one?

Marg. I say my Prayers aloud.

Bene. I love you the better, the Hearers may cry, Amen.

Marg. God Match me with a good Dancer.

Balth. Amen.
And God keep him out of my Sight when the Dance is done: Answer Clerk.

No more Words, the Clerk is answer'd.

I know you well enough, you are Signior Antonio.

At a Word, I am not.

I know you by the wagling of your Head.

To tell you true, I counterfeit him.

You could never do him so ill Will, unless you were the very Man: Here's his dry Hand up and down, you are he, you are he.

At a Word, I am not.

Come, come, do you think I do not know you by your excellent Wit? Can Virtue hide it self? Go to, mum, you are he; Graces will appear, and there's an end.

Will you not tell me who told you so?

No, you shall Pardon me.

Nor will you tell me who you are?

Not now.

That I was disdainful, and that I had my good Wit out of the hundred merry Tales; well, this was Signior Benedick that said so.

What's he?

I am sure you know him well enough.

Not I, believe me.

Did he never make you laugh?

I pray you what is he?

Why, he is the Prince's Jest, a very dull Fool; only his Gift is, in devising impossible Slanders? none but Libertines delight in him, and the Commendation is not in his Wit, but in his Villany; for he both pleaseth Men, and angers them, and then they laugh at him, and beat him; I am sure he is in the Fleet, I would he had boarded me.

When I know the Gentleman, I'll tell him what you say.

Do, do, he'll but break a Comparison or two on me, which peradventure, not mark'd, or not laugh'd at, strikes him into Melancholy, and then there's a Partridge trige Wing say'd, for the Fool will eat no Supper that Night. We must follow the Leaders.

Bene. In every good Thing.

Beat. Nay, if they lead to any IlI, I will leave them at the next Turning.

[Exeunt.

Music for the Dance.

John. Sure my Brother is amorous on Hero, and hath withdrawn her Father to break with him about it: The Ladies follow her; but one Vifor remains.

Bona. And that is Claudio, I know him by his bearing.

John. Are not you Signor Benedick?

Claud. You know me well, I am he.

John. Signor, you are very near my Brother in his Love, he is enamor'd on Hero, I pray you dissuade him from her, she is no equal for his Birth; you may do the Part of an honest Man in it.

Claud. How know you he loves her?

John. I heard him swear his Affection.

Bona. So did I too, and he swore he would marry her to Night.

John. Come let us to the Banquet.

[Exeunt John and Bona.

Claud. Thus answer I in Name of Benedick,
But hear this ill News with the Ears of Claudio.
'Tis certain so; the Prince woos for himself.
Friendship is constant in all other Things,
Save in the Office and Affairs of Love;
Therefore all Hearts in Love use their own Tongues,
Let every Eye negotiate for it self.
And trust no Agent; for Beauty is a Witch,
Against whose Charms, Faith melteth into Blood.
This is an Accident of hourly Proof.
Which I mistrusted not. Farewel therefore, Hero.

Enter Benedick.

Bene. Count Claudio?
Claud. Yea the same.
Bene. Come, will you go with me?
Claud. Whither?
Bene. Even to the next Willow, about your own Business, Count: What Fashion will you wear the Garland of?
of? About your Neck like an Usurer's Chain? Or under your Arm, like a Lieutenant's Scarf? You must wear it one way, for the Prince hath got your Hero.

Claud. I wish him Joy of her.

Bene. Why that's spoken like an honest Drover; so they fell Bullocks; but did you think the Prince would have served you thus?

Claud. I pray you leave me.

Bene. No, no! you strike like the blind Man; 'twas the Boy that stole your Meat, and you'll beat the Post.

Claud. If it will not be, I'll leave you. [Exit.

Bene. Alas poor hurt Soul, now will he creep into Sedges. But that my Lady Beatrice should know me, and not know me! the Prince's Fool! ha? it may be I go under that Title, because I am merry; yea, but so I am apt to do my self wrong: I am not so reputed, it is the base (though bitter) Disposition of Beatrice, that puts the World into her Person, and so gives me out; well, I'll be reveng'd as I may.

Enter Don Pedro.

Pedro. Now Signior, where's the Count? did you see him?

Bene. Troth my Lord, I have play'd the Part of Lady Fame, I found him here as melancholy as a Lodge in a Warren; I told him, and I think, told him true, that your Grace had got the Will of this young Lady, and I offered him my Company to a Willow Tree, either to make him a Garland, as being forsaken, or to bid him a Rod, as being worthy to be whipt.

Pedro. To be whipt! what's his Fault?

Bene. The flat Transgression of a School-Boy, who being over-joy'd with finding a Bird's Nest, shews it his Companion, and he steals it.

Pedro. Wilt thou make a Truſt, a Transgression? the Transgression is in the Stealer.

Bene. Yet it had not been amiss the Rod had been made, and the Garland too; for the Garland he might have worn himself, and the Rod he might have bestowed on you, who (as I take it) have stol'n his Bird's Nest;
Pedro. I will but teach them to sing, and restore them to the Owner.

Bene. If their singing answer your saying, by my Faith you say honestly.

Pedro. The Lady Beatrice hath a Quarrel to you, the Gentleman that dance'd with her, told her she is much wrong'd by you.

Bene. O the misus'd me past the Indurance of a Block; an Oak but with one green Leaf on it, would have answer'd her; my very Visor began to assume Life, and scold with her; she told me, not thinking I had been my self, that I was the Prince's Jester, and that I was duller than a great Thaw; huddling Jefl upon Jefl, with such impossible conveyance upon me, that I stood like a Man at a Mark, with a whole Army shooting at me; she speaks Poyniards, and every Word flabs; if her Breath were as terrible as Terminations, there were no living near her, she would infect to the North Star; I would not marry her, though the were endow'd with all that Adam had left him before he transgress'd; she would have made Hercules have turn'd Spit, yea, and have cleft his Club to make the Fire too. Come, talk not of her, you shall find her the infernal Ate in good Apparel. I would to God some Scholar would conjure her, for certainly while she is here, a Man may live as quiet in Hell as in a Sanctuary, and People sin upon Purpose, because they would go thither, so, indeed all Disquiet, Horror, and Perturbation follows her.

Enter Claudio, Beatrice, Leonato and Hero.

Pedro. Look here she comes.

Bene. Will your Grace command me any Service to the Worlds End? I will go on the slightest Errand now to the Antipodes that you can devise to send me on; I will fetch you a Tooth-Picker now from the furthest Inch of Asia; bring you the length of Professor John's Foot; fetch you a Hair off the great Cham's Beard; do you any Embassage to the Pigmies, rather then hold three Words Conference with this Harpy; you have no Employment for me?

Pedro. None, but to desire your good Company.

Bene.
Much Ado about Nothing.

Beat. O God, Sir, here's a Dish I love not. I cannot endure this Lady's Tongue.

Pedro. Come Lady, come, you have lost the Heart of Signior Benedick.

Beat. Indeed my Lord, he lent it me a while, and I gave him use for it, a double Heart for a single one; Marry, once before he won it of me with false Dice, therefore your Grace may well say I have lost it.

Pedro. You have put him down, Lady, you have put him down.

Beat. So I would not he should do me, my Lord, lest I should prove the Mother of Fools: I have brought Count Claudio, whom you sent me to seek.

Pedro. Why, how now Count, wherefore are you sad?

Claud. Not sad, my Lord.

Pedro. How then? sick?

Claud. Neither my Lord.

Beat. The Count is neither sad, nor sick, nor merry, nor well; but civil Count, civil as an Orange, and something of a jealous Complexion.

Pedro. I faith Lady, I think your Blazon to be true; though I'll be sworn, if he be so, his Conceit is false. Here Claudio, I have wooed in thy Name, and fair Hero is won; I have broke with her Father, and his good Will obtained, name the Day of Marriage, and God give thee Joy.

Leon. Count, take of me my Daughter, and with her my Fortunes; his Grace hath made the Match, and all Grace say Amen to it.

Beat. Speak Count, 'tis your Cue.

Claud. Silence is the perfectest Herald of Joy; I were but little happy if I could say, how much. Lady, as you are mine, I am yours; I give away my self for you, and doat upon the Exchange.

Beat. Speak Cousin, or (if you cannot) stop his Mouth with a Kifs, and let not him speak neither.

Pedro. In faith Lady, you have a merry Heart.

Beat. Yea my Lord, I thank it, poor Fool, it keeps on the windy side of Care; my Cousin tells him in his Ear that he is in my Heart.

Claud,
Claud. And so she doth, Cousin.

Beat. Good, Lord, for Alliance; thus goes everyone to the World but I, and I am Sun-burn'd, I may sit in a Corner, and cry, heigh-ho for a Husband.

Pedro. Lady Beatrice, I will get you one.

Beat. I would rather have one of your Father's getting; hath your Grace, ne'er a Brother like you? your Father got excellent Husbands, if a Maid could come by them.

Pedro. Will you have me, Lady?

Beat. No, my Lord, unless I might have another for working-Days, your Grace is toocozly to wear every Day: But I beseech your Grace pardon me, I was born to speak all Mirth, and no Matter.

Pedro. Your Silence most offends me, and to be merry best becomes you; for out of question you were born in a merry Hour.

Beat. No sure my Lord, my Mother cry'd; but then there was a Star dance'd, and under that I was born. Cousins, God give you joy.

Leon. niece, will you look to those things I told you of?

Beat. I cry you mercy Uncle, by your Grace's pardon. [Exit Beatrice.

Pedro. By my Troth a pleasant-spirited Lady.

Leon. There's little of the melancholy Element in her, my Lord, she is never sad, but when she sleeps, and not ever sad then; for I have heard my Daughter say, she hath often dream'd of Unhappiness, and wak'd her self with laughing.

Pedro. She cannot endure to hear tell of a Husband.

Leon. O, by no means, she mocks all her Woosers out of suit.

Pedro. She were an excellent Wife for Benedick.

Leon. O Lord, my Lord, if they were but a Week marry'd they would talk themselves mad.

Pedro. Count Claudio, when mean you to go to Church?

Claud. To Morrow, my Lord, Time goes on Crutches, till Love have all his Rites.

Leon. Not 'till Monday, my dear Son, which is hence a just seven Night, and a time too brief too, to have all things answer my Mind.

Pedro:
Much Ado about Nothing

Pedro. Come, you shake the Head so long a breathing, but I warrant thee Claudio, the time shall not go dully by us; I will in the interim undertake one of Hercules's Labours, which is, to bring Signior Benedick and the Lady Beatrice into a Mountain of Affection, the one with the other; I would fain have it a Match; and I doubt not to fashion it, if you three will but minster such Assistance as I shall give you Direction.

Leon. My Lord, I am for you, though it cost me ten Nights Watchings.

Claud. And I my Lord.

Pedro. And you too, gentle Hero?

Hero. I will do any modest Office, my Lord, to help my Cousin to a good Husband.

Pedro. And Benedick is not the unhopefullest Husband that I know: Thus far can I praise him, he is of a noble Strain, of approv'd Valour, and confirm'd Honesty. I will teach you how to humour your Cousin, that she shall fall in love with Benedick; and I, with your two helps, will so practice on Benedick, that in despite of his quick Wit, and his queasie Stomach, he shall fall in Love with Beatrice: If we can do this, Cupid is no longer an Archer, his Glory shall be ours, for we are the only Love-gods; go in with me, and I will tell you my Drift. [Exeunt.

Enter Don John and Borachio.

John. It is so, the Count Claudio will marry the Daughter of Leonato.

Bora. Yea, my Lord, but I can cross it.

John. Any Bar, any Cross, any Impediment, will be medicinal to me; I am sick in Displeasure to him, and whatsoever comes athwart his Affection, ranges evenly with mine; how canst thou cross this Marriage?

Bora. Not honestly my Lord, but so covertly, that no Dishonesty shall appear in me.

John. Show me briefly how.

Bora. I think I told your Lordship a Year since, how much I am in the Favour of Margaret, the Waiting Gentlewoman to Hero.

John. I remember.
Bona. I can, at any unreasona-ble Instant of the Night, appoint her to look out at her Lady's Chamber Window.

John. What Life is in that, to be the Death of this Mar-riage?

Bona. The Poision of that Iyes in you to temper; go you to the Prince your Brother, spare not to tell him, that he hath wrong'd his Honour in marrying the renown'd Clau-dio, (whose Estimation do you mightily hold up) to a con-taminated Stale, such a one as Hero.

John. What proof shall I make of that?

Bona. Proof enough, to misufe the Prince, to vex Clau-dio, to undo Hero, and kill Leonato; look you for any o- ther Issue?

John. Only to despi-te them, I will endeavoure any thing.

Bona. Go then find me a meet Hour, to draw on Pe-dro, and the Count Claudio, alone; tell them that you know Hero loves me; intend a kind of Zeal both to the Prince and Claudio, as in a love of your Brother's Honour who hath made this Match, and his Friend's Reputation, who is thus like to be eozen'd with the semblance of a Maid, that you have discover'd thus; they will hardly believe this without Trial: Offer them Instances which shall bear no less likelihood, than to see me at her Chamber Window, hear me call Margaret, Hero, hear Margaret term me Clau-dio, and bring them to see this, the very Night before the intended Wedding, for in the mean time I will so fashion the Matter, that Hero shall be absent, and there shall appear such seeming Truths of Hero's Disloyalty, that Jealou-sie shall be call'd Assurance, and all the Preparation over-thrown.

John. Grow this to what adverse Issue it can, I will put it in Practice: Be cunning in the working this, and thy Fee is a thousand Ducats.

Bona. Be thou constant in the Accusation, and my Cun-nings shall not shame me.

John. I will presently go learn their day of Marriage.

[Exeunt.]

Enter Benedick and a Boy

Bene. Boy.

Boy. Signior.

Bene.
Much Ado about Nothing:

Bene. In my Chamber Window lies a Book, bring it hither to me in the Orchard.

Boy. I am here already, Sir. [Exit Boy.

Bene. I know that, but I would have thee hence, and here again. I do much wonder, that one Man seeing how much another Man is a Fool, when he dedicates his Behaviours to Love, will after he hath laught at such shallow Follies in others, become the Argument of his own Scorn, by falling in Love! and such a Man is Claudio. I have known when there was no Musick with him but the Drum and the Fife, and now had he rather hear the Taber and the Pipe: I have known when he would have walk'd ten Mile a Foot, to see a good Armour; and now will he lye ten Nights awake, carving the Fashion of a new Doublet. He was wont to speak plain, and to the Purpose, like an honest Man and a Soldier, and now is he turn'd Orthographer, his Words are a very fantastical Banquet, just so many strange Dishes. May I be so converted, and see with these Eyes? I cannot tell, I think not. I will not be sworn, but Love may transform me to an Oiffer, but I'll take my Oath on it, 'till he have made an Oiffer of me, he shall never make me such a Fool: One Woman is fair, yet I am well; another is wise, yet I am well; another virtuous, yet I am well. But 'till all Graces be in one Woman, one Woman shall not come in my Grace. Rich she shall be, that's certain; Wise, or I'll never look on her; Mild, or come not near me; Noble, or not for an Angel; of good Discourse; an excellent Musician, and her Hair shall be of what colour it please God. Hal the Prince and Monfieur Love, I will hide me in the Arbour.

Enter Don Pedro, Leonato, Claudio and Balthazar.

Pedro. Come, shall we hear this Musick?

Claud. Yes, my good Lord; how still the Evening is, As hush'd on purpose to grace Harmony.

Pedro. See you where Benedick hath hid himself?

Claud. O very well, my Lord; the Musick ended,

We'll fit the Kid-fox with a penny-worth.

Pedro. Come Balthazar, we'll hear that Song again.

Balth. O good my Lord, tax not so bad a Voice,

To slander Musick any more than once.
Pedro. It is the witness still of Excellency;
To put a strange face on his own Perfection;
I pray thee sing, and let me woo no more.

Balth. Because you talk of wooing, I will sing.
Since many a Wooer doth commence his Suit,
To her he thinks not worthy, yet he woo's,
Yet will he swear he loves.

Pedro. Nay, pray thee come,
Or if thou wilt hold longer Argument,
Do it in Notes.

Balth. Note this before my Notes;
There's not a Note of mine that's worth the noting.

Pedro. Why these are very Crotchets that he speaks,
Note Notes forfooth, and nothing.

Benv. Now divine Air; now is his Soul ravish't! Is it not strange that sheeps Guts should hale Souls out of Mens Bodies? Well, a Horn for my Mony, when all's done.

The S O N G.

Sigh no more Ladies, sigh no more,
Men were Deceivers ever,
One Foot in Sea, and one on Shore,
To one thing constent never.
Then sigh not so, but let them go,
And be you blith and bonny,
Converting all your sounds of Woe
Into key nomy, nomy.

Sing no more Ditties, sing no more;
Of Dumps so dull and heavy;
The fraud of Men were ever so,
Since Summer first was heavy,
Then sigh not so, &c.

Pedro. By my Troth a good Song,
Balth. And an ill Singer, my Lord.
Pedro. Ha, no; no Faith; thou sing'lt well enough for a shaff.

Benv. And he had been a Dog that should have howl'd thus, they would have hang'd him, and I pray God his bad Voice bode no Mischief; I had as leive have heard the Night-raven, come what Plague could have come after it.

Pedro.
356 Much Ado about Nothing:

Pedro. By my Troth a good Song,
Balb. And an ill Singer, my Lord.
Pedro. Ha, no; no Faith; thou sing'st well enough for a shift.

Bex. And he had been a Dog that should have howl'd thus, they would have hang'd him, and I pray God his bad Voice bode no Mishief; I had as lieve have heard the Night-raven, come what Plague could have come after it.

Pedro.
Pedro. Yea, marry, dost thou hear Balthazar? I pray thee get some excellent Musick; for to Morrow Night we would have it at the Lady Hero’s Chamber Window.

Balth. Thebest I can, my Lord. [Exit Balthazar.

Pedro. Do so, farewell. Come hither Leonato; what was it you told me of to Day, that your Neice Beatrice was in Love with Signior Benedick?

Claud. O ay, stalk on, stalk on, the Fowl sits. I did never think that Lady would have loved any Man.

Leon. No, nor I neither; but most wonderful, that she should so doat on Signior Benedick, whom she hath in all outward Behaviours seem’d ever to abhor.

Benv. Is’t possible, fits the Wind in that Corner?

Leon. By my Troth, my Lord, I cannot tell what to think of it, but that she loves him with an iraged Affection, it is past the infinite of Thought.

Pedro. May be she doth but counterfeit.

Claud. Faith like enough.

Leon. O God! counterfeit? There was never counterfeit of Passion came so near the life of Passion as she discovers it.

Pedro. Why, what Effects of Passion shews she?

Claud. Bait the Hook well, the Fish will bite.

Leon. What Effects, my Lord? she will fit you, you heard my Daughter tell you how.

Claud. She did indeed.

Pedro. How, how I pray you? you amaze me, I would have thought her Spirit had been invincible against all Assaults of Affection.

Leon. I would have sworn it had, my Lord, especially against Benedick.

Benv. I should think this a Gull, but that the White-bearded Fellow speakes it; Knavery cannot sure hide himself in such Reverence.

Claud. He hath tane th’Infection, hold it up.

Pedro. Hath she made her Affection known to Benedick?

Leon. No, and swears she never will, that’s her torment.

Claud. ’Tis true indeed, so your Daughter says: shall I, says she, that have so oft encounter’d him with Scorn, write to him I love him?
Leon. This says she now, when she is beginning to write to him; for she'll be up twenty times a Night, and there will she sit in her Smock, till she have writ a sheet of Paper; my Daughter tells us all.

Claud. Now you talk of a Sheet of Paper, I remember a pretty jest your Daughter told us of.

Leon. O when she had writ it, and reading it over, she found Benedick and Beatrice between the Sheet.

Claud. That.

Leon. O she tore the Letter into a thousand Halfpence; rail'd at her self, that she should be so immodest, to write to one that she knew would flout her: I measure him, says she, by my own Spirit, I should flout him if he writ to me, yea, though I love him, I should.

Claud. Then down upon her knees she falls, weeps, sobs, beats her Heart, tears her Hair, prays, curses; O sweet Benedick, God give me patience.

Leon. She doth indeed, my Daughter says so, and the Extase hath so much overborne her, that my Daughter is sometime afraid she will do a desperate Out-rage to her self, it is very true.

Pedro. It were good that Benedick knew of it by some other, if she will not discover it.

Claud. To what end? he would but make a Sport of it, and torment the poor Lady worse.

Pedro. And he should, it were an Alms to hang him; she's an excellent sweet Lady, and, out of all Suspicion, she is virtuous.

Claud. And she is exceeding wife.

Pedro. In every thing, but in loving Benedick.

Leon. O my Lord, Wisdom and Blood combating in so tender a Body, we have ten Proofs to one, that Blood hath the Victory; I am sorry for her, as I have just Cause, being her Uncle, and her Guardian.

Pedro. I would she had bestowed this Doteage on me; I would have daft all other Respects, and made her half my self; I pray you tell Benedick of it, and hear what he will say.

Leon. Were it good, think you?

Claud. Hero thinks, surely she will die, for she says she will die, if he love her not, and she will die ere the
Much Ado about Nothing.

make her Love known; and she will die if he who her; rather than she will bite one Breath of her accustom'd Crossness.

Pedro. She doth well; if she should make Tender of her Love, 'tis very possible he'll scorn it, for the Man, as you know all, hath a contemptible Spirit.

Claud. He is a very proper Man.

Pedro. He hath indeed a good outward Happiness.

Claud. 'Fore God, and in my mind very; wife.

Pedro. He doth indeed shew some Sparks that are like Wit.

Leon. And I take him to be valiant.

Pedro. As Hector, I assure you; and in the managing of Quarrels you may see he is wise, for either he avoids them with great Discretion, or undertakes them with a Christian-like Fear.

Leon. If he do fear God, he must necessarily keep Peace;
if he break the Peace, he ought to enter into a Quarrel with fear and trembling.

Pedro. And so will he do; for the Man doth fear God, howsoever it seems not in him, by some large Jefts he will make; well, I am sorry for your niece; shall we go see Benedick, and tell him of her Love?

Claud. Never tell him, my Lord; let her wear it out with good Counsel.

Leon. Nay; that's impossible, she may wear her Heart out first.

Pedro. Well, we will hear further of it by your Daughter, let it cool the while; I love Benvolick well, and I could with he would modestly examine himself; to see how much he is unworthy to have so good a Lady.

Leon. My Lord, will you walk? Dinner is ready.

Claud. If he do not dote on her upon this, I will never trust my Expectation.

Pedro. Let there be the same Neat spread for her; and that must your Daughter and her Gentlewoman carry; the Sport will be, when they hold one an Opinion of another's Dotage, and no such matter; that's the Scene that I would see, which will be meerly a dumb Shew; let us send her to call him into Dinner.

[Exeunt.

Bene.
Bene. This can be no Trick, the Conference was sadly born; they have the Truth of this from Hero; they seem to pity the Lady; it seems her Affections have the full Bent. Love me! why it must be requited: I hear how I am cenfur’d; they say I will bear my self proudly, if I perceive the Love come from her; they say too, that she will rather die than give any Sign of Affection—-I did never think to marry—-I must not seem Proud—-happy are they that hear their Detractions, and can put them to mending; They say the Lady is fair; ’tis a truth, I can bear them Witness; and virtuous; ’tis so, I cannot reprove it; and wife, but for loving me—by my Troth it is no Addition to her Wit, nor no great Argument of her Folly; for I will be horribly in love with her,—I may chance to have some odd Quirks and remains of Wit broken on me, because I have rail’d so long against Marriage; but doth not the Appetite alter? a Man loves the Meat in his Youth, that he cannot endure in his Age. Shall Quipps and Sentences, and these Paper-Bullets of the Brain, awe a Man from the Career of his Humour? No, the World must be peopled. When I said I would die a Bachelor, I did not think I should live ’till I were marry’d: Here comes Beatrice: by this Day she’s a fair Lady, I do spy some Marks of Love in her.

Enter Beatrice.

Beat. Against my Will I am sent to bid you come in to Dinner.

Bene. Fair Beatrice, I thank you for your Pains.

Beat. I took no more Pains for those Thanks, than you take Pains to thank me; if it had been painful, I would not have come.

Bene. You take Pleasure then in the Message.

Beat. Yea, just so much as you may take upon a Knife’s Point, and Choak a Daw withal: you have no Stomach, Signior; fare you well. [Exit.

Bene. Ha! against my Will I am sent to bid you come in to Dinner; there’s a double Meaning in that. I took no more Pains for those Thanks, than you took Pains to thank me; that’s as much as to say, any Pains that I take for you is as easy as Thanks. If I do not take Pity of her I am a Villain; if I do not love her, I am a Foul; I will go get her Picture.
Much Ado about Nothing.

[Exit.

ACT III. SCENE I.

Enter Hero, Margaret and Ursula.

Hero. Good Margaret run thee to the Parlour,
There shalt thou find my Cousin Beatrice,
Proposing with the Prince and Claudio;
Whisper her Ear, and tell her I and Ursula
Walk in the Orchard, and our whole Discourse
Is all of her; say that thou overheardst us,
And bid her steal into the pleasèd Bower,
Where Honey-Suckles ripen'd by the Sun
Forbid the Sun to enter; like Favourites
Made proud by Princes that advance their Pride
Against that Power that bred it: Here will she hide her,
To listen to our Purpose; this is thy Office,
Bear thee well in it, and leave us alone.

Marg. I'll make her come I warrant presently. [Exit.

Hero. Now Ursula, when Beatrice doth come,
As we do trace this Alley up and down,
Our Talk must only be of Benedick;
When I do name him, let it be thy Part
To praise him more than ever Man did merit.
My Talk to thee must be how Benedick
Is sick in Love with Beatrice; of this Matter
Is little Cupid's crafty Arrow made,
That only wounds by hear-say: Now begin,

Enter Beatrice.

For look where Beatrice like a Lapwing runs
Close by the Ground to hear our Conference.

Urs. The pleasant Angling is to see the Fifth
Cut with her golden Oars the Silver Stream,
And greedily devour the treacherous Bait;
So angle we for Beatrice, who even now,
Is couched in the Woodbine Coverture;

Fear
Fear you not my Part of the Dialogue.

_Hero._ Then go we near her, that her Ear lose nothing
Of the false sweet Bait that we lay for it.
No truly. _Ursula_, she is too disdainful,
I know her Spirits are as coy and wild,
As Haggards of the Rock.

_Ursula._ But are you sure
That _Benedick_ loves _Beatrice_ so intirely?

_Hero._ So says the Prince, and my new trothed Lord.

_Ursula._ And did they bid you tell her of it, Madam?

_Hero._ They did intreat me to acquaint her of it,
But I persuaded them, if they lov'd _Benedick_,
To wish him wrastle with Affection,
And never to let _Beatrice_ know of it.

_Ursula._ Why did you so? Dost not the Gentleman
Deserve as full, as fortunate a Bed,
As ever _Beatrice_ shall couch upon?

_Hero._ O God of Love! I know he doth deserve
As much as may be yielded to a Man;
But Nature never fram'd a Woman's Heart
Of prouder Stuff than that of _Beatrice._
Disdain and Scorn ride sparkling in her Eye,
Mis-prizing what they look on, and her Wit
Values it self so highly, that to her
All matter else seems weak; she cannot love,
Nor take no Shape nor Project of Affection,
She is so self-indeared.

_Ursula._ Sure I think so;
And therefore certainly it were not good
She knew his Love, lest she make Sport at it.

_Hero._ Why you speak Truth, I never yet saw Man,
How wise, how noble, young, how rarely featur'd,
But she would spell him backward; if fair-fac'd,
She would swear the Gentleman should be her Sister;
If black, why Nature drawing of an Antick,
Made a foul Blot; if tall, a Launce ill-headed;
If low, an Agat very wildly cut;
If speaking, why a Vane blown with all Winds;
If silent, why a Block moved with none.
So turns she every Man the wrong side out,
And never gives to Truth and Virtue that
Which Simplicity and Merit purchaseth.

Ursula. Sure, sure, such carping is not commendable.

Hero. No, for to be so odd, and from all Fashions,
As Beatrice is, cannot be commendable.

But who dare tell her so? If I should speak,
She would mock me into Air, O she would laugh me
Out of my self, press me to Death with Wit.
Therefore let Benedick, like covered Fire,
Consume away in Sighs, waste inwardly;
It were a bitter Death to die with Macks,
Which is as bad as die with tickling.

Ursula. Yet tell her of it; hear what she will say.

Hero. No, rather I will go to Benedick,
And counsel him to fight against his Passion.
And truly I'll devise some honest Slanders,
To stain my Cousin with; one doth not know,
How much an ill Word may imposen liking.

Ursula. O do not do your Cousin such a Wrong.
She cannot be so much without true Judgment,
Having so sweet and excellent a Wit,
As she is prize'd to have, as to refuse
So rare a Gentleman as Signior Benedick.

Hero. He is the only Man of Italy,
Always excepted my dear Claudio.

Ursula. I pray you be not angry with me, Madam,
Speaking my Fancy; Signior Benedick,
For Shape, for Bearing, Argument and Valour,
Goes formost in Report through Italy.

Hero. Indeed he hath an excellent good Name.

Ursula. His Excellence did earn it ere he had it.

When are you marry'd, Madam?

Hero. Why every day, to Morrow; come go in,
I'll shew thee some Attires, and have thy Counsel,
Which is the best to furnish me to Morrow.

Ursula. She's ta'en, I warrant you;
We have caught her, Madam.

Hero. If it prove so, then loving goes by haps,
Some Cupids kill with Arrows, some with Traps

[Exeunt.]

Beat.
Beat. What Fire is in my Ears? can this be true?
Stand I condemn'd for Pride and Scorn so much?
Contempt farewell, and Maiden Pride adieu!
No Glory lives behind the Back of such.
And Benedick, love on, I will require thee,
Taming my wild Heart to thy loving Hand;
If thou dost love, my Kindness shall incite thee
To bind our Loves up in a holy Band.
For others say thou dost deserve; and I
Believe it better than reportingly.

[Exit Don Pedro, Claudio, Benedick and Leonato.

Pedro. I do but stay 'till your Marriage be consummated, and then I go toward Arragon.

Claud. I'll bring you thither my Lord, if you'll vouchsafe me.

Pedro. Nay, that would be as great a Soil in the new Glos of your Marriage, as to shew a Child his new Coat and forbide him to wear it. I will only be bold with Benedick for his Company, for from the Crown of his Head to the Sole of his Foot he is all Mirth; he hath twice or thrice cut Cupid's Bow-String, and the little Hangman dare not shoot at him; he hath a Heart as sound as a Bell, and the Tongue is the Clapper; for what his Heart thinks,
his Tongue speaks.

Bene. Gallants, I am not as I have been.

Leon. So say I; methinks you are sadder.

Claud. I hope he be in Love.

Pedro. Hang him Truant, there's no true Drop of Blood in him, to be truly touch'd with Love; if he be sad, he wants Mony.

Bene. I have the Tooth-ach.

Pedro. Draw it.

Bene. Hang it.

Claud. You must hang it first, and draw it afterwards.

Pedro. What? sigh for the Tooth-ach!

Leon. Which is but a Humour, or a Worm.

Bene. Well, every one cannot master a Grief, but he that has it.

Claud. Yet say I, he is in-Love.
Pedro. There is no Appearance of Fancy in him, unless it be a Fancy that he hath to strange Disguises, as to be a Dutch Man to Day, a French Man to Morrow; unless he have a Fancy to this Foolery, as it appears he hath, he is no Fool for Fancy, as you would have it to appear he is.

Claud. If he be not in Love with some Woman, there is no believing old Signs; he brushes his Hat a Mornings: What should that bode?

Pedro. Hath any Man seen him at the Barber's?

Claud. No, but the Barber's Man hath been seen with him, and the old Ornament of his Cheek hath already fluff Tennis Balls.

Leon. Indeed he looks younger than he did, by the loss of a Beard.

Pedro. Nay, he rubs himself with Civet, can you smell him out by that?

Claud. That's as much as to say, the sweet Youth's in Love.

Pedro. The greatest Note of it is his Melancholy.

Claud. And when was he wont to wash his Face?

Pee. Yes, or to Paint himself? for the which I hear what they say of him.

Claud. Nay but his jesting Spirit, which is now crept into a Lute-string, and now govern'd by fops——

Pedro. Indeed that tells a heavy Tale for him; conclude, he is in love.

Claud. Nay, but I know who loves him.

Pedro. That would I know too, I warrant one that knows him not.

Claud. Yes, and his ill Conditions, and in despight of all dies for him.

Pedro. She shall be bury'd with her Face upwards.

Bene. Yet is this no Charm for the Tooth-ake. Old Signor walk aside with me, I have study'd eight or nine wise words to speak to you which these Hobby-horses must not hear.

Pedro. For my Life to break with him about Beatrice.

Claud. 'Tis even so, Hero and Margaret have by this play'd their parts with Beatrice, and then the two Bears will not bite one another when they meet.
Enter Don John.

John. My Lord and Brother, God save you.
Pedro. Good Den, Brother.
John. If your Leisure serv'd, I would speak with you.
Pedro. In private?
John. If it please you; yet Count Claudio may hear, for what I would speak of concerns him.
Pedro. What's the matter?
John. Means your Lordship to be marry'd to Morrow?

[To Claudio.

Pedro. You know he does.
John. I know not that, when he knows what I know.
Claud. If there be any Impediment, I pray you discover it.

John. You may think I love you not, let that appear hereafter, and aim better at me by that I now will manifest; for my Brother, I think, he holds you well, and in Earnest of Heart hath holp to effect your ensuing Marriage; surely Surf ill spent, and Labour ill bestowed.
Pedro. Why, what's the Matter?

John. I came hither to tell you, and Circumstances shortened, (for she hath been too long a talking of) the Lady is disloyal.
Claud. Who? Hero?
John. Even she, Leonato's Hero, your Hero, every Man's Hero.
Claud. Disloyal?

John. The Word is too good to paint out her Wickedness; I could say she were worse; think you of a worse Title, and I will fit her to it: Wonder not 'till further Warrant; go but with me to Night, you shal see her Chamber Window enter'd, even the Night before her Wedding-Day; if you love her, then to Morrow wed her; but it would better fit your Honour to change your Mind.
Claud. May this be so?
Pedro. I will not think it.

John. If you dare not trust that you see, confess not that you know; if you will follow me, I will shew you enough; and when you have seen more, and heard more, proceed accordingly.
Claud. If I see any thing to Night why I should not marry her to Morrow, in the Congregation where I should Wed, there will I shame her.

Pedro. And as I wooed for thee to obtain her, I will join with thee to disgrace her.

John. I will disparage her no farther, 'till you are my Witnesses; bear it coldly but 'till Night, and let the Illuc shew it self.

Pedro. O Day untowardly turned!

Claud. O Mischief strangely thwarting!

John. O Plague right well prevented!

So will you say when you have seen the Sequel. [Exeunt.

Enter Dogberry and Verges, with the Watch.

Dogb. Are you good Men and true?

Verg. Yea, or else it were pity but they should suffer Salvation, Body and Soul.

Dogb. Nay, that were Punishment too good for them, if they should have any Allegiance in them, being chosen for the Prince's Watch.

Verg. Well give them their Charge, Neighbour Dogbery.

Dogb. First, who think you the most dilseartless Man to be Constable.

1 Watch. Hugh Ontecake, Sir, or George Seacoal; for they can write and read.

Dogb. Come hither Neighbour Seacoal, God hath blest you with a good Name; to be a well-favour'd Man, is the Gift of Fortune, but to write and read comes by Nature.

2 Watch. Both which, Master Constable——

Dogb. You have: I knew it would be your Answer; well, for your Favour, Sir, why give God thanks, and make no boast of it; and for your Writing and Reading, let that appear when there is no need of such Vanity: You are thought here to be the most senseless and fit Man for the Constable of the Watch, therefore bear you the Lanthorn: this is your Charge: You shall comprehend all vagrom Men, you are to bid any Man stand in the Prince's Name.

2 Watch. How if he will not stand?

Dogb. Why then take no note of him, but let him go, and presently call the rest of the Watch together, and thank God you are rid of a Knave.
Verg. If he will not stand when he is bidden, he is none of the Prince's Subjects.

Dogb. True, and they are to meddle with none but the Prince's Subjects: You shall also make no Noise in the Streets; For, for the Watch to babble and talk, is most tolerable, and not to be endur'd.

2 Watch. We will rather sleep than talk; we know what belongs to a Watch.

Dogb. Why you speak like an ancient and most quiet Watchman, for I cannot see how sleeping should offend; only have a care that your Bills be not stolen: Well, you are to call at all the Alehouses, and bid them that are drunk get them to Bed.

2 Watch. How if they will not?

Dogb. Why then let them alone 'till they are sober; if they make you not then the better Answer, you may say they are not the Men you took them for.

2 Watch. Well, Sir.

Dogb. If you meet a Thief, you may suspect him, by virtue of your Office, to be no true Man; and for such kind of Men, the less you meddle or make with them, why the more is for your honesty.

2 Watch. If we know him to be a Thief, shall we not lay Hands on him?

Dogb. Truly by your Office you may; but I think they that touch Pitch will be defil'd: The most peaceable way for you, if you do take a Thief, is, to let him shew himself what he is, and steal out of your Company.

Verg. You have been always call'd a merciful Man, Partner.

Dogb. Truly I would not hang a Dog for my Will, much more a Man who hath any Honesty in him.

Verg. If you hear a Child cry in the Night, you must call to the Nurse, and bid her still it.

2 Watch. How if the Nurse be asleep, and will not hear us?

Dogb. Why then depart in Peace, and let the Child wake her with crying: For the Ewe that will not hear her Lamb when it Baes, will never answer a Calf when he Bleats.
Much Ado about Nothing.

Verg. 'Tis very true.

Dogb. This is the end of the Charge: You Constable are to present the Prince's own Person, if you meet the Prince in the Night you may stay him.

Verg. Nay, Birlady, that I think he cannot.

Dogb. Five Shillings to one on't with any Man that knows the Statutes, he may stay him; marry, not without the Prince be willing: For indeed the Watch ought to offend no Man; and it is an Offence to stay a Man against his Will.

Verg. Birlady, I think it be so.

Dogb. Ha, ha, ha! well Masters good Night; and there be any Matter of weight chances, call up me, keep your Fellow's Counsel, and your own, and good Night; come Neighbour.

2 Watch. Well Masters, we hear our Charge, let us go sit here upon the Church Bench 'till two, and then all to Bed.

Dogb. One Word more, honest Neighbours. I pray you watch about Signior Leonato's Door, for the Wedding being there to Morrow, there is a great Coil to Night; adieu; be vigilant I beseech you. [Exeunt.

Enter Borachio and Conrad.

Bora. What, Conrad.

Watch. Peace, sir not.

Bora. Conrad, I say.

Conr. Here Man, I am at thy Elbow.

Bora. Mas and my Elbow itch'd, I thought there would a Scab follow.

Conr. I will owe thee an Answer for that, and now forward with thy Tale.

Bora. Stand thee close then under this Pent-House, for it drizles Rain, and I will, like a true Drunkard, utter all to thee.

Watch. Some Treason Masters, yet stand close.

Bora. Therefore know, I have earned of Don John a thousand Ducats.

Conr. Is it possible that any Villany should be so dear?
Bora. Thou shouldest rather ask if it were possible any Villany should be so rich? For when rich Villains have need of poor ones, poor ones may make what Price they will.

Conr. I wonder at it.

Bora. That shews thou art unconfirm'd, thou knowest that the Fashion of a Doublet, or a Hat, or a Cloak, is nothing to a Man.

Conr. Yes, it is Apparel.

Bora. I mean the Fashion.

Conr. Yes the Fashion is the Fashion.

Bora. Truth, I may as well say the Fool's the Fool, but seest thou not what a deformed Thief this Fashion is?

Watch. I know that Deformed; he has been a vile Thief this seven Years; he goes up and down like a Gentleman: I remember his Name.

Bora. Didst thou not hear some Body?

Conr. No, 'twas the Vane on the House.

Bora. Seest thou not, I say, what a deformed Thief this Fashion is, how giddily he turns about all the Hor-blods, between fourteen and five and thirty, sometimes fashioning them like Pharo's Soldiers in the recky Painting, sometimes like god-Bell's Priests in the old Church-window, sometimes like the shaven Hercules in the smirch'd worm-eaten Tapestry, where his Cod-piece seems as massive as his Club.

Conr. All this I see, and see that the Fashion wears out more Apparel than the Man; but art not thou thyself giddy with the Fashion, that thou hast shifted out of thy Tale into telling me of the Fashion?

Bora. Not so neither; but know that I have to Night wooed Margaret, the Lady Hero's Gentlewoman, by the Name of Hero; she leans me out at her Mistress's Chamber-Window, bids me a thousand times good night— I tell this Tale wildly — I should first tell thee how the Prince, Claudio, and my Master, planted and plac'd, and possed by my Master Don John, saw afar off in the Orchard this amiable Encounter.

Conr.
372. Much Ado about Nothing.

Conr. And thought thy Margaret was Hero?

Bor. Two of them did, the Prince and Claudio, but the Devil my Master knew he was Margaret; and partly by his Oaths which first possest them, partly by the dark Night which did deceive them, but chiefly by my Villany, which did confirm any Slander than Don John had made, away went Claudio enraged, swore he would meet her as he was appointed next Morning at the Temple, and there before the whole Congregation shame her with what he saw o'er Night, and send her home again without a Husband.

1 Watch. We charge you in the Prince's Name stand.

2 Watch. Call up the right Master Constable, we have here recovered the most dangerous piece of Lechery that ever was known in the Common-wealth.

2 Watch. And one Deformed is one of them; I know him, he wears a Lock.

Conr. Masters, Masters.

2 Watch. You'll be made bring Deformed forth, I warrant you.

Conr. Masters, never speak, we charge you, let us obey you to go with us.

Bor. We are like to prove a goodly Commodity, being taken up of these Mens Bills.

Conr. A Commodity in question I warrant you, come we'll obey you. [Exeunt.

Enter Hero, Margaret and Ursula.

Hero. Good Ursula wake my Cousin Beatrice, and desire her to rise.

Ursu. I will, Lady.

Hero. And bid her come hither.

Ursu. Well.

Marg. Troth, I think your other Rebato were better.

Hero. No pray thee good Meg I'll wear this.

Marg. By my Troth it's not so good, and I warrant your Cousin will say so.

Hero. My Cousin's a Fool, and thou art another, I'll wear none but this.

Marg.
Much Ado about Nothing. 373

Marg. I like the new Tire within excellently, if the Hair were a Thought brownier; and your Gown's a most rare Fashion: faith, I saw the Dutcheff of Milan's Gown, that they prai'd so.

Hero. O that exceeds, they say.

Marg. By my Troth's but a Night-Gown in respect of yours; Cloth a Gold and Cuts, and lac'd with Silver, set with Pearls down-sleeves, side-sleeves and Skirts, round, underborn with a blueish Tinsel; but for a fine quaint, graceful and excellent Fashion, yours is worth ten on't.

Hero. God give me joy to wear it, for my Heart is exceeding heavy.

Marg. 'Twill be heavier soon, by the weight of a Man.

Hero. Fie upon thee, art not ashamed?

Marg. Of what, Lady? of speaking honourably? Is not Marriage honourable; in a Beggar? Is not your Lord honourable without Marriage? I think you would have me say, sav'ing your Reverence a Husband? And bad thinking do not wrest true speaking; I'll offend no Body; is there any harm in the heavier for a Husband? None I think, and it be the right Husband, and the right Wife, otherwise 'tis light and not heavy; ask my Lady Beatrice else, here she comes.

Enter Beatrice.

Hero. Good Morrow, Coz.

Beat. Good Morrow, sweet Hero.

Hero. Why how now? do you speak in the sick Tune?

Beat. I am out of all other Tune methinks.

Marg. Clap us into Light o' Love; that goes without a Burden; do you sing it, and I'll dance it.

Beat. Yes light o' love with your Heels; then if your Husband have Stables enough, you'll look he shall lack no Barns.

Marg. O illegitimate Construction! I scorn that with my Heels.

Beat. 'Tis almost five a Clock, Cousin; 'tis time you were ready: By my Troth I am exceeding ill, hey ho!

Marg. For a Hawk, a Horse, or a Husband?

Beat. For the Letter that begins them all, H.

Marg.
Marg. Well, and you be not turn'd Turk, there's no more failing by the Star.
Beat. What means the Fool, trow?
Marg. Nothing I, but God send every one their Heart's Desire.
Hero. These Gloves the Count sent me, they are an excellent Perfume.
Beat. I am flust, Cousin, I cannot smell.
Marg. A Maid and flust! there's a goodly catching of Cold.
Beat. O God help me, God help me, how long have you profest Apprehension?
Marg. Ever since you left it; doth not my Wit become me rarely.
Beat. It is not seen enough, you should wear in your Cap. By my troth I am sick.
Marg. Get you some of this diistill'd Cardus Benedictus, and lay it to your Heart, it is the only thing for a Qualm.
Hero. There thou prick'ft her with a Thistle.
Marg. Moral? no by my troth, I have no moral meaning, I meant plain Holy-Thistle; you may think perchance that I think you are in Love, nay birlady I am not such a Fool to think what I list; nor, I lift not to think what I can, nor indeed I cannot think, if I would think my Heart out of thinking, that you are in Love, or that that you will be in Love, or that you can be in Love: Yet Benedict was such another, and now is he become a Man; he swore he would never marry, and yet now in despite of his Heart he eats his Meat without grudging; and how, you may be converted I know not, but methinks you look with your Eyes as other Womea do.
Beat. What pace is this that thy Tongue keeps?
Marg. Not a false Gallop.
Urfe. Madam withdraw; the Prince, the Count, Signior Benedict, Don John, and all the Gallants of the Town are come to fetch you to Church.
Much Ado about Nothing. 375

Hero. Help to dress me, good Coz, good Meg, good Ursula.

[Exeunt.

Enter Leonato, with Dogberry and Verges.

Leon. What would you with me, honest Neighbour?

Dogb. Marry Sir I would have some confidence with you, that decerns you nearly.

Leon. Brief I pray you, for you see 'tis a busy time with me.

Dogb. Marry this it is, Sir.

Verg. Yes in truth it is, Sir.

Leon. What is it, my good Friends?

Dogb. Goodman Verges, Sir, speaks a little of the matter; an old Man, Sir, and his Wits are not so blunt, as, God help, I would desire they were, but in faith as honest as the Skin between his Brows.

Verg. Yes I thank God, I am as honest as any Man living that is an old man and no honeifter than I.

Dogb. Comparisons are odorous, palavras, Neighbour Verges.

Leon. Neighbours, you are tedious.

Dogb. It pleases your Worship to say so, but we are the poor Duke's Officers; but truly for mine own part, if I were as tedious as a King, I could find in my heart to beflow it all of your Worship.

Leon. All thy Tediums on me, ha?

Dogb. Yea, and 'twere a thousand times more than 'tis, for I hear as good Exclamation on your Worship as of any Man in the City, and tho' I be but a poor Man, I am glad to hear it.

Verg. And so am I.

Leon. I would 'taint know what you have to say.

Verg. Marry, Sir, our Watch to Night, excepting your Worship's Presence, have taken a couple of as arrant Knaves, as any in Messina.

Dogb. A good old Man, Sir, he will be talking as they say, when the Age is in, the Wit is out, God help us, it is a World to see; Well said 't faith, Neighbour Verges, well, he's a good Man; and two Men ride an Horse, one must ride behind; an honest Soul 't faith Sir, by my Troth he is.
as ever broke Bread, but God is to be worshipt; all Men are not alike, alas good Neighbour!

Leon. Indeed Neighbour he comes too short of you.

Dogb. Gifts that God gives.

Leon. I must leave you.

Dogb. One word, Sir; our Watch have indeed comprehended two auspicious Persons, and we would have them this Morning examin'd before your Worship.

Leon. Take their Examination your self, and bring it me, I am now in great haste, as may appear unto you.

Dogb. It shall be sufficiency.

Leon. Drink some Wine ere you go: Fare you well.

Enter a Messenger.

Meff. My Lord, they stay for you to give your Daughter to her Husband.

Leon. I'll wait upon them. I am ready. [Ex. Leon.

Dogb. Go good Partner, go get you to Francis Seacoale, bid him bring his Pen and Inkhorn to the Jail; we are now to examine those Men.

Verg. And we must do it wisely.

Dogb. We will spare for no Wit I warrant you; here's that shall drive some of them to a non-come, only get the learned Writer to set down our Excommunication, and meet me at the Jail.

[Exeunt.

---

ACT IV. SCENE I.

Enter D. Pedro, D. John, Leonato, Friar, Claudio, Benedict, Hero, and Beatrice.

Leon. Come Friar Francis, be brief, only to the plain form of Marriage, and you shall recount their particular Duties afterwards.

Friar. You come hither, my Lord, to marry this Lady?

Claud. No.

Leon. To be marry'd to her, Friar; you come to marry her.

Friar. Lady, you come hither to be marry'd to the Count?

Hero. I do.
Friar. If either of you know any inward Impediment why you should not be conjoin'd, I charge you on your Souls to utter it.

Claud. Know you any, Hero?
Hero. None, my Lord.

Friar. Know you any, Count?
Leon. I dare make his Answer, None.

Claud. O what Men dare do! what Men may do! what Men daily do!

Bene. How now! Interjections? why then, some be of laughing, as ha, ha, he!

Claud. Stand thee by, Friar: Father, by your Leave.

Will you with free and unconstrained Soul Give me this Maid your Daughter?

Leon. As freely, Son, as God did give her me.

Claud. And what have I to give you back, whose Worth May counterpoise this rich and precious Gift?

Pedro. Nothing, unless you render her again.

Claud. Sweet Prince, you learn me noble Thankfulness: There Leonato, take her back again;

Give not this rotten Orange to your Friend, She's but the Sign and Semblance of her Honour: Behold how like a Maid she blusses here! O what authority and show of Truth Can cunning Sin cover it self withal!

Comes not that Blood, as modest Evidence, To witness simple Virtue? would you not swear, All you that see her, that she were a Maid, By these exterior Shews? But she is none: She knows the Heat of a luxurious Bed; Her Blush is Guiltiness, not Modesty.

Leon. What do you mean, my Lord?

Claud. Not to be marry'd,

Not knit my Soul to an approved Wanton.

Leon. Dear my Lord, if you in your own Proof Have vanquish'd the Resistance of her Youth,

And made Defeat of her Virginity—

Claud. I know what you would say: If I have known You will say, she did embrace me as a Husband,
And so extenuate the forehand Sin. No, Leonato,
I never tempted her with Word too large,
But as a Brother to his Sister, shew'd
Bashful Sincerity, and comly Love.

Hero. And seem'd I ever otherwise to you?

Claud. Out on thee seeming, I will write against it;
You seem to me as Diana in her Orb,
As chaste as is the Bud ere it be blown:
But you are more intemperate in your Blood
Than Venus, or those pamper'd Animals
That rage in savage Sensuality.

Hero. Is my Lord well, that he doth speak so wide?

Leon. Sweet Prince, why speak not you?

Pedro. What should I speak?

I stand dishonour'd, that have gone about
To link my dear Friend to a common Stale.

Leon. Are these things spoken, or do I but dream?

John. Sir, they are spoken, and these things are true.

Ben. This looks not like a Nuptial,

Hero. True! O God!

Claud. Leonato, stand I here?

Is this the Prince? Is this the Prince's Brother?

Is this Fate Hero's? Are our Eyes our own?

Leon. All this is so; but what of this, my Lord?

Claud. Let me but move one Question to your Daughter,

And by that fatherly and kindly Power
That you have in her, bid her answer truly.

Leon. I charge thee do so, as thou art my Child.

Hero. O God defend me, how am I beset!

What kind of catechizing call you this?

Leon. To make you answer truly to your Name.

Hero. Is it not Hero? who can blot that Name

With any just Reproach?

Claud. Marry that can Hero;

Hero her self can blot out Hero's Virtue.

What Man was he talkt with you yesternight,

Out at your Window betwixt twelve and one?

Now if you are a Maid, answer to this.

Hero. I talk'd with no Man at that Hour, my Lord.
Pedro. Why then you are no Maiden. Leonato,
I am sorry you must hear; upon mine Honour,
My self, my Brother, and this grieved Count
Did see her, hear her, at that Hour last Night,
Talk with a Russian at her Chamber Window,
Who hath indeed, most like a liberal Villain,
Confess'd the vile Encounters they have had
A thousand times in secret.

John. Fie, fie, they are not to be nam'd, my Lord,
Not to be spoken of;
There is not Chastity enough in Language,
Without Offence, to utter them: Thus, pretty Lady,
I am sorry for thy much Misgovernment.

Claud. O Hero! what a Hero hast thou been,
If half thy outward Graces had been plac'd
About the Thoughts and Counsels of thy Heart?
But fare thee well, most foul, most fair! farewell
Thou pure Impiety, and impious Purity!
For thee I'll lock up all the Gates of Love,
And on my Eyelids shall Conjecture hang,
To turn all Beauty into Thoughts of Harm,
And never shall it more be gracious.

Leon. Hath no Man's Dagger here a Point for me?

Beat. Why how now Cousin, wherefore sink you down?

John. Come, let us go; these things come thus to light,
Smother her Spirits up.

Bene. How doth the Lady?

Beat. Dead I think; Help, Uncle.

Hero! why Hero! Uncle! Signior Benedick! Friar!

Leon. O Fate? take not away thy heavy Hand,
Death is the fairest Cover for her Shame
That may be wish'd for.

Beat. How now, Cousin Hero?

Friar. Have Comfort, Lady.

Leon. Dost thou look up?

Friar. Yea, wherefore should she not?

Leon. Wherefore? Why doth not every earthly thing
Cry Shame upon her? Could she here deny

The
The Story that is printed in her Blood?

Do not live, Hero, do not ope thine Eyes:
For did I think thou wouldest not quickly die,
Thought I thy Spirits were stronger than thy Shames,
My self would on the Reward of Reproaches
Strike at thy Life. Grie’ve I, I had but one?
Chid I for that at frugal Nature’s Frame?
I’ve one too much by thee. Why had I one?
Why ever wast thou lovely in my Eyes?
Why had not I, with charitable Hand,
Took up a Beggar’s Issue at my Gates?
Who sneered thus, and mir’d with Infamy,
I might have said, no Part of it is mine,
This Shame derives it self from unknown Loins?
But mine, and mine I lov’d, and mine I prais’d,
And mine that I was proud on, mine so much
That I my self was to my self not mine,
Vailing of her; why theke, O she is fall’n
Into a Pit of Ink, that the wide Sea
Hath Drops too few to wash her clean again,
And Salt too little, which may Seafon give,
To her soul tainted Flesh,

Bene. Sir, Sir, be patient; for my Part, I am so attired in Wonder, I know not what to say.

Beat. O, on my Soul my Cousin is belv’d.

Bene. Lady, were you her Bedfellow last Night?

Beat. No truly, not; altho’ until last Night
I have this Twelvemonth been her Bedfellow.

Len. Confirm’d, confirm’d! O that is stronger made,
Which was before barr’d up with Ribs of Iron:
Would the Prince lie? and Claudio would he lie,
Who lov’d her so, that speaking of her Foulness,
Wash’d it with Tears? Hence from her, let her die,

Friar. Hear me a little, for I have only been silent so long,
And given way unto this course of Fortune,
By noting of the Lady. I have mark’d
A thousand blushing Apparitions

To start into her Face, a thousand innocent Shames
In Angel Whiteness bear away those Blushes,

And
And in her Eye there hath appear'd a Fire
To burn the Errors that these Princes hold
Against her Maiden Truth. Call me a Fool,
Truſt not my Reading, nor my Observations,
Which with experimental Seal doth warrant
The tenure of my Book; truſt not my Age,
My Reverence, Calling, nor Divinity,
If this sweet Lady lye not guiltlesse here,
Under some biting Error.

Leon. Friar, it cannot be;
Thou feest that all the Grace that she hath left,
Is, that she will not add to her Damnation
A Sin of Perjury, she not denies it:
Why seek'st thou then to cover with Excuse,
That which appears in proper Nakedness?

Friar. Lady, what Man is he you are accus'd of?

Hero. They know that do accuse me, I know none:
If I know more of any Man alive
That that which maiden Modesty doth warrant,
Let all my Sins lack Mercy. O my Father,
Prove you that any Man with me convers'd
At Hours unmeet, or that I yefternight
Maintain'd the Change of Words with any Creature,
Refuse me, hate me, torture me to Death.

Friar. There is some strange Misprision in the Prince.

Bene. Two of them have the very bent of Honour,
And if their Wisdoms be mis-led in this,
The Practice of it lives in John the Baſtard,
Whose Spirits toil in frame of Villanies.

Leon. I know not; If they speak but Truth of her,
These Hands shall tear her; if they wrong her Honour,
The proudeſt of them shall well hear of it.
Time hath not yet so dry'd this Blood of mine,
Nor Age so eat up my Invention,
Nor Fortune made such Havock of my Means,
Nor my bad Life rett me so much of Friends,
But they shall find awak'd in such a kind,
Both Strength of Limb, and Policy of Mind,
Ability in Means, and Choice of Friends,

To
To quit me of them throughly.

Friar. Pause a while,
And let my Counsel flay you in this case.
Your Daughter here the Princess (left for dead)
Let her awhile be secretly kept in,
And publish it that she is dead indeed:
Maintain a mourning Oltentation;
And on your Family's old Monument
Hang mournful Epitaphs, and do all Rites
That appertain unto a Burial.

Leon. What shall become of this? what will this do?

Friar. Marry, this well carry'd, shall on her behalf
Change Slander to Remorse; that is some good:
But not for that, dream I on this strange course,
But on this Travel look for greater Birth:
She dying, as it must be so maintain'd,
Upon the Instant that she was accus'd,
Shall be lamented, pity'd, and excus'd
Of every Hearer: For it so falls out,
That what we have we prize not to the worth,
While we enjoy it; but being lack'd and lost,
Why then we rack the Value, then we find
The Virtue that Possession would not shew us
Whilst it was ours; so will it fare with Claudio:
When he shall hear the dy'd upon his Words,
Th' Idea of her Life shall sweetly creep
Into his Study of Imagination,
And every lovely Organ of her Life
Shall come apparel'd in more precious Habit;
More moving, delicate, and full of Life,
Into the Eye and Prospect of his Soul,
Than when she liv'd indeed. Then shall he mourn,
If ever Love had Interest in his Liver,
And with he had not so accused her;
No, tho' he thought his Accusation true:
Let this be so, and doubt not but Success
Will fashion the Event in better Shape
Than I can lay it down in likelihood,
But if all Aim but this be level'd false,
The Supposition of the Lady’s Death
Will quench the Wonder of her Infamy.
And if it fort not well, you may conceal her,
As bests befits her wounded Reputation,
In some reclusive and religious Life,
Out of all Eyes, Tongues, Minds, and Injuries.

Bene. Sighior Leonato, let the Friar advise you,
And tho’ you know my Inwardness and Love
Is very much unto the Prince and Claudio,
Yet, by mine Honour, I will deal in this
As secretly and justly, as your Soul
Should with your Body.

Leon. Being that I flow in Grief,
The smallest Twine may lead me.

Friar. ’Tis well contented, presently away,
For to strange Sores, strangely they strain the Cure:
Come Lady, die to live; this Wedding-Day
Perhaps is but prolong’d, have Patience and endure.

[Exeunt.

Manent Benedick and Beatrice.

Bene. Lady Beatrice, have you wept all this while?
Beat. Yea, and I will weep a while longer.
Bene. I will not desire that.
Beat. You have no reason, I do it freely.
Bene. Surely I do believe your fair Cousin is wrong’d.
Beat. Ah how much might the Man deserve of me that would right her!
Bene. Is there any way to shew such Friendship?
Beat. A very even way, but no such Friend.
Bene. May a Man do it?
Beat. It is a Man’s Office, but not yours.
Bene. I do love nothing in the World so well as you;
is not that strange?
Beat. As strange as the thing I know not; it were as possible for me to say, I loved nothing so well as you;
but believe me not; and yet I lye not; I confess nothing, nor I deny nothing: I am sorry for my Cousin.
Bene. By my Sword Beatrice, thou lov’st me.
Beat. Do not swear by it and eat it.
Bene. I will swear by it that you love me; and I will make him eat it that says I love not you.

Beat. Will you not eat your Word?

Bene. With no Sauce that can be devis’d to it; I protest I love thee.

Beat. Why then God forgive me.

Bene. What Offence, sweet Beatrice?

Beat. You have slay’d me in a happy Hour; I was about to protest I lov’d you.

Bene. And do it with all thy Heart.

Beat. I love you with so much of my Heart, that none is left to protest.

Bene. Come bid me do any thing for thee.

Beat. Kill Claudio.

Bene. Ha! not for the wide World.

Beat. You kill me to deny; farewell.

Bene. Tarry, sweet Beatrice.

Beat. I am gone tho’ I am here; there is no Love in you; nay I pray you let me go.

Bene. Beatrice.

Beat. In faith I will go.

Bene. We’ll be Friends first.

Beat. You dare easier be Friends with me, than fight with mine Enemy?

Bene. Is Claudio thine Enemy?

Beat. Is he not approved in the height a Villain, that hath slander’d, scorn’d, dishonour’d my Kinswoman! O that I were a Man! What, bear her in Hand until they come to take Hands, and then with publick Accusation, uncover’d Slander, unmittigated Rancour—O God that I were a Man, I would eat his Heart in the Market Place.

Bene. Hear me, Beatrice.

Beat. Talk with a Man out at a Window?—a proper Saying!

Bene. Nay but Beatrice.

Beat. Sweet Hero! she is wrong’d, she is slander’d, she is undone.

Bene. But—

Beat.
Beat. Princes and Counts! surely a princely Testimony, a goodly Count-Compeff, a sweet Gallant surely! O that I were a Man for his sake! or that I had any Friend would be a Man for my sake! But Manhood is melted into Curtesies, Valour into Compliment, and Men are only turn’d into Tongue, and trim ones too; he is now as valiant as Hercules, that only tells a Lie, and swears it; I cannot be a Man with wishing, therefore I will die a Woman with grieving.

Bene. Tarry good Beatrice; by this Hand I love thee.

Beat. Use it for my Love some other way than swearing by it.

Bene. Think you in your Soul the Count Claudio hath wrong’d Hero?

Beat. Yea, as sure as I have a Thought or a Soul.

Bene. Enough, I am engag’d, I will challenge him, I will kiss your Hand, and so leave you; by this Hand, Claudio shall render me dear Account; as you hear of me, so think of me; go comfort your Cousin, I must say she is dead, and so farewell.

[Exeunt.

Enter Dogberry, Verges, Borachio, Conrade, the Town-Clerk and Sexton in Gowns.

To. Cl. Is our whole Disembly appear’d?

Dog. O a Stool and Cushion for the Sexton.

Sexton. Which be the Malefactors?

Verg. Marry that am I, and my Partner.

Dog. Nay, that’s certain, we have the Exhibition to examine.

Sexton. But which are the Offenders that are to be examined? Let them come before Master Constable.

To. Cl. Yea, marry, let them come before me; what is your Name, Friend?

Bora. Borachio.

To. Cl. Pray write down Borachio. Yours Sirrah?

Conr. I am a Gentleman, Sir, and my Name is Conrade.

To. Cl. Write down Master Gentleman Conrade; Masters, do you serve God? Masters, it is proved already, that you are little better than false Knaves, and it will grow near to be thought so shortly; how answer you for your selves?

_Cont._ Marry, Sir, we say we are none.

_To. Cl._ A marvellous witty Fellow I assure you, but I will go about with him. Come you hither, Sirrah, a Word in your Ear, Sir; I say to you, it is thought you are false Knaves.

_Bora._ Sir, I say to you, we are none.

_To. Cl._ Well, Stand aside, 'fore God they are both in a Tale; have you writ down that they are none?

_Sexton._ Master Town-Clerk. you go not the way to examine, you must call the Watch that are their Accusers.

_To. Cl._ Yea, marry that's the easiest Way, let the Watch come forth; Masters, I charge you in the Prince's Name accuse these Men.

1 Watch. This Man said, Sir, that Don John, the Prince's Brother, was a Villain.

_To. Cl._ Write down, Prince John a Villain; why this is flat Perjury, to call a Prince's Brother Villain.

_Bora._ Master Town-Clerk.

_To. Cl._ Pray thee Fellow Peace, I do not like thy Look;
I promise thee.

_Sexton._ What heard you him say else?

2 Watch. Marry, That he had receiv'd a thousand Ducats of Don John, for the accusing the Lady Hero wrongfully.

_To. Cl._ Flat Burglary as ever was committed.

_Dog._ Yea by th' Mafs that it is.

_Sexton._ What else Fellow?

1 Watch. And that Count Claudio did mean, upon his Words, to disgrace Hero before the whole Assembly, and not marry her.

_To. Cl._ O Villain! thou wilt be condemn'd into everlasting Redemption for this.

_Sexton._ What else?

2 Watch. This is all.

_Sexton._ And this is more Masters than you can deny;
Prince John is this Morning secretly stoll'n away: Hero was

was in this manner accus'd, in this very manner refus'd, and upon the Grief of this suddenly dy'd. Master Constable, let these Men be bound, and brought to Leonato; I will go before, and shew him their Examination.

Dog. Come, let them be opinion'd.

Sexton. Let them be in the Hands of Coxcomb. [Exit.

Dog. God's my Life, where's the Sexton? Let him write down the Prince's Officer Coxcomb, come, bind them, thou naughty Varlet.

Conv. Away, you are an Ais, you are an Ais.

Dog. Doft thou not suspect my Place? doft thou not suspect my Years? O that he were here to write me down an Ais! But Masters, remember that I am an Ais, though it be not written down, yet forget not that I am an Ais; no thou Villain, thou art full of Piety, as shall be prov'd upon thee by good Witnesses; I am a wise Fellow, and which is more, an Officer; and which is more, an Hourisholder; and which is more, as pretty a Piece of Flesh as any in Messina, and one that knows the Law, go to, and a rich Fellow enough, go to, and a Fellow that hath had Losses, and one that hath two Gowns, and every thing handsome about him, bring him away; O that I had been writ down an Ais! [Exit.

ACT V. SCENE I.

Enter Leonato and Antonio.

Ant. If you go on thus, you will kill your self,
   And 'tis not wisdom thus to second Grief,
Against your self.

Leon. I pray thee cease thy Counsel,
Which falls into mine Ears as profligate
As Water in a Sieve; give not me Counsel,
Nor let no Comfort else delight mine Ear,
But such a one whose Wrongs doth sate with mine,
Bring me a Father that so lov'd his Child,

S 2  Whole
Much Ado about Nothing

Whose joy of her is overwhelm'd like mine,
And bid him speak of Patience;
Measure his woe the length and breadth of mine,
And let it answer every strain for strain:
As thus for thus, and such a grief for such,
In every lineament, branch, shape, and form;
If such a one will smile and stroke his beard,
And hallow, wag, cry hem, when he should groan,
Patch grief with proverbs, make misfortune drunk,
With candle-wafters; bring him yet to me;
And I of him will gather patience.

But there is no such man; for brother, men
Can counsel, and give comfort to that grief
Which they themselves not feel; but tasting it,
Their counsel turns to passion, which before
Would give preceptual medicine to rage,
Fetter strong madness in a skien thread,
Charm with air, and agony with words.
No, no, 'tis all men's office, to speak patience
To those that wring under the load of sorrow;
But no man's virtue nor sufficiency
To be so moral, when he shall endure
The like himself; therefore give me no counsel,
My griefs cry louder than advertisement.

Ant. Therein do men from children nothing differ,

Leon. I pray thee peace; I will be flesh and blood;
For there was never yet philosopher,
That could endure the tooth-ach patiently;
However they have writ the style of gods,
And made a pith at chance and sufferance.

Ant. Yet bend not all the harm upon your self.
Make those that do offend you suffer too.

Leon. There thou speakest reason, nay I will do so.
My soul doth tell me, hero is belied,
And that shall claudio know, so shall the prince,
And all of them that thus dishonor her.

Enter Don pedro and claudio.

Ant. Here comes the prince and claudio halfly.
Pedro. Good den, good den.
Much Ado about Nothing.

Claud. Good Day to both of you.
Leon. Hear you, my Lords?
Pedro. We have some haste, Leonato.
Leon. Some haste, my Lord! well fare you well, my Lord.
Are you so hasty now? well, all is one.
Pedro. Nay do not quarrel with us, good old Man.
Ant. If he could right himself with quarrelling.
Some of us would lye low.
Claud. Who wrongs him?
Leon. Marry thou dost wrong me, thou Dissembler thou:
Nay never lay thy Hand upon thy Sword,
I fear thee not.
Claud. Marry beffrew my Hand,
If it should give your Age such Cause of Fear;
In faith my Hand meant nothing to my Sword.
Leon. Tush, tush, Man, never sneer and jest at me;
I speak not like a Dotard nor a Fool,
As under Privilege of Age to brag
What I have done, being young, or what would do,
Were I not old: Know Claudio, to thy Head,
Thou hast so wrong'd my innocent Child and me,
That I am forc'd to lay my Reverence by,
And with grey Hairs and Bruise of many Days
Do challenge thee to trial of a Man;
I say thou hast bely'd my innocent Child,
Thy slander hath gone through and through her Heart,
And she lyes bury'd with her Ancestors,
O in a Tomb where never Scandal slept,
Save this of hers, fram'd by thy Villany.
Claud. My Villany?
Leon. Thine Claudio, thine I say.
Pedro. You say not right, old Man.
Leon. My Lord, my Lord,
I'll prove it on his Body if he dare;
Despight his nice Fence, and his active Practice;
His May of Youth and Bloom of Lustyhood,
Claud. Away, I will not have to do with you.
Leon. Canst thou so daffe me? Thou hast kill'd my Child;
If thou kill'st me Boy, thou shalt kill a Man.
Ant. He shall kill two of us, and Men indeed;
But that's no matter, let him kill one first;
Win me and wear me, let him answer me;
Come, follow me Boy, come Sir Boy; come, follow me,
Sir Boy, I'll whip you from your joining Fence;
Nay, as I am a Gentleman, I will.

Leon. Brother.

Ant. Content yourself; God knows I lov'd my Neice,
And she is dead, slander'd to Death by Villains,
That dare as well answer a Man indeed,
As I dare take a Serpent by the Tongue.
Boys, Apes, Braggarts, Jacks, Milkops!

Leon. Brother Anthony.

Ant. Hold you content; what, Man? I know them, yea
And what they weigh, even to the utmost Scruple:
Scambling, out-facing, fashion-mongring Boys,
That lye, and cog, and flout, deprave and slander,
Go antickly, and show an outward Hideousness,
And speak of half a Dozen dangerous Words,
How they might hurt their Enemies if they durst;
And this is all.

Leon. But Brother Anthony.

Ant. Come, 'tis no matter,
Do not you meddle, let me deal in this.

Pedro. Gentlemen both, we will not wake your Patience;
My Heart is sorry for your Daughter's Death,
But on my Honour she was charg'd with nothing
But what was true, and very full of Proof.

Leon. My Lord, my Lord.

Pedro. I will not hear you.

Enter Benedick.

Leon. No! come Brother away, I will be heard.

Ant. And shall, or some of us will smart for it.

[Exeunt ambo.

Pedro. See, see, here comes the Man we went to seek.

Claud. Now Signior, what News?

Pedro. Welcome Signior; you are almost come to part a Fray.

Claud.
Claud. We had like to have had our two Noses snapt-off with two old Men without Teeth.

Pedro. Leonato and his Brother; what thinkst thou? Had we fought, I doubt we should have been too young for them.

Bene. In afalse Quarrel there is no true Valour: I came to seek you both.

Claud. We have been up and down to seek thee, for we are high proof Melancholy, and would fain have it beaten away: Wilt thou use thy Wit?

Bene. It is in my Scabbard; shall I draw it?

Pedro. Dost thou wear thy Wit by thy Side?

Claud. Never any did so, though very many have been beside their Wit. I will bid thee draw, as we do the Minstrels; draw to pleasure us.

Pedro. As I am an honest Man he looks pale; Art thou Sick, or Angry?

Claud. What! Courage Man: What tho' Care kill'd a Cat, thou hast Mettle enough to kill Care.

Bene. Sir, I shall meet your Wit in the Career, and you charge it against me. I pray you choose another Subject.

Claud. Nay, then give him another Staff, this last was broke cros.

Pedro. By this Light he changes more and more: I think he be angry indeed.

Claud. If he be, he knows how to turn his Girdle.

Bene. Shall I speak a Word in your Ear?

Claud. God bless me from a Challenge!

Bene. You are a Villain; I jest not, I will make it good how you dare, with what you dare, and when you dare. Do me right, or I will protest your Cowardise. You have kill'd a sweet Lady, and her Death shall fall heavy on you. Let me hear from you.

Claud. Well I will meet you, so I may have good Cheer.

Pedro. What, a Feast?

Claud. I'faith I thank him, he hath bid me to a Calves Head and a Capon, the which if I do not carve most curiously, riously, say my Knife's naught. Shall I not find a Woodcock too?

Bene. Sir, your Wit ambles well, it goes easily.

Pedro. I'll tell thee how Beatrice prais'd thy Wit the other day: I said thou hadst a fine Wit; right says she, a fine little one; no, said I, a great Wit; just said she, a great gross one; nay said I, a good Wit; just said she, it hurts no body; nay said I, the Gentleman is wife; certain said she, a wife Gentleman; nay said I, he hath the Tongues; that I believe, said she, for he swore a thing to me on Monday night which he forswore on Tuesday morning; there's a double Tongue, there's two Tongues. Thus did she an hour together transf-shape thy particular Virtues, yet at last she concluded with a Sigh, thou wast the properest Man in Italy.

Claud. For the which she wept heartily, and said she car'd not.

Pedro. Yea that she did; but yet for all that, and if she did not hate him deadly, she would love him dearly; the old Man's Daughter told us all.

Claud. All, all; and moreover, God saw him when he was hid in the Garden.

Pedro. But when shall we set the salvages Bull's Horns on the sensible Benedick's Head?

Claud. Yea, and Text underneath, Here dwells Benedick the Married Man.

Bene. Fare you well, Boy, you know my Mind, I will leave you now to your goslip-like Humour; you break Jeffs as Braggards do their Blades, which God be thank'd for: not; my Lord, for your many Courtesies I thank you, I must discontinue your Company, your Brother the Baftard is fled from Messina; you have among you killed a sweet and innocent Lady for my Lord Lack-beard there; he and I shall meet, and 'till then Peace be with him.

Pedro. He is in earnest.

Claud. In most profound earnest, and I'll warrant you for the Love of Beatrice.

Pedro. And hath challeng'd thee?
Much Ado about Nothing.

Claud. Most sincerely.

Pedro. What a pretty thing Man is, when he goes in his Doublet and Hose, and leaves off his Wit.

Enter Dogberry, Verges, Conrade and Borachio guarded.

Claud. He is then a Giant to an Ape, but then is an Ape a Doctor to such a Man.

Pedro. But soft you, let me see, pluck up my Heart, and be sad, did he not say my Brother was fled?

Dog. Come you, Sir, if Justice cannot tame you, she shall ne'er weigh more Reasons in her Balance; nay, and you be a cursing Hypocrite once, you must be look'd to.

Pedro. How now, two of my Brother's Men bound?

Borachio one!

Claud. Harken after their Offence, my Lord.

Pedro. Officers, what Offence have these Men done?

Dog. Marry, Sir, they have committed false Report; moreover they have spoken Untruths; secondarily they are Slanders; sixth and lastly, they have belied a Lady; thirdly, they have verified unjust Things, and to conclude they are lying Knaves.

Pedro. First I ask thee what they have done; thirdly, I ask thee what's their Offence; sixth and lastly, why they are committed; and to conclude; what you lay to their Charge?

Claud. Rightly reason'd, and in his own Division, and by my Troth, there's one Meaning well suited.

Pedro. Whom have you offended, Masters, that you are thus bound to your Answer? This learned Constable is too cunning to be understood, what's your Offence?

Bor. Sweet Prince, let me go no further to mine Answer; do you hear me, and let this Count kill me; I have deceiv'd even your very Eyes; what your Wits had could not discover, these Shallow Fools have brought to light, who in the Night overheard me confessing to this Man, how Don John your Brother incens'd me to slander the Lady Hero, how you were brought into the Orchard, and saw me court Margaret in Hero's Garments, how you disgrac'd her when you should marry her; my Villany they have upon Record, which I had rather seal with my

Death,
Death, than repeat over to my Shame; the Lady is dead upon mine and my Master’s false Accusation, and briefly,
I desire nothing but the Reward of a Villain.

Pedro. Ruins not this Speech like Iron through your Blood?

Claud. I have drunk Poison while he utter’d it.

Pedro. But did my Brother set thee on to this?

Bora. Yea, and paid me rich for the Practice of it.

Pedro. He is compos’d and fram’d of Treachery,
And fled he is upon this Villany.

Claud. Sweet Hero! now thy Image doth appear
In the rare Semblance that I lov’d it first.

Dog. Come bring away the Plaintiffs, by this time our Sexton hath inform’d Signior Leonato of the Matter; and Masters, do not forget to specify when time and place shall serve, that I am an Ais.

Verg. Here, here comes Master Signior Leonato, and the Sexton too.

Enter Leonato.

Leon. Which is the Villain? let me see his Eyes,
That when I note another Man like him,
I may avoid him; which of these is he?

Bora. If you would know your Wrangler, look on me,

Leon. Art thou, art thou the Slave that with thy Breath
Hast kill’d mine innocent Child?

Bora. Yea, even I alone.

Leon. No, not so Villain, thou belyst thy self;
Here stand a pair of honourable Men,
A third is fled that had a hand in it:
I thank you Princes for my Daughter’s Death,
Record it with your high and worthy Deeds,
’Twas bravely done, if you bethink you of it.

Claud. I know not how to pray your Patience,
Yet I must speak, chuse your Revenge your self,
Impose me to what Penance your Invention
Can lay upon my Sin; yet fin’d I not,
But in mistaking.

Pedro. By my Soul nor I;
And yet to satifie this good old Man,
I would bend under any heavy weight
That he'll enjoin me too.

Leon. You cannot bid my Daughter live again,
That were impossible; but I pray you both
Possess the People in Messina here
How innocent she dy'd, and if your Love
Can labour ought in sad Invention,
Hang her an Epitaph upon her Tomb,
And sing it to her Bones, sing it to Night:
To Morrow Morning come you to my House,
And since you could not be my Son-in-Law,
Be yet my Nephew; my Brother hath a Daughter,
Almost the Copy of my Child that's dead,
And she alone is Heir to both of us,
Give her the Right you should have giv'n her Cousin,
And so dies my Revenge.

Claud. O Noble Sir!
Your over-Kindness doth wring Tears from me:
I do embrace your Offer, and dispose
For henceforth of poor Claudio.

Leon. To Morrow then I will expect your coming;
To Night I take my Leave; this naughty Man
Shall Face to Face be brought to Margaret,
Who I believe was packt in all this Wrong,
Hired to it by your Brother.

Bona. No by my Soul she was not.
Nor knew not what she did when she spoke to me,
But always hath been just and virtuous,
In any thing that I do know-by her.

Dog. Moreover, Sir, which indeed is not under white and black, this Plaintiff here, the Offender did call me Ais;
I beseech you let it be remembred in his Punishment;
and also the Watch heard them talk of one Deformed:
They say he wears a Key in his Ear, and a Lock hanging by it, and borrows Mony in God's Name; the which he hath us'd so long, and never paid, that now Men grow hard hearted, and will lend nothing for God's Sake. Pray you examine him upon that Point.

Leon. I thank thee for thy Care and honest Pains.
Dog. Your Worship speaks like a most thankful and reverend Youth; and I praise God for you.

Leon. There's for thy Pains.

Dog. God save the Foundation.

Leon. Go, I discharge thee of thy Prisoner; and I thank thee.

Dog. I leave an errant Knave with your Worship, which I beseech your Worship to correct your self, for the Example of others. God keep your Worship; I wish your Worship well: God restore you to Health; I humbly give you Leave to depart; and if a merry Meeting may be wish'd, God prohibit it. Come Neighbour. [Exeunt.

Leon. Until to Morrow Morning; Lords, farewell.

Ant. Farewel my Lords, we look for you to Morrow.

Pedro. We will not fail.

Claud. To Night I'll mourn with Hero.

Leon. Bring you these Fellows on, we'll talk with Margaret, how her Acquaintance grew with this lewd Fellow. [Exeunt.

Enter Benedick and Margaret.

Bene. Pray thee, sweet Mistress Margaret, deserve well at my Hands, by helping me to the Speech of Beatrice.

Marg. Will you then write me a Sonnet in praise of my Beauty?

Bene. In so high a Stile, Margaret, that no Man living shall come over it; for in most comely Truth thou deservest it.

Marg. To have no Man come over me? why, shall I always keep below Stairs?

Bene. Thy Wit is as quick as the Greyhound's Mouth, it catches.

Marg. And yours as blunt as the Fencers Foils, which hit, but hurt not.

Bene. A most manly Wit Margaret, it will not hurt a Woman; and so I pray thee call Beatrice; I give thee the Bucklers.

Marg. Give us the Swords, we have Bucklers of our own.

Bene,
Much Ado about Nothing.

Bene. If you use them Margaret, you must put in the Pikes with a Vice, and they are dangerous Weapons for Maids.

Marg. Well, I will call Beatrice to you, who I think hath Legs.

Bene. And therefore will come. The God of Love that fits above, and knows me, and knows me, how pitiful I deserve, I mean in Singing; but in loving, Leander the good Swimmer, Troilus the first Employer of Panders, and a whole Book full of these quondam Carpet-mongers, whose Names yet run smoothly in the even Road, of a blank Verse, why they were never so truly turn'd over, as my poor self in Love; marry I cannot shew it in Rhyme; I have try'd, I can find out no Rhime to Lady but Bady, an Innocents Rhime; for scorn, horn, a hard Rhime; for school, fool, a babling Rhime; very ominous Endings; no, I was not born under a Rhiming Planet, for I cannot woo in festival Terms.

Enter Beatrice.

Sweet Beatrice, wouldst thou come when I call thee?

Beat. Yea Signior, and depart when you bid me.

Bene. O stay but till then.

Beat. Then is spoken; fare you well now; and yet ere I go, let me go with that I came for, which is, with knowing what hath past between you and Claudio.

Bene. Only foul Words, and thereupon I will kiss thee.

Beat. Foul Words are but foul Wind, and foul Wind is but foul Breath, and foul Breath is noisome; therefore I will depart unkist.

Bene. Thou hast frighted the Word out of its right Sense, so forcible is thy Wit; but I must tell thee plainly, Claudio undergoes my Challenge, and either I must shortly hear from him, or I will subscribe him a Coward; and I pray thee now tell me, for which of my bad Parts didst thou first fall in Love with me?

Beat. For them all together, which maintain'd so politick a State of Evil, that they will not admit any good Part to intermingle with them: But for which of my good Parts did you first suffer Love for me? Bene.
Bene. Suffer Love! a good Epithete; I do suffer Love indeed, for I love thee against my Will.

Beat. In spight of your Heart, I think; alas poor Heart, if you spight it for my Sake, I will spight it for yours, for I will never love that which my Friend hates.

Bene. Thou and I are too wise to woo peaceably.

Beat. It appears not in this Confession; there's not one wise Man among twenty that will praise himself.

Bene. An old, an old Instance Beatrice, that liv'd in the Time of good Neighbours; if a Man do not erect in this Age his own Tomb ere he dies, he shall live no longer in Monuments than the Bells ring, and the Widow weeps.

Beat. And how long is that, think you?

Bene. Question? why an Hour in Clamour, and a Quarter in Rhewm; therefore it is most expedit for the Wife, if Don Worm (his Conscience) find no Impediment to the contrary, to be the Trumpet of his own Virtues, as I am to myself, so much for praising myself, who I myself will bear Witness is Praife-worthy; and now tell me how doth your Cousin?

Beat. Very ill.

Bene. And how do you?

Beat. Very ill too.

Enter Ursula.

Bene. Serve God, love me, and mend; there will I leave you too, for here comes one in haste.

Ursf. Madam, you must come to your Uncle; yonder's old Coil at home; it is proved my Lady Hero hath been falsely accus'd, the Prince and Claudio mightily abus'd, and Don John is the Author of all, who is fled and gone: Will you come presently?

Beat. Will you go hear this News, Signior?

Bene. I will live in thy Heart, die in thy Lap, and be buried in thy Eyes; and moreover, I will go with thee to thy Uncle.

[Exeunt.

Enter Don Pedro, Claudio, and Attendants with Tapers.

Claud. Is this the Monument of Leonato?

Atten. It is, my Lord.
EPITAPH.

Done to Death by slanderous Tongues,
Was the Hero that here liest:
Death, in guerdon of her Wrongs,
Gives her Fame which never dies:
So the Life that dy'd with Shame,
Lives in Death with glorious Fame.
Hang thou there upon the Tomb,
Praising her when I am dumb.

Claud. Now Musick sound and sing your solemn Hymn.

SONG.

Pardon, Goddess of the Night,
Those that slew the Virgin Knight;
For the which with Songs of Woe,
Round about her Tomb they go.
Midnight assist our Moan.
Help us to Sigh and Groan.
Heavily, heavily,
Graves yawn and yield your Dead,
'Till Death be uttered,
Heavenly, heavenly.

Claud. Now unto thy Bones good Night;
Yearly will I do this Right.

Pedro. Good Morrow Masters; put your Torches out,
The Wolves have prey'd; and look, the gentle Day
Before the Wheels of Phæbus, round about
Dapples the drowsie East with Spots of Grey.
Thanks to you all, and leave us; fare you well.

Claud. Good Morrow Masters; each his several Way.

Pedro. Come, let us hence, and put on other Weeds,
And then to Leonato's we will go.

Claud. And Hymen now with luckier Issue speed,
Than this for whom we rendred up this Woe. [Exeunt.
Enter Leonato, Benedick, Margaret, Ursula, Antonio, Friar, and Hero.

Friar. Did I not tell you she was innocent?

Leon. So are the Prince and Claudio who accus’d her,
Upon the Error that you heard debated.
But Margaret was in some Fault for this;
Although against her Will as it appears,
In the true Course of all the Question,

Ant. Well, I am glad that all things sort so well.

Bene. And so am I, being else by Faith enforc’d to call young Claudio to a reckoning for it.

Leon. Well Daughter, and young Gentlewomen all,
Withdraw into a Chamber by your selves,
And when I send for you come hither Mask’d:
The Prince and Claudio promis’d by this Hour
To visit me; you know your Office Brother,
You must be Father to your Brother’s Daughter,
And give her to young Claudio. [Exeunt Ladies.

Ant. Which I will do with confirm’d Countenance.

Bene. Friar, I must intreat your Pains, I think.

Friar. To do what, Signior?

Bene. To bind me, or undo me, one of them:
Signior Leonato, truth it is good Signior,
Your Neice regards me with an Eye of Favour.

Ant. That Eye my Daughter lent her, ’tis most true,

Bene. And I do with an Eye of Love requite her.

Leon. The Sight whereof I think you had from me,
From Claudio and the Prince; but what’s your Will?

Bene. Your Answer, Sir, is enigmatical;
But for my Will, my Will is, your good Will
May stand with ours, this Day to be conjoin’d
In the State of honourable Marriage,
In which, good Friar, I shall desire your help.

Leon. My Heart is with your liking.

Friar. And my help.

Enter Don Pedro and Claudio with Attendants.

Pedro. Good Morrow to this fair Assembly.

Leon. Good Morrow, Prince, good Morrow Claudio,
We here attend you; are you yet determin’d
To Day to marry with my Brother's Daughter?

Claud. I'll hold my Mind, were she an Ethiope.

Leon. Call her forth, Brother, here's the Friar ready.

Pedro. Good Morrow, Benedick, why what's the matter?

That you have such a February Face,
So full of Froth, of Storm, and Cloudiness?

Claud. I think he thinks upon the savage Bull:

Tush, fear not; Man, we'll tip the Horns with Gold;

And so all Europe shall rejoice at thee,

As once Europa did at lusty Jove,

When he would play the Noble Beast in Love.

Bene. Bull Jove, Sir, had an amiable Low,

And some such strange Bull leapt your Father's Cow;

And got a Calf in that same noble feat,

Much like to you, for you have just his Beat.

Enter Hero, Beatrice, Margaret, and Ursula.

Claud. For this Jove you; here come other Recknings.

Which is the Lady I must seize upon?

Leon. This fame is she, and I do give you her.

Claud. Why then she's mine; Sweet let me see your Face;

Leon. No, that you shall not, 'till you take her Hand

Before this Friar, and swear to marry her.

Claud. Give me your Hand before this holy Friar;

I am your Husband if you like of me.

Hero. And when I liv'd I was your other Wife;

[Unmasking.

And when you lov'd you were my other Husband.

Claud. Another Hero?

Hero. Nothing certainer.

One Hero dy'd, but I do live;

And surely as I live I am a Maid.

Pedro. The former Hero, Hero that is dead,

Leon. She dy'd my Lord, but whiles her Slander liv'd.

Friar. All this Amazement can I qualify.

When after that the holy Rites are ended,

I'll tell thee largely of fair Hero's Death:

Mean time let Wonder seem familiar,

And to the Chappel let us presently.

Bene. Soft and fair, Friar. Which is Beatrice?
Much Ado about Nothing.

Beat. I answer to that Name, what is your Will?
Bene. Do not you love me?
Beat. Why, no; no more than Reason.
Bene. Why, then your Uncle, and the Prince, and Claudio;
Have been deceiv'd, they swore you did.
Beat. Do not you love me?
Bene. Troth no. no more than Reason.
Beat. Why, then my Cousin, Margaret, and Ursula
Are much deceiv'd, for they did swear you did.
Bene. They swore you were almost sick for me.
Beat. They swore you were well-nigh dead for me.
Bene. 'Tis no matter, then you do not love me?
Beat. No truly, but in friendly recom pense.
Lemm. Come Cousin, I am sure you love the Gentleman
Claud. And I'll be sworn upon't that he loves her,
For here's a Paper written in his Hand,
A halting Sonnet of his own pure Brain,
Fashion'd to Beatrice.

Hero. And here's another,
Writ in my Cousin's Hand, stolen from her Pocket;
Containing her Affection unto Benedick.

Bene. A Miracle, here's our own Hands against our Hearts; come I will have thee, but by this Light I take thee for Pity.

Beat. I would not deny you, but by this good Day, I yield upon great Persuasion, and partly to save your Life, for as I was told, you were in a Consumption.

Lemm. Peace, I will stop your Mouth.

Pedro. How dost thou, Benedick, the Married Man?
Bene. I'll tell thee what, Prince, a College of Wittenbergs cannot flout me out of my Humour; dost thou think I care for a Satyr, or an Epigram? No, if a Man will be beaten with Brains, he shall wear nothing handsome about him; in brief, since I do propose to marry, I will think nothing to any purpose that the World can say against it; and therefore never flout at me, for what I have said against it; for Man is a giddy thing, and this is my conclusion; for thy part Claudio, I did think to have beaten thee, but in that thou art like to be my Kinsman, live unbruised, and love my Cousin.

Claud.
Claud. I had well hop’d thou wouldst have denied Beatrice, that I might have Cudgel’d thee out of thy single Life, to make thee a double Dealer, which out of Question thou wilt be, if my Cousin do not look exceeding narrowly to thee.
Bene. Come, come, we are Friends, let’s have a Dance:
ere we are Marry’d, that we may lighten our own Hearts,
and our Wives Heels.
Leon. We’ll have Dancing afterwards.
Bene. First, o’my Word; therefore play Mufick. Prince; thou art sad, get thee a Wife, get thee a Wife; there is no Staff more reverend than one tipt with Horn.
Enter Messengers.
Meff. My Lord, your Brother John is ta’ea in flight,
And brought with armed Men back to Messina.
Bene. Think not on him ’till to Morrow, I’ll devise thee
[Exeunt Omnes.

The End of the First Volume.
