

Medina Domestic Arts Studio: Guild Programs and Classes

Medina Domestic Arts Studio offers engaging, hands-on programs for quilt guilds, small groups, and private classes. Michele began her quilting business in 2009 and now focuses on fabric painting, embroidery, direct-to-film iron-on transfer designs, and creative embellishment techniques after selling her fabric store. Her classes are designed to be welcoming, practical, and inspiring, with most supplies provided so students can focus on learning new techniques and completing a project they are excited to take home.

Classes

Fabric Painting 101 Classes

Fabric Painting 101 is the recommended starting point for students who want to learn how to color on fabric without purchasing a large collection of supplies. Michele provides the fabric block or canvas bag, access to her coloring tool boxes, embellishments, and printed instructions. Students learn a variety of fabric coloring and painting techniques using fabric markers, Inktnse pencils, paints, and fabric medium. By the end of class, each student completes a project suitable for use in a quilt, pillow, bag, or decorative piece.

Themed Fabric 101 kits may include Texas bluebonnets, wildflowers, butterflies, hummingbirds, floral designs, sayings blocks, landscapes, sewing themes, and seasonal or holiday ornaments. Class fees vary by design and materials, generally ranging from $45 to $85, with optional bling kits available for many projects.

Denim Painting Classes

Denim painting classes focus on painting and embellishing denim shirts using acrylic markers, fabric medium, and fabric paint. Students may bring their own shirt or purchase one if available. Popular design options include Texas wildflowers, floral wreaths, mandalas, doodled owls, and cow skulls. Class fees generally range from $50 to $85, depending on the design, materials, and optional embellishment kits.

Direct-to-Film Iron-On Transfer Classes

Direct-to-film iron-on transfer classes introduce students to a versatile method for embellishing T-shirts, garments, and quilt-related projects. This class includes approximately one hour of lecture followed by two hours of hands-on instruction. Students learn how to apply and use DTF transfers on a variety of surfaces and projects. The base class price is $45 per student, plus the cost of each transfer used during class.

Guild Expenses, Class Costs, and Logistics

Most classes include the required kit, use of Michele's supplies, printed instructions, and basic materials needed to complete the selected project. Optional embellishment or bling kits may be available for an additional fee. Class fees are based on the selected project, design complexity, and materials required.

Class size requirements depend on travel distance. For venues within two hours of Michele's studio, the minimum class size is 8 students. For venues two hours or more from the studio, the minimum class size is 10 students. The standard maximum class size is 15 students, though larger groups may be considered depending on the selected class and kit. For lectures and workshops farther than two hours from the studio, Michele typically travels by RV in order to bring the necessary supplies. Lodging costs are based on campsite fees, usually $20 to $60 per night. Door-to-door mileage is reimbursed at the current federal government mileage rate.

Trunk Shows

Trunk shows are available for guilds at a cost of $450 for a 1 to 1½ hour presentation, including a coloring demonstration. Current trunk show options include Fabric Painting 101, which demonstrates how to use a wide variety of coloring tools on fabric, and Clothing and Quilt Embellishments Using Direct-to-Film Transfers, which highlights creative ways to use DTF transfers on garments and quilt projects. Travel expenses, including mileage and campsite fees when applicable, are reimbursed separately.
