NOVEMBER 2026 | COMMUNITY • EDUCATION • OPPORTUNITY

LLH Healthcare Connection

Your monthly connection to healthcare education, career growth, and the LLH community.

THIS MONTH: LEARN. GROW. GIVE THANKS.

November is a time to recognize progress, celebrate the people who support our journeys, and look ahead to new opportunities in healthcare.

A Message from LLH

As we enter the season of gratitude, we want to thank our students, graduates, instructors, clinical partners, and families for being part of the LLH community. Every new skill learned and every step toward a healthcare career matters. Whether you are beginning your journey or continuing to grow, we are proud to be part of your story.

Explore Your Future in Healthcare

Discover career-focused learning opportunities in Phlebotomy, Clinical Medical Assisting, EKG, Nursing Assisting, Medical Administrative Assisting, and Pharmacy Technician studies. Program formats, start dates, and availability vary. Visit our website for the latest enrollment information.

New: A More Interactive Online Learning Experience

Our updated online courses are designed for flexibility and active learning. Students can move through structured lessons at their own pace, use an AI-powered tutor for additional guidance, and strengthen understanding through checkpoints, practice activities, and knowledge checks. Online learning is available from $99 per month for participating courses; check current course details and terms before enrolling.

LLH School of Phlebotomy
& Healthcare Technicians

Learning & Career Spotlight

Pharmacy Technician: A Path Worth Exploring

Interested in pharmacy operations and patient care support? LLH offers an online introductory Pharmacy Technician course for learners who want to explore foundational pharmacy concepts. Ask about the separate instructor-led, in-person Pharmacy Technician Program for students seeking a more structured training experience. Course availability and certification eligibility should be confirmed before registration.

Healthcare Career Tip: Make Your Skills Visible

Employers value dependability, professionalism, communication, and attention to detail. This month, update your résumé with specific clinical or administrative skills you have practiced. Prepare a brief example of how you handled a challenge, followed safety procedures, or supported a patient. For interviews, be ready to explain not just what you learned, but how you apply it.

STUDY SMARTER WITH LLH

Explore interactive study flashcards and downloadable learning activities for healthcare students. Practice terminology, reinforce core concepts, and build confidence with repeatable review tools. Browse current digital products in the LLH online store.

Student Success Corner

Try a simple weekly study routine: set one specific learning goal, review material in short sessions, quiz yourself without looking at your notes, and revisit missed questions. Consistent practice can make a meaningful difference in retaining new information.

Community Recognition

We are grateful for the recognition and encouragement LLH has received from our community. We look forward to sharing more school milestones, student achievements, and partnership highlights in upcoming editions.

What’s Happening at LLH

Upcoming Classes & Enrollment

Considering a new healthcare career? Check the LLH website for current program descriptions, registration details, tuition information, and upcoming start dates. Some programs offer different learning formats, including in-person, hybrid, and online options. Contact the school to confirm which format is available for your chosen program.

November Focus: Gratitude in Healthcare

Healthcare is built on service, teamwork, and compassion. This month, take a moment to thank a mentor, classmate, instructor, coworker, or clinical partner who has helped you grow. Small expressions of appreciation strengthen the communities that make patient care possible.

A Thanksgiving Message

From all of us at LLH School of Phlebotomy & Healthcare Technicians, we wish you and your loved ones a safe, peaceful, and meaningful Thanksgiving. Thank you for trusting us to be part of your educational journey. We look forward to continuing to help students develop confidence and real-world healthcare skills.

START YOUR HEALTHCARE JOURNEY

Explore programs, find enrollment information, and browse study resources at llhschoolofphlebotomy.com.

Train today. Change tomorrow.

LLH School of Phlebotomy & Healthcare Technicians
2211 Hwy 77, Suite 103 • Lynn Haven, FL 32444
Website: llhschoolofphlebotomy.com

Publication note: Program offerings, pricing, schedules, and availability are subject to change. Refer to the school website or admissions team for current details.