

The UHFS was busy this past summer attending 3 musters organized by the SPAAMFAA chapters Pennsylvania Pump Primers, Cradle of Liberty Antique Fire Apparatus Association and Glasstown Antique Fire Brigade. PA Pump Primers put on one heck of a show with a fire memorabilia auction on Friday night at the museum and an event packed muster on Saturday. This weekend filled the void left by the cancellation of the Allentown Spring Melt. With outstanding airline vouchers, the left coast contingent came into town and observed a muster that had antique apparatus pumping on the river, water games and a park full of vendors. It was great to see other collectors and mingle with the vendors who were sorely missed over the past year.

NOTE: We are still working on a location to hold our November 14th meeting in which nominations for officers and Board of Directors will be held. Notifications will be sent out via email once confirmed.

Union Fire Company No. 1 was founded in 1749. This, their 2nd firehouse, was built in 1863 and served as an active firehouse until 1992. Restoration efforts began in 2002 and the building reopened in 2013 as the Salem Fire Museum. The museum is open from 9am until 12pm on the 1st Saturday of the month. www.facebook.com/SalemFireMuseum

Salem fire companies included Union (est. 1749), Reliance (1825), Liberty (1866), Washington (1867) and North Bend (1904).

Shopbuilt 1914 Model T Chemical Car. A Obenchain Boyer chemical tank was retrofitted to this 1914 Ford Model T. 16 pounds of sodium bicarbonate was added to the water in the 40 gallon tank. 8 pounds (approx. 1/2 gallon) of 98% sulfuric acid was contained in a glass jar within the tank. At the fire the glass jar was broken. Acid and the sodium bicarbonate chemically reacted forming carbon dioxide that caused enough pressure to push water out the fire hose. Chemical tanks were used from the late 1800's to the early 1930's.
