

Empowering Future Ready Students!

The School Year is Booted Up . . .

Milton Area School District's 18-19 digital conversion year is booted up, and the innovative use of technology in teaching and learning is engaging students and staff from K to 12! Each elementary student has an assigned iPad and secondary students have laptops to use as their learning device. Tools such as Microsoft's Class Notebook provide the digital environment to engage students in collaborative and differentiated learning. Edgenuity is also being used in pilot classrooms to create personalized learning paths based on the students' skill levels in reading and math and other core subjects. Check out the pictures and student comments below as they are empowered to be future ready!

These 2nd graders love to learn in the STEM labs and here's why . . .

"Anything is possible! It let's your mind run wild while building and creating with a great team!"

This 5th grader enjoys learning with her iPad and here's why . . .

"Math learning videos are fun to watch and let you learn and practice at your own pace."

These 8th graders think MASD's digital conversion is cool and here's why . . .

"With our assigned laptops, there's no more rummaging through papers. We can organize all our learning on the laptops. Microsoft's OneNote makes it easy to organize digital notes, images, and documents."
