Happy Thanksgiving!

No amount of thank you's would be enough for all the love I've received from you as I begin my career. I truly feel like I can't say it enough but thank you for following along and supporting me! Navigating this next chapter has been foreign and new and I'm just really glad to be continuing on it with so many incredible people in my corner.

I hope you have a wonderful Thanksgiving and you are able to spend the holiday with people who make you feel loved! I'm gonna roadtrip up to Seattle for a couple days with some childhood friends, those who are more like family to me. I'll get to show them a bit around Oregon as well, which I'm so excited for as I've come to really enjoy living here.

My next event will actually be a lot quicker than I previously foresaw! I'm competing in The Arizona Women's Open on The Cactus Tour on December 12-14 in Sun City, AZ. This will be my first event as a pro that's not a qualifier, so I'm really excited to compete in some (hopefully) sunny, but definitely warmer weather!! I decided to play in this event so my off season wouldn't be a full 5 months. Honestly, it can get difficult to keep motivated to practice in the rainy/cold Oregon weather and playing in this tournament is a way to help keep me on top of my preparation – on the course, in the gym, and mentally.

The official 2026 LPGA schedule has been released by the time you're reading this, but Epson and WAPT (Women's All Pro Tour) schedules will be released sometime in December. Within the next month or so, I'll be able to have a better idea of what next year is going to look like. Hopefully by the time I write my next newsletter, I'll have a schedule to share with you as well!

That's all for this newsletter! I decided to keep it on the shorter side. Thank you again for continuing to support me through my career. Have a great Thanksgiving holiday!
