

Spirit of Joy LUTHERAN CHURCH

Glad to be back!

Returning from vacation to double-digit temperatures has been a welcome shift from mid-September. I want to thank Pastor Gwen Brandfass and Jim Butler for covering for me during my absence. And also all those folks that made sure things ran smoothly while Pat and I were enjoying our family and friends and time at the lake. I feel like now is the time to “hit the ground running”. This month we begin Adult Forum, host a speaker from Lutheran Social Services, Hannah Miller, and we celebrate Reformation Sunday on the 31st. I would like to welcome new members (some who joined months ago) on that Sunday.

Please take the time to read through the newsletter. Much is going on – book groups, committees, Joy Pack ministry, Torrey’s Monday/Tuesday class on Philippians, not to mention the Blessing of the Animals on Sunday, October 3rd! Council is gearing up for the Annual Meeting on November 14th. The nominating committee will be seeking out those who are willing to serve in a leadership capacity. Please prayerfully consider your response to an invitation to serve. Or step up and volunteer. This is YOUR church, and our community thrives with the contribution of time and talents from all.

Yours in Christ,

Pastor Sharon

DAYTIME BOOK CLUB

The Beekeeper of Aleppo

Christy Lefteri, 2019

Random House 336 pp.

ISBN-13: 9781984821218

Summary

This unforgettable novel puts human faces on the Syrian war with the immigrant story of a beekeeper, his wife, and the triumph of spirit when the world becomes unrecognizable.

Nuri is a beekeeper and Afra, his wife, is an artist. Mornings, Nuri rises early to hear the call to prayer before driving to his hives in the countryside. On weekends, Afra sells her colorful landscape paintings at the open-air market. They live a simple life, rich in family and friends, in the hills of the beautiful Syrian city of Aleppo—until the unthinkable happens. When all they love is destroyed by war, Nuri knows they have no choice except to leave their home. But escaping Syria will be no easy task: Afra has lost her sight, leaving Nuri to navigate her grief as well as a perilous journey through Turkey and Greece toward an uncertain future in Britain.

Nuri is sustained only by the knowledge that waiting for them is his cousin Mustafa, who has started an apiary in Yorkshire and is teaching fellow refugees beekeeping. As Nuri and Afra travel through a broken world, they must confront not only the pain of their own unspeakable loss but dangers that would overwhelm even the bravest souls. Above all, they must make the difficult journey back to each other, a path once so familiar yet rendered foreign by the heartache of displacement.

Moving, intimate, and beautifully written, The Beekeeper of Aleppo is a book for our times: a novel that at once reminds us that the most peaceful and ordinary lives can be utterly upended in unimaginable ways and brings a journey in faraway lands close to home, never to be forgotten.

Join us on October 28th at 2pm via a hybrid Zoom meet. Those who cannot come to the church will receive a Zoom invite from Judy Haslow. All are welcome to participate in the discussions!

THE WORLD IS ABOUT TO TURN

Pastor Naomi - October 2021

Summary of Chapter One Continues

“How can salvation be believed when we refuse to save refugees, or hope grasped when we deny it to immigrants, or justice pursued when we refuse it to the oppressed, or faith accepted when we don’t have faith in those different from us, or love known when we deny it to our neighbors, strangers, and even our enemies?”

Where Do We Go from Here?

“The changing religious and political landscape offers incredible challenges as well as opportunities. One need only connect the dots to see how we arrived at our present situation of a polarized climate laced with bigotry, misogyny, and a lack of civility. Societal critics argue that America has lost its way, and we appear to have abandoned such core values as hospitality, fairness, and mutual respect. As a result, it appears Americans may be more divided today than during the Civil War. How do we find common ground so that we can move forward together into a more just and hopeful future?”

“America was founded on a number of freedom principals that are embedded in the US Constitution. (1) the freedom to practice one’s religion without fear of persecution; (2) the freedom of speech and the right to express one’s opinion without fear of reprisal; (3) the freedom of the press to ensure that those in position of power are held accountable; (4) the freedom of public assembly that allows for citizens to legally gather in protest or to campaign for a cause they think is right; (5) the freedom to bear arms in order to protect oneself and one’s country. These freedoms were not necessarily carved out of the Judeo-Christian tradition as some believe, but rather were intended to protect the citizens of a new land against the tyranny and abuse of power they had experienced in Europe. Most of all, these freedoms were intended for the ‘common good’ in America and to promote the welfare of all its citizens. In our individualistic culture of today, that spirit has been lost on those who revel in the partisan divide, claiming their cause is righteous while demonizing those who disagree.

“There is even a growing rift among those of the Christian tradition. Theologian Marcus Borg offers the following observation: We live in a time of a deeply divided Christianity...Rather, the major division is between what I call ‘an earlier Christian paradigm’ and an ‘emerging Christian paradigm,’ between a belief-centered way of being Christian and a transformational-centered way of being Christian. To use conventional labels the division is between conservative and progressive Christians. The former are commonly called evangelical Christians, both by themselves and others. The latter are found mostly in mainline denominations.

“Most recently a group of spiritual leaders from mainline American Protestant denominations issued a manifesto called ‘Reclaiming Jesus: A Confession of Faith in a Time of Crisis.’ Their main argument suggests that those of the Christian persuasion must begin by understanding the basic message of Jesus and then measure all actions and pronouncements by the gospel’s admonition to ‘love they neighbor.’

“This is a testing time for the country as a whole, but a moment that presents a particular challenge to the Christian Churches. The battle within Christianity (and not just in the United States) can be defined in many ways. It is at least in part between those who would use faith as a means of excluding others on the basis of nation, culture, and too often race, and those who see it as an appeal to conscience, a prod to social decency—and yes, an invitation to love. We are proposing a way forward for a culture that has become confused and conflicted. The promise of our society lies in our ability to envision a new future that is just, fair, and true. (pp 12-15)

IN-REACH / OUTREACH NEWS

Hannah Miller, Director of Community Engagement from Lutheran Social Services will be our guest speaker on October 17th. She will attend some of Adult Forum to give a brief invitation to her talk following worship.

Verde Valley Annual Fall Festival

In Reach/Outreach Team is again sponsoring a booth at the Verde Valley Fairgrounds 9th Annual Fall Festival on Saturday, October 30th from 8am-4 pm. Please help SOJ spread the good news of who we are at SOJ. What a great time to share the historical beginnings of Halloween and how the Mexican communities celebrate Dia de Muertos (Day of the Dead) associated with the Catholic All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day celebrations on November 1st & 2nd.

This will be an event for children, but also a time for adults to fully understand how these two holidays intertwine or overlap.

For this event to be successful we need volunteers to man the booth and donations of the following: bottled water and prizes for the games (corn hole and pin the nose on the pumpkin) and a coloring table. There is a signup sheet in the narthex for tending the booth. If you have questions, please call team members.

WELCA Bible Study...

...will meet on Thursday, October 21st at 2pm in the Conference Room
Call Judy Haslow if you prefer to join via Zoom.
We will be using the Session Two Bible Study Guide from the Sept/Oct.

WELCA NEWS

September 9, 2021, 9 AM at Georgie's Cafe. Seven ladies in attendance including Pastor Sharon.

- It was decided that WELCA at SOJ would continue its meetings, as it was agreed that members enjoy the social interaction in a service capacity to SOJ.
- Dee Suhr and Marie Parkinson are the new co-presidents for the next year. Deanna Codner continues to be the secretary pro-tem. Dee Suhr will contact Vi Hanson regarding the treasurer's position, as Dee is co-signer on the WELCA bank account.
- Discussion regarding future projects:
 - ◇ Taste of Christmas: Food items for sale is questionable at this time due to COVID concerns. (Maybe coffee and hot apple cider and purchased individually wrapped snack items for a nominal fee?). Instead, we could have a craft show and/or a church rummage sale similar to the one we had the last time in the courtyard. It was noted that Immaculate Conception Catholic Church is having their annual craft fair the first weekend of December, and in the past years, Cottonwood also held the Christmas Parade.
 - ◇ Pastor Sharon encouraged WELCA organizers ask for help from the congregation to promote community comraderie.
 - ◇ WELCA is open to any other ideas for events this year.
 - ◇ Coffee and snacks have resumed in the Fellowship Hall after Sunday service. To be a Host or Hostess, please sign the Fellowship schedule. (You have your choice of dates.)

The next meeting is scheduled for 9 am on October 14th in the Fellowship Hall, at which time a pantry clean-up will commence. Ruth Tasa and Patti Bays are the co-hostesses. Church member participation would be appreciated.

Respectfully submitted: Dee Suhr, Marie Parkinson, Deanna Codner

THANK YOU!

THANK YOU to all of you who so graciously reached out to me with your thoughts, prayers and cards during the past few months...the Body of Christ in Action!
