

SPEECH & LANGUAGE ACTIVITIES

Little Pea

by Amy Krouse Rosenthal

The story Little Pea presents fabulous learning opportunities for children to develop their speech and language skills.

Ask your kids wh-questions to see if your kids understood the story and their ability to recall details. If you're working on increasing mean length utterance, you can ask the kids to use complete sentences. For example, "Who did Papa Pea fling in the air?" Encourage the student to respond, "Little Pea goes up!"

Examples of Wh Questions?

- * Who does Little Pea live with?
- * Where did Little Pea like to roll?
- * Who did Little Pea like to hang out with?
- * What did Papa Pea use to fling Little Pea with?
- * When did Little Pea snuggle with his Mama Pea?
- * What did Little Pea have to eat for dinner?
- * How many pieces of candy did Little Pea have to eat?

When working on these speech/language skills, I often like to use reinforcing materials to keep my kiddos engaged. After answering a question or practicing a speech sound, the child earns a turn to roll the dice, or earn a peg or puzzle piece (depending on the activity).

Reinforcing & Engaging

- * Provide the student with a strip of graph paper, or small spaces on a paper. After your student practices his/her speech sound or answers a question, provide him/her with a dried pea, or green pom pom to fill in spaces
- * Have child earn the small colored candies from our patterning printables, to form a line or place in a pretend "candy jar"
- * With each successful response, allow your kiddo to "fling" a pom pom with a plastic spoon

Sequencing

- * Work on sequencing skills by retelling the story.
- * Children can act out and re-tell the story using small manipulatives or props (i.e., basket full of stuffed animals).

Little pea lived at home with his mama and papa. He was a happy pea. He liked hanging out with his friends and his family. There was one thing that little pea didn't like, candy. Every night, little pea had to eat candy for dinner. That made little pea sad because he hated candy. Papa pea told little pea to eat his candy so that he can grow big and strong. Mama pea told little pea to eat 5 pieces of candy so that he can have dessert. Little pea ate all five pieces of candy! Yuck!!! Mama pea gave him his favorite dessert, spinach! Yay! Little pea was so happy.
