Captain Hyperscaler and Futurism Technologies Announce Partnership

Captain Hyperscaler LLC and Futurism Technologies are bringing security awareness and managed security services together for organizatoins.

DETROIT – Captain Hyperscaler and Futurism Technologies have agreed upon a partnership that provides customers with combined risk and user awareness training services and managed security operations services.

"Captain Hyperscaler, LLC saw an opportunity with Futurism Technologies to bring a deeper level of risk and user awareness, and support business that need managed security services," CEO Dwayne Natwick said. "We're excited to launch our new services under Captain Cyberscaler to continue the Skill Up Like a Super Hero™ mission included with a fully managed SOC for customers."

Futurism is constantly innovating to address the various cybersecurity pain points and challenges faced by security and IT teams in detecting, analyzing and responding to coming-of-age threats through its Managed Security Services, delivered via world-class C-SOC, equipped with certified SOC engineers and analysts 24/7. In combination with Captain Hyperscaler's 30+ years in IT and 10+ years of technical training and education experience, your organization has a solid support structure for building proactive security operations and educating stakeholders to reduce risk and improve security posture for hybrid cloud environments.

"No matter how large or how small, businesses today are at risk from cyber attacks. Most companies don't have the staff or skills to cover their network and cybersecurity needs on a 24x7x365 basis," said Leo Cole, Cyber Security Executive at Futurism Technologies. "Being able to combine security awareness and training from Captain Hyperscaler with Network and Security managed services from Futurism gives customers a full package of protection and compliance that they can afford."
