Meet Elissa

Elissa has always known what it means to win and to succeed. But a few years ago, after a life-changing diagnosis, Elissa's approach to success and her inner fight became more important than ever. Elissa's story will leave audiences inspired, confident, and determined to find their own success, whatever that may mean to them.

Elissa's Story

At 34, Elissa faced a Stage IV Metastatic Breast Cancer diagnosis, just before her daughter's first birthday. Her fighting spirit wouldn't let her sit back or simply try to survive. Instead, in her 5th round of chemo, Elissa launched WeGotThis.org – the world's first nonprofit cancer gift registry. WeGotThis.org provides a platform for cancer thrivers to comfortably request the items they really need, and gives their loved ones the chance to support them in a meaningful way.

Elissa's unique story and incredible approach to life have the power to shift the mindset of others who may be feeling stuck or in need of inspiration. The choice to thrive in the face of adversity can motivate powerful changes in whoever hears Elissa speak. It's something that can encourage growth, resilience, and connection in both individuals and organizations.

ABOUT ELISSA

“Elissa is a true pro. Not only was she a joy to work with, she was an expert storyteller and presenter. Her story, execution, and overall partnership far exceeded our expectations.”
