Roy REID

Many refer to Roy Reid as a living miracle. His inspirational story of survival is the foundation for the important message he delivers on the transformational power of trust. In 2019, he was struck down by a cardiac event that most medical professionals say should have ended his life. Instead, it transformed it into a purpose Roy describes as: “love people, be grateful, give generously and make a difference”.

As a coach, strategist, and co-author of The Trust Transformation, Roy works with CEOs and organizations to strengthen relationships, elevate performance, and create resilient, values-driven teams.
