Department: 001. Open AG/ Horticulture

Department specific rules:

- *All sheaves, grain, forage crops and grasses must be at least 5 inches minimum in circumference just below the head. Sheaves measuring less will be eliminated from competition.
- *Grain sheaves should be snugly tied in at least three places. Forage crops and grass sheaves should be tied securely.

Hints to Exhibitors:

In judging threshed grains, the points most considered are purity, uniformity and fitness of the sample for the purpose for which the particular grain is used.

In Sheaf samples of grain, peas and safflower, the evidence of high yielding ability and the condition of the samples are regarded as important. Sheaves of grain are not judged on their forage qualities.

Preparation of Samples:

Cut grain a few days before it is ready to combine and after it has lost its green color. Select best heads and cut full length of straw. Be sure that samples never get wet after being cut. Make into sheaves before straw is too dry and brittle. Make sheaves at least 5 inches in circumference just below the heads. Tie snugly in at least three places. Hang with heads down until time to exhibit. Sheaves will be judged on the following basis:

Purity: True to variety, free from mixture of weeds, characteristic.....	25%
Quality and Condition: Of good quality, uniform, in prime condition, free from rust.....	55%
Arrangement: Sheaf material arranged properly to present neat appearance.....	20%
Total.....	100%

Threshed grains: Take samples from bin of threshed grain. Samples should then be thoroughly cleaned, all grain mixtures and weed seed being removed with a grain grader or by hand. Grain must have been grown in current r preceding year. Sample can be exhibited at fair only once.

Sheaf Forage Exhibits: Select the most leafy types to be found in the field, the best individual specimens obtainable, and cut close to the ground.

Lay sample out thinly in dark, airy place or hang in loose bundles head down in dark place to cure.

Purpose is to retain darkest color, to be free of any moisture or mildew, and to be as leafy as possible. Remove all coarse, thick stems.

Make bundles 5 inches minimum in circumference just below the head and tie securely. Grain can be grown in 2022 or 2024, but sample to be exhibited at fair only once.

Hints to Exhibitors Vegetables at fairs:

By Orville W. McCarver
Extension Horticulturist

The following are a few pointers on how to produce, handle and prepare vegetables for exhibition. All vegetables need sustenance (fertilizer and secondary and trace elements), water, sunlight, air and warm weather. Also, all need adequate growing space. A lack of any of these things can result in low quality vegetables. A stable moisture supply is important for quality as well.

Poor type is often caused by uneven watering and by overcrowding. So the gardener, in their first step of producing quality vegetables, must have fairly good soil, not in the shade, with adequate and frequent chances to supply water. They will need to take pains in spacing at seeding time or thin out the plants later. To avoid defects, they may need to control insects and diseases, hill up underground crops (carrots, beets, radishes, parsnips, rutabagas and potatoes) to avoid sun burning. After producing fine vegetables, they must get them ready for showing off and judging. Emphasis on preparation will vary. For example: Little emphasis can be put on the length of stems because stem length does not add or subtract from the value of a vegetable. However, careless harvesting of vegetables, such as cucumbers and summer squash, cannot only remove the stem, but take part of the flesh from the vegetable. Hence, the leaving of some stem is important. If specimens are effectively displayed, they must be clean. So much emphasis is put on the factor of cleanliness.

For all root crops: Cut the tops off, leaving approximately ¾ inch of top intact with the root. Wash roots gently, but avoid injury to the skin. If storage is necessary, put them in a cool, moist place. Root crops include beets, carrots, radishes, rutabagas, turnips, parsnips, artichokes, horseradish and others.

Cabbage: Remove only diseased or damaged leaves and wrapper leaves.

Celery: celeriac, swiss chard and spinach: Remove the roots and underground portion of them, but leave the crown.

Wash if needed. Keep in a moist and cool place.

Herbs: (parsley, dill, basil, thyme, sage, chives): Five stems. Keep moist unless otherwise specified.

Onions (dry, stem not over 2"): Approximately two weeks before fair, pull and twist tops and remove outer layer of dirty skin only. Spread them in an open shed so air will pass over them until time to take to fair. Remove the tops and strip off roots, but in doing so, avoid damage to the node or basal plate. Choose well formed bulbs, avoiding "doubles", thick necks or other off type specimens.

Garlic: Should be dried. Same as dried onions.

Onions (green, ½ inch diameter or less): Dig immediately prior to going to fair. Avoid damage to node or basal plate. Leave tops on. Remove outer layer of skin to get soil off. Wash. Choose specimens that are well blanched or white. Trim roots to 3/8 " – ½ ". Trim top 4"-6" above the white stalk.

Leeks: Are treated as green onions.

Sweet corn: Remove part of husk leaving two or three layers for protection against drying. Cut off stem back to the outer layer of husk. Choose well pollinated and well-developed ears with good tip cover and tip fill, in the "milk state."

Cucumbers: Harvest by cutting stems, leaving approximately ¼ inch of stem. Avoid injury to fruit. Wash if necessary. Choose well shaped specimens, those extremely pointed, dumbbells, and badly crooked are looked on as off type.

Eggplant: Leave stem intact with fruit. Choose specimens with skins not dry but firm to the feel, or those which are tender and succulent. Uniformity is important, too.

Kohlrabi: Remove roots, but leave ½ inch above ground portion of stem. Remove leaves, but avoid injury to the skin. Tenderness is important.

Muskmelon: Leave about 1 inch of stem. Wash if necessary.

Watermelon: Same as muskmelon.

Peas: Choose those that are sweet, moist and tender and not those that are not bitter, dry and tough or woody. Wash if necessary.

Peppers: (sweet): Choose specimens that are firm or meaty. Leave approximately ¼ to ½ inch of stem. Keep in a cool moist place. Avoid injury. Wash if necessary. If premium list calls for green peppers, then do not include ripe or even partially ripe (reddening) specimens.

Lettuce: Leave crown. Remove root.

Potatoes: Immediately after digging tubers, allow them to set on the ground for approximately 20 minutes to allow skin to "set". Avoid rough handling or cuts, skinning and bruising. Wash gently. Select medium to large tubers which are smooth and free of any defect.

Red Norland have shallow eyes, smooth skin and an oblong shape.

Red Vikings have shallow eyes, a large oblong shape.

Red LaSota have a smooth skin, a round shape.

White Kennebec have shallow eyes, a thin smooth skin, round shape.

White Norgold Russet have shallow eyes, a smooth brown skin with golden netting and an oblong shape.

Pumpkins: Cut stem where it naturally attaches to vine. Wash.

Rhubarb: Remove all green portion of leaf. Leave base of petiole (stem) intact. Leave 1 inch of top. Wash. Stalks must be tender and juicy.

Summer Squash: Leave stem. Choose tender specimens. For the long type, they may be 5-8 inches long. For the round type and crooked necks, choose those which are very tender and succulent. Some types are ready for uses as soon as the blossom is withered.

Winter Squash: Same as pumpkin.

Tomatoes (ripe): Remove stems. Avoid injury. Choose those free of cracking.

Tomatoes (green): Leave stems. Choose specimens which are not turning red.

Apples and Cherries: Leave stems.

The following is a list of common criticisms by vegetable judge:

1. Beyond optimum use or not prime.
2. Tough vegetables due to inadequate watering and overcrowding.
3. Poor type due to uneven watering and overcrowding.
4. Dirty (uncleaned) onions.
5. Onions not dry, yet entered as dry onions.
6. Wrong entry. Example white onions entered as brown onions.
7. Worm holes in leafy vegetables. These worms can be controlled with botanical insecticides, such as rotenone, Dorrin, Cube, Pyrethrum and others.

JULY 22 - 26 | 2025

8. Snap bean pods not well developed.
9. Cabbage and lettuce heads not solid.
10. Green shoulders on carrots. Hill them up.
11. White rings in beets and beets beyond primeness.
Plant beets at two or three intervals of time.
12. Shriveled roots caused by scraping or abrading the skin.
13. Lacking in uniformity.
14. Radishes that are pithy.
15. Tomatoes with stem punctures.
16. Sweet corn not well pollinated or with missing kernels.
17. Cucumbers extremely tapered or dumb belled.
18. Broccoli heads with open flowers.
19. Cauliflower that is not white and is "riced".
20. Black heart in celery or celeriac.
21. Potatoes with skins green in color.
22. Maggot and wireworm damage on roots, potatoes and other crops.
23. Vegetables waxed, oiled, dyed or having natural characters obscured.

Judging Factors: Condition, type and uniformity are three main things judges may go by.

Condition includes primeness or the optimum stage of maturity for intended use, tenderness or toughness, size, cleanliness, freedom from damage, preparation and freedom from defects caused by insects, diseases and any other thing. Size is important to the extent that a specimen should be large enough to be usable. The sample of largest specimens need not get first prize every time. Type includes trueness in shape to variety name and the degree of toughness or smoothness. Uniformity includes the factors of consistency in type, color, size and quality. Condition and type are often directly related to the actual value (nutritional, palatability or preparability) of the vegetables. Though the factor of uniformity is demanded on the market today, it adds nothing to the actual value of the vegetable, yet we do not ignore it.

Emphasis among the factors of condition, type and uniformity will vary among vegetable species. Primeness or stage of maturity is critically important with sweet corn, asparagus, snap beans, broccoli, cauliflower, cucumbers, eggplant, peas, spinach and summer squash. Uniformity is especially important for baking potatoes, cucumbers and some others.

Type is very important for potatoes, tomatoes, cucumbers, onions and others. Therefore, point scoring will vary from one species of vegetable to the next. When possible, include variety name on entry tag.
