

A Docuseries by Film-A-Mite Inc.

TAGLINE

Lights, Camera... Credit Cards.

OVERVIEW

No Budget Blockbuster is a hilarious, heartfelt, and unfiltered documentary series that follows filmmaker Ryan McGonagle and his rag-tag crew as they attempt to make a $200,000 feature film HOUSE IN THE MIDDLE OF NOWHERE with nothing but grit, duct tape, and delusion. This isn't Hollywood glamour; it's filmmaking in the trenches, maxed-out credit cards, late-night rewrites, miracle favors, and the eternal optimism that somehow, it'll all come together.

THE SERIES

Spanning multiple chapters, each episode dives into a new stage of independent filmmaking. From the chaos of pre-production and the absurdity of casting calls, to on-set disasters and the final red-carpet premiere. Along the way, the crew learns that passion, not money, is the real fuel of creativity. Its PROJECT GREENLIGHT meets JACKASS, with the emotional honesty of FULL TILT BOOGIE.

WHY IT MATTERS

In an era of billion-dollar franchises, No Budget Blockbuster celebrates the underdogs, the dreamers who make movies because they can't not make them. It's a love letter to every filmmaker who's ever begged, borrowed, and hustled to bring their vision to life.

THE VISION

Produced by Film-A-Mite Inc., No Budget Blockbuster isn't just a docuseries, it's a movement to inspire the next generation of filmmakers. With humor, heart, and total transparency, the series proves that sometimes the biggest blockbusters are made with the smallest budgets.
