

UNSOLVED HOMICIDE

NORTH PROVIDENCE, RI

KIMBERLY SUE MORSE

$20,000 reward for information leading to her killer's arrest

In the early hours of January 19, 2000, Kimberly Morse was ambushed by a man waiting in her home at Brick Manor Condominiums in North Providence. Her throat was slashed and she was stabbed several times. Kim's killer dragged her body into the bathtub, covered her face, torso and legs with towels, doused her in gasoline and lit her on fire. The killer left their DNA at the scene but no profile match was found. Kim's case remains unsolved.
