

UpState Craft Cannabis is a boutique, family-owned operation in upstate New York, dedicated to producing high-quality cannabis for consumers who appreciate craftsmanship and personal care. As a husband-and-wife team, we handle every aspect of cultivation and processing ourselves, ensuring that each plant receives the attention it deserves. With our son managing sales we are truly a family-run business where everyone plays a key role in delivering exceptional products to our customers.

Our cannabis products are grown using advanced hydroponic techniques in a controlled indoor environment, allowing us to produce high-quality crops year-round. This method gives us precise control over every detail, from nutrient delivery to lighting, humidity, and temperature, ensuring that our plants thrive in ideal conditions. The result is cannabis that consistently exceeds expectations in potency, flavor, and aroma, free from harmful chemicals or pesticides.

One of the things that sets UpState Craft Cannabis apart is our careful selection of strains. We choose each one for its unique qualities, focusing on balanced effects, superior quality, and broad appeal. Whether you're looking for something to relax with or spark creativity, our handpicked strains offer a range of experiences for even the most discerning consumer. As a boutique operation, we take immense pride in our work. Every stage of the process, from cultivation to packaging, is handled with care and attention to detail. We believe cannabis is more than just a product—it's a craft, and our goal is to deliver an exceptional, consistent experience every time. Our family's commitment to quality and our hands-on approach make each product from UpState Craft Cannabis something special.

Whether you're new to cannabis or a seasoned connoisseur, UpState Craft Cannabis offers a premium product that reflects our dedication to excellence. With our family working together to cultivate, process, and sell year-round, we invite you to experience the passion and quality that goes into everything we do.

Welcome to the UpState Craft Cannabis, where family, quality, and craftsmanship come together to provide an exceptional cannabis experience.
