Goss, FPF cracking open 'Pink Peanut Soiree'

Pink-themed girls party set for Saturday night at Fatigueands.

By SARAH WICKSTEIN

Peanuts are lots of things. They can be used as a variety of ways and are quite plentiful in the north. But for all the happiness, they generally aren't too and healthy.

At least not until Laura Foster-Goss, the Florida-based executive director of the Florida Peanut Federation, got involved.

"When Goss, a writer and La Crosse High School grad, started talking with the Florida Peanut Federation in 2012, she did so utilizing her cooking skills and background."

"She would accompany the organization's director to presentations at schools and then teach the students how to make peanut butter."

"My most spot is food!" Goss said. "This was a beautiful vision of the new Peanut butter - being part of the show to see how to make something and make it something for students."

Five years later and the director herself now, Goss is still trying to find ways to make peanuts fun. One of those ways will have the Florida Gateway Fatigueands kick-off Saturday for the Pink Peanut Soiree. The event starts at 5 p.m. and will feature a fashion show at 6:30 p.m. after which will be a variety of other activities. These activities are designed to be fun and educational for students.

Goss said the event, which is geared toward girls ages 9-15 and the women in their lives on Saturday at the Florida Gateway Fatigueands.

"It's a statistic that Goss shared with me that 40% of girls, ages 9-15, that regularly eat peanuts have a 60% lower chance of developing heart disease as adults."

"I think that's a statistic that we should be sharing for fat and salt intake," Goss said, adding her mother is a heart cancer survivor and it's a sign that she always has had for herself and her daughters.

National Peanut Board research shows that girls, ages 9-15, that regularly eat peanuts have a 60% lower chance of developing heart disease as adults.

"I think that's a statistic that we should be sharing for fat and salt intake," Goss said, adding her mother is a heart cancer survivor and it's a sign that she always has had for herself and her daughters.

Goss decided to host a party to share the good news about peanuts locally.

"This was a beautiful vision of the new Peanut butter - being part of the show to see how to make something and make it something for students."

And what better way to do it than to make it fun and healthy?

"I mean 80% is a big number."

"To do that we had to do a lot of research on it and make it was fun."

Goss said she had a lot of fun with this and she is excited to share the good news about peanuts locally.

"There will also be a live DJ dancing and food at the event."

"Event space is something we do and talk about with adults and senior citizens. But our girls, Goss said, "I just wanted to share our only with the families for the girls too, of the importance of a healthy diet and peanuts as a part of that."

Farmers are ever-aware of moving equipment down highways, especially during the fall harvest season, when the tractors, implements, and harvesters are extraordinarily large and heavy. FPF hosted a social media campaign focused on encouraging patience, understanding, and even appreciation, for consumers/travelers to be mindful of increased farm equipment on the rural roadways. During the fall harvest high season, this social media campaign reached over 61,000 people. Included were photos, videos, a commercial, and lots of posts sharing each of them.

Quarter 1 HIGHLIGHTS

SEPTEMBER 2022

Labor Day greeted FPF farmer members with hand written letters and postcards by 900 Florida students. As an educational activity and an industry outreach in one, the mail campaign was hugely successful.

Peanut Research Funding is an important part of FPF annual budget. Mid-season 2022, there was a scare of what looked to be Peanut Collapse/Decline, like in 2017. FPF immediately jumped onboard to provide funding needed for sample collection, testing, and reporting.

National Peanut Day Peanut Harvest Farm Tour, September 13, FPF hosted state and community leaders for a peanut harvest farm tour, including nearly 100 participants, four farms in four different counties, the research center near Live Oak, and a buying point.

In celebration of Farm Safety & Health Week, FPF promoted the high priority of Safety in our industry. Peanut farm crews received more than 250 cooler-style lunch boxes, filled with peanut snacks and a safety info card. We published health focused podcasts over 8 days during NFSH Week.

LABOR DAY LETTERS

Labor Day, a holiday to recognize the hardworking Americans who contribute tirelessly to our every day life feeds peanut farmers in the fields, rather than taking a day off like those involved in other industries. As an educational activity for students, as an industry outreach to those in the fields, FPF hosted a mail campaign, sending over 900 post cards and hand written letters to FPF farmers. Elementary School students at 3 different schools, students of all grade levels, drew pictures and wrote notes of thanks. Middle and High School Students as 3 schools, wrote letters that were graded and mailed to peanut farmers. A Great Win-Win!

RESEARCH FUNDING PEANUT SURVEY

Since the Peanut Collapse/Decline of 2017, peanut farmers throughout the Suwannee Valley have been on edge, waiting, wondering, and hoping that would not reappear. Florida Peanut Federation commissioned a study to determine the cause of the plant sickness. As research funded by FPF in 2017, did not find the root cause, the leadership determined that ongoing funding was necessary. In the years following the initial issue, FPF partnered with LERFAS to implement 'Peanut Survey', which is a monitoring tool, data collection software, to regularly test elements in active peanut fields to record data. Mid season 2022, there was a scare of what looked to be the same conditions as the Peanut Collapse that devastated over 25,000 acres of peanuts in 2017. Florida Peanut Federation immediately jumped on board with funding needed sample collection, testing, and reporting. Through the director's visit to fields, learning of drones used for imaging fields for color comparison, through monetary funding, through meetings with specialists, through the utmost commitment to gain advice from consultants, extension agents, and other related professionals - FPF was pleased to report there was no wide-spread issue that caused significant peanut loss this year. Thankfully, there was only a couple weeks of tense stress. FPF was on the forefront of leading the teams and rallying the troops, in the event a disaster was looming.

Tuesday, September 13, 2022, National Peanut Day Florida Peanut Federation hosted state and community leaders for a Peanut Harvest Farm Tour. The tour included nearly 100 participants, four farms in four different counties, the research center near Live Oak, and a buying point. The tour spanned the course of the day, and logged nearly 300 miles through North Central Florida. Tour participants were engaged and certainly learned a lot about Florida's peanut industry and have a respect for the work for farmers.

FARM SAFETY WEEK SEPT 19-25, 2022

MADELINE KELLEY (PHHNP)

In celebration of Farm Safety & Health Week, Florida Peanut Federation went to great lengths to promote the week and place high priority on Safety & Health of ag crews. As the week fell into the middle of Peanut Harvest Season, FPF provided farm crew cooler-style lunch boxes, filled with peanut snacks, for workers in the fields. More than 250 bags were distributed directly to the men and women working harvesting peanuts. Furthermore, eight straight days of Safety & Health focused podcasts were published. Each afternoon, a podcast went live, featuring imperative topics.

OCTOBER 2022

Immediately following Hurricane Ian, PPF leaders wanted to provide support to victims and first responders. Through partnership with several organizations, PPF donated peanut butter, and it was welcomed with happy hearts and open arms.

The 'Pink Peanuts Soiree', second annual, was a great party! Celebrating the overwhelmingly beautiful statistic that if girls eat peanuts, they are much less likely to have breast cancer as adults, we put on a great party that hundreds of people enjoyed.

The Peanut Festival in Williston is always a grand time! People enjoyed the trivia game, talking about peanuts, and the Peanut Shelling Contest!

Florida Farm Bureau Federation annual conference saw a highlight of peanuts in the tradeshow, FPF & FPPA hosted booths for the members to learn more about peanuts and enjoy some really tasty treats.

HURRICANE IAN RELIEF PEANUT BUTTER DONATIONS TO SOUTHWEST FLORIDIANS

Hurricane Ian devastated our friends in SW Florida. We deployed within just a couple of days, sending Peanut Butter to victims, first responders, and volunteers. Through several churches, peanut butter distribution was conducted with PB donated by FPF. Additionally, FPF supplied Catholic Charities emergency food pantry in DeSoto County with 200lb jars. In total, 4,388 pounds of Peanut Butter was transported from FPF warehouse in Michigan, Florida, to points south where it was most needed.

2000 jars have reached Florida. The work of these people, in light of their own personal disaster, is incredible. An unparalleled situation with no time for sleeping, stress levels soaring high, and uncertainty surrounding every thought, the people of South Florida, specifically in DeSoto County, where we delivered today, are TRICKLEBASTED! They are grateful for help, staying positive, hanging through the ever-changing situations, and SERVING OUR ANGRYBEE! A blessing to have a small part of this incredible feat!

CENTRAL FLORIDA PEANUT FESTIVAL IN WILLISTON

One of our most favorite events is the Central Florida Peanut Festival held in Williston, Florida, each October. With more than 10,000 visitors, the CFPP highlights the end of harvest season for one of Levy County's most popular crops. This year, FPF hosted a booth with an interactive game that people had a lot of fun playing. They enjoyed learning facts about peanuts, Florida agriculture, and other interesting tidbits while playing a fun game of True or False. This year, FPF hosted a Peanut Shelling Contest. It was a blast, the contest was held three times throughout the festival day. We even had the City of Williston Clerk playing and the Mayor of Williston cheering on the contestants. It was a great time of shelling peanuts with people in outside-of-the-box ways!

FLORIDA FARM BUREAU ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Each year, at the end of October, Florida Farm Bureau Federation hosts an annual membership conference. This three day conference includes an expo-style exhibit of partner organizations and member benefits. This year, FPF's display booth was themed pink for Breast Cancer Awareness Month. One of the most impressive statistics reports that if young girls regularly eat peanuts, they have a 40% less likely chance of developing breast cancer as adults. We find that astounding and worthy of all efforts to share the word. Breast Cancer favor goodie bags were presented to the Youth Speaking Contest participants and given as door prizes to visitors of the FPF booth. At the conference after a particularly exhausting bylaws session, FFB members were greeted with a peanut laden charcuterie board of which, the hit was a cheeseball that combined Hawthorne Dairy cheese and Florida peanuts!

NOVEMBER 2022

Peanut Butter Challenge, a statewide effort to collect Peanut Butter for food banks was a resounding success in 2022. FPF encouraged groups to participate for the first time, we matched their donation for their local community. This effort was highlighted by many new organizations collecting and therefore supporting the need for nonperishable, healthy, yummy foods in their area.

A new activity of FPF, the Florida Ag Expo was a delightful showcase of Florida's tremendous support of industry companies. FPF representatives visited with supporters and made new friends, all the while, sharing the wonderful product that Florida peanuts are!

Many Fall Festivals enjoyed peanuts, as well. The pilot program of a peanut themed festival display was very well received.

Can you believe that Christmas festivals started in November!?! We participated in two festivals before December.

In November, FPF supported the 'Great America Teach In', providing resources and goodies to students in Central Florida.

DECEMBER 2022

More than 7000 students participated in FPF's Christmas Card Coloring Contest. This year's card was stunning, and quite a hit. The level of artistry was quite impressive, and the three rounds of judging were quite intense!

FPF offered to provide 'Santa's Favorite Cookie' to festivals throughout Florida. Nearly a dozen festivals accepted our offer of banner, recipe, and cookies to be given out by Santa as the children visited with him prior to Christmas. This promotion activity is expected to grow and flourish in the coming years.

SANTA'S FAVORITE COOKIE

We all know that Santa's favorite cookie is a Peanut Butter Cookie! FPF joined local festival groups to share free Peanut Butter Cookies with each child who visited with Santa in North Central Florida. (Santa also had sugar cookies, as a backup, for kids who aren't able to eat PB.) Although, the Christmas on the Square Festival in Live Oak, FL, was the largest festival - there were 32 community events where FPF posted a banner, gave out cookies, and handed folks recipes with instructions of how to make Santa's Favorite Cookie! We know there were a lot of families who enjoyed making cookies for Christmas Eve night! (not to mention, we posted PB cookie recipes leading up to Christmas, new fan favorites on an old classic! YUM & Merry Christmas & Happy Holidays!

JANUARY 2023

Ten separate organizations received Peanut Butter Donations from FPF in January. The Board of Directors earmarked a large portion of money to be spend on peanut butter to donate as needed. Their commitment to working to serve those in food insecurity is heart warming.

Every kid knows how to make a Pinecone Bird Feeder, right? Well, surprisingly not, however, Ms. Land and Ms. Howard at Branford Elementary School were sure to teach their students. FPF provided peanut butter and additional fun to their ecofriendly hands-on education on January 12th.

The end of January is set aside by Florida Department of Education as 'Celebrate Literacy Week'. FPF provided 2500 pencils and posters to elementary schools as a nod to the spring semester starting fresh, as well as the brain benefits of eating peanuts -Peanuts Help Brains Work-. Further, FPF hosted 4H members reading peanut books for teachers to share with their classes.

In celebration of George Washington Carver's Birthday in January and Black History Month in February, FPF provided teachers with resources to provide a special look at GWC and his relation to our favorite legume. The worksheets, books, videos, and other educational supplies were very well received.

A special social media nod to National Peanut Butter day encouraged people to make their own peanut butter. That was a fun media blitz.

PEANUT BUTTER DONATIONS

14 groups received Peanut Butter donations from FPF this quarter. Of those, four were student weekend backpack programs, accounting for 2,732 jars of Peanut Butter. Church and Community groups that received Peanut Butter were nine, receiving 3,278 jars. These groups are located in North Central Florida. It is our pleasure to commit dollars to serving the food insecure in Florida.

Peanut Proud is to be commended for their philanthropic efforts making the Peanut Industry a leader in commodity products donated by the industry. Please find the Peanut Proud annual letter here. We are most thankful for the partnership built between PP & FPF.

FEBRUARY 2023

One of the busiest months of the year, February hosted the annual FPF membership meeting and banquet. With a wonderful set of guest speakers, more than 300 members enjoyed the event.

FPF sponsored the Craftsman's Marketplace at the Florida State Fair. Exhibitors from across the country entered the FPF hall to share their wares. Laura Goss provided a recipe demonstration, and young children 'dug' peanuts in the Little Farm Hands exhibit.

Branford LoveNCare Preschool partnered with FPF for a PB&J Valentine's party. The students loved it so much, and the parents did too.

During National FFA Week, FFA members from throughout Florida's peanut growing region were special guests on episodes of the Florida Peanut Podcast. The podcasts are available on all podcast platforms and youtube.

FLORIDA STATE FAIR

The annual Florida State Fair runs February 12-26 and welcomed 450,000 guests. Florida Peanut Federation provided sponsorship to the FSF and was therefore promoted on all sponsor paraphernalia and media marketing for the fair. We agreed to list 30,000 as the media reach, but know that the consumer impressions were over 1,000,000. During the fair we provided recipe preparation demonstrations and completed one of our favorite programs, Power Up Patrol, giving 100 peanut protein packed goodie bags to officers, security staff and first responders on duty at the fair.

Quarter 3 HIGHLIGHTS

MARCH 2023

Several events attended by dignitaries were held in March, Florida Farm Bureau Federation's 'Taste of Florida Agriculture' in Tallahassee at the Capitol Courtyard and University of Florida IFAS's 'Flavors of Florida' event at Ben Hill Griffin Stadium on UF campus. Both events, FPF shared a trio of Peanut Cheesecakes. The attendees LOVED them!

Both spring and fall livestock fairs, FPF provides refreshments for the livestock buyers. Most all buyers are business people and a great deal of them are involved in agriculture. This small token of appreciation is always well received. This is a program that FPF will continue to expand and provide year after year.

The 2023, Florida Strawberry Festival welcomed a record crowd, more than 600,000 visitors over the duration of the festival. FPF promoted peanuts on 'Florida Peanut Federation TwosDay' by providing sample packs of peanuts to folks as they entered and exited the festival grounds. As a static educational billboard, the FPF wrapped branded cargo trailer stood proudly at the Primary Entrance to the festival.

Quarter 4 HIGHLIGHTS

APRIL 2023

Springtime Tallahassee is a wonderful festival, as this is our first hosting a booth, we are thankful for the experience to build upon into the future.

Nearly 4000 jars of peanut butter were delivered to food bank and backpack programs this month. From Lee, FL, to Cedar Key, FL, peanut butter was spread thoroughly.

Through the distribution of goodie bags, via our Power Up Patrol program, we honored First Responder Dispatchers the week of April 22.

Rural County Day at the Florida Capitol was in good hands through the various counties that provided promotional packs of roasted Florida peanuts.
