One Logic Source Expands Its Reach: Now Licensed in Indiana & West Virginia

We are proud to officially announce that One Logic Source is now fully licensed in Indiana and West Virginia, marking an important milestone in the continued growth of our firm. This expansion allows us to provide seamless investigative and litigation support to defense teams across additional jurisdictions while maintaining full compliance with state licensing requirements.

With this licensure, OLS now serves attorneys in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, and Texas, giving our clients greater flexibility when handling multi-jurisdictional cases. Whether a matter crosses state lines or requires local investigative support, our team is positioned to step in without delay.

Our expanded footprint strengthens our ability to offer comprehensive services, including criminal defense investigations, trial and mitigation support, intelligence services, juror research, and drone videography where permitted. Most importantly, it reinforces our commitment to being a dependable partner for defense attorneys – providing consistency, responsiveness, and attention to detail regardless of location.

We are grateful to the attorneys, partners, and colleagues who continue to trust One Logic Source with their cases. As we grow, our mission remains the same: to deliver thorough, strategic investigative support that helps defense teams prepare effectively and advocate confidently.

From Investigation to Verdict: Supporting the Defense at Trial

While much of a private investigator's work takes place long before trial, courtroom involvement is often one of the most critical phases of a case. We are currently assisting defense counsel during an active trial, working behind the scenes to support the defense team as testimony and evidence unfold in real time.

Being present in the courtroom allows our investigators to closely observe witness testimony, track key facts, and identify inconsistencies or issues that may warrant immediate follow-up. This firsthand perspective enables us to assist with impeachment preparation, locate supporting documentation,

Supporting Resolution: The Role of Private Investigators in Mediation

This month, two of our investigators participated in a mediation alongside defense counsel, continuing our involvement in cases beyond investigation and into resolution-focused proceedings. While mediation differs from trial, the need for accurate facts, preparation, and strategic support remains just as important.

Private investigators can play a valuable role in mediation by helping attorneys present a clear, fact-based picture of a case. This may include organizing investigative and help organize exhibits or timelines as the trial progresses.

In-trial investigative support also provides defense counsel with an added layer of preparation. While attorneys focus on advocacy, questioning, and legal strategy, our team remains focused on details – reviewing reports, cross-referencing prior statements, and responding quickly to new information introduced during testimony.

This collaborative approach highlights the value of having a private investigator involved through every stage of a case, including trial. Our presence in the courtroom ensures continuity from investigation to verdict and reflects our commitment to supporting defense teams with diligence, adaptability, and attention to detail when it matters most.

Starting 2026 with Purpose, Precision, and Preparation

As we move one month into 2026, it is already clear that this year is shaping up to be one of focus, growth, and forward momentum for One Logic Source. With new licensure, active courtroom involvement, and continued collaboration with attorneys across multiple jurisdictions, we are entering the year with intention and direction.

Starting the year with purpose means being deliberate about how we support our clients. From early-stage investigations to in-trial findings, clarifying timelines, summarizing witness statements, and identifying evidentiary strengths or weaknesses that impact discussions. Our role is not advocacy, but support, ensuring that decisions are informed by verified information rather than assumptions.

Having investigators involved in mediation also allows for immediate clarification of factual issues as they arise. When questions come up regarding evidence, witness credibility, or investigative details, attorneys can rely on investigators who are already familiar with the case to provide accurate context.

It is also important to recognize that mediation does not always result in resolution. While many cases benefit from the process, some matters proceed forward despite good-faith efforts from all parties. Even when mediation does not lead to an agreement, the preparation and analysis involved often strengthen the defense moving forward.

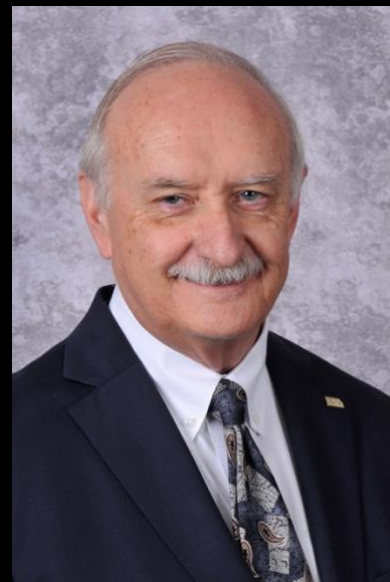

At One Logic Source, our participation in mediation reflects our commitment to supporting defense teams at every stage of a case from investigation to trial and resolution with professionalism, objectivity, and attention to detail.

assistance and mediation support, our team remains committed to providing reliable, detail-oriented work that defense teams can trust. Every case, regardless of size or complexity, receives the same level of care and attention.

Precision remains at the core of everything we do. As cases move quickly and stakes remain high, accurate information, thorough documentation, and clear communication are more important than ever. Our investigators continue to refine processes, strengthen reporting standards, and stay responsive to the evolving needs of our clients.

Preparation is what allows us to adapt as cases develop. By staying proactive, licensed, and engaged across multiple states, One Logic Source is positioned to support attorneys wherever and whenever they need us. As 2026 continues, we look forward to strengthening existing partnerships, building new relationships, and continuing to serve the defense community with professionalism and integrity.

We are excited about what lies ahead and confident that 2026 will be a strong year for collaboration, growth, and results.
