Going Beyond the Standard: OLS Testifies at Grand Jury Hearings

At One Logic Source, we pride ourselves on being more than just investigators—we're strategic partners in defense. Our work doesn't stop at reports and records. In fact, one of the things that truly sets us apart is our willingness and ability to testify at grand jury hearings—a step rarely taken by members of the defense team.

Grand jury proceedings are typically dominated by the prosecution. It's uncommon—almost unheard of—for anyone from the defense side to be present, much less take the stand. But when it's appropriate and legally permitted, we show up. Our investigators have testified in front of grand juries, providing critical context, introducing overlooked facts, and helping prevent premature or unfounded indictments.

This is not a standard service you'll find elsewhere—and for good reason. It requires a deep understanding of the law, the ability to communicate findings clearly and professionally under pressure, and the trust of defense counsel who know we'll deliver when it matters most. Whether it's bringing attention to mitigating circumstances, clarifying investigative timelines, or challenging inaccurate assumptions, our presence can make a meaningful difference in the outcome of early case decisions.

This level of involvement is just one of the many ways OLS goes above and beyond for the clients and attorneys we serve. From thorough fieldwork to visual trial exhibits, mitigation reports, and Spanish-language support, we're committed to being a full-spectrum investigative resource—wherever, and whenever, the defense needs us most.

When you partner with One Logic Source, you're not just hiring help—you're gaining a team that's willing to step into the room, speak the truth, and fight for fairness from day one.

That's why One Logic Source offers comprehensive background investigations designed to help employers make informed, confident hiring decisions.

Why Background Checks Matter More Than Ever

A standard background check may confirm identity or surface obvious issues, but it often leaves blind spots. Employers need more than a surface-level screening—they need true insight. Our thorough investigations go far beyond the basics to:

- Uncover criminal histories and patterns of behavior
- Verify employment and educational credentials
- Identify alias use and potential inconsistencies
- Assess social media activity and open-source records
- Reveal any prior legal actions that could impact your business

Our group is open to a wide range of professionals who serve the legal community, including but not limited to:

- Criminal defense and civil litigation attorneys
- Private investigators
- Mitigation specialists
- Process servers
- Court reporters
- Forensic experts
- Legal consultants and other support professionals

How It Works

We host bi-weekly virtual meetings, where members can introduce their services, discuss trends and challenges in the field, and share potential referrals. Members also receive periodic updates and have access to a growing directory of trusted contacts ready to collaborate.

Participation is free, and membership is by invitation or recommendation to ensure that the group maintains a high standard of professionalism.

What's Included in Our Background Investigation Reports?

At One Logic Source, we don't believe in one-size-fits-all background checks. Our investigators compile detailed reports that deliver real answers—not just data. Each report can include:

- Criminal History Search
- Employment & Education Verification
- Social Media & Open-Source Review

- Customized Checks Based on Your Industry Needs

Every report is handled by licensed investigators who understand what to look for—and how to find it thoroughly and discreetly.

Out and About: Connecting with Kentucky's Legal Community

One Logic Source recently had the pleasure of attending two major legal conferences here in Kentucky: the Kentucky Department of Public Advocacy (DPA) Conference and the Kentucky Bar Association (KBA) Annual Convention. With vendor tables set up at both events, our team had the unique opportunity to connect directly with attorneys from across the state and share how our services can support their important work.

At the DPA Conference, public defenders and criminal defense attorneys gathered for multiple days of training, networking, and professional development. One of our investigators attended various sessions to stay current on emerging trends, legal strategies, and case law updates impacting defense work in Kentucky.

We gained fresh insights into mitigation practices, investigative techniques, and the systemic challenges faced by indigent defense teams. It was inspiring to see so many attorneys dedicated to protecting their clients' rights. Conversations at our table underscored the power of collaboration—how investigators and attorneys can work together to build stronger, more thorough cases.

The Kentucky Bar Association's Annual Convention brought together attorneys from all practice areas under one roof. From solo practitioners to large-firm lawyers, we met a wide range of professionals passionate about serving clients with integrity.

This event provided a great opportunity to introduce people to the full scope of One Logic Source's services. Whether it's criminal defense investigations, civil case support, trial exhibits, or juror research, we were excited to share how our team can be a reliable resource for legal professionals throughout Kentucky and Ohio.

To everyone who stopped by our table, thank you for taking the time to learn about what we do and share your stories. We look forward to supporting you in the courtroom, behind the scenes, and wherever our services can make a difference.

If you didn't have the chance to connect with us, we'd still love to hear from you. Reach out anytime—let's keep the conversation going.
