

Virtual Canada Day

Join the Fort Calgary team live on July 1st to learn more about the land we call Canada today!

Join the Fort Calgary team as we learn about what archaeology is and why it's important to the land around Fort Calgary and in our city. This family-friendly session includes an interactive presentation and artifact show-and-tell!

Chantal Stormsong Chagnon will join the Fort Calgary team to share family-friendly stories, songs, and tell us about some ways we think about the land we call Canada today.

This interactive audio tour encourages a process of critical reflection and self-education about the role the Canadian national anthem plays in our society. What does it mean to “stand on guard for thee”?

To learn more and register for these free programs, head over to our Canada Day webpage:

<https://www.fortcalgary.com/canada-day>