About Toastie Potato Travel Adventure

Our Story

Toastie Potato Travel Adventure handles all the planning for your next exciting trip, whether you're traveling alone, with family, or in a group, so you can just enjoy your vacation.

"I have always been a fan of travel pursuits, both locally and internationally. When my daughter was younger, we always made it a point to take her on frequent excursions or quick trips, whether that be a state park, zoo, science center, museum, theme park, theater, or even a local musical. Now that she can tolerate longer trips, we get to explore a little bit more. She loved trains, and that still holds up to now. Our family trips are centered on shared experiences and building lasting memories." - Myra, Independent Travel Advisor

Why Toastie Potato?

Toastie Potato: The Travelling Potato

"Toastie Potato is the brainchild of my child. It was originally planned as a project where she could unleash all her creativity in a digital platform and limit her exposure to social media and game applications, but at the same time, provide her with an avenue where she can hone her STREAM-related skills. To my surprise, she started to develop a liking for traveling, which was something that she used to despise as a child. From then on, her "OC" (original character), which she fondly calls Toastie Potato, started to enter the travel industry as Toastie Potato Travel Adventure. "
