

Utah's 54 million acres receive yearly about 13" of precipitation or 60 Million Acre-feet (20 Trillion gallons)
Where does this water go?

Evaporation/Depletion/Consumption have the same result. The water is gone. As a general rule half of irrigation water is depleted, and half is return water to the basin. Indoor city water is >95% return water to the basin, and virtually non-consumptive.