The JROP Institute of Echocardiography, Ultrasound & Vascular Doppler based in Delhi, India is a premier echocardiography training institute in India since April 2000, emphasizing "Hands-on training sessions." The International Society of Cardiovascular Ultrasound (USA) and the Indian Academy of Echocardiography have accredited this Institute for basic and advanced echocardiography. More than 5000 students have attended this Institute from all over the world in the past 21 years. Many of the students who have graduated from this Institute have risen to the position of Director of Non-Invasive Cardiology in tertiary care cardiac hospitals, nationally and internationally. A couple of them have even occupied the Chair of Cardiovascular Services in major international hospitals, while one was elected President of the Srilankan Cardiac Society.

This Covid-19 pandemic has caused unprecedented damage to educational programs all over the world. The JROP Institute was also affected but despite this it has continued to provide online training programs to its students which have proved very popular.

Since March 2020, the Institute has successfully conducted the 41st and 42nd online training programs with a weekly evening class on Sundays from 20.00 to 22.00 hrs. More than 45 students from India and abroad have participated in these classes. Dr. Navin C Nanda, International President of the JROP Institute, Dr. S K Parashar, the National President, and Dr. Rakesh Gupta, Course Director & Chief Course coordinator, along with other course directors and faculty, successfully conducted the classes. The courses have been a great hit amongst students. All the recorded lectures have been uploaded on the website www.echocourse.in for subsequent viewing by course delegates.

The 43rd online course began on 25th April 2021 for the new batch of students. All the relevant information is available on the website.
