Koko Isle Kolea: They are back!! Did You Know the tiny "Kolea", known to the world outside Hawaii as the Pacific Golden Plover, are among the world's mightiest long-distance flyers. They arrive in Hawaii in the early fall and stay through the end of April. Each year, our Kolea fly over 3,000 miles from their nesting grounds in the arctic to winter in Hawaii and other Pacific Islands. Kolea return to and vigorously defend the same spot in both their summer and winter grounds, an extreme example of what ornithologists call "site faithfulness."

Many make Koko Isle their winter home and return here annually. Their return flight to Alaska, Siberia, and other arctic destinations is synchronized to within a few days of April 25.

The bird's Hawaiian name, kolea, a phonetic imitation of its keening flight call, has come to mean "one who takes and leaves." Ai no ke kolea a momona hoi i Kahiki! goes one Hawaiian proverb: The kolea eats until he is fat, and then returns to the land from which he came.

COMMUNITY ADVISORY:

Coconut Tree Trimming: It is that time again, we need to trim Coconut trees on Koko Isle. Hawaii Vista Masterscape is scheduled for the week of September 9th, 2024 (weather permitting). Please be aware that trucks & other equipment will be on the roadside, please drive with caution. If you have trees in your private area that you would like or need to trim or removed, you can call Hawaii Vista Masterscape Tom Emilio directly at 808-384-8555 to schedule an evaluation and quote.

Security Alert Car Break-ins: Warning for Cars Parked on the Roads. Crimes of opportunity of vehicle break-ins of cars parked along the roadside have increased in Hawaii Kai. Koko Isle Police partners advise us to keep our vehicles locked, store no valuables in your cars, and park in lighted areas. Property crimes, most notably car break-ins, are still a common occurrence. Many of these incidents have been a result of unattended unlocked vehicles and smashed windows, where items of value were left in plain view. These crimes of opportunity can be decreased through awareness, preparation and understanding. Please help your family, friends, neighbors, and visitors by sharing the important message of prevention.
