Scope

This policy applies to all stakeholders.

Principles

Academix Alternative Provision values the dignity of every individual member of staff and will apply this policy fairly and consistently in line with its core values of RESPECT. We will explore reasonable adjustments in applying this procedure to employees with a disability.

Academix is committed to providing a caring, supportive and safe environment for all of our pupils and staff. We believe that everyone has the right to work and learn in an atmosphere that is free from fear and that all of us have a responsibility to ensure that we do not abuse or bully others. Furthermore, we all have a duty to work together to protect vulnerable individuals from bullying and other forms of abuse.

We aim to give all students the opportunity to learn and to develop as caring, confident and maturing young people.

This policy links to a number of key policies including:

- Safeguarding
- Behaviour
- Equal Opportunities
- Teaching and Learning
- Staff Welfare
- Acceptable use (pupil and staff)
- E-Safety

Purpose

- To create a positive ethos for all members of community, in which attending our setting is a positive experience.
- To make it clear that all forms of bullying are unacceptable.
- To enable everyone to feel safe while in our setting and encourage pupils to report incidents of bullying.
- React to incidents of bullying in a reasonable, proportionate and consistent way.
- To support and protect the victims of bullying and ensure that they are listened to.
- Apply appropriate disciplinary sanctions to the pupil causing the bullying.
- To help and support bullies to change their attitudes as well as their behaviour and understand why it needs to change. Some pupils may have been excluded from school because of bullying behaviour and their needs should be recognised and addressed.
- To liaise with other appropriate members of the school community.
- To ensure that all members of the setting feel responsible for combating bullying.
- To ensure consistency in practice within the school community.

Bullying Definitions

There is no legal definition of bullying.

However, it is usually defined as behaviour that is:

- Repeated.
- Intended to hurt someone either physically or emotionally.
- Often aimed at certain groups, for example because of race, religion, gender or sexual orientation.

It takes many forms and can include:

- Physical assault.
- Verbal aggression.
- Relational
- Cyber
- Sexual
- Prejudicial
- Emotional

Some forms of bullying are illegal and should be reported to the police. These include:

- Violence or assault.
- Theft.
- Repeated harassment or intimidation, for example name calling, threats and abusive phone calls, emails or text messages.
- Hate crimes.
- Grooming.

Specific Examples of Bullying

Racist Bullying – an incident that is perceived to be racist by the victim or any other person. This can be in the form of:

- Verbal abuse, name calling, racist jokes, offensive mimicry.
- Physical threats or attacks.
- Wearing of provocative badges, insignia or clothing.

- Possession of racist leaflets, comics or magazines.
- Inciting others to behave in a racist way.
- Racist graffiti or other written insults, even against food, music, dress or customs.
- Refusing to cooperate in work or play.

Sexual Bullying – this is generally characterised by:

- Abusive name-calling.
- Looks and comments about appearance, attractiveness, emerging puberty etc.
- Inappropriate and uninvited touching.
- Sexual innuendos and propositions often with a double meaning.
- Pornographic material, graffiti with a sexual content.
- In its most extreme form, sexual assault.
- Consistent and targeted controlling behaviours.

Sexual Orientation – this can happen even if a young person is not gay, lesbian, trans or bisexual. Just being different or being singled out as a target can be enough:

- Use of homophobic language.
- Looks and comments about sexual orientation or appearance.

SEN or Disability – Many pupils have special educational needs related to their behaviour or learning difficulties and sometimes both. These pupils are often at greater risk of bullying. This can be characterised by:

- Name-calling.
- Comments on appearance.
- Comments with regard to perceived ability and achievement.

Cyber Bullying – this can be characterised as all forms of bullying using electronic means e.g.

- Text bullying – can involve pupils receiving threatening or disturbing messages from possibly anonymous callers. It can often involve more than one person and is difficult to trace.
- Social network bullying (sometimes referred to as trolling) – e.g. Facebook, Snapchat and Twitter. Whilst in the past this has usually been considered to be something that happens out of school/setting, although its effects can be felt in school/setting, it is now increasingly being brought into school/setting as students have smartphones which give them access to the internet at all times.
- Online Gaming – Many pupils have access to online gaming platforms, which allow users to communicate whilst playing. Some forms of online gaming cyberbullying could include abusive messages, excluding from games, stealing online items or hacking personal accounts.
- Fake profiles (sometimes called catfishing) – these are fake profiles set up with the purpose of deceiving, abusing a person or luring them into a personal relationship.
- Sexting - Sharing a sexual message and/or a naked or semi-naked image, video or text message with another person. This can lead to the images being shared with a wider audience.
- Grooming - This is when someone builds a relationship, trust and emotional connection with a child or young person so they can manipulate, exploit and abuse them. Young people who are groomed can be sexually abused, exploited or trafficked.

Whole School/Setting Approach for Bullying Incidents

A whole school/setting approach is adopted through:

- The curriculum, in particularly RSE, PSHCE and Themed Curriculum.

- AP Leads/Behaviour Mentors/SLT.
- The key worker system

The AP Lead will ensure that this policy complies with the HRA; the AP Lead understands that they cannot do this without fully involving their teaching staff. Although bullying itself is not a criminal offence, some types of harassment, threatening behaviour and/or communications may be considered criminal offences:

- a threat that contains information which is false and known or believed to be false by the sender.
- The Protection from Harassment Act 1997 makes it an offence to knowingly pursue any course of conduct amounting to harassment.
- Section 127 of the Communications Act 2003 makes it an offence to send, by means of a public electronic communications network, a message, or other matter, that is grossly offensive or of an indecent, obscene or menacing character. It is unlawful to disseminate defamatory information through any media, including internet sites.
