

#35 HEY YOU! PICK UP! HE'S CALLING YOU NOW!

Hey you, my brother, why can't you hear
God calling you? FOR THE END IS NEAR!
It's time for you to open up your mind
And be filled with the joy that you will find

When you stop denying Jesus as God's son
And come to realize that they both are one.
The only way God could save *your soul
Was to shed HIS OWN BLOOD, and that is His goal!

God created all things through Christ, His Word.
"True and Faithful" He is to the things we've heard.
He shall not lose one that the Father has given
But on the last day all believers in Jesus will have risen!

I wrote this for you brother, God got me out of bed
Because of the love I have for you was consuming my head
And to obey Him meant I should write You this poem
Praying these words will take root and the truth will help grow 'um

Into a new creation that has sprouted in you
'Cause that's what the true Spirit of God will do.
And if you truly want to have eternal life in heaven
It's time RIGHT NOW to start purging the leaven!

My reason for living is to bring the light to the world;
To illuminate the darkness the Devil has unfurled
By getting people to hate and kill others if they don't switch
To a religion where Christ is not believed in, now there's his real niche!

He deceives so many with his tricks and wiles
That many will die when God opens up His vials
And brings judgment on all those who don't live in the light.
And were unable to discern what's wrong from right!

Just the fact that you're reading this is giving me hope.
I think you'd rather talk to me than the Pope
Because we two are friends and you've seen how I've changed.
Now it's time for the thoughts in your head to be rearranged!
