

The second annual "Show Me" trip sponsored by the Priest Lake and Priest River Chambers of Commerce started from Grandview Resort where party members carry duffle to the boat landing ready for a trip across the lake.

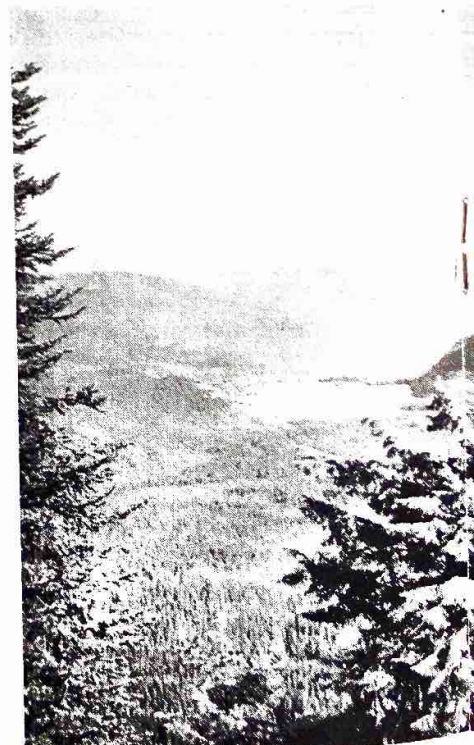

Governor Len Jordan stops near Hughes Ridge Lookout where the party gathered to view the Upper Priest Lake drainage. The Governor has participated in the trip both years.

The boat "Clear Joe" was used to transport grub, gear and guests to Two Mouth Station where the party of 23 men clambered aboard horses to start the first leg of the five day tour.

Priest "Show Me"

Looking south from Hughes Ridge with a portion of the Selkirk Range are no roads into this area, and horseback.

A member of the tour pauses to enjoy the grandeur of the Selkirk Range—looking north from the height of Squawman Lookout toward Lions Head Ridge. Mountain Goat inhabit these rough mountains.

Lake "Me" Trip

ghes Ridge into Upper Priest Lake Range in the far background. There and access is by boat, hiking or

The party stops at Squawman Lookout to survey the Priest Lake drainage and to discuss resources of the area. Trip was made to acquaint State officials and private individuals with the region and to plan coordination of efforts for long term public benefits.

Four hosts gather to "Look Into The Future" as they plan for wise use of watershed, timber, recreation and wildlife. Left to right, Russell Bishop, Lee Jones, Vern Howell and George Hill.

