WFH stands for working from home. As a platform it provides a place for remote working.

The unique feature is that it is User membership based with lost of functionalities. These are:

1) CMS, Project Management tool for remote working

2) Video tool for business chat, conferencing and training by remote means.

3) Marketplace. This is the user listings where each user can create a project, list, promote and market their services or products to potential clients or customers. On the platform they can engage with their clients or customer, transact and possibly close deals with them. They can get new leads and message them direct. The user can build a team of workers on the platform to carry out projects. It can be used for training or giving professional consultations In turn the clients can rate, review and refer them within the platform It is membership based with all accompanying elements like User dashboard we call Workstation. It has all the tools for work. The Marketplace should has a search feature for the listings which includes featured listings. There would be social media elements for social interactions.

Companies can use this feature to create a team or bring their team into the platform.

There is a segment where Corporate users can advertise the type of products, tools or services that Pro users need to effectively work remotely e.g accounting tools, email marketing tools through API connect, hard wares like camera etc

There are categories for services products sales and marketing.

Locations are global and geo-locationally positioned and it is identified by the user's Digital profile ID

Other Features are: Profile page blocks with digital address called bricks. Connect to link with Pro and post directly to pre selected professionals, ability to increase profile data: maps, product place, reviews, rating, verification, bookmark, repeat customer, video conference, email and Chat box social media links. And it is mobile responsive.
