

Boxes of precious things wrapped in paper
Memories stored to be opened later
These are the final things we will take
Years of our lives in a few keepsakes

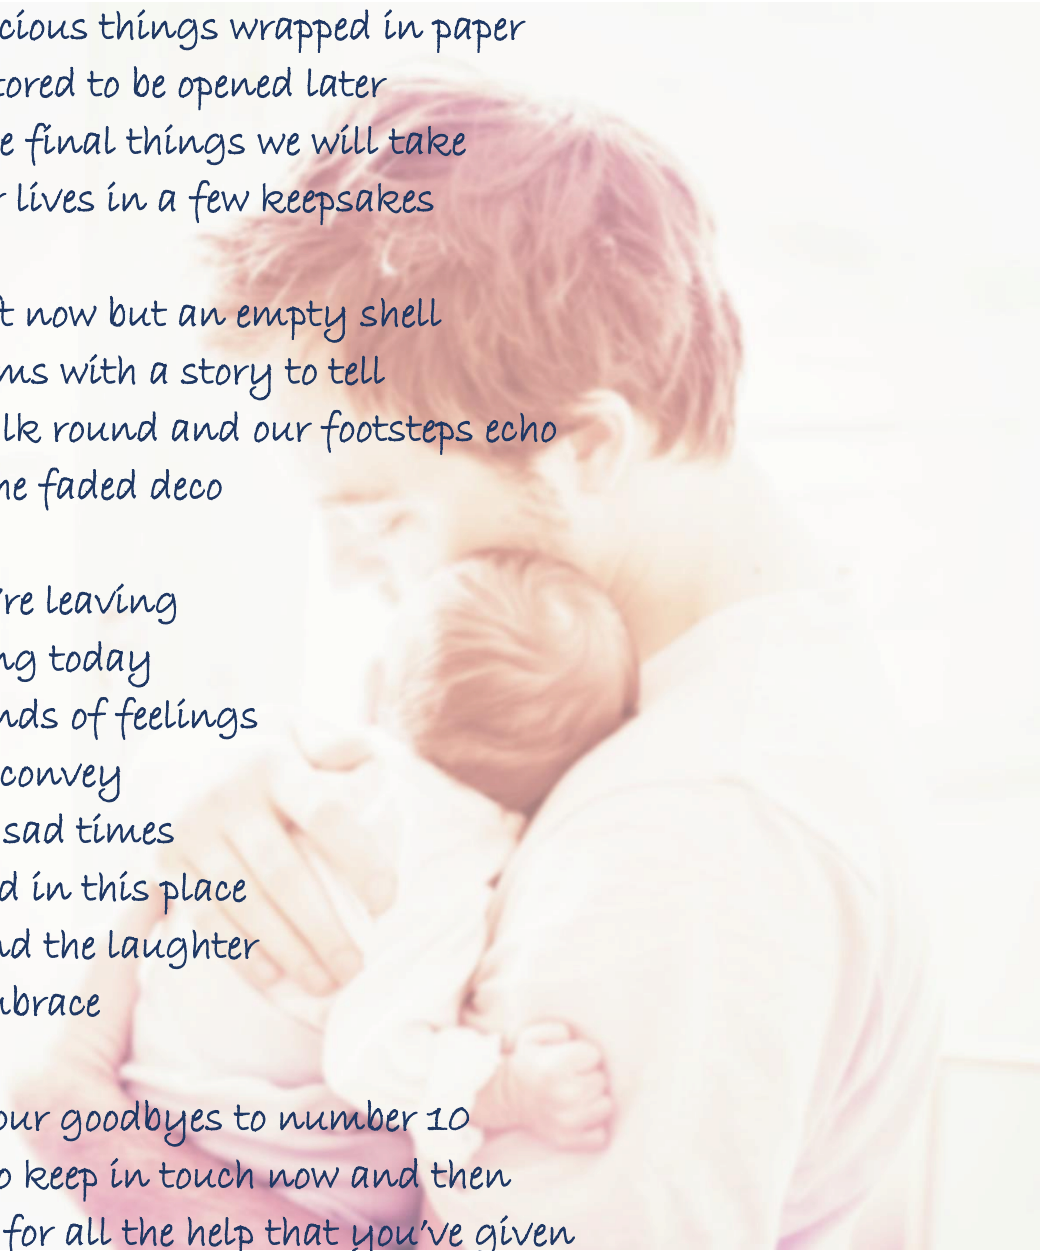

Nothing left now but an empty shell
Vacated rooms with a story to tell
One last walk round and our footsteps echo
Ghosts in the faded deco

Leaving we're leaving
We're moving today
Strange kinds of feelings
Too hard to convey
Happy and sad times
We've shared in this place
The tears and the laughter
A loving embrace

We've said our goodbyes to number 10
A promise to keep in touch now and then
Thank you for all the help that you've given
When we needed some friends to listen

A last farewell at the bedroom door
Stepping quietly across the floor
Turning the key as we make to leave
No time now to grieve

Leaving we're leaving
We're moving today
Strange kinds of feelings
Too hard to convey
Happy and sad times
We've shared in this place
The tears and the laughter
A loving embrace

All squeezed together inside the car
Set for the journey we must go far
One last look back as we leave the drive
Now into uncertainty we have arrived

Heading away to a distant place
Tonight, we'll each open our suitcase
Hoping our new home for us will bring
Happy times as we sing

Leaving we're leaving
We're moving today
Strange kinds of feelings
Too hard to convey
Happy and sad times
We've shared in this place
The tears and the laughter
A loving embrace
