

So, what will you be,
Inquiring eyes that gaze at me?
And what will you feel
When life's beauty is revealed?

Your new life in uncertain seas
We'll give you all that we can with our love
And hope that you will live contentedly

And what will you build?
How will your life be fulfilled?
And what will you learn
And will you also teach in turn?

Your new life in a changing sea
We'll give you all that we can with our love
And hope that you will live in harmony

And what will you do
When the world is hard on you?
And who will you save
From misfortune will you be brave?

Continued...

Your new life in a heavy sea
We'll give you all that we can with our love
And pray for all your days you will stay free

Your new life in a stormy sea
We'll protect you all that we can with our love
And leave you to decide what you will be

