

5 National Abortion Services Compromise Law

I originally wrote this as a proposed amendment to the US Constitution. However, this compromise proposal could be simply passed by the US Congress. Please disregard the amendment references in the text below.

Well over 65% of Americans will support the First Trimester, only approach to allowing abortion services. Not that people like it option, but accept it as an individual decision.

The public sentiment is that for better or for worse, abortion is a personal choice. A most personal choice. I have talked with women and men about this and found it has less to do with religious belief. The very religious and atheists, are for and against the option. It is a personal decision and people will not be challenged on it.

I personally have observed all the variations of this most difficult life decision in my interactions with people.

We must work to prevent unwanted pregnancies in the first place. Through early education and prudent and practical availability of birth control this horrific decision can be avoided as much as possible.

| Demanding – US Constitution Abortion Rights Amendment Enough is Enough!! The Republican Party has been intentionally playing the “church people” for donations and votes since Ronald Reagan was President. NOTE – This will not need to be an Amendment. The US Congress can pass this legislation into law. | <ul style="list-style-type: none">• First, a few thoughts on the current situation and then I will review the practical Amendment to finally deal with the Abortion Rights matter, once and for all.• I had not intended to include the amendment in this first group of legislative problem solutions. However, the recent ridiculous actions by the Republican Texas Governor and State legislature demanded a response.• While some 70% of the American public support a woman’s right to choose, the Republicans are throwing the emotional abortion issue into the news to further disturb the political process and raise money.• If ever the term, “necessary evil” applied it does with the abortion option.• No one wants to have an abortion or to see someone else have one. We can all agree on that I believe. |

- And although the Vatican preaches the most against it, abortion is still available in Italy!
- I have found that people of any religion are for or against abortion. Also, that absolute atheists are for or against it.
- It is a heart-ripping personal decision based upon a woman's current situation and health.
- The Amendment is straightforward.
 - In the first trimester (3 months) of pregnancy, abortion will be fully legal, locally available, medically safe, and funded by the government.
 - However, in the second and third trimesters of pregnancy it will not be allowed, except when the woman's life is at risk or the fetus is known to have serious physical issues. And even then the woman may still decide to carry the baby to full term.
 - That is, it!! End of discussion, law suits, and Republican funding-raising games.
- I am a "born again" Christian and have been for some 40 years. However, I believe in the separation of Church and State. I support a woman's right to choose and Death Penalty as you will see shortly.
- Church people need to realize that their decades of fighting abortion rights and terrorizing providers and woman are one (1) of the reasons that many people got turned off to the church! Christ only wants us to help save souls in case you have forgotten that!
