

Fun Things to Do on a Snow Day
Some SNOWMALLOW SUGGESTIONS

Below is a list of ideas for fun things to do on a snow day. David didn't get to enjoy most of these on his snow days because he had to study for his test. But you might be able to try a few. Just remember to do your homework first!

1. Play some catch outside. David suggests using a ball that has some color so it doesn't get lost in the snow.
2. Call or write a letter to your grandparents to give them an update.
3. Deacon Strong suggests you check in on an elderly neighbor. Is there a way to help them with something they need?
4. Build a snowman. Don't forget to add a face and arms to give it some personality.
5. Jon thinks it would be fun to watch your favorite movie with your family.
6. Play an indoor game like cards or a board game. If you don't have enough players, use dolls or stuffed animals as extra players. Go around the table and play for them. Pretend you are that character and play the way you think they would play.
7. Mrs. Strong thinks you could bake some warm cookies with an adult or make some warm cocoa as a treat for someone outside shoveling snow.
8. Make a list of all the things you like about winter or your favorite season.
9. Emily thinks you could straighten up your room.
10. Make up a new story. Have someone start with a scene. Then have that person stop in a spot where someone else can pick up the story. Keep taking turns back and forth. You'll be surprised to see where the story winds up.
11. Snowball says that a nap is a great idea.
12. Read a book you like.
13. Grandpa suggests sharing a good family story.

Do you have different ideas for how to spend a snow day? Let us know at info@shepherdscompanion.com. Maybe we'll add your suggestions to our list!