Cellars International Realty prepares to mark its 2-year anniversary, expands services to eliminate homeownership barriers for battered women and underrepresented populations across Florida

FLORIDA— Cellars International Realty, a leading Florida real estate firm working to break homeownership barriers for underserved and under-sourced populations, prepares to mark its 2nd anniversary on Jan. ____ 2022. The minority-owned real estate firm serving South Florida places a special focus on helping battered women, immigrants, and first-time buyers.

“This firm was created to educate and advocate for people who may feel a home is out of their reach. Buying a home is regarded as the American dream, but, for a lot of marginalized groups, it’s difficult,” Cellars International Realty owner/operator and certified real estate advisor Immacula Paul said. “Creating this firm gives many people in South Florida a unique opportunity to work directly with people who understand their needs, understand their experience, and want to see them in a home.”

Paul believes that everyone should have the reality of homeownership. Cellars International Realty emphasizes safety and adequate housing and aids individuals escape life-threatening abusive relationships.

In 2022, Cellars International Realty plans to expand its services by connecting with domestic violence shelters, human trafficking organizations, homeless shelters, and other agencies to aid women in finding safe and stable housing. The realty firm hopes to help over 20 women secure homeownership and reenter a new, safe and secure life.

“I have lived through a violent situation in my past. You feel alone, trapped and cornered, and finding a safe place to live—is not easy,” Paul said. “The culture at Cellars International Realty is to connect and nurture individuals who seem to feel lost like I was. I help women in distress secure homeownership and reintegrate back into society. My purpose is to serve my community and provide a safe space to build champions.”

Paul is in the process of developing a comprehensive curriculum to help survivors repair lives. The curriculum will supply participants with vital information like credit repair, financial literacy, Emergency savings planning, job placements and other resources.

Cellars International Realty helps all homeowners throughout the real estate process from finding the property, securing financing, making an offer, getting a home inspection, and closing on the purchase. The firm sells a variety of options for future homeowners including single-family homes and gorgeous condos.
